The annual meeting of the General Association N.D.G.W. Past Presidents will be held May 4 at the Native Daughters Home with Chief President Margaret Grote-Hill presiding. Plans for the entertainment of the General Assembly are being made by Association No. 1. Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson is general chairman. The various subcommittees include:

Emma O'Meara, publicity; Millie Tietjen, program; Merle Sandel, badges; L. Kimbark, registration; Elizabeth Muller, decorations; Genevieve Martel, ways and means; Myrtle Boltini, dinner; Mae Boldemann, evening refreshments; Philita Reagan and Gertrude LaFortune, entertainment; Susie Christ, Alice Lane, Orinda Giannini, Ethel Begley and Claire Lindsey, reception.

FRATERNAL VISIT REPAID.

Officers and members of Redwood Parlor No. 66 N.S.G.W. paid a fraternal visit April 3 to South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 N.S.G.W., in return for one made in February by South San Francisco to Redwood. Several candidates were initiated, the ritual being excellently exemplified by past presidents of No. 66.

After the meeting a banquet was served and entertainment was provided. Fred Rasmussen, a member of No. 157 residing in Redwood City, brought along his "haywire" orchestra, and other features were conducted under the direction of Carl Prignitz and Lionel Smith of No. 157. Among the speakers were President Richard Dridon, Recording Secretary A. S. Liguori, Financial Secretary Charles Curran and Trustee Louis Lodi of Redwood Parlor.

COMPLIMENTED.

Grand President Gladys E. Noce paid an official visit to Dolores Parlor No. 169 N.D.G.W. April 10. Preceding the meeting a delightful dinner was served. The meetinghall, beautifully decorated with spring flowers, was filled to overflowing with more than 300 members of the Order. The Grand President was escorted by the drill team. Three candidates were initiated, the ritual being exemplified in a commendable manner by President Mary Elb and her corps of officers.

Grand President Noce complimented Dolores for its interest in all projects of the Order, and she was the recipient of a half-dozen coffee spoons. Captain Alvina Burkhart presented the Parlor with the trophy won by the drill team in the Saint Patrick Day parade. Among those present were Grand Vice-president Anna Thuesen, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Marshal Edna Briggs, Grand Inside Sentinel Alice Oldham, Grand Outside Sentinel Claire Lindsey, Grand Trustees Orinda Giannini, Ciara Gairaud, Alice Lane, Clarice Cook, Hazel Hansen and Nellie Cline, Supervising Deputy Gertrude LaFortune, Deputy Pearl Wedde, Past Grands Margaret Hill, Emma Foley, Mae Boldemann and Evelyn Carlson. Tasty refreshments were served in the banquetroom. Ida Corrigan was the hostess for the evening.

Dolores has voted to adopt a third baby from the Central Homeless Children Committee. She will be named "Gladys," in honor of Grand President Gladys Noce.

N.S.G.W.—NEWS BRIEWS—N.D.G.W.

Stanford Parlor No. 76 N.S.G.W. featured a father and sons night April 23. Under the direction of John Neubauer, the San Francisco Boys Club furnished lively entertainment. Chris. Weske was chairman of the evening. Refreshments were served.

Members of Genevieve Parlor No. 132 N.D.G.W. honored the past presidents with a Saint Patrick's party March 21. The hostess committee included Eileen Taube, Veronica Cassidy, Lillian Weisel, Virginia Hannon, Hannah Toohig and Rena Taube. April 4 members of the Parlor were guests of El Dorado Parlor No. 52 N.S.G.W. at a sociable. April 18 the social welfare committee filled Easter baskets for children in San Francisco Hospital. The drum corps girls entertained those members born in March and April. This unit has organized a basketball team and much enthusiasm is shown by this group. A skating party was enjoyed April 11.

A most successful luncheon and whist party given by James Lick Parlor No. 220 N.D.G.W. was in charge of Ellen Bell. April 17 Deputy Amelia Muhlbach extended pleasing Easter wishes and presented a beautiful Bible to the Parlor. May 15 James Lick will have a mothers night. Chairman Corinne Kevie promises a most enjoyable evening.

Sacramento City is to have a horse show May 11 and 12.

SACRAMENTO N.D. GRAND PARLOR

SACRAMENTO'S NATIVE DAUGHTERS are progressing with their arrangements for the Forty-ninth Grand Parlor of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West, which will convene June 17 in the Capital City, the sessions being held in the assembly chamber of the State Capitol. Grand President Gladys E. Noce will preside throughout the deliberations.

Mrs. Bessie C. Leitch is the general chairman of the arrangements committee, which has invited the members of the Grand President's home-Parlor, Amapola No. 80 (Sutter Creek), to serve throughout the Grand Parlor on the reception committee along with the members of the Sacramento City and County Parlors. Mrs. Clara Kenney has been named chairman of the transportation committee, which will meet all incoming trains.

The evening of Sunday, June 16, there will be a reception featuring a musical program. Grand Marshal Edna B. Briggs is chairman of the reception committee and Mrs. Martha Buckley is the co-chairman. The Sacramento Native Sons have been asked to assist on this occasion. The grand ball, with Mrs. Genevieve Didion chairman and Mrs. Anne Kloss sub-chairman, will be held Tuesday evening. Wednesday afternoon it is planned to take the visitors through California Hall of the State Library. This treat will be in charge of Miss Lily Mae Tilden. Plans are also under way for a tea and a tour around Sacramento and vicinity Thursday afternoon.

Some additional candidates for Grand Parlor offices have made known their intentions and, following election of delegates by Subordinate Parlors this month (May), many more announcements will, according to rumor, be made. Here's the office-seekers' lineup to date, compiled from reliable information gathered by The Grizzly Bear:

Grand President—Anna C. Thuesen (Alta No. 3), Grand Vice-president.

Grand Vice-president—Edna B. Briggs (La Bandera No. 110), Grand Marshal; Florence Danforth Boyle (Gold of Ophir No. 190).

Grand Secretary—Sallie R. Thaler (Aloha No. 106), incumbent.

Grand Treasurer—Susie K. Christ (Yosemite No. 83), incumbent.

Grand Marshal—Ethel S. Begley (Marinita No. 198); Willow Borba (Santa Rosa No. 217), Grand Trustee.

Grand Outside Sentinel—Evalyn G. Towne (Miocene No. 228).

Grand Trustees (seven to be selected)—Orinda Gunther Giannini (Orinda No. 56), incumbent; Emily E. Ryan (Las Lomas No. 72); Clara A. Gairaud (Vendome No. 100), incumbent; Alice M. Lane (Castro No. 178), incumbent; Alice Mathias Oldham (El Carmelo No. 181), Grand Inside Sentinel; Hazel B. Hansen (Verdugo No. 240), incumbent; Nellie M. Cline (Grace No. 242), incumbent.

The Grizzly Bear for April listed as a candidate for Grand Outside Sentinel Helen J. Towne. That was an error; the name should have been Evalyn G. Towne.—C.M.H.

VALLEJO N.D. PARLOR

Vallejo Parlor No. 195 N.D.G.W. was instituted February 21, 1912, by Grand President Anna F. Lacy, now deceased, assisted by Grand Secretary Alice H. Dougherty and Grand Trustee Margaret Grote-Hill, with twenty-six charter members. Verna Berry was the first president, and Frances Shouse the first recording secretary. The present officers are:

Juliet Bliss, president; Elizabeth Wassmann, past president; Carrie Congrave, first vice-president; Ellen O'Brien, second vice-president; Celia Barskey, third vice-president; Mary Combs, recording secretary; Anna Johnson, financial secretary; Elvena Woodard, treasurer; Felicia Harris, marshal; Helen Segoria, Guilda Keller and Carrie Lawrence, trustees; Helen Carr, organist; Florence Campbell, inside sentinel; Dorothy Preston, outside sentinel.

The Parlor has actively participated in all worthwhile civic movements and, in addition, placed a marker at Memory Garden in City Park, dedicated in Sheveland Park a tree to the memory of Solano County Pioneers, presented United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags to new citizens, and contributed to the historic missions in the state.

Vallejo No. 195 is, through the following committees, assisting Vallejo No. 77 in its Native Sons Grand Parlor plans: Entertainment—Mms. Juliet Bliss (chairman), Mary Meeks, Helen Carr and Anna Johnson, and Miss Ellen O'Brien. Reception—Mms. Elvena Woodard, Julia Hill, Carrie Congrave, Celia Barskey and Juliet Bliss, Misses Yvonne Bliss, Dorothy Preston, Kathryn Woodard and Felicia Harris.

"TAXES ROB THE PEOPLE."

"The tax problem has become critical—taxes levied by all units of government are rising to the point of confiscation, and government indebtedness has soared to an undreamed-of peak. The people will eventually have to pay the bill—every penny of it."—Weekly Calistogan.

A new crop will be put on the market by the University of California during the middle of May when approximately 3,000 students receive degrees and certificates from the country's largest university.

Native Sons of the Golden West

AUBURN—AT AN ELABORATE FUNCtion April 4,—an evening of music, oratory and great rejoicing—Auburn No. 59 celebrated its fiftieth institution anniversary. Past President K. D. Robinson was the toastmaster, Jerome Barieau the song leader and Mrs. Kathryn Masson the accompanist. The Parlor was instituted April 11, 1885, by Grand President John A. Steinbach, with nineteen charter members. George W. Hamilton was the first president and Fred S. Stevens the first recording secretary.

The program, following a feast of turkey, included: Opening remarks, Toastmaster Robinson; chorus, "I Love You, California," assemblage; rollcall Parlor members, Past President M. Z. Lowell; a brief history of No. 59, Past President P. W. Smith; accordion selection, Frank Bettencourt; history address, Past Grand Lewis F. Byington; presentation fifty-year jewels to Fred S. Stevens by Past President Harold T. Power and to Al N. Hoffman by Past President T. L. Chamberlain; closing chorus, "Auld Lang Syne," assemblage.

The arrangements committee for Auburn's golden anniversary celebration included P. W. Smith, Wendell T. Robie, Harry Rosenberry, John G. Walsh, Sheriff Elmer H. Gum, S. Guy Lukens, C. H. Slade, C. D. Locher, T. L. Chamberlain, C. H. Merrow, J. E. Walsh and W. F. Jacobs. The present president of the Parlor is George Voyiatzes and the present recording secretary is J. G. Walsh. Among the guests were members of Auburn No. 233 N.D.G.W. and Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon.

BOARD GRAND OFFICERS MEETS.

San Francisco—The Board of Grand Officers was in session April 13. In attendance were Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, who presided, Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Second Vice-president Hartley Russell, Grand Third Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Henry S. Lyon, Thomas M. Foley, Donald E. VanLuven, Joseph J. McShane, Edward T. Schnarr and Charles H. Spengemann.

Numerous communications were received, including one from the University of California regents thanking the Grand Parlor for a gift of $1,000 in support of the Native Sons History Fellowship fund.

Mrs. R. Codman requested assistance in establishing tuberculosis sanitariums for the California Indians at Weimar and Wishiah. The matter was referred to Grand President Koenig to investigate. If he finds the cause a worthy one, the request will be granted.

Grand Trustee Schnarr and Grand Secretary Regan were directed to draft a special form for reports on Subordinate Parlors' funds, and to submit the same at the next Board meeting.

Grand First Vice-president Skillin, Grand Trustee Foley and Grand Second Vice-president Russell were appointed a committee to prepare resolutions of condolence on the passing of Past Grand Presidents Dr. Frank I. Gonzalez, Fred H. Greely, Frank L. Coombs and William I. Traeger, the resolutions to be submitted to the Vallejo Grand Parlor.

All members of the Visiting Board reported on the condition of the Subordinate Parlors in their respective districts and, with few exceptions, the reports were optimistic.

At 7:06 p.m., the Board adjourned to the call of the Grand President.

Twenty-first Oratorical Contest.

Elk Grove—The twenty-first annual oratorical contest sponsored by Elk Grove No. 41 was held at the Elk Grove Union high school March 29. The dramatic class of the school presented in a pantomime entitled "The Quest for a New Home," scenes from California history, and instrumental and vocal selections were rendered by the school's band and students.

President Murray Davis of the Parlor delivered the opening address, and then the nine essayists were presented. Ernest Dunisch was judged the winner, his subject being "Do You Remember?" Other participants and their subjects were: Loretta Lavond, "Death Valley;" Arlene Carlisle, "Education in California;" Emily Eschinger, "Indians in California;" Tom Johnston, "Natural Resources of California;" Lillian Bahlhorn, "Bridges of Progress;" Donna Grover, "Golden Trails of the Mother Lode;" Louise Engel, "California, A Paisley Shawl;" Ida Johnston, "San Francisco, City by the Golden Gate." The committee in charge of arrangements for the Parlor, President Davis, Walter Bailey, Freddie Johanson and Milon Johnston, was assisted by Mrs. Mable Barron.

Three-day Anniversary Celebration.

Napa—Napa No. 62, instituted April 10, 1885, by Grand President John A. Steinbach with thirty-nine charter members—including Henry C. Gesford, the first president, and Homer F. Norton, the first recording secretary,—had a three-day celebration of its fiftieth institution anniversary April 8, 9 and 10.

The festivities opened Monday with the initiation of a class of candidates, followed by boxing bouts. Tuesday the remaining charter members—Forrest A. Kelton, Ralph E. Wilson, Edward C. Kather, Benjamin F. Behrens, Camillus R. Smith and Past Grand Judge Henry C. Gesford—were honored at a banquet. Nathan Coombs was the toastmaster, and the speakers were Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, Past Grand Judge Henry C. Gesford, Grand Second Vice-president Hartley Russell, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Thomas M. Foley, Joseph J. McShane and Charles H. Spengemann. Wednesday the celebration came to a close with a grand ball. Fred Flake headed the arrangements committee. George Bruno is the present president of Napa and Henry J. Hoernle is the present recording secretary.

California History Pageant Contest.

Oakland—The Alameda County Native Sons early California history pageant contest was participated in by four high schools of the county: Technical and McClymonds of Oakland, Berkeley and San Leandro. Chairman George H. Oakes (Eden No. 113) of the contest committee announced March 29 the winners, Technical first and McClymonds second.

The winning pageant, presented at Technical high, featured the death of "James, King of William," early San Francisco editor in 1850; the formation of the Vigilantes; a scene in the home of Commandante Arguello in San Francisco, and the Russian settlement at Fort Ross. At McClymonds high the pageant featured Indian and Spanish life around the old missions. Berkeley high presented Portola's discovery of San Francisco Bay and the founding of the missions by Father Junipero Serra. San Leandro high presented scenes from early California life.

Group Initiation Southern Parlors.

Los Angeles—The southern Parlors' final group initiation of the closing Grand Parlor year will be held here Thursday, May 9, with Los Angeles No. 45 as the host. Grand President Chas. A. Koenig will be in attendance and, in his honor, a record number of candidates is urged by the district deputies committee, Bernard Hiss chairman.

Memorial Day Must Be Observed.

San Francisco—The Grand Parlor Printing and Supplies Committee—Fred H. Nickelson (chairman), Louis F. Erb and Harry Romick—has advised the Subordinate Parlors that it is mandatory on them to observe Memorial Day, May 30. Parlors using flags should place their orders not later than May 10.

N.D. Past Grand Pays Tribute.

Grass Valley—With visitors from Yuba, Butte, Sierra, Placer and Nevada Counties in attendance, Quartz No. 58 celebrated March 30 its fiftieth institution anniversary. The remaining charter members are Al Adams, Charles Othet, John Frank and William H. Butler. A banquet was served and there were many enthusiastic addresses, among the speakers being Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin and Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann. Arrangements for the celebration were made by the following committee: M. J. Brock (chairman), Stanley Woolcock, Jack Thomas, President John E. Nettle and District Deputy Robert Koehler.

While the assemblage stood in tribute to Mrs. Alison F. Watt, Past Grand N.D.G.W., the following, composed by her, was read:

"God bless our Native Sons!
As men of sterling worth,
To Honor, Home and Country true,
Tonight we homage pay them.
Nevada County's Native Sons'
May blessings rest upon their heads,
Good fortune ever attend them.
They're California's loyal sons,
No better found throughout our state;
Pure gold, true metal, honest men—
Quartz Parlor number Fifty-eight."

Working on Monument.

Livermore—Las Positas No. 96 had its annual California history essay contest among students of the Livermore high school. The essays were restricted to the period from 1850 to 1870. Frank Fiorio announced April 10 the winner, John Harville, who was awarded a silver cup. Cash prizes went to Evelyn Hansen, second; Helen Young, third; Catherine Harris, fourth; Claire Croak, fifth; Alice Flynn, sixth.

Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon officially visited Las Positas April 18, which was oldtimers night. Twenty-year buttons were presented J. M. Baughman, Frank Fiorio and H. H. Peters, and R. A. Hansen exhibited pictures of a Hawaiian trip.

The Parlor has under construction the monument in tribute to Robert Livermore which will be dedicated May 12 as a feature of the observance of the centennial of the Livermore Valley. Members of No. 96 are doing the work under the direction of Dr. F. L. Herrick.

Fifty-first Birthday Celebrated.

Santa Rosa—Santa Rosa No. 28 celebrated its fifty-first institution anniversary March 23, and was host at a group meeting of the Parlors of Sonoma and Marin Counties. President James Bertino introduced the following visitors: Grand President Chas. A. Koenig and Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, speakers of the occasion, Grand Second Vice-president Hartley Russell, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Outside Sentinel Monroe Label, Grand Organist C. George Cuthbertson, Grand Trustees Joseph J. McShane and Charles H. Spengemann.

Four candidates were initiated, the ritual being exemplified by the officers of Mount Tamalpais No. 64 (San Rafael), headed by President Raymond Andrade. A banquet was served, and moving pictures of the 1933 Admission Day celebration in Santa Rosa were viewed.

April 4, No. 28 entertained Santa Rosa No

217 N.D.G.W. A pantomime, "Lighthouse Tragedy," directed by Mrs. Melvin Flohr and with Jerry Marlar as master of ceremonies, was presented. Dancing followed the program. Art Ellis arranged the attractive decorations which converted the hall into a spring garden.

Small Parlor Attracts Large Crowd.

Nicasio—Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane paid his official visit to Nicasio No. 183, April 10. While this Parlor, located in the Marin County hills, has but seventeen members, whenever the visit of an official of the Order is announced there is a large outpouring of members of Parlors from miles around. On this occasion 125 were in attendance, and they were given a treat of a splendid chicken barbecue.

The principal addresses of the evening were made by Grand Trustee McShane, Grand President Chas. A. Koenig and Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin. Heard in brief remarks were Grand Second Vice-president Hartley Russell, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Outside Sentinel Monroe Label, Grand Organist C. George Cuthbertson, Grand Trustees Thomas M. Foley, Edward T. Schnarr and Charles H. Spengemann.

Grand Officers Exemplify Ritual.

Vallejo—At the group initiation of the Solano, Napa and Lake Counties Parlors April 23 a large number of candidates were presented. Vallejo No. 77 was the host of the occasion. The ritual was exemplified by the following: Grand Secretary John T. Regan, president; Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, junior past president; Past Grand Charles L. Dodge, senior past president; Grand Trustee Edward T. Schnarr, first vice-president; Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, second vice-president; Grand Trustee Adrien M. Hynes, third vice-president; Grand Trustee Thomas M. Foley, marshal; Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann, inside sentinel; Grand Organist C. George Cuthbertson, organist. At this time, too, Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane paid an official visit to Vallejo Parlor.

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

Sacramento—Sacramento No. 3 featured a buffet luncheon with floor show April 4. Ed. Griffin was chairman of the committee in charge. New life has been put into the clubrooms, and all Native Sons, including visitors to Sacramento, are invited to make their headquarters there. The clubrooms are in Native Sons Building, Eleventh and "J" streets.

Stockton—Stockton No. 7 is sponsoring a horse show, to be held June 16 at the San Joaquin County Fair Grounds. The proceeds will help to stage the three-day Admission Day celebration, September 7, 8 and 9. Ollie Fields is general chairman of the horse show. The Parlor had a cabaret dance April 13, and initiated a class of candidates April 22.

Petaluma—Petaluma No. 27 donated a substantial sum to Petaluma Council, Boy Scouts of America, April 2. Entertainment and refreshments were enjoyed with Petaluma No. 222 N.D.G.W. after the meeting. During May, No 27 will initiate a class of candidates.

Membership is vital! Help Grand President Koenig, in his desire and determination to build up, by re-interesting the faltering and signing up the eligibles. Every member get a member—right now!

Placerville—Placerville No. 9 has asked the Fred H. Gressly Past Presidents Assembly to hold its openair initiation at Coloma, El Dorado County, and the invitation has been accepted. June 16 is the date.

Colusa—Colusa No. 69 entertained Colus No. 194 N.D.G.W. April 9. After a sumptuous banquet, a most enjoyable program was presented, and then dancing was in order.

Bakersfield—In joint session April 12, Bakersfield No. 42 and Visalia No. 19 were officially visited by Grand Third Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer. Four candidates were initiated, the ritual being exemplified by the officers of Santa Monica Bay No. 267, headed by President Dr. Robert C. Eshelman. There were many visitors, and among the speakers were Grand Third Vice-president Meyer, Past Grand John T. Newell and District Deputy Bernard Hiss. A turkey supper closed the meeting. At the March 29 meeting of Bakersfield, a history of Fort Tejon, Kern County's noted historic landmark, was presented.

Plymouth—Plymouth No. 48 will place a marker at the grave of "Little Ed," earlyday teamster of Amador and El Dorado Counties. On a trip in 1856 he became sick and died, and his remains were interred at River Pines, near Plymouth. Other than the name "Little Ed" and the date of his death, little is known of this Pioneer.

Oakland—Oakland Lodge of Elks was host April 11 to officers and members of Oakland No. 50, Piedmont No. 120, Athens No. 195, Claremont No. 240 and Lakemont No. 275. Grand President Chas. A. Koenig and Grand Secretary John T. Regan were honor-guests. A program of special entertainment features was presented.

San Rafael—Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin officially visited Mount Tamalpais No. 64 and highly commended the Parlor for its accomplishments. Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, also a visitor, spoke optimistically of the Order's condition. A corned-beef supper was served.

There are thousands of fine eligibles just waiting to be extended an invitation to affiliate with the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. Be a recruiter—extend the invitation today, not tomorrow!

Downieville—Downieville No. 92 and Naomi No. 36 N.D.G.W. are sponsoring a May 4 dance to raise funds with which to provide for the preservation of earlyday relics.

Glen Ellen—Grand Trustee Thomas M. Foley paid an official visit April 8 to Glen Ellen No. 102. Delegations from Santa Rosa No. 28 and Sonoma No. 111 were in attendance.

San Diego—Ground was broken April 18 at the California Pacific International Exposition for Gold Gulch, a re-creation of '49 scenes. Speakers included Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer of San Diego No. 108, president California State Historical Association; President Doris L. Hoffner of San Diego No. 208 N.D.G.W., Harry Oliver and Annalee Marston.

San Bernardino—At a special initiation April 10, Arrowhead No. 110 added fifteen additional names to its muster-roll. Craft talks were given by Leslie D. Case, District Deputy F. L. McGarvey, Ralph Frederickson, Henry B. Peake, Eugene C. Ward and Monte L. Weeks. Arrowhead Past Presidents Assembly No. 14 will have open house May 2; all paid-up members of the Order will be admitted.

Sonora—Tuolumne No. 144 had an official visit from Grand Trustee Thomas M. Foley, April 12. Members of Columbia No. 258 were also guests of the Parlor. Entertainment was provided and refreshments were served.

Centerville—Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon officially visited Washington No. 169, April 9, and urged the members to take an active interest in the public schools. Among other guests were Grand Trustee Edward T. Schnarr and District Deputy Leo Gross. A committee composed of Frank T. Dusterberry, Judge Allen G. Norris and Tom Silva was appointed to confer on the location of a marker at historic Mission San Jose.

No applications, no new members to fill the ranks. And California needs more Native Sons! Today's responsibility of every member of the Order is to contact eligibles. Don't leave this important duty for "George" to perform.

Fort Bragg—Alder Glen No. 200 received seven applications for membership April 12. After the meeting the Parlor was entertained by Fort Bragg No. 210 N.D.G.W. Bridge and whist were played and refreshments were served.

Crockett—Officers of Carquinez No. 205 were

In Memoriam

CHARLES F. BELDING.

To the Officers and Members of Argonaut Parlor No. 8 N.S.G.W.: We your committee appointed to draft resolutions expressing the sentiments and heartfelt sympathy of the members of the Parlor on the death of our brother, Charles F. Belding, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Ruler of the Universe to take from us our brother, Charles F. Belding; a true and loyal Native Son whose unwavering loyalty to Argonaut Parlor and to the principles of our Order made him an outstanding member of our Parlor, one who was ever ready to help in any of the Parlor's business or social activities, and his worth as a citizen and public official, we feel that in his death our Parlor and the entire county where he served so well for more than fifty years have suffered an almost irreparable loss. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the charter of the Parlor be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, that a copy of these resolutions be spread in full upon the minutes of the Parlor, a copy be sent to his family, and a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

There is no death, an angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread
And bears our best beloved away
And then we call them dead.

Fraternally submitted.

JAMES G. NISBET,
F. W. BOYLE,
EARL S. WARD,
Committee.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

"He giveth His beloved sleep."

"TO ALL SUBORDINATE PARLORS, Native Daughters of the Golden West —Dear Sisters: In accordance with the laws of our Order, all Subordinate Parlors will observe Memorial Day for our deceased members, with appropriate ceremonies, at some selected date during the month of May.

"This day is one of special observance under our regulations, and I deem it particularly important that every Parlor accord especial attention to that observance.

"The graves of our beloved dead are sacred shrines of cherished memories. These were our friends and associates of other days,—playmates, perhaps, of our childhood,—schoolmates and companions of our youth, counsellors and confidantes of our maturer years.

"Should we not ungrudgingly yield a part of one day during each year to the loving renewal of those tender memories, in testimony of our faith that these Sisters still live on in the hearts of those who knew them best?

"The flowers we place above their sleeping forms, with love's blessing, will bloom forever in the breasts of those who place them there.

"Sincerely and fraternally yours in P.D.F.A.,
"GLADYS E. NOCE,

"FAITHFULNESS ITSELF."

Past Grand Stella Finkeldey of Santa Cruz, chairman Grand Parlor Veterans Welfare Committee, requested publication of the following letters, which are self-explanatory, in The Grizzly Bear:

"This is in answer to your communication of April 4, regarding the donation of magazine subscriptions by the Native Daughters of the Golden West for patients' reading. It is desired to assure your organization that the magazines are still greatly needed, and will be as sincerely appreciated as in previous years. Your list of Popular Science, Red Book and American Magazine will be entirely satisfactory, as these are three magazines for which there are many requests. The continued thoughtfulness of your organization is greatly appreciated. By direction, BEATRICE L. TAYLOR, Head Librarian. Veterans Administration Facility, National Military Home, California, April 9, 1935." [All requested magazines were renewed.]

"We wish to acknowledge receipt of the package from you containing twenty-eight packages of playing cards, which have been turned over to the recreational aide. These cards are very nice ones and the patients are delighted to have them. It is certainly very generous of you to have added these to your previous gift, and we wish to assure you of our sincere appreciation of your interest in the disable veterans hospitalized here. Very truly yours, W. I SWACKHAMER, Manager. Veterans Administration Fa cility, Walla Walla, Washington, April 15, 1935."

"Your letter of April 9th received, also the box of nov elty chicks (tray favors) and the box of chocolate favor and small candies—all for our Easter trays and table We think your selections are very nice indeed, and w thank you for getting everything here in such good tim Thank you so very much for the little touch of cheer whic you make it possible for us to give to our Easter trays an tables. Your organization is certainly faithfulness itse in its remembrance of this hospital, during the vario seasons of the year. With best wishes to you and th other members of your organization, we are, yours sin cerely, (Miss) FRANCES MAYNARD, Senior Recreation Aide; approved, W. E. CHAMBERS, M.D., Manager, Ve erans Administration Facility, Whipple, Arizona, April 1 1935."

"Organization of Service, of Joy, of Love."

comed Grand President Gladys Noce on her official visit. One hundred twenty-five guests witnessed the initiation of six candidates. Corsages of pansies and violets were presented the initiates. At one end of the hall was a white picket fence, with two open gates, covered with English ivy and bordered with hollyhocks. Behind the fence was the front of a house, with large window boxes of pansies and ferns. Trellises in the yard were festooned with climbing plants and wisteria. Garden furniture was placed informally about the garden, and near each officer's station was a small trellis, also draped with flowers. Members and visitors entering the room passed through a large arch covered with wisteria. A rock garden arranged around the altar had growing white iris and calla lilies. In one corner of the room was a moss-covered well beside which sat Mattie Glover, in gingham dress and sunbonnet.

The Grand President was escorted to the altar by Marshal Ellen Bewley through an aisle made by an escort group of members gowned in flowered organdy formal frocks and carrying large silver hats filled with sweetpeas and ferns. The escort included Mardell Creim, Agnes Leisz, Ruth Steiner, Beulah Ertle, Ethel Gardner, Ann Osborn, Ella Hansen and Florence Nation. Other special guests of the occasion were Past Grands Mamie Peyton and Carrie Roesch-Durham, Grand Trustee Clarice Cook, Supervising Deputy Alice Dorroh and Deputy Laura Roberts. Each received a corsage of gardenias and gave a short talk. While a quartet—Doris Matteson, Catherine Conant, Gertrude Schroeder and Kate Gomes—sang "A Garland of Old Fashioned Flowers," Ella Halford, in a colonial dress, came from the garden and presented Morada's gift to Grand President Noce. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting at tables covered with pastel-colored cloths and centered by streamers of bridal wreath and rose buds. Easter baskets of colored candies were placed at intervals down the tables.

Annual Pioneer Entertainment.

Oroville—Gold of Ophir No. 190, following initiation April 3, had a beauty parlor "stunt." Hattie Clark proved to be the best operator, and Alta Baldwin was made up the best, so they received prizes. Refreshments were served at tables decorated with spring flowers in Easter baskets. Florence Boyle had charge of the program, and Maggie Bowers was chairman of refreshments.

April 17 the Parlor made plans for the annual pioneer entertainment to be given with Argonaut No. 8 N.S.G.W. Relics are being received weekly at the Parlors' museum building, catalogued and placed in cabinets. Gold of Ophir features a monthly card party, with President Mae Mitchell in charge.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Eureka—Occident No. 28 had initiation April 17. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the social committee—Anna Fulton (chairman), Emma R. Fulton, Nedra Filgate, Lois Hagen and Genevieve Haberstock—took charge. Cards were played and refreshments were served. Grand President Gladys E. Noce will officially visit May 3 the Humboldt County Parlors in joint session at Ferndale, with Oneonta No. 71 as the hostess.

Grass Valley—About 100 members of the Order, representing several Parlors, greeted Grand President Gladys E. Noce when she officially visited Manzanita No. 29, April 16. A dinner and a reception were held in honor of the vis-

QUOTA MISSTATEMENTS

THE FOLLOWING "OFFICIAL CORRECTION of 'Quota' Misstatements" was issued by the California Joint Immigration Committee, with which the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West is closely identified:

"In the April-May issue of the California Council on Oriental Relations' bulletin, 'Quota,' which appeared about May 20th, there was republished a statement that Secretary of State Hull 'finds that if the Japanese Exclusion Act were cancelled it would not affect the United States. Not a single additional Japanese would land in California.'

"In response to an inquiry from the California Joint Immigration Committee THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE ON APRIL 10TH WROTE THAT NO SUCH STATEMENT HAD BEEN MADE BY SECRETARY HULL; THAT IN FACT HE HAD 'MADE NO STATEMENT WITH REGARD TO THE IMMIGRATION OF ORIENTALS INTO THE UNITED STATES.' Obviously, the Secretary would not have expressed such an opinion as credited to him because the disproof thereof was, at the time, before him as a member of the President's Committee of Three appointed by President Roosevelt to inquire into such matters.

"In the same issue of 'Quota' is a commendatory reference to the statement of Professor E. K. Strong, Jr., of Stanford University, published in a previous number of 'Quota,' to the effect that an average of 632 Japanese immigrants had entered the United States annually during the years 1925 to 1932 and that 'Quota will restrict this number to 185 a year.'

"Professor Strong is one of many who have endorsed Asiatic quota in good faith but with insufficient knowledge of the law and the facts. There was no new immigration from Japan during the period mentioned. Nationals from Japan, as those from other nations, were permitted to enter, 'non-quota,' (1) as previous immigrants returning from a temporary visit abroad, (2) as ministers and college professors with their families, and (3) as students coming for temporary stay. The 632 average annual admissions from Japan referred to were composed entirely of the three classes mentioned, as shown in reports of the Immigration Bureau.

"IF JAPAN HAD BEEN ENTITLED TO QUOTA THE 632 WOULD HAVE ENTERED IN ADDITION TO THE QUOTA ALLOWANCE OF, SAY, 185. COMMISSIONER GENERAL OF IMMIGRATION D. W. MACCORMACK SO STATES IN HIS LETTER OF MARCH 15TH TO THE CALIFORNIA JOINT IMMIGRATION COMMITTEE."

BOOK REVIEWS

"PIONEER PADRE—THE LIFE AND TIMES OF EUSEBIO FRANCISCO KINO."
By Rufus Kay Wyllys, Ph.D.; The Southwes Press, Dallas, Texas; Price, $3.

This volume, by the author of "The French i Sonora," details the activities of Padre Kino,— "the Apostle to the Southwest"—mathematician geographer, explorer, missionary and empir builder, and his adventures and labors on th Sonora-Arizona mission frontier of New Spain 1683-1711. It pictures the social life of his day and describes the country in which he labored It is enriched with maps and illustrations.

"Padre Eusebio Francisco Kino has beer called the greatest missionary in Spanish North America," says Dr. Wyllys. "This great mis sionary . . . was one of those pioneers of civili zation of whom perhaps two or three may appea in the course of a generation. . . . Yet there hav been few attempts at a biography, as such, o this remarkable frontiersman, who mingled i his own person the characteristics of three na tions—who was an Italian by inheritance, German by education, and a Spaniard by adop tion and experience; but who submerged al three geniuses in his zeal as missionary an experience."

Dr. Wyllys gives acknowledgment to the Orde of Native Sons of the Golden West for a Travel ing Fellowship in Pacific Coast History whic enabled him to gather materials in the archive of Mexico. He dedicates the book, "To the fore most student of Kino, Dr. Herbert Eugene Bol ton, with appreciation and gratitude."

"Nothing Wrong With the Picture—'Is tha unusual?' some taxpayers inquired when it wa reported that a man had been robbed at th entrance to the State House in Indianapolis."— South Bend Tribune.

COMING INTO PORT

Gladys Evelyn Noce
(GRAND PRESIDENT,
Native Daughters of the Golden West.)

"THE GOOD SHIP 'N.D.G.W.' WILL sail majestically into the harbor of Sacramento on the 17th of June, after a year of voyaging upon the Sea of Service. At her mast-head will float the twin banners which emblem that service, -the starry ensign of our Republic, and the Bear Flag of that other, shorter-lived republic, so well endeared to the hearts of California's children.

"The commanding officer of the staunch little vessel looks forward to this berthing with mingled sentiments of gladness and of regret, for in our brief period at anchor in this port, she and her able crew must render an accounting of their year's journey, and thereafter step down from their positions of command, yielding place to yet another corps of officers, under whose capable guidance it may well be that our sturdy ship will find competent pilotage for the next year's voyage.

"Fitting it is, indeed, that our bark should thus make port in this beautiful city of trees and blossoms, for this is the home port of that other stout craft, our 'Ship of State,' whose commander, our worthy Governor,—the Admiral of our fleet,—with his able mates and crew, there labor earnestly in that self-same Service for the well-being of State and Country. We are proud of that leadership, and rejoice that our lesser vessel, together with her brother-ship, the 'N.S.G.W.,' and all the other craft that float upon the Sea of Service, belong to that strong flotilla which battles for the upbuilding and advancement of California, for the development of its resources, its possibilities, its manhood and its womanhood.

"The setting for the annual convention of the Grand Parlor of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, is one admirably suited to our purposes. We will meet in the great Assembly-room beneath the dome of the State Capitol, where the members of our Assembly meet to consider the necessities of government and to fashion laws for our guidance and control. We, too, will assemble to consider the needs of our Order, and to effect such legislation as shall be requisite to guide us and to control our activities in the months to come.

"It is not the function of a commanding officer to pilot the ship into unknown waters, or venture upon uncharted seas. Your Grand President has not conceived it to be her duty to mother novel ideas or innovations. The fundamentals of our service are well established,—the course of our sailing is carefully plotted and picked out upon the map, and it is not for your chosen leaders to depart from that course, lest they find themselves upon the shoals, with unseen rocks threatening the vessel's keel, and roaring breakers underneath her bows. Whatever departures from the wonted course are needful, is for the determination of the Subordinate Parlor representatives, in Grand Parlor convened. That assemblage is the sovereign power in our organization; to its mandates, every Native Daughter owes full and implicit obedience. Such is the Law of Service; your Grand Officers, holding leadership by title, can exercise only a leadership in Service, and this imports a leadership in obedience. It is very good that this is true; would it were ever remembered that the DUTY OF LEADERSHIP is always the DUTY OF OBEDIENCE; we may LEAD along the charted course; except in extraordinary emergencies, we are not privileged to RULE.

"The course that has lain beneath our prow on the voyage now nearing completion, has led us to earnest service in the several projects of our Order. These projects constitute the program for that service, and it is a goodly program that has been thus supplied us, a program broad enough, wise enough, and full enough to engage all of our thoughts and efforts. It has been the aim of your Grand President to hold constantly before the membership the fundamental purposes of the Order; in her communications and utterances, she has constantly harked back to those first principles, because of the belief that every Native Daughter should make those basic objects the psychological key to all her acts in relation to the Order. They should be borne constantly in mind,—not be permitted to grow dim in the vision of the soul. They are the pole-stars of our navigation; we cannot get far off our course if we hold to their guidance.

MRS. GLADYS EVELYN NOCE,
GRAND PRESIDENT N.D.G.W.

"We have dwelt not a little on the spiritual side of our service, holding to the thought that all true service is a passion,—a thing of the soul, that flames and burns its way to accomplishment through fervor and inspiration. Would that every Native Daughter might feel that inward passion, flowering in loyalty, in devotion, and in effort! Without such inspiration, service is a dead thing; the spirit has gone out of it, and little remains save weary repetition and fruitless gesture.

"The needs of the Native Daughters' Home have engaged much thought and attention, and every effort has been made to further the welfare of this, one of the major projects of our Order. This institution stands as an impressive testimonial to the high aspirations that mark our activities, and in future years will more and more effectively serve the noble purpose which inspired it.

"The endowed Scholarships sponsored by the Order continue, as in the past, to contribute their meed of service to humanity, affording welcome opportunity to worthy students to fit themselves for their future years of service to community, State and Nation.

"Your Grand President has also urged, to the utmost of her ability, the necessity of affording liberal support to the Homeless Children's Agency. This splendid project, conducted jointly by the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, has filled a place in our social structure of immeasurable value; for twenty-five years these great Orders have worked hand in hand to provide loving care and happy homes for the helpless waifs of our state, effecting needed contact between the homeless child and the childless home.

"The necessity of observance of the several commemorative days established by our Order, has been constantly stressed, and every effort has been made to keep the membership mindful of their duties in this relation.

"Much attention has been given to the preservation and appropriate marking of historic landmarks. If any endeavor has been emphasized above another, it has been this, for such projects relate themselves intimately to our fundamental purposes; and moreover, they are especially intriguing to your Grand President's particular psychology. It has been her privilege to officiate, in the name of the Order, at the dedication of several commemorative monuments and tablets, marking spots of historic importance in various sections of our State. In addition, many other similar markers have been placed and dedicated, where it was not possible for her to be in attendance. A complete tabulation of these efforts will be submitted to the Grand Parlor, forming a useful record, and one of which we may well be proud.

"It has also been our privilege to dedicate new flags in several Parlors during the official visitation; this has been most pleasing, for our Order places special emphasis on devotion to our National emblem. It would be difficult indeed to measure the importance of our devotion to the Flag, through which we bring forth the full extent of that patriotic spirit which is typical of our high purposes.

An effort has been made to encourage the work of Publicity, upon the theory that through such service the activities of our Order may be kept constantly before the public. This serves a double purpose,—to encourage effort through example and competitive instinct, and to awaken interest in our Order among the thousands of eligible women who have never affiliated with our organization. The work of the Committee on Publicity thus dovetails with that of the Committee on Extension of the Order, to which is assigned the task of promotion of our ideals, the increase of our membership, and the organization of new Parlors. It is hoped that the tabulations at the close of the term may show substantial progress in this service.

"And now, having rounded out our allotted sailing, we may be permitted to look back along our course and congratulate ourselves upon a voyage reasonably serene, without adverse winds to buffet us, or storms to stay our progress. Our little ship has shown her sterling qualities, riding the waves sweetly, responsive to each favoring breeze. It is a goodly ship; well may we say

> 'We know what Master laid thy keel,
> What workman wrought thy ribs of steel,
> Who made each mast, and sail, and rope,
> What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
> In what a forge and what a heat
> Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!'

Ours has been a good trip; we have held true to our course, escaping the perils of wreck and disaster, and now the beacon-lights of Journey's End show strong and clear across our bows. We are coming into port!"

SACRAMENTO --- "HEART OF CALIFORNIA" MEETINGPLACE OF 49TH N.D.G.W. GRAND PARLOR

SACRAMENTO HAS GROWN, WITH THE same husky expansion which has marked the growth of California, into one of the West's most outstanding communities. A city today approaching 100,000 population, it is a thriving, prosperous, beautiful metropolis which every Californian is proud to call "my city." For Sacramento, as the Capital of California, is rightly "my city" to every resident of the Golden State.

And, it must be confessed, it is only within the past few years that Sacramento really caught her stride. The completion of the great system of levees which has completely and safely reclaimed its rich surrounding farm lands from further ravages of the great rivers which traverse it has had its reflection in a new spirit of growth and development in the city itself. Enshrined in the center of the world's most productive fruit and garden area, blessed by exceptional transportation facilities of air, rail, water and highway, it has taken firm position as the financial, shipping and industrial center of California's inland empire.

Proof of Sacramento's remarkable growth is evidenced in the expenditure of more than $65,000,000 in civic improvements within the last five and a half years. This is the total made up of building permits, bond funds for public utility and school improvements, and allied activities. The developments completed within this period have exceeded those of any combined fifteen-year period heretofore.

THE PRODUCTIVE DELTA.

Measure it in tons, in dollars or in gallons and they will tell you out on the west coast that it is the Delta area in northern California, just a few miles southwest of Sacramento, the Capital City.

The area includes approximately 120,000 acres of low, level silt land deposited there by the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, hundreds of feet deep and flavored with the humus of thousands of years of vegetable matter. Until men curbed the rivers with an intricate and unfailing system of levees and bypasses, these rivers spread out over the entire area with each spring flood, deposited new layers of silt and further worked over the soil year after year.

The Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers are both carriers of trade and of water—that vital necessity to California agriculture. Great river steamers and barges ply up and down, carrying the farmers' products to market more cheaply than any other kind of transportation. Water for irrigation comes from the rivers, and surplus water is drained and pumped back into the rivers.

Following the course of the Sacramento River from Sacramento to the Bay, a paved highway serves the river communities and the farmers, and a ride along this highway on top of the levees gives one a picture of agricultural development unexcelled anywhere.

Soil, water and climate have united to make this the vegetable kingdom of California. Every known American vegetable is grown in commercial quantities, in addition to many specialties. Asparagus, aristocrat of them all, is here a $10,000,000 crop and ninety percent of the world's supply of canned asparagus is grown and canned in this region. The asparagus industry is a highly specialized and most interesting industry. It is grown and harvested like nothing else in the vegetable world. Its requirements are so exacting that nowhere else in the United States is its culture so successful. And, best of all, it is harvested and employs labor in the fields and canneries during the months of March, April and May.

Then there are celery, spinach, potatoes, onions, beans, peas, lettuce, carrots, tomatoes and cucumbers grown in large quantities. Celery is grown on 7,000 acres, onions on 3,400 acres, spinach on 4,000 acres, tomatoes on 2,000 acres, potatoes on 20,000 acres and asparagus on about 56,000 acres. Totaling up all the vegetable acreage, we find almost 100,000 acres in the district devoted to vegetable growing. The world's record in potato production was made on the Rindge tract in the Delta in 1927, when one acre produced 64,707.75 pounds of potatoes.

But vegetables are not all There are some 6,000 acres in pears, 500 acres in cherries and many hundred of acres in other fruits. Then there are the field crops of alfalfa, sugar beets, grains and corn, bringing into cultivation practically every acre of the 120,000 acres in the region.

The production of these acres goes into the market either fresh or in the can and keeps fifteen canneries in Sacramento County alone busy for a good part of the year. These canneries are scattered along the river at strategic points, with four of the largest in the world in Sacramento City drawing upon the Delta for raw material.

AERIAL VIEW SACRAMENTO CITY, SHOWING STATE CAPITOL AND BUSINESS DISTRICT, WITH THE SACRAMENTO RIVER AND CITY WATER PLANT IN THE DISTANCE.

Historically, Sacramento has played a notable part in California's development. It was the trip up the Sacramento River of the adventurous Swiss pioneer, Captain John A. Sutter, in 1839, that marked the first utilization of California's greatest inland waterway. Shipping and transportation on this river in recent years has developed it into one of the most important inland waterways in the world and the first in per-ton value of cargo.

HISTORIC HIGH SPOTS.

Captain Sutter's establishment of Sutter's Fort, August 12, 1839, was the first settlement of White men in interior California. His extensive agricultural operation marked the beginning of agricultural development that has made California seventh largest among the states of the Union.

It was the discovery of gold by James W. Marshall, one of Sutter's men, January 24, 1848, that led to the first great influx of California settlers in the mad gold rush of '49 and '50.

It was the resulting rapid settlement of the state that led to California's admission into the full rights of statehood September 9, 1850, the only state to come full-fledged into the Union without first having served a period of probation as a territory.

It was Sacramento, in 1856, that built the first railroad in California, the little twenty-two-mile line from Sacramento to Folsom, constructed to handle the tremendous freight business developed by the mining operations in the Mother Lode.

It was Sacramento initiative, backed by the indomitable spirit of its pioneer merchants, Senator Stanford, Hopkins, Crocker and Huntington, that launched the building of the first transcontinental railroad, the old Central Pacific (now Southern Pacific), started from this city in 1863 and completed in 1869—the first rail line to link the west and east coasts of the nation with bands of steel, and the only one built from the west eastward.

It was the $200,000,000 in gold from the mines of the Sacramento region, rushed to the aid of President Lincoln, that proved the determining factor in winning the Civil War and holding the Union intact.

It was Sutter's Fort that marked the end of the trail for the daring Pioneers of the covered-wagon days, and the western terminus of the Pony Express until the telegraph brought new and quicker means of communication.

ROMANCE CAREFULLY PRESERVED.

In these stirring and historic events of California's pioneer days, Sacramento played a leading part, and the memory of them is carefully preserved by the city of today.

Sutter's Fort, rebuilt by the Native Sons and Native Daughters, now houses a priceless collection of relics of "the days of gold" and is maintained by the state as a public museum. No visitor considers his stay in Sacramento complete until he has seen the historic prairie schooners, stagecoaches, ore wagons, crude tools and firearms of the picturesque pioneers which are numbered among the invaluable relics.

The old Crocker mansion, where plans were laid and financial strategies schemed for the building of the Central Pacific, now houses a priceless collection of art treasures, a gift to the city from Judge and Mrs. E. B. Crocker. This gallery is pronounced one of the most valuable collections in the West.

A bronze tablet is at the foot of "K" street, on the river levee, and marks the spot where the first spadefull of earth was turned in the start of construction work on the transcontinental railroad.

THE CAPITOL.

Of easy access, and first among the places of historic interest to visitors, is the Capitol, the original building, now one of a group of three, representing an investment of $8,000,000 of state funds. These buildings are located on a beautiful thirty-eight-acre park in the very center of the city.

Sacramento has been the Capital of the State for seventy-three years. During the first few years of statehood, the capital was of a decidedly migratory character. Monterey had been the seat of government under Spanish and Mexican regime, and under the military rule established by Commodore Sloat when he unfurled the Stars and Stripes in January, 1846, at the beginning of the war with Mexico.

San Jose was selected as the first capital city with the organization of the state in 1850, and the next year it was moved to Vallejo. In 1852 the legislators held their session in Sacramento, but the session of 1853 went to Benicia. The next year, however, return was made to Sacramento and, with the beginning of that session, February 24, 1854, Sacramento has been continuously the seat of state government and is now firmly established as the permanent capital.

The western twelve acres of the capitol grounds on which the original building was erected, were donated to the state by the City of Sacramento. The state later added several blocks to the eastward, containing twenty-one acres, for the establishment of the enlarged Capitol Park. More recently the city donated another five acres to the west of the Capitol, on which the two new buildings are now situated.

The cornerstone of the Capitol was laid May 5, 1860, and the building was completed and occupied in 1869. It is a beautiful structure, in a perfect setting of magnificent trees and terraced lawns. Within the building, in the center of the rotunda, the statuary group, "Columbus

Before Queen Isabella," is first to catch the eye. Around the walls of the rotunda is a series of historical mural paintings, depicting historic epochs of California's civilization. A climb to the dome of the building is well worth while, as it discloses a magnificent panoramic view of the city and its encircling mountain ranges and, of course, of the Sacramento and American Rivers.

Capitol Park is rated as one of the largest and most beautiful owned by any capital city in the United States. All continents and all climes have contributed to its trees and plants and flowers, whose growth and perfection are symbolic of nature's gifts to California in soil and climate. Trees from every state in the Union, and from every country in the world, are growing and thriving, apparently as much at home as in their native setting.

Memorial Grove is a collection of trees and shrubs gathered from the most prominent battlefields of the Civil War, planted and dedicated to the State of California by the women of the Grand Army of the Republic.

In the three acres at the southeast corner of the park is a collection of exclusive California plants and trees furnished by the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West. The trees immediately surrounding the capitol building, rising in magnificent terraces, have attained such size as to almost hide the beautiful lines of the stately building.

The two new buildings, a provision for the completion of which was made by the Legislature a few years ago and which are now in use, make a beautiful addition to the Capitol setting. One of the buildings houses the State Library and the courts, and the other houses heads of the major state departments which are located in Sacramento.

MANY HISTORIC DRIVES.

Excellent highways from Sacramento now mark the trails which were broken by Kit Carson and General Fremont and by the gold seekers of the early fifties. Trips into the Mother Lode district will disclose, on first hand, interesting reminders of those hectic days when mining camps, now mere shadows of the past, teemed with life and industry. This is the country made famous in song and story by Mark Twain and Bret Harte and Joaquin Miller. Though the gold rush days are long since history, many mines are still operating, some of them to a depth of six and seven thousand feet.

Beautiful scenic drives, over the Sacramento Garden Highway northward, along the banks of the great Sacramento River, unfold scenes of most intensive farming and a wealth of orchard and garden produce that far surpasses the Valley of the Nile in variety, quality and quantity of production.

FISH AND GAME.

As Sacramento was the gateway of the early pioneers seeking the mineral and agricultural wealth of the Golden State, so it is the gateway of the great outdoors and the sportsmen's paradise—the gateway of a hundred highways and a thousand byways.

The northern counties reached through this gateway contain deer of several kinds, including the giant mule species of as much as three hundred pounds in weight. Bear, both black and brown; numbers of elk and antelope which have been protected for many years and are increasing rapidly; sagehen grouse, both blue and ruffed; mountain and valley quail; the gamest little birds in the world, doves; several kinds of rabbits; squirrels; wild geese and duck of many species; snipe and shore birds, are to be found in plentitude.

The magnificent Sacramento River, 326 miles in length, flowing through eleven counties, in season teems with quinnat or king salmon. The river and tributaries contain more and larger striped bass than any stream in America, and furnish sport and food for many thousands of anglers. Bass of thirty and forty pounds are taken frequently. Shad, black bass of very large size, crappie or calico bass, sunfish and catfish are all introduced from other states and are not native to our waters. It is a biological fact, however, that the exotic species grow to a larger size in these waters than in those whence they came.

In this vacation and outdoor wonderland are 14,500 miles of choice fishing streams and 627 square miles of fresh water lakes—an unparalleled region for the sportsmen. Some of the lakes are Tahoe, Donner, Independence, Echo, Fallen Leaf, Almanor, Gold Eagle and a thousand lakes of smaller size, all teeming with the native black, spotted, rainbow, dolly varden, steelhead trout and other species. Clear Lake and Blue Lakes are noted especially for their black bass. The rivers include the San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Mokelumne, Calaveras, Cosumnes,

CALIFORNIA'S RESORT WONDERLAND.

Sacramento is the center of California's resort wonderland. Within a radius of two hundred miles, of easy access by automobile, are a greater number and variety of scenic beauties and natural wonders than are to be found within the confines of any area of the same size in all the world.

More than 700 mountains, valley and seacoast resorts, camps and hotels are established within this wonderful region, and thronged with thousands during the vacation season.

Four great national parks in California lie within this region, five of its six national monuments, fourteen of its eighteen national forests. Millions of acres of mountain slopes and luxurious meadows, rugged peaks, crystal lakes and tumbling streams provide opportunities for recreation and rest.

INDUSTRIAL SACRAMENTO.

Within the City of Sacramento will be found many industrial plants, developed as the logical result of its location in the center of this productive region. The two largest fruit and vegetable canneries in the world are in Sacramento, also the only almond-shelling plant in the world and the second largest railroad shops in the world. The latter, which has 4,800 employes on the payroll, takes care not only of the repair and upkeep of the operative machinery of the railroad's western division but also manufactures many of its great mogul engines, flat cars and other equipment. Five years ago was completed a $2,000,000 plant of a can company, further evidence of Sacramento's outstanding position as the center of the canning industry in the West.

SCHOOLS AND PARKS.

In developing its utilitarian resources, Sacramento has not overlooked the aesthetic. Its beautiful tree-lined streets, forming literally mile after mile of shaded lanes, has given it the title of "city beautiful." Its city park area comprises a total of 1,194 acres, giving it place among the leading cities of the world in recreational facilities. Two municipal golf courses and a splendid country club are typical of the provisions it has made for playtime.

In schools, also, Sacramento has a position of leadership in the state, noted for its highly developed school facilities. Within the last ten years more than $5,000,000 has been invested in new school buildings, outstanding among which are the $1,450,000 high school on a thirty-acre site, and a $600,000 junior college on a sixty-one-acre site. The building of an athletic stadium, patterned after the Stanford bowl, provides for outdoor events, as the Memorial Auditorium is providing for those indoors.

Sacramento has caught its stride and is destined to become a much larger city with the continued rapid development of the wonderful section in which it centers.

In Memoriam

JOSEPHINE MITCHELL.

To the Officers and Members of Calistoga Parlor No. 145 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our departed sister, Josephine Mitchell, respectfully submit the following:

The golden chain of our fraternity has been severed by the loss of one who, in the prime of life and in the midst of pleasant activities and useful occupation, has been called to a Better Home. The trials, the disappointments that come in every life, are ended for our sister, and her sudden passing is a shock to all members, who held her in deep affection and respect. While we pay loving tribute to her memory, we are not unmindful of the sorrow that has come to her loved ones. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend the sympathy of the Parlor to her bereaved family that a copy of these resolutions be spread in full upon the minutes of our Parlor, one sent to the family and one copy to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

Respectfully submitted,

MYRTLE JOHNSTON,
PEARL BROWN,
KATIE BUTLER,
Committee.

Calistoga, April 22, 1935.

LILLIAN M. MURDEN.

To the Officers and Members of Piedmont Parlor No. 87 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our beloved sister, Lillian M. Murden, respectfully submit the following.

Whereas, In His infinite wisdom, the Supreme Ruler of the Universe has called to her eternal rest one of our dearly loved members, Lillian M. Murden, whose kind words and cheerful smile endeared her to all who knew her; and whereas, by her passing her family have been deprived of a loving wife and mother and our Parlor a faithful and loyal member and past president; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of Piedmont Parlor extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved family, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, and a copy be sent to her family; also, that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Respectfully submitted,

MARION E. WHITE,
JOSEPHINE CLARK,
AUGUSTA E. HUXSOL,
Committee.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY N.D.G.W. PARLORS

SACRAMENTO, SO FAR AS THE ORDER of Native Daughters of the Golden West is concerned, is one of the best organized counties of California, having nine Subordinate Parlors, five in Sacramento City and four in other communities. A brief history of these Parlors is here presented, being compiled from the data supplied on request of The Grizzly Bear made to the recording secretary of each Parlor:

CALIFIA PARLOR.

Califia Parlor No. 22 of Sacramento City was the first Native Daughter organization in Sacramento County, and was instituted November 28, 1887, by Past Grand President M. Turman, with 108 charter members. The first president was Mrs. Mattie K. Grunsky, and the first recording secretary was Miss Mollie B. Johnson who, in 1890, became the Grand President of the Order. Mrs. Ema Gett, elected Grand President in 1900, also was a member of the Parlor, and Miss Annie Luther, a charter member, has for forty-one years faithfully served the Parlor as financial secretary.

Califia has planted trees at Sutter Fort, placed a bronze marker in the old City Plaza—one of the squares deeded by John A. Sutter to the City of Sacramento in 1849—, entered prize-winning floats in several floral parades, and otherwise taken part in civic affairs for the good of the city. It is one of the Sacramento City Native Daughter Parlors that has, for many years, supplied the flag that floats over Sutter Fort.

Califia's present officers are: Mrs. Ruth Lowry, president; Miss Vivian Hall, past president; Miss Grace Stuart, first vice-president; Miss Ruth Assalena, second vice-president; Mrs. Lillian Blackwell, third vice-president; Miss Lulu Gillis, recording secretary; Miss Annie Luther, charter member, financial secretary; Mrs. Bessie Leitch, treasurer; Mrs. Alma Craze, marshal; Mrs. Hazel Leitch, Miss Ella McCleery, charter member, Miss Esther Mulligan, trustees; Mrs. Maud Scott, inside sentinel; Mrs. Josephine Huff, outside sentinel; Mrs. Edith Kelly, organist.

LA BANDERA PARLOR.

La Bandera Parlor No. 110 of Sacramento City was instituted in July 1899, by Grand President Cora B. Sifford, with fifty charter members. Sophie Monteverde was the first president, and Matilda Beaumont was the first recording secretary. Five of the charter members are still on the rolls—Mrs. Monteverde, Susie Kosminsky, Grace Sherman, Hattie Bell and Clara Weldon. The latter, almost since the Parlor's inception, has been the recording secretary, the present being her thirty-fifth consecutive year of service.

La Bandera takes an active interest in all civic movements, and has a drill team that represents it in parades of a civic or patriotic nature. Countless activities are enthusiastically carried on. A meeting-nights feature is the reviewing of California history events by members, also invited guests, including students in the local schools.

La Bandera's present officers are: Adrienne Thomas, president; Charlotte Kirtland, past president; Anna Kehl, junior past president; Thelma Barton, first vice-president; Lena Ghelfi, second vice-president; Elda Santinelli, third vice-president; Gussie Dietz, marshal; Mary Gallagher, inside sentinel; Pauline Price, outside sentinel; Clara Weldon, charter member, recording secretary; Genevieve Didion, financial secretary; Flora Schmittgen, treasurer; Ruby Lovett, pianist; Lottie Cummings, Nellie Nordstrom, Edith Peterson, trustees.

SUTTER PARLOR.

Sutter Parlor No. 111 of Sacramento City was instituted July 7, 1899, by Grand Vice-president Ema Gett. Rose Kent McInerney was the first president, and Lottie E. Moose was the first recording secretary.

Sutter's present officers are: Belle Brye, president; Ida Thomas, first vice-president; Charlotte Constantine, second vice-president; Emma Ballew, third vice-president; Audrey Watts, marshal; Anna Watts, inside sentinel; Helen Maxwell, outside sentinel; Emilie Lachman, pianist; Adele Nix, recording secretary; Elizabeth Bennetts, financial secretary. Lilly Mae Tilden, treasurer; Ethel Ludwig, Helene Islip, Edna Mooney, trustees; Dr. Eva Rasmussen, Dr. G. Chappell, physicians.

FERN PARLOR.

Fern Parlor No. 123 of Folsom was instituted April 12, 1901, by Grand President Ema Gett, with thirty-seven charter members. Mrs. Alice Cohn was the first president, and Mrs. Karen Sartain was the first recording secretary.

Fern has joined the other Sacramento County Parlors in various civic betterment movements, and is active in co-operating in the promotion of public welfare in Folsom.

Fern's present president is Pearl Fratis, and Elizabeth Ryan is the recording secretary. Among the active members is Miss Hazel McFarland, former Grand Organist, the first to fill that office after it became an elective one.

CHABOLLA PARLOR.

Chabolla Parlor No. 171 of Galt was instituted April 17, 1909, by Past Grand President Ema Gett. Mrs. Alice Wright was the first president, and Mrs. Kate Rutledge was the first recording secretary.

Chabolla's present officers are: Miss Sylvia Lavagnino, president; Mrs. Alice Wright, first vice-president; Mrs. Ida Mae Bruce, second vice-president; Mrs. Etta Hicks, third vice-president; Mrs. Mary Pritchard, marshal; Mrs. Alice Carpenter, recording secretary; Mrs. Maud Ritz, financial secretary; Mrs. Delphine Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Margaret May and Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, trustees; Miss May Goler, inside sentinel; Miss Cleora Ritz, outside sentinel.

COLOMA PARLOR.

Coloma Parlor No. 212 of Sacramento City was instituted June 16, 1916, by Past Grand President Ema Gett, with thirty-three charter members. Mrs. Mary Berkeley was the first president, and Mrs. Ethel Deeble was the first recording secretary. Past Grand President Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen is a member of Coloma.

Coloma's present officers are: Thelma Gilbert, president; Ethel Miller, past president; Ruth Crowell, first vice-president; Marie Adams, second vice-president; Ruth McDonald, third vice-president; Nettie Harry, recording secretary; Laura Freeman, financial secretary; Mamie Davis, treasurer; Ella Pope, marshal; Francis Crowell, Maude Fassett, charter member, Hattie McDonald, trustees; Aleene Thompson, organist; Nina Wessman, inside sentinel; Lena Farrell, outside sentinel.

LIBERTY PARLOR.

Liberty Parlor No. 213 of Elk Grove was instituted May 2, 1918, by Past Grand President Ema Gett. Belle Bradford was the first president, and May Rhoades was the first recording secretary.

Liberty, among its many activities, placed in the cemetery at Slough House, Sacramento County, a bronze marker at the grave of Pioneer John Rhodes, who carried upon his shoulders to safety a three-year-old child of the Donner Party. It also aided, financially and otherwise, the preservation of Elk Grove Park.

Liberty's present officers are: Minnie Kappler, president; Loraine Berry, past president; Juanita Lovdal, first vice-president; Myrtle Murphy, second vice-president; Muriel Blodgett, third vice-president; Frances Wachman, recording secretary; Mabel Thomas, financial secretary; Lucy Sehlmeyer, treasurer; Mary Wood, marshal; Ann Kloss, Fan Carr, May Rhoades, charter member, trustees; Florence Markofer, organist; Helen Castello, inside sentinel; Lillian Bailey, outside sentinel.

VICTORY PARLOR.

Victory Parlor No. 216 of Courtland was instituted November 22, 1919, by Grand President Mary E. Bell. The first president was Mrs. Mary Martin, and the first recording secretary was Miss Alicia Buckley.

Victory's present officers are: Miss Noma Blaylock, president; Mrs. Ada Fawcett, past president; Mrs. Agneda Lample, first vice-president; Mrs. Edna King, second vice-president; Mrs. Ethel Schiller, third vice-president; Mrs. Ruth McDonald, marshal; Miss Margaret Wiedmann, recording secretary; Miss Lucymarie Goodman, financial secretary; Mrs. Marie Goodman, treasurer; Mrs. Wilma Lamontagne and

RIO RITO PARLOR.

Rio Rito Parlor No. 253 of Sacramento City was instituted in April 1933 by Grand President Anna Mixon-Armstrong. Alpha Filcher was the first president, and Dorothea Rouke was the first recording secretary.

Rio Rito placed at the Stanfor-Lathrop Home a bronze marker provided by Sadie Winn-Brainard, former grand trustee, the organizer of the Parlor. Its members visit monthly the old women at the Sacramento Hospital and entertain them with a program and refreshments.

Rio Rito's present officers are: Melba Georgi, president; Elynor Austin, first vice-president; Katherine Jones, second vice-president; Kathleen Brietzke, third vice-president; Iva Langness, recording secretary; Doris Tully, financial secretary; Eleanor David, treasurer; Edna Dutro, marshal; Antoinett Morgan, inside sentinel; Henrietta Farley, organist; Irma Williams, Evelyn Compton, Bernice Clements, trustees.

"RAPACIOUS COMMERCIALISM."

"If the immigration department would be as industrious in rounding up alien Mexicans, here in violation of our laws, as they are in preventing the people of America from becoming contaminated by literary Communists from Europe and Asia, our relief rolls might almost diminish over night.

"But nothing like that is going to happen. Large commercial firms and vast agricultural units want these peons here because they work cheap, and will stand for almost any abuse. When these capitalists no longer have work for them, they turn them over to the state and national governments to feed."—Niles Township Register.

"THE AMERICAN DREAM."

"America's distinctive and unique gift to mankind is The American Dream—that dream of a land in which life shall be better and richer and fuller for every man, with opportunity for each according to his ability or achievement. It is not a dream of motor cars and high wages merely, but a dream of a social order in which each man and each woman shall be able to attain to the fullest stature of which they are innately capable."—James Truslow Adams.

Gasoline consumption in the United States last year, 16,595,180,000 gallons, was the second largest in history.

"NETHERLANDS OF AMERICA"

THE STORY OF SACRAMENTO COUNTY

Miss Ruth E. Peterson

SINCE THE BEGINNING OF TIME, NO era can boast of romance and glamour equal to that of the Golden State. It is not claimed that the city or county of Sacramento was responsible for the building of this marvelous empire for, long after Junipero Serra passed away, Sacramento was still inhabited by Indians and animals. But, it was within this garden spot of our age that there lived a man who once discovered gold.

Some years before, in 1839, Captain John A. Sutter had established himself in a settlement at New Helvetia, as it pleased him to call it, though now known as Sutter's Fort. Here the separate history of Sacramento County really begins, and from that time the history of the county was the history of the state.

Though the wealth of stock and other possessions on his ninety-nine square miles of land granted him by the Mexican governor were practically lost, following the discovery of gold, owing to the desertion of his men and the greed of the many coming in, Sutter's Fort was destined, at least, to again come into its own. Emigrants coming overland or by sea held it as their goal, almost without exception, before starting for the mines of their final destination.

The original division of the land of California, after it had become a state, into counties placed boundaries around twenty-seven sections, of which Sacramento County was one. The county was named for the river, and the river had been named in honor of the Holy Sacrament by Lieutenant Moraga when he sailed up its waters in 1808.

In his book, "What I Saw in California," published in 1849, Edwin Bryant notes: "Sept. 1, 1846. The valley of the Sacramento, as far as we have traveled down it, is from 30 to 40 miles in width. The composition of the soil appears to be such as to render it highly productive, with proper cultivation, of the small grains." One farm is described by Bryant. Today on that "highly productive soil" there are 3,883 farms, and Sacramento County enclosing them is considered one of the most productive single regions in the world.

The county is virtually the geographical center of the state and embraces besides its farm lands and centralized communities a secondary seaport, a prominent airport, three transcontinental railroads and hundreds of miles of highways and boulevards encircling its heart, the fair Capital City, Sacramento.

PEAR TREES IN BLOOM IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY.

A SACRAMENTO COUNTY ALFALFA FIELD.

Geological indications seem to prove that the valley was once a huge inland sea, and the county's area is hence practically all a rich alluvial plain from thirty to one hundred twenty-five feet above sea level. From the sedimentary loam of the Sacramento Delta to the foothills of the picturesque Sierra are found twenty-eight soil types.

Farming is diversified. Of the county's 629,-129 acres, agriculture claims 573,025. Of this, 40,000 acres are in vegetables, 73,000 in grain, 31,000 in hay, 40,000 in trees and vines, 287,000 in pasture, and 665 in sugar beets.

Sacramento County grows and cans ninety percent of the world's asparagus, produces twenty-five percent of California's celery, and leads all counties in the production of the Bartlett pear. It grows twenty percent of the spinach canned in the state, and raises one-third of the state's crop of canning tomatoes.

Some of every general fruit and variety of grape known to the state is raised within the county's bounds. Peaches, plums, prunes and apricots lead, closely followed by pears and apples. Cherries, figs, english walnuts, almonds, olives, pecans, nectarines, pomegranates, quinces, persimmons, prickly pears and loquats are grown extensively, the first named being dominant. Every kind of berry is grown successfully, though the strawberry holds first place. The flaming tokay covers most of the 17,775 acres occupied by grapes. Of the nine counties listed in the northern citrus belt, Sacramento is surpassed only by Butte.

In the poultry industry, this county ranks third. Other livestock include 11,000 dairy cows, 57,000 sheep, 10,000 hogs, 17,500 beef animals, and 750 goats. The river, highways and railroads make transportation perfect, and the Sacramento River ranks first in the nation in per-ton value of cargo.

Sacramento County also has the American and Cosumnes Rivers, Dry Creek and other streams. Flowing through prized districts, these contribute to the making of the entire county one vast farm of diversified activities.

Among the minerals, gold is the principal product, surpassed in yield only by Nevada and Amador Counties. Other products are brick, granite, silver, pottery clay, natural gas and platinum.

The annual temperature over a period of years places the average at 60°; summer average, 72°; winter average, 47°. Winds funneling through the Golden Gate and carried up the river, plus low humidity, are responsible for lack of oppressiveness, and but a few days each summer does one experience uncomfortable weather conditions.

All together, Sacramento's offerings have attracted many homeseekers, and many magnificent residences may be seen, set in luxuriant gardens of shrubbery and flowers that bloom all the year around. A traveler along a highway wide and smooth may view between these home centers broad expanses of perfectly lined trees or vines, cleanly tilled picturesque vegetable gardens reaching beyond a boundary that an eye can detect, or rolling hillsides of orange trees weighted with their wealth—any spot a garden for a home!

Sacramento County, founded February 18, 1850, is commonly known as the "Netherlands of America." Among its important communities, other than Sacramento City, are:

Courtland—Strictly a pear and vegetable town, it is a very wealthy section and has an attractive setting on the Sacramento River.

Elk Grove—One of the most attractive little towns of the county, lying in a wonderful agricultural region. In the past few years it has developed remarkably.

Fair Oaks—One of the county's show places, boasting prosperous citrus groves and olive orchards.

Folsom—One of the state's old mining towns and a pioneer community on California's first railroad.

Galt—The gateway to the county from the south. A wonderful region of diversified agricultural activities.

Isleton—Recognized as the world's asparagus center, it has grown remarkably the past few years.

North Sacramento—Separated from Sacramento City by the American River. It is the home of many large industries, and is desirable as a place of residence.

Living in Sacramento County is ideal. Think of palms, olives, oranges, figs, eucalyptus, and elm arched boulevards—fresh vegetables every day in the year—the canning and fresh fruit shipping center of the West, with vast truck gardens, vineyards, orchards, poultry ranches, cattle and sheep grazing lands, rice and wheat and barley and hops. Income-producing homes on five- and ten-acre plots in suburban districts are profitably possible because of co-operative marketing organizations and because of employment opportunities.

The Sacramento River provides intercoastal terminal rates at Sacramento. It places Sacramento County shippers on an equal basis with those of all other Pacific Coast ports.

The Sacramento region is unique in its agricultural opportunities. It is the canning center of the West and major fresh-fruit and vegetable shipping point. Here are great sheep and cattle ranges, intensive truck gardens, orchards and vineyards (citrus, deciduous and nuts), dairies, and the third largest poultry district in California. It has a vast variety of climate and soil and three-fourths of the water supply of the state.

Livermore, Alameda County, will stage its annual rodeo June 8 and 9.

SACRAMENTO

THE UNDERSIGNED EXTEND GREETINGS TO THE ORDER OF THE NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST, AND WELCOME THE FORTY-NINTH GRAND PARLOR TO CALIFORNIA'S PROGRESSIVE CAPITAL CITY.

CALIFORNIA FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

JUNE 1885 WAS THE WINDIEST, AS WELL as the coolest, June that had been recorded in California. A north wind prevailed most of the month. Rain came on but two showery days, dropping .11 of an inch of moisture. This made the total for the season ended June 30, 16.36 inches. As 13 inches of rain fell previous to January 1, the fall for the first six months of 1885 was but 3.36 inches. That was the driest period of similar duration yet experienced in California, and as mining, farming and other industries were seriously affected, a business depression existed.

The Southern Pacific created a sensation by drastically reducing the number of its employes. The cut was made from the general offices in San Francisco down through the section gangs. A slump in passenger and freight business, due to the lack of spring rains, was given as the cause. During May the company's operating expenses exceeded by $300,000 its income.

Ventura County had an earthquake shock of twenty seconds' duration at 3:15 a.m. of June 14. No material damage was done.

Rev. Dr. Wm. F. Morrison, ex-grand commander of the Order of Chosen Friends, was found guilty of defrauding the organization of $3,000 by making false mortuary reports.

The Society of California Pioneers of Sacramento celebrated at a banquet the anniversary of the arrival in California of its president, George W. Chesley. He came aboard the steamer "Oregon," which entered San Francisco Bay June 13, 1849.

Santa Cruz City was, for the first time, "all lit up"—with electric lights—June 3.

A new City Hall, costing $40,000, was completed and occupied at Los Angeles, June 1.

The Santa Ysabel Rancho of 18,000 acres in San Diego County was sold for $75,000.

The Aerial Steam Navigation Company was incorporated with $100,000 capital to build and operate airships.

Porter Ashe and several other capitalists incorporated a company to build salt-water bathing rooms at the corner of Eighth and Howard streets, San Francisco. The salt water was to be pumped from near the Cliff House.

A site for a new state insane asylum—named Agnew when completed—was selected about six miles from San Jose, Santa Clara County, and $65,000 was paid for the 280 acres of land.

Ex-Senator Charles McClay of Santa Clara County who, a decade previous, bought a rancho in San Fernando Valley, Los Angeles County, sold this month 22,000 acres for $400,000.

A float of 250 sugarpine logs from Big Bend on the Pit River was successfully made down that river and the Sacramento River to Redding, Shasta County, and the industry was considered as established.

For a new postoffice in Sacramento City, the Federal Government purchased a lot at Seventh and "K" streets occupied by the Catholic Cathedral. A new cathedral was built at Eleventh and "K" streets. The city outgrew the postoffice, and a new one was built in 1934.

Hunters were doing a profitable business killing wild hogs in the tule lands along the San Joaquin River west of Stockton, San Joaquin County.

Wm. Reasoner, in Fresno County, June 25 killed a grizzly bear that was a battle-scarred veteran. It had five bullets flattened against its skull, and two more bullets that had lodged in its legs.

Chinawomen in San Francisco's Chinatown continued to have a penchant for raising White babies. Three more were found there this month by the police, who took them away from their foster-mothers. The latter claimed to have purchased the babies.

O. P. Runyon, Courtland, Sacramento County, orchardist, announced he had perfected a new variety of plum superior to any in existence. He named it "Tragedy," and it became famous.

A cleanup of a week's run in the Mayflower hydraulic mine at Forest Hill, Placer County, yielded thirty pounds of golddust. The mine was paying its operators over $1,000 a day.

Peter Shearer and George Roder, prospectors, uncovered the richest quartz vein ever found in Shasta County, on Salt Creek, west of Redding. Six inches of the vein was almost solid gold, and thousands of dollars' worth of the precious metal was in sight.

The failure of the annual spring run of salmon up the Sacramento River, that caused the closing of fifteen canneries, was attributed to lack of spring freshets. The fresh-water current, entering the ocean through the Golden Gate, reminded the four-year-old salmon swimming therein it was time to go to the spawning streams. This year, there was no reminder!

Shad, however, were plentiful and began ascending the Feather River. At Knights Landing, a fisherman caught eighty in one day.

Colonel Thomas H. Holt, who came to California from Kentucky in 1849 and was San Francisco's first district attorney, died June 20, aged 72.

Thomas Dixon, after whom Dixon, Solano County, was named, died June 22, aged 85.

Colonel J. B. Chiles, who settled in Napa Valley in 1844 and was a member of the Bear Flag Party, died June 29.

Major John M. O'Neill, who came to California with Stevenson's regiment in 1847, died June 29 at Monterey City, aged 62.

Six buildings on Main street, Santa Maria, Santa Barbara County, were destroyed by fire, causing a $25,000 loss. A lamp exploded in a Madera City store June 17 and started a fire that destroyed five buildings.

The Red Bluff, Tehama County, residences of Wm. Middleton and Mrs. Thos. Price burned June 17; loss, $11,000. A $100,000 loss was sustained when Angels Camp, Calaveras County, burned June 24.

A fire that destroyed a large portion of the business section and caused a $100,000 loss broke out June 21 in Merced City. In a fire at Chico, Butte County, June 26 that destroyed a livery stable, six horses were cremated. Chico's Chinatown burned June 10.

Sacramento City had two bad fires during June. The 5th, the Pioneer flourmill, built in 1853 with lumber brought by ship from Boston, burned; the loss was $75,000. The 17th, the wholesale paint store of Whittier, Fuller & Co. was partially destroyed; loss, $30,000. The store was located on Second street in what had been the Orleans hotel, established in the '50s and for many years the Capital City's leading hostelry.

FORTY-NINTH N.D.G.W. GRAND PARLOR

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

MONDAY, JUNE 17, THE FORTY-ninth Annual Grand Parlor of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West will convene at Sacramento, California's capital city and Sacramento County's government-seat, for a four-day session. Grand President Gladys E. Noce of Sutter Creek, Amador County, affiliated with Amapola Parlor No. 80, will preside throughout the deliberations and, at their conclusion, will automatically become the Junior Past Grand President. The sessions of the Grand Parlor will be held daily in the assembly chamber of the State Capitol.

This will be the fourth Grand Parlor meeting in Sacramento: the Sixth (June 1892) Session was presided over by Grand President Clara K. Wittenmyer, now deceased; the Fifteenth (June 1901) Session, was presided over by Grand President Ema Gett, now deceased, and the Fourth (June 1927) Session was presided over by Grand President Sue J. Irwin.

Reports of grand officers and committees to the Secramento Grand Parlor will show the Order to be in excellent condition. The finances are in good shape, and during the year an average of one hundred applications for membership have been received each month. All of the Order's many projects have been advanced.

During the year a new Subordinate Parlor was instituted, Albany No. 260 at Albany, Alameda County. And other parlors are well on the way to institution, some of them in the southern part of the state.

Several resolutions proposing changes in the laws and the ritual of the Order will be proposed at the Sacramento Session. Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 (Los Angeles) will introduce nine, among them: That the Home assessment remain at 25 cents. That the percapita tax be 50 cents. That "to eliminate social functions to raise money for the Central Committee of Homeless Children, . . . an assessment be levied on the members of the Subordinate Parlors at $1.00 per annum, payable quarterly." That "each Deputy Grand President so appointed must be a Past President in good standing, and who has attended two-thirds of the meetings of her Parlor previous to her appointment." That "communications from the Grand President and the Grand Secretary be sent also to the Deputy Grand Presidents." That "the Grand President be allowed to appoint her committees from the personnel of the Subordinate Parlors as well as from the personnel of the Grand Parlor." That "Whereas, the words 'of the Golden West' involve a vast territory bounded by the Pacific Ocean on the west, Canadian border on the north, Mexican border on the south and the Rockies on the east, . . . the name 'The Native Daughters of the Golden West' be changed to 'The Native Daughters of California'."

Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 (San Pedro) will propose "That the part of the Constitution relating to Sunday picnics be eliminated. Nor shall a Parlor, or the members thereof, use or permit to be used the name of the Parlor or the Order, or any portion thereof, in giving a Sunday picnic or excursion."

Rio Rito Parlor No. 253 (Sacramento) will have a resolution proposing "That the Grand Vice-president may appoint her deputies before she is installed at Grand Parlor, so the appointed deputies may attend Grand Parlor and eliminate the schools of instruction."

MEMBERSHIP.

The Order is made up of 170 Subordinate Parlors in practically every county of the state. The Grizzly Bear requested from each Parlor its membership-figures and, from the responses to the request received up to publication time, the following has been compiled:

These Parlors have 200 or more members:

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE.

By communicating with all the Subordinate Parlors and the many "rumored" candidates, The Grizzly Bear is enabled to announce the candidacies of several aspirants for Grand Parlor office honors. The list is complete, insofar as definite information has been received, but it is not complete if gossip be founded on fact, for there are persistent whisperings that there are to be several additional candidates. Be that as it may, here is the authentic "dope" received by The Grizzly Bear:

Grand President—Anna C. Thuesen (Alta Parlor No. 3), Grand Vice-president.

Grand Vice-president—Edna B. Briggs (La Bandera Parlor No. 110), Grand Marshal; Florence Danforth-Boyle (Gold of Ophir Parlor No. 190).

Grand Secretary—Sallie R. Thaler (Aloha Parlor No. 106), incumbent.

Grand Treasurer—Susie K. Christ (Yosemite Parlor No. 83), incumbent.

Grand Marshal—Ethel S. Begley (Marinita Parlor No. 198); Willow Borba (Santa Rosa Parlor No. 217), Grand Trustee.

Grand Inside Sentinel—Claire Lindsey (Golden Gate Parlor No. 158), Grand Outside Sentinel.

Grand Organist—Pearl N. Reid (Santa Cruz Parlor No. 26), incumbent; Mae O'Keefe (Darina Parlor No. 114).

Grand Trustees (seven to be selected)—Nettie Leonardi (Marguerite Parlor No. 12); Orinda Gunther-Giannini (Orinda Parlor No. 56), incumbent; Emily E. Ryan (Las Lomas Parlor No. 72); Hazel Laverty (Veritas Parlor No. 75); Clara A. Gairaud (Vendome Parlor No. 100), incumbent; Dora E. Brayton (Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167); Alice M. Lane (Castro Parlor No. 178), incumbent; Alice Mathias-Oldham (El Carmelo Parlor No. 181), Grand Inside Sentinel; Clarice E. Cook (Caliz de Oro Parlor No. 206), incumbent; Hazel B. Hansen (Verdugo Parlor No. 240), incumbent; Nellie M. Cline (Grace Parlor No. 242), incumbent.

The Sacramento Grand Parlor will most likely endorse Stockton for this year's Admission Day, September 9, statewide celebration. Where will the next (1936) Grand Parlor be held? The Grizzly Bear has no knowledge of any invitation having, to date, been extended, but there will undoubtedly be seekers for that honor.

GRAND PARLOR MAKEUP.

Any member of the Order is privileged to attend the Grand Parlor sessions. Those entitled to a vote, however, include:

Grand Officers—Mrs. Irma W. Laird, Past Grand President; Mrs. Gladys E. Noce, Grand President; Mrs. Anna C. Thuesen, Grand Vice-president; Mrs. Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Secretary; Mrs. Susie K. Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

THIS IS, BY ALL ODDS, THE PEAK OF the spring festival season, with engagement books crammed for summer doings. Evening frocks have a definitely summertime look by now. Every woman knows how invaluable a print dress is, whether a daytime or evening model. The amazing manner in which gray shades have come up for evening is worth investigation. Late last summer the first of these were seen, and since then they have come more and more to the fore.

The misty lilac tones, the vague greenish tints and others that have a pinkish or bluish undercurrent are all to be found. As gray is a color which must carry a tinge becoming to the individual complexion, it is glad news to find so many different tones on the market. Accessories should be an exact match, with real flowers giving the accent, or they should be of a vivid contrast and the flowers, if any, should chime with these. Fuchsia, ciel blue, rose, coral and lime green are suggested color accents.

A splashy flower-print frock is made of a giddy combination of blue, pink, red, yellow and chartreuse. Most interesting is the knife pleating at the bottom of the skirt, cut in points so that it looks like a series of fish tails. The front of the neck is gathered on a cord, and the final touch that pulls it all together is a scarf-like tie.

Vacation days are practically upon us, and the subject of clothes assumes importance in the scheme of things. Clothes we must have, but how many and of what character are questions that only the individual can answer. In most cases, the casual costume will register importantly, but should be neither too formal nor too sportsy. A happy medium is designed to serve more than one purpose.

As the season advances, suits change their fabrics to meet changing needs. Silks and synthetics both appear to advantage. Light-weight wools hold their own, in addition to which are the knitted fashions that, this season, are more outstandingly important than ever. The boucle knits, the chenile knits and the smart cotton knits are all good.

The story of cottons and their rise in fashion reads like a fairy tale. Cottons blossom out in the loveliest of fashions for women. The beauty of the many cotton gowns is especially striking. Smart women want cotton fabric for wear morning, noon and night. We are finding new textures and weaves. New finishes of the cotton sheers are lovely and may be used to develop apparel and accessories for women, and women are taking delight in wearing them for the beauty of the fabric, the richness of the color and the freshness and the coolness of their appearance. These cotton sheers of all types are used for coats, suits, and accessories from hats to shoes, bags and gloves.

As a matter of fact, cottons and linens have long since become satisfactory globe-trotters. They are perfect for travel by train, motor or boat, and the more you wear them the more you will want to wear them. Many cottons, too, are now processed so that they shed water under unexpected showers and no harm is done. Cottons come in crashes, homespuns, piques, classic ginghams, novelty seersuckers and many delightful sheers.

Glazed chintzes, just like the kind you use for the bedroom drapes, fashion some of the newest frocks for summer. These are shown in basque styles with big puff sleeves. Others are cut in slim shirtmaker styles, crisp and effective. They are even shown for evening wear in vivid floral prints that will fit into the picture this summer. There is a tailored shirtwaist frock of dark print that is one of the neatest tricks of all. It has the classic shirt collar, buttons down the front, a tucked bosom, piping around the collar, and belt in solid color chintz. A variation of the shirtwaist theme uses crisp bows instead of buttons down the front and fastens each slit sleeve with a bow above the elbow.

To perk up your summer dresses, add a perfumed boutonniere made of colored string or strips of fabric fashioned as decorative flowers and in the center conceal a sachet of your favorite scent. This should captivate all your swains.

White starched lace is used for a charming dinner frock. The shoulders jut out to form little cap sleeves. Four buttons at the front of the blouse are of rhinestones and emeralds. These are repeated in the large belt buckle and over this goes a waist-length jacket with flaring sleeves and a long rolled shawl collar.

Almost every girl has a favorite dress—one which has the effect of a tonic. And no wonder, if it is of the right color scheme. For instance, a blue and white or red and white dress suggests an evening of gayety and its simplicity of design requires the very minimum of preparation for going out. Material of silk seersucker, with peppermint stripes, is used for both the skirt and halter waist in a diagonal treatment. Red velvet ribbon is used for dress, belt, tie and detachable vest, which latter is made of rows and rows of narrow pleated ruffles. A twin pair of heart-shaped rhinestone clips dress the high "V" neckline, and two jeweled bracelets of semi-precious stones add a touch of brilliancy which seems very appropriate. With the dress, a casual evening knee-length coat of red velveteen in a matching shade adds a gay touch to the color scheme of the outfit.

Brilliant coats are popular. Tomato red, mustard and flag blue are a few good colors to be worn with dark skirts and, later on, they will look well with white skirts or with any white cotton or silk sports dresses. There are a number of tricky felt hats to wear with suits of this type. Some are of the fedora style and others tend toward beret ideals.

Gloves which are suitable include knitted string, as well as doeskin and pigskin in washable models. Quite a point is made of ensembling them as to color, although plain buff or white remains the sports classic. Patent leather is the particular pet of the season. Its sparkle adds to the wardrobe, and it may be seen these days not only in shoes, handbags, belts and buckles, but as a trimming for hats and dresses as well.

There is, for instance, a gay young frock of navy blue solid color of sheer crepe which has a black patent leather bow perched on each shoulder, over the knife pleats of a capelet collar and again trimming pockets on each side of the slim flared skirt. A patent leather belt has a bow finish instead of a buckle. The whole is set off with a pancake sailor of black lacquered straw, with a patent leather band. With such a costume, one may wear patent pumps or gabardine ties with patent trim. Patent leather comes in bright red, green, blue and even the ever-popular chamois color, and the latter is one of the newest wrinkles of the season.

Summer hats brim with novelty tricks. There is no doubt, after a quick look at the collections, that it is to be a brimmed summer and there also is no doubt that brims are up to new and confusing tricks. Brims will be up in the front, up in the back, up on the side and up all around or down all around. Any brim is correct, but it must be flattering; or you may go completely brimless. We have the sailors with small brims in stiff straw or with huge brims. Wide, rough straws have shadow-brims; these often have high crowns. Color lends enchantment to your skin, and the mannish hat for your most sporty sport outfit is here to stay. Felts, perfectly tailored, are cocked roguishly over one eye, with no ornament in sight.

For the dark suit of spring wool the foremost milliners predict flower turbans will be the rage. They are snug little affairs, completely fashioned of cloth. Berets seem to have died out completely.

TO A PAISLEY SHAWL

Thread-bare pomp of other days
Whom did you adorn?
Were her shoulders proud of you
As some princess born?

Did you fall on sweeping train
Hiding ruffles gay?
Was she old or was she young
Love-touched in array?

Vision of a languid day,
Would we could recall
Tender mystery of you
In this paisley shawl.

SAN FRANCISCO

ADDRESSING THE DELINQUENCY SECtion of the Commonwealth Club of California, Earl Warren, district attorney of Alameda County, said: "If we are to solve the crime problem, we must do more than build new jails. If we build a third penitentiary and do nothing more, within three years our situation will be identical with today's. There is no such thing as reform in prison. Our prisons are not designed for reform and they don't give it. A man sent to prison almost invariably comes out worse than he went in. Even if a good man were committed, he would probably be ruined by the time he was set free.

"The only thing upon which capital and labor agree is that we shall not work our prisoners. How can we possibly rehabilitate them if there is no work for them to do?—when all they can do is talk crime and think crime during all their waking hours? I believe there is a tremendous amount of work they could be given which in no way will compete with industry or labor—work perhaps comparable to that done in the CCC camps.

"These men might be rehabilitated. But we won't let them work, and in many counties probation is a farce; it is not probation but suspension of judgment. It is worse than suspension of judgment, because the man is told he will be put to severe tests and if he fails, sent to the penitentiary; and all the time he knows that it is a farce. He knows that he can even be put in jail in nearby counties without its being brought to the attention of the probation officer. Naturally he gets nothing but contempt for the court."

PAST PRESIDENTS N.D. MEET.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the General Association N.D.G.W. Past Presidents was held in San Francisco, May 4, with Chief President Margaret Grote-Hill presiding. The following officers were elected: Chief past president, Mrs. Hill; chief president, Mrs. Emilie J. Clifford; chief vice-president, Mrs. Mamie F. Davis; chief treasurer, Mrs. Emma G. Foley; chief secretary, Mrs. Anna G. Loser; chief marshal, Mrs. Edna D. Sampson; chief organist, Mrs. Antha E. Locklin; chief inside sentinel, Mrs. Willow Borba; chief outside sentinel, Mrs. Mattie M. Stein; chief directors, Mrs. Edith Kelley, Mrs. Alice Roll, Mrs. Alta B. Baldwin, Mrs. Ann B. Dippel, Mrs. Emily Lawson.

The evening previous, May 3, San Mateo County Association No. 9 was instituted at Menlo Park by Chief President Hill, assisted by Founder Leah Magner-Williams, Past Chief President Winifred Halter and Chief Vice-president Emilie J. Clifford. Frances Maloney is the president and Geraldine Brown the recording secretary of the new Association.

SURPRISE FOR N.D. PAST GRAND.

In honor of her birthday, Past Grand President Dr. Mariana Bertola was tendered a surprise luncheon by the N.D.G.W. Home Committee May 6. The idea of a dutch luncheon was carried out in the table decorations—favors of tiny steins and blue bachelor buttons.

Greetings sent by a host of friends, and gifts, including a purse given by the committee, gave evidence of the kindly thoughts for the guest of honor. All were received with pleased acceptance. At the conclusion of the luncheon Dr. Bertola, with her numerous packages and bouquets of flowers, was assisted to her home by past Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson.—A.G.L.

SPRING DINNER-DANCE.

Stanford Parlor No. 76 N.S.G.W. received May 7 a fraternal visit from Santa Clara Parlor No. 100. Police night was featured May 14, and Chief Quinn was the guest of honor.

The Parlor had its spring dinner dance May 11. Frank F. Morris, the chairman, was assisted by Tim Lally, Charlie Barry, Ernie Lafrenz, Urban Morf, Charley Stanley, Charles Anderson, George Corbett, Harold Goulden, Peter Lucchesi, George H. Nelson, Elmo R. Ostrander, Louis Roesch, Henry Angelo, Virgil Skinner, J. Lester Vogel, Dr. V. Hardeman and Ed Neely.

DRUM COPPS ACTIVE.

The welfare committee of Genevieve Parlor No. 132 N.D.G.W. visited the isolation ward of the San Francisco Hospital, Easter Sunday morning, and presented the kiddies with baskets of easter eggs prepared by the Parlor members. Mothers Day, thirty-four members, including mothers, attended the Home breakfast and each mother was remembered with a potted plant.

Drum corps activities—Meeting held at the Cassidy home April 25. Birthday dinner in honor Evelyn McColgan arranged for May 2. Second monthly skating party, May 9, largely attended. May 16, whist held jointly with El Dorado Parlor No. 52 N.S.G.W.; Chairman Vera Dunleavy was assisted by Mr. Hersog; proceeds of the party were placed in the September 9 fund.

GOODNIGHTS SAID RELUCTANTLY.

Castro Parlor No. 178 N.D.G.W. was co-hostess with Las Lomas Parlor No. 72 N.D.G.W. at the Home breakfast May 12. Many Parlors were represented, and an entertaining program was presented.

May 15, Castro had its annual Mothers Night. The N.D. glee club entertained with "School Days," featuring a delightful program of songs, recitations, tap dances and humorous specialties. A group of the Parlor's members presented a number entitled "Mother," and an original poem, written by the grandmother of President Muriel Hayes, was read and dedicated to Castro. Delicious refreshments were served at beautifully decorated tables. At the mothers' table was a huge cake, which was cut and served by Grand Trustee Alice M. Lane, chairman of the evening. All mothers received corsages and gifts. Goodnights were said reluctantly.

RECORD CLASS INITIATED.

Guadalupe Parlor No. 153 N.D.G.W. had an official visit from Grand President Gladys E. Noce, May 13, and some 225 members of the Order were in attendance. Nineteen candidates were initiated—the largest class for this term. The decorations reminded of spring, and the officers carried pastel colored sweetpeas. The Grand President passed under a bower made by eight girls, who held crossed crooks, and the escort team were gowned in organdy dresses to match the crooks. Mrs. Noce was presented with a large basket of flowers.

Refreshments were served at tables decorated with baskets of flowers, and the favors were small baskets of candy. In the center of the Grand President's table was a miniature maypole. Among the other guests were Grand Vice-president Anna Thuesen, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Trustees Alice Lane and Orinda Giannini, Grand Inside Sentinel Alice Oldham, Past Grands Eliza D. Keith and Evelyn I. Carlson, and Deputy Reta Nealson. Daisy K. Marshall presided as president.

N.D.G.W. PARLORS NEWS NOTES.

La Estrella No. 89 entertained recently friends and mothers of its members, the occasion being the thirty-ninth anniversary of the Parlor's institution. Maude Koppitz, Tillie Marks, Georgie Thierbach and Birdie Hartman were in charge.

Keith No. 137 attended the house warming of Lelia Leep, who was a most gracious hostess. May Sweeney entertained at her home for the benefit of the Parlor. A bridal shower and tea was held for Helen Johnson, who will be wedded in June. An heir has been brought to Helen Fairbairn. Frances Blaettler will leave June 1 for a visit in the Hawaiian Islands. The Parlor's dramatic club, under direction of Helen Mann, is preparing short skits for near-future presentation. A monster card party is scheduled for June 13; Chairman Bertha Mauser is being assisted in making arrangements by President Vera Thompson and the other officers.

Presidio No. 148 entertained and honored the mothers of the members at a May 16 dinner and sociable. Grand President Gladys E. Noce officially visited the Parlor May 28. Presidio sent its regular contribution of jam to the Veterans Hospital at Arizona; Mrs. Ella Gilbert is in charge of this serviceable work.

Linda Rosa No. 176 held [illegible] May 9 at a housewarming party in its new hall. Among the many guests was Grand Vice-president Anna Thuesen. After entertaining games a sumptuous repast was served. The committee in charge included Gertrude Koernig (chairman), Emily Taylor, Gladys Huber, Jeannette Weldie and Anna Prior.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

ROBERT A. MILLIKAN, HEAD OF THE California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, in a public address sounded this warning: "The decay of self-reliance, the disintegration of the American character, the spread of the habit of getting one's feet in the federal trough because everyone else's feet are there, the destruction of public confidence in the integrity and effectiveness of our democracy, is the most ominous sign of the times in America. . . .

"The immediate task is to drive home at every opportunity two great fundamental principles of all rational living and good citizenship. These are the necessity to ignore hunches, inherited prejudices, or emotional harangues on the outstanding issues of the day, relying instead on expert judgment; and the placing in office of competent persons.

"In Europe the fight for liberty has been a losing fight, and it may be a losing fight in America unless we can teach the voter now to fight with the ballot before it is too late. . . . It doesn't matter whether they call themselves Communist, Fascist or Nazi, the philosophy behind them means war."

FOURTEEN INITIATED.

Los Angeles No. 45 N.S.G.W. was host May 9 for the southern Parlors' group initiation. Every county in the south was represented among the 200 members of the Order in attendance. Officers of the host-Parlor, headed by President Michael Botello, exemplified the ritual, and fourteen candidates were initiated—five for University No. 272, four for Los Angeles, two for Ramona No. 109, two for Sepulveda No. 263 and one for Hollywood No. 196. The initiatory ceremonies were followed by a program of entertainment.

Under good of the order, First Vice-president Harry Davis presided, and at his invitation brief addresses were made by Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Trustee Thomas M. Foley, Past Grand President John T. Newell, Grand Marshal William A. Reuter, and Albert V. Mayrhofer, vice-president California Pacific International Exposition. District deputy grand presidents in attendance were Bernard Hiss, chairman of the committee which sponsored the successful group meetings during Grand President Koenig's term, Walter Hiskey, Daniel McSweeny, Walter Richards, Clarence M. Hunt, Sidney B. Witkowski and Walter H. Odemar. Refreshments terminated an enjoyable evening.

PUBLIC LIBRARY TO GET BEAR FLAG.

A luncheon of the months, sponsored by Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. with Dahlia Vucovich in charge, April 27, was largely attended and netted a nice sum for the homeless children work. The April table, Edna Trombatore hostess, was awarded first prize. The card party, Elsie Hunter Ruiz chairman, the sewing club meeting at the home of Flora Holy, and the Ferndel Canyon breakfast, served by Edna Holcomb, all held during May, were greatly enjoyed and well attended.

A record attendance, including Supervising Deputy Gertrude Tuttle and Deputy Kathryn Burke, was at the Parlor's May 15 meeting, when a Mothers Day program was presented under the chairmanship of Ann Schiebush. Refreshments were served by Edna Holcomb. Mary Corcoran, for fourteen years recording secretary, tendered her resignation, as she plans to reside in San Francisco. She was presented with a basket of flowers, as was also the oldest mother present, Mrs. Labory. The salad bridge and fashion show of May 25 for the benefit of the Parlor's clubhouse fund was attended by some 250, and was greatly enjoyed. Members of the Parlor modeled.

Los Angeles' June program includes: 5th, election officers; also, deputies night, honoring Supervising Deputies Gertrude Tuttle and Mary Noerenberg, and Deputy Kathryn Burke. 12th, bridge party; Letha Brooks hostess, assisted by Edna Holcomb, Kay Sens and Hilda Rudge. 15th, Rose Graffia Porrozzo will entertain the sewing club; everyone welcome. 19th, initiation, last until fall. 27th, dance, jointly with Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W., at K. C. Hall, Ninth and Bonnie Brae; committee, Ethel Kennedy (chairman), Emma Lazzarrevich, Christine Lucere, Juanita Porter, Kay Sens, Letha Brooks, Edna Trombatore. 14th, presentation of California State (Bear) Flag to Felipe de Neve branch of public library. 29th, pilgrimage to the San Fernando pageant.

TELEPHONE BRIDGE.

Long Beach—Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. entertained mothers at the home of Clara Fay, May 11. Each was presented with a corsage. A program and refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Fay, Kitty Dillon, Kate McFadyen and Josephine Pierson. May 16, entertainment and refreshments were provided by the May committee, Georgia Pierson (chairman), Ellen Rogers, Elnora Martin, Beryl Valliket, Edith Johnson, Wilhelmina Curtis, Selena Gibson and Beth Borden. The thimble club met May 23 at the home of President Gertrude Riddle and completed garments for the homeless children.

May 25, the Parlor held a telephone bridge at the homes of several members. Kate McFadyen was the chairman. At the home of Elnora Martin, June 7, the Parlor will have a benefit card party.

ANNUAL BARBECUE.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. has two teams, captained by "Bill" Bright and First Vice-president Clarence S. Hunt engaged in a membership contest which will close in July. At the "open" meeting May 10, Clark Sellers gave a most interesting illustrated talk on the recent Hauptman trial in New Jersey, on which he was in constant attendance. Then followed the birthday feast, prepared by Charles Gassagne. Among the many visitors were Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Trustee Thomas M. Foley and Past Grand President John T. Newell.

Ramona's June calendar includes: 7th, election officers. 9th, annual barbecue, strictly stag; "Bill" Bright in full charge. 14th, initiation. 21st, regular birthday dinner, 6:30 p.m.; open meeting follows, and a "bang-up" program.

RECEPTION AT SAN DIEGO EXPOSITION.

Mrs. Ora Evans has reported to Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. that the working model of the Felipe de Neve statue is to be placed at the California Pacific International Exposition in San Diego. Honoring the Parlor's birthday, a reception will be held there June 19. Mrs. Florence Irish will be the principal speaker. For June 5, Mrs. Gertrude Tuttle, ways and means chairman, announces a spring bridge luncheon at the home of Jose Mojica.

The Parlor's history and landmarks section May 25 sponsored a theater party. The funds will be used for a marker at the Romulo Pico adobe in San Fernando and for the Neve manuscript. May 14, Mrs. Milo Aylward reported on the women's patriotic conference for national defense, and Mrs. Blackstone Smith presented, in costume, a charming program, "Etchings in Song." May 28, Isabel Lopez Fages spoke on "California's Landmarks: Cradle of Her Growth."

PHILANTHROPY PARTY GREAT SUCCESS.

Glendale—The philanthropy party of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. at Casa de San Rafael, May 8, was most successful and attracted a large crowd. A program, including a fashion show which was concluded with a bridal party, was presented, and refreshments were served. The models included Dorothy Donlan, Evalyn Wilson, Virginia Ravn, Louise Rubottom, Hazel Hansen, Flora Alice Molen and Eleanor Steele. Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen was the general chairman, Margaret Donlan was chairman of the fashion show, President Ione Gillett introduced the program numbers, and others actively identified with the affair were Mrs. A. Alpi, Ada Steele, Vera Carlson, Gussie Anderson and Evalyn Wilson.

Mothers were entertained May 14, and President Gillett presented to each, also to the charter members of the Parlor, corsages. May 25, a successful bridge party was held at the home of Dora Phillips. Maude Molen and Vera Carlson entertained Verdugo's members at the latter's home May 28.

INTERPARLOR DOINGS.

At the May 17 meeting of the Interparlor N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Committee it was decided to promote no Admission Day celebration locally this year, but to co-operate with the Natives of San Diego in the California Day, September 9, celebration at the California Pacific International Exposition. Officers of a committee to arrange details are: Albert Boeckman, chairman; Gertrude Allen, vice-chairman; Dorothy Ravn, secretary; Frank Frank, treasurer.

Resolutions, prepared on parchment, thanking Burrel D. Neighbours for his services, were presented to him. They were signed by Mary Noerenberg, Dorothy Ravn, Fred Leonetti, Gertrude Allen, Ella Steinbeck and Frank Frank. The question of flying the California State (Bear) Flag on all office buildings was discussed.

HOMELESS CHILDREN REMEMBERED.

Santa Monica—Celebrating its seventh anniversary, Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. served a potluck dinner May 8. President Myrtle Barden presented a birthday cake and had charge of the elaborate table decorations. Guests of honor were Supervising Deputy Gertrude Tuttle and Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Third Vice-president N.S.G.W. Dorothy Barnes gave excerpts on Mothers Day, and Anna Pierce presented the homeless children committee with a hamper containing six baby quilts made by herself.

May 22, memorial services for departed members were in charge of Mary Ritner. Deputy Betty Saunders was a visitor and gave an inspiring talk. Marie Barnes was in charge of the social hour. One of the outstanding social events of the Parlor was a card party recently given at the home of Mary Meyer.

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

Glendale—Glendale Parlor No. 264 will give another of its popular dances at the Masonic Temple, Saturday evening, June 8, 9 to 12:30. Snappy music will be provided and refreshments will be served. Harvey Gillett heads the arrangements committee.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 367 will stage a genuine California barbecue at the Marquis ranch, Santa Monica, Sunday, June 23. All members of the Order and their friends, including the womenfolks, will be welcome. The Parlor's drum and bugle corps is forging ahead rapidly.

Los Angeles—University Parlor No. 272's housewarming was a grand success, and many useful presents for the attractive new clubhouse were received. The Parlor's baseball team, Stanley Parker captain, will meet Ramona's team June 9 at the latter Parlor's barbecue.

"HANKY" SHOWER.

San Pedro — Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. had a box social, May 6, with members of Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. as guests. Dancing was followed by a midnight supper. May 20, initiation was held, and the guests were Supervising Deputies Gertrude Tuttle and Mary Noerenberg. In honor of her birthday, Margaret Kreider, chairman for May, was tendered a "hanky" shower.

The Florencita thimble club had an all-day session May 28 at Averill Park. Carrie Kuhlman and Emily Anderson were the co-hostesses. Carrie Rogers is the Parlor's June social chairman.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Lee Erwin (Los Angeles N.S.) is now residing at Cool, El Dorado County.

John J. Ford (Hollywood N.S.) and wife were visitors last month to San Francisco.

Ed. F. Cohn (Sacramento N.S.) of Redondo was a visitor last month to Vallejo and Sacramento.

Albert V. Mayrhofer (San Diego N.S.) of San Diego, President California State Historical Association, was a visitor last month.

Mrs. Jeanette Tighe-Mackay and Deputy City Attorney Thatcher John Kemp (Ramona N.S.) were wedded April 30 at Ventura City.

Chas. A. Koenig (Grand President N.S.), Thomas J. Foley (Grand Trustee N.S.) and Henry J. Angelo (Stanford N.S.) were among last month's visitors from San Francisco.

Following the Vallejo Grand Parlor, Eldred L. Meyer (Grand Second Vice-president N.S.) and wife, Walter C. Richards (Grand Outside Sentinel N.S.) and wife, and Walter H. Odemar (Ramona N.S.) and wife paid a visit to Lake Tahoe.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Catherine Irene Scott, wife of John V. Scott (secretary Ramona N.S.), died April 25. She was a native of New York, aged 68.

Judge Louis Hulet Valentine, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died May 2, survived by two daughters. He was born at Coloma, El Dorado County, November 13, 1859. For eight years he was a superior judge of Los Angeles County. His widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Pearson-Valentine, followed him to the unknown May 8. She, too, was a native of El Dorado County, having been born at Placerville more than seventy years ago.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Incendiary fires started in warehouses and barns between Milpitas and San Jose, Santa Clara County, the first week of June caused losses in excess of $200,000. James Bee, an itinerant, was caught in the act of firing a Los Gatos building and confessed; he was "down on the rich."

Fred Mier, working in a Sacramento City electric-light plant June 2, came in contact with a "live" wire and was instantly killed.

W. H. Puffer fell from a church steeple which he was painting at Penryn, Placer County, June 11, and was killed.

The boiler at the Big River sawmill near Mendocino Town exploded June 15, and Andrew McLeod and Hans Hanson were killed.

W. E. Smith's 2-year-old daughter, playing in the kitchen of their Monterey City home, fell into a washtub and drowned.

Mrs. George Sellinger, sweeping a room at Sausalito, Marin County, knocked down a rifle. The weapon was fired and the bullet, entering her temple, killed her.

Wm. Philpott and Paul Miles, owners of adjoining Little Geysers, Sonoma County, ranches, quarreled over a boundary line. June 27 they armed, and fought out their difficulties; both were killed.

Christian Valley, Placer County, had a school election June 6. Candidates A. B. Brokaw and Geo. W. Haines had an altercation, and the former shot and killed the latter.

John Sholtenkirk, Dick Green and Neil White got into a dispute over payment for a jug of wine near Shingle Springs, El Dorado County, June 20. Sholtenkirk received a terrific beating, White was filled with bird shot, and Green was killed.

James Delaney and Ned Smith, neighbors, quarreled June 15 at Humbug Valley, Plumas County, and Delaney shot and killed Smith. When the constable was conveying him to Quincy, a vigilance committee of some twenty-five ranchers and miners took Delaney from the officer and hanged him from the limb of a tree.

Joseph Gibbon of Big Valley, Shasta County, was to be arrested by Deputy Sheriff Greenlee. So, he fortified himself in a fallen tree, and shot and killed the officer. A posse gathered and, as Gibbon would not surrender, he was shot and killed.

PROCEEDINGS VALLEJO N.S.G.W. GRAND PARLOR

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

CHAS. A. KOENIG, GRAND PRESIDENT, presided throughout the deliberations of the Fifty-eighth Grand Parlor of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, in session at Vallejo, Solano County, May 20, 21 and 23. The opinion generally expressed was, that this was the best Grand Parlor, judged from every viewpoint, in several years, and an optimistic feeling for the Order's future prevailed.

Grand President Koenig concluded the report of his stewardship with: "I trust that my labors have accomplished something for the upbuilding and advancement of the Order." That they had, was impressively evidenced when, just before the session's close and following his installation as the Junior Past Grand President, he was accorded an unprecedented ovation.

The reports of grand officers and committees to the Grand Parlor dealt, mostly, with matters heretofore given publicity in The Grizzly Bear. Follows a summary of the Vallejo Grand Parlor proceedings, with no reference, however, to proposed legislation, some of which aroused prolonged debate, that failed of passage:

CHANGES IN CONSTITUTIONS.

Grand Parlor:

Art. V, Sec. 3 amended to provide that each "member of the Grand Parlor may participate in the election of grand officers."

Art. VI, Sec. 1 amended by changing "secret work" to "symbolic work;" also by striking out "subject to the confirmation of the Grand Parlor or Grand Officers as prescribed in Article XII, Section 1," applied to the appointment of the Board of Appeals.

Art. VIII, Sec. 3 amended to read "Sixth, a Committee on History, of five members."

Art. IX, Sec. 7 amended to provide that mileage of Grand Parlor members will be allowed only to those "who have registered, and voted on all ballots at the election of Grand Officers."

Art. X, Sec. 5 amended by adding: "The list of such indigent members shall be kept on file in the office of the Grand Secretary, open to inspection by members of the Order, but shall not be printed in the Advance Reports or Proceedings of the Grand Parlor."

Art. XI, Sec. 6 amended to provide that Subordinate Parlors shall furnish the Grand Secretary "a copy," instead of "duplicate copies" of their semi-annual reports.

Art. XI, Sec. 8 amended to provide that a member or suspended member of a defunct Parlor may apply for membership in any Parlor; he shall first obtain from the Grand Secretary a certificate showing his standing, "which certificate may be accepted by any Parlor upon receipt by such Parlor of its initiatory fee."

Art. XI, Sec. 14 amended to provide that a communication soliciting aid or donations, advocating or opposing proposed state legislation, or asking action on any matter of general public interest, "shall not be read in any Subordinate Parlor unless the following words are stamped on the face of such letter: 'Approved by the Grand President'."

Subordinate Parlors:

Art. VI, Sec. 3 amended to provide that at the end of each term the recording secretary shall file "a copy" instead of "two copies" of his report with the Grand Secretary.

Art. VI, Sec. 9 amended to provide that if a Parlor requires its trustees to give a bond "they shall be bonded with the Grand Parlor Insurance Fund in sums as the Parlor may require."

Art. XV, Sec. 6 amended to provide that the president "installed in the month of January" shall appoint a homeless children committee; also by adding at the end of the section: "except that it may keep on hand a sufficient reserve fund to meet expenses of similar entertainments for the ensuing year."

Art. XVI amended by adding a new provision: "Sec. 5. No Parlor shall make a gift or donation of any funds in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00) during any one year to any person, and/or organization, and/or corporation without the consent of the Board of Grand Officers first had and obtained."

BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

Santa Cruz City was selected as the meeting-place of the Fifty-ninth (1936) Grand Parlor.

The approved budget totals $26,805, including $4,500 for organization work and $1,000 for Fellowships in Pacific Coast History.

The percapita tax was fixed at $1.20, payable in quarterly installments of thirty cents, June 1, 1935, September 1, 1935, December 1, 1935, and March 1, 1936.

An appropriation of five cents percapita was voted for support of the statewide Admission Day, September 9, celebration to be held at Stockton under the auspices of Stockton Parlor No. 7.

The proposal to have prepared "for permanent record a full and complete history of the Bear Flag Party" was referred to the Grand Parlor History Committee.

Fines levied against Sunset No. 26, Stanford No. 76, Bay City No. 104, Ramona No. 109, El Capitan No. 222 and Compton No. 273 Parlors were ordered remitted.

Ordained "that at the meeting of each Subordinate Parlor directly preceding September 28 each of said Subordinate Parlors hold patriotic observance in honor of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, a native of Portugal, who discovered California on Thursday, September 28, 1542, while in the service of the King of Spain, by entering the harbor of San Diego."

Greetings and felicitations were ordered sent Thomas R. Jones (Sacramento Parlor No. 3), "known to almost every member of the Native Sons of the Golden West as the writer of the 'California Fifty Years Ago' column in The Grizzly Bear Magazine."

The Board of Grand Officers was directed to investigate the suggestion that a grand lecturer be appointed by the grand president to contact groups of young men at high schools, junior and major colleges, and to report to the next Grand Parlor.

A proposal that the Grand Parlor endorse and help finance the movement started by Colusa Parlor No. 69 to erect a suitable monument to mark the last restingplace of William B. Ide, and to also mark the old Township of Monroeville, was referred to the Grand Parlor Historic Landmarks Committee.

The rare courage in the performance of official duty of James P. Holohan (Watsonville Parlor No. 65), Warden San Quentin State Prison,—"who as a state senator drafted and had passed the act which declared the historic Bear Flag to be the State Flag of California,"—was commended.

The Grand President was directed to appoint a committee of five to investigate the feasibility of instituting a junior order, the committee to submit written findings to the next Grand Parlor.

That activities of the Order may be increased, a committee of five was ordered appointed to investigate. The committee is to work with the Grand President, and "ideas and recommendations as to reorganizing this Order" are to be reported to the next Grand Parlor.

The Ritual was amended by changing that portion of the charge of the president of a Subordinate Parlor which pertain to symbols, and by specifying in the "Instructions" procedure for the reception of a newly-initiated member.

Past Grand Presidents Frederick Henry Greely, Frank Leslie Coombs, William Isham Traeger and Dr. Frank I. Gonzalez, recently deceased, were eulogized in resolutions which were adopted.

Messages of good wishes were ordered sent Past Grand Presidents Herman C. Lichtenberger and Charles A. Thompson, Eugene O'Donnell (Dolores Parlor No. 208), R. J. White (Palo Alto Parlor No. 216) and Eugene W. Biscailuz (Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267).

The issuance of a charter to Lakemont Parlor No. 275 (Oakland) was approved.

The consolidations of Turlock Parlor No. 274 with Modesto Parlor No. 11, and of Brooklyn Parlor No. 151 with Lakemont Parlor No. 275 were approved.

Fremont Parlor No. 44 (Hollister) and Golden Anchor Parlor No. 182 (La Porte) were ordered dissolved.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Endorsing H. R. 2772, now before the Federal Congress, "making the 9th day of September of each year a legal holiday for federal employes in the State of California," and urging California senators and congressmen to support the bill.

Commending "to the citizenry our philosophy of government and a progressive and enlightened growth thereof as constituted, and" urging "all public officials and the people generally to be ever on the alert and to combat all activities seeking to destroy our form of government and to substitute therefor communism, fascism or other alien forms of government."

Requesting "the Legislature of the State of California to enact all necessary and proper legislation to prevent paupers, vagabonds, indigent persons, and persons likely to become public charges, and all persons afflicted with contagious or infectious diseases from entering the State of California."

Because Mexican immigration has resulted in serious economic, political and financial injury to the interests of California, "Resolved, that immigration from Mexico and other Latin-American countries should be restricted under quota, as is done with immigration from the assimilable races of Europe, and in accord with a recommendation made in the President's message of December 1932, and that Congress should at once provide for such restriction."

Declaring "that the best interests of California, and of the Filipinos now residing in the state, many of them unemployed and dependent, would be served by passage of H. R. 6464," now before the Federal Congress, "providing for repatriation of such Filipinos now here as desire to return to their native land," and requesting California's representatives in the Congress to further passage of the bill.

Urgently requesting California's senators and representatives in the Federal Congress "to vigorously oppose a grant of statehood to Hawaii until such time as it may be shown that such grant may be made with perfect safety to the security and interests of the nation, and that the population of the Territory may be relied upon for unswerving and undivided allegiance to the Union and its standards."

"World events conclusively demonstrat[ing] that today, as no time in our history, the fundamentals and ideals that have made the United States of America the greatest nation of the world are definitely challenged, . . . resolved, . . . (2) We reaffirm our allegiance to the flag of our country, the Declaration of Independence, and the Constitution of the United States. . . . (7) We earnestly advocate the exclusion or expulsion of all aliens antagonistic to or unsympathetic with the Constitution of the United States, its ideals, principles and purposes. (8) We advocate unstinted expenditures from the public treasury to insure adequate defense, and the preservation of the life, liberty and happiness of every citizen of the United States of America. . . . (10) We advocate and commend national legislation requiring the compulsory registration of all persons within the United States of America and the filing of finger prints or other marks of identification, thereby making easier the detection of criminals, aliens and those ineligible for citizenship."

Extending "the heartfelt thanks of the delegates of the Fifty-eighth Session of the Grand Parlor N.S.G.W., here assembled, to Vallejo Parlor No. 77 N.S.G.W.; Vallejo Parlor No. 195 N.D.G.W.; Mayor Fred H. Heegler; Captain Hugo W. Osterhaus, U.S.N., acting Commandant of Mare Island Navy Yard; Luther E. Gibson, publisher of the Vallejo Morning Times-Herald and Vallejo Evening Chronicle, for generous publicity; George Roe and William E. Hely, publishers of the Vallejo Evening News, for generous publicity; Thomas J. O'Hara, president of the Vallejo Chamber of Commerce; Frank Silva, captain in charge of the California Highway Patrol; George Neill, director of the Vallejo high school band; and to the members of the 1935 Grand Parlor Committee of Vallejo Parlor No. 77 N.S.G.W.: Jos. Clavo, chairman; W. J. Tormey, secretary; S. J. McKnight, C. G. Halliday, J. A. Browne, Geo. Weniger, T. J. O'Hara, Orvin B. Gaston, L. D. Bussboom, Werner Hallin, C. L. Miner, F. C. Segoria, Mrs. L. S. Bliss, Miss Ellen O'Brien, Mrs. L. S. Meeks, Mrs. A. C. Johnson and Mrs. J. F. Carr, the five aforementioned ladies being members of Vallejo Parlor No. 195 N.D.G.W."

NEW GRAND OFFICERS.

At the election for grand officers, 324 ballots were cast. The following were chosen and, with Chas. A. Koenig, who automatically became the Junior Past Grand President, were publicly installed by Past Grand President Seth Millington who was assisted by Past Grand President Thomas Monohan, acting junior past grand president, William A. Reuter (Sepulveda Parlor No. 263), acting grand marshal, and Clarence M. Hunt (Sacramento Parlor No. 3), acting grand secretary:

Grand President—Harmon D. Skillin (Castro Parlor No. 232).

Grand Secretary John T. Regan (South San Francisco Parlor No. 157).

Grand Treasurer—John A. Corotto (San Jose Parlor No. 22).

Grand Marshal — Walter P. Rothenbush (Stockton Parlor No. 7).

Grand Outside Sentinel Walter P. Richards (Sepulveda Parlor No. 263).

Grand Trustees (in order of vote received)—Donald E. VanLuven (Arrowhead Parlor No. 110), Edward T. Schnarr (Fruitvale Parlor No. 252), Adrien M. Hynes (Piedmont Parlor No. 120), Jesse H. Miller (California Parlor No. 1), Thomas M. Foley (Pacific Parlor No. 10), Leo V. Youngworth (Ramona Parlor No. 109), Charles D. Blaine (Modesto Parlor No. 11).

To complete the Grand Parlor official family, Grand President Skillin appointed:

Grand Organist—C. George Cuthbertson (Castro Parlor No. 232).

Grand Historian—Rev. Thos. J. McKeon (Calistoga Parlor No. 86).

MEMORIAL CEREMONIES.

Past Grand President Hubert R. McNoble presided at the annual memorial ceremonies. The program included:

Eulogy for Past Grand President Fred H. Greely, Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane. Eulogy for Past Grand President Frank L. Coombs and other honored dead, including James Rolph Jr., William J. Wynn, John H. Nelson and Andrew Mocker, Past Grand President Lewis F. Byington. Eulogy for Past Grand President William I. Traeger, Leo V. Youngworth (Ramona Parlor No. 109). Eulogy for Past Grand President Dr. Frank I. Gonzalez, Grand Historian Charles R. Boden. Eulogy for Frank Barnett, former Grand Trustee, and John Williams Bankhead, former Grand Treasurer, Grand Trustee Adrien M. Hynes. Eulogy for Ambrose Barker, former Grand Trustee, Past Grand President Thomas Monahan. Eulogy for all deceased members of the Order, Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin.

RITUAL EXEMPLIFICATION.

The ritual was exemplified by the grand officers ritual team, and four candidates were initiated for Vallejo Parlor No. 77. The stations were filled by the following:

GRIZZLY BEAR OF GREATEST VALUE.

"Our Order is fortunate in having The Grizzly Bear Magazine as a medium of publicity among our members and the outside world. It is the official magazine of the Order, but it is supported by only a portion of our membership. The magazine is replete with interesting articles in regards to activities of the Parlors and the work of the Grand Officers. I suggest to all Parlors that the Publicity Committee thereof furnish the editor of the magazine with articles describing all Parlor functions, so that Parlors in different parts of the State may know what other Parlors are doing. The Grizzly Bear is of the greatest value in giving general information to all Parlors and its files are an accurate and complete history of the Order."—From Grand President Chas. A. Koenig's report to the Fifty-eighth (Vallejo 1935) Grand Parlor.

NOTES OF THE SESSION.

V. S. McClatchy (Pacific Parlor No. 10), secretary California Joint Immigration Committee, gave an interesting talk on immigration.

Grand President Gladys E. Noce of the Native Daughters came in person to extend the greetings of that Order, and delivered a splendid address. She was accompanied by Mesdames Bliss, Koenig, Skillin, Meeks and Burns.

Grand President Koenig was presented with a gift by Vallejo Parlor No. 195 N.D.G.W., President Juliet Bliss making the presentation for that Parlor.

Several cities put in "bids" for future Grand Parlor meetings and statewide Admission Day celebrations.

"EVERY MEMBER AN ORGANIZER"

HARMON D. SKILLIN OF SAN FRANcisco, affiliated with Castro Parlor No. 232, was installed as Grand President of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West just prior to the close of the Vallejo Grand Parlor, May 23. The installation ceremonies were public, and there was an exceptionally large attendance. Following his induction into office, Grand President Skillin addressed the assemblage, saying:

"My fellow Native Sons: On an occasion such as this, it is difficult indeed to express oneself in clear, intelligent and coherent terms. For some seven long years or more this day has been looked forward to, and now the time has arrived when there has been placed upon my shoulders the responsibility of heading this, our Order, for the coming year. There is no doubt in my mind that, like many of those who have gone before me, when the year comes to an end I will have found it to have been all too short.

HARMON D. SKILLIN OF SAN FRANCISCO
GRAND PRESIDENT ORDER NATIVE SONS GOLDEN WEST

"One thought, however, stands out preeminently in my mind this afternoon, and that is the fact that as an individual I can do little, if anything, to further the interests of the Native Sons of the Golden West. By that, I mean that the Grand President of this Order must have the support, assistance and co-operation of each and every Subordinate Parlor and each and every member of those Subordinate Parlors. Without this co-operation, advancement and gain for our Order will be impossible and achievements for the coming year will be nothing.

"Of course, standing at the threshold of a new year there should be certain desires and ambitions which should motivate me, and I am frank to tell you that my main solicitation and all-absorbing interest will be for the increase of membership in the Order. Too many words of praise along these lines cannot be uttered for my predecessor and what he accomplished during his year as Grand President. It is my hope and desire to carry on where he, by termination of his office, was compelled to leave off. If, during the coming year, we can all put our shoulders to the wheel and, when the Grand Secretary strikes a balance on his books there shows a net gain in our membership, then will I indeed feel that we have accomplished something substantial and meritorious. This idea is not an impossibility, for in the past year the loss in membership was cut down practically fifty percent, and there is no reason why the year which will end this December cannot show a gain rather than a loss.

"I have certain ideas with reference to the organization and institution of new parlors. While of course I do not discourage new parlors, it would appear to me that it is more to our advantage to strengthen and build up existing Parlors rather than to attempt to establish a record in organizing new ones. Experience has taught us, even within the last few years, that too many new parlors were established that were of the toadstool variety—springing up over night and wasting away immediately thereafter.

"It is the hope of your newly-installed Grand President that the Parlors will strive to have class initiations and, if it should be considered any inducement, I will say that the Grand Officers will be prepared to conduct the initiatory work whenever and wherever the opportunity presents.

"Some three years ago, Past Grand President Emmet Seawell, Junior Past Grand President Chas. A. Koenig and myself agreed upon a plan for the increase of our membership. This agreement has been carried out by the two Grand Presidents before me, and its decided success certainly merits its continuation by me. In other words, we will have no paid organizer. Without attempting to criticize the work of a paid organizer, suffice to say that the results accomplished in the past two years, both from a financial and a membership viewpoint, strongly bespeak a continuation of the system followed for the past two years.

"Let the slogan be 'EVERY MEMBER AN ORGANIZER,' and accordingly the Grand Parlor will pay to each and every member of the Order

Native Daughters of the Golden West

SUTTER CREEK—AMAPOLA NO. 80 RE-ceived officially Grand President Gladys E. Noce, April 27. It was the home-coming meeting of Mrs. Noce, as she is a member of the Parlor. The festivities began with a dinner, Hilda Esola chairman, attended by 185 members of the Order. Music was furnished by Mildred Ratto, Ralph McGee and Jan Van Theil, and Elmarie Dyke led in community singing. A toast to "Our Gladys," given by Hazel Marre, was responded to by Grand President Noce in a very gracious manner. The diningroom appointments were in orchid and gold, with baskets of marigolds as the centerpieces for the tables; the entire room was a bower of flowers.

This was also the forty-first anniversary of Amapola's institution, and three charter members, Ida B. Herman, Laura Frakes-Toman and Georgia Styles, as well as Ethel Fournier, Clara Bennetts and Amy Bennetts, sisters of the Grand President, were special guests. After the dinner the drum corps of Amador No. 17 N.S.G.W. escorted Mrs. Noce to the City Auditorium, where the meeting was held. The auditorium was turned into a garden of flowers and greenery, iris and calla lillies being mainly used. President Salena Marre of Amapola presided and, with her very efficient corps of officers, initiated four candidates. The Grand President was accompanied to her seat of honor by an escort team of twelve members and presented with a boquet of yellow roses. During the evening some thirty members of Amador No. 17 N.S.G.W. entered the meetingroom and Wm. Snyder, on behalf of that Parlor, presented the Grand President with several pieces of silverware. A drill team composed of twenty-four members and captained by Edith Steele put on a fancy drill. The drill team and officers wore yellow organdie formals. As Elmarie Dyke sang "Amapola," little Sabina Malatesta, dressed as a fairy, on behalf of Amapola presented a boquet of California poppies to Mrs. Noce; each poppy contained a greenback.

Three hundred and eleven members of the Order attended the meeting, representatives of forty-three Parlors, eleven supervising deputies and nineteen deputies being among the number. The following grand officers and distinguished visitors were present: Grand President Gladys E. Noce, Grand Vice-president Anna Thuesen, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Marshal Edna Briggs, Grand Trustees Clarice Cook, Hazel Hansen, Willow Borba, Nellie Cline, Alice Lane, Orinda Giannini and Clara Gairaud, Grand Inside Sentinel Alice Oldham, Grand Outside Sentinel Claire Lindsey, Supervising Deputy Emma Wright, Deputy Cynthia Phillips, Past Grand Secretary Laura Frakes-Toman, Mary E. Brusie, secretary of the Native Sons and Native Daughters Central Homeless Children Committee, and Past Grands Carrie Durham, Mamie Peyton, Emma Humphrey, Bertha Briggs, Estelle Evans, Mae Boldeman, Mae Noonan, Evelyn Carlson, Anna Armstrong, Dr. Eva Rasmussen and Esther Sullivan. The grand officers, both present and past, were presented with small wooden carts containing tiny potted cactus. The carts were replicas of those used by the Pioneers, and were hand made by a husband of one of the Native Daughters. During the evening Elmarie Dyke and Past Grand Estelle Evans favored with vocal selections, and Grand President Noce gave a most inspiring address.—H.M.

Grand Trustee Honored.

San Jose—Mothers Day was beautifully observed in Vendome No. 100 when, May 8, the members' mothers were feted with a spring party. The auditorium and diningroom were decorated with a great array of spring flowers, roses predominating. Martha Waddington was general chairman, and participants in the program included Myrra Mosher, Jewel Smith McKenna, Bernice Norris, Fern Rhoads, Yvonne O'Connell, Dorothy Lorentz, Tillie Brohaska, Grand Trustee Clara Gairaud and William Sheller. Ella Graham entertained the sewing club May 16, and a large whist party was held May 22. Edith Sheller was a recent visitor to Los Angeles.

Grand Trustee Gairaud of Vendome has again been honored by the Federation of Women's Clubs, having been reappointed county music chairman; when this term expires she will have served nine years. May 3 she gave a California history talk, with music illustrations, before the California Music Teachers Association.

Unique Presentation Ceremony.

Stockton—Caliz de Oro No. 206 had as a guest May 1, Grand President Gladys E. Noce. At dinner, preceding the meeting, the tables were decorated in pastel colors. At the meeting, some 175 members of the Order assembled, and honor-seats were accorded the Grand President, Grand Trustees Orinda Giannini, Alice Lane, Clara Gairaud and Clarice Cook, Grand Outside Sentinel Claire Lindsey, Past Grands May Boldemann, Mamie G. Peyton and Evelyn I. Carlson, and Supervising Deputy Grace Bessac.

Grand President Noce spoke on the Order's projects, stressing especially the homeless children and the veterans welfare endeavors. One candidate was initiated, and a program was presented. The Parlor "adopted" its fourth veteran, and Alice McDonald gave a short history of the first printing press west of the Rocky Mountains. The Parlor's gift to Mrs. Noce was made by Esther Dieren, Ina McDonald, Bernice Davis, Lucille Reichmuth and Frances Germain in a unique ceremony arranged and directed by Roberta Fiola, incorporating the histories of four Mother Lode towns.

Active in arranging for the Grand President's visitation were President Earlene White, Grand Trustee Clarice Cook, Hazel Newman, Eda Cunningham, Edith Del Monte, Ilene Woodbridge, Ada Platt, Mary Fay, Helen Ellis, Cordiva Chase, Lottie Hahn, Edith Flint, Myrtle Keller, Frances Germain and Catherine Meroux. Fourteen Parlors were represented at the gathering.

Thanks for Co-operation.

Editor Grizzly Bear: May I take this opportunity to thank you for your kindness and co-operation in giving space in The Grizzly Bear for the publication of all letters from the various Veterans Administration Facilities. Very sincerely, STELLA FINKELDEY (P.G.P.), chairman Grand Parlor Veterans Welfare Committee. Santa Cruz, May 14, 1935.

Citizens Co-operate.

San Juan Bautista—Citizens of this historic San Benito County town manifested keen interest and hearty co-operation in the adobe restoration project of San Juan Bautista No. 179 by attendance at a benefit sponsored by the San Juan Service Club. The proceeds have been presented to the Native Daughters for their building fund. Work on the historic building is progressing, and very soon the Parlor's meetings will be held there.

Members of San Juan Bautista, assisted by a large group from Copa de Oro No. 105 (Hollister) contributed a pageant depicting scenes and stories of early Indian life around the mission. Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs, in a spanish costume, was the reader of the story, and Adele Wackerman (Santa Cruz No. 26) and Frances Leidig (Aleli No. 102) assisted, respectively, with Spanish dances and songs.

County Parlors Unite for Official Visit.

Ferndale—Grand President Gladys E. Noce officially visited May 3 the Humboldt County Parlors—Oneonta No. 71, Occident No. 28 (Eureka) and Reichling No. 97 (Fortuna)—in joint session. A dinner was attended by eighty-seven members. Bowls and baskets of red, white and yellow flowers, depicting the colors of the Order, were prominent in the festive board decorative scheme.

At the meeting which followed, Occident's officers exemplified the ritual, initiating fourteen candidates for that Parlor and one candidate for Reichling. Grand President Noce delightfully related the state's history and commented on the Order's accomplishments. On behalf of Oneonta, Cecilia Peterson presented her with a redwood bowl and tray, and Myra Rumrill, also for Oneonta, presented a gift to Lillie Peterson in recognition of faithful service as organist at all Natives' functions.

A Happy Afternoon.

Etna—On Mothers Day Eschscholtzia No. 112 sponsored a party to which the mothers of members, the older mothers of Scott Valley, and visiting Native Daughters from Buena Vista, Californiana, Las Plumas and Mountain Dawn Parlors were invited. A program of an address of welcome by President Frances Smith, readings by Dorice Young, vocal solos by Alicia Seeley, piano numbers by Esther Buchner, Alicia Seeley and Minna Horn, a pleasant hour of visiting, talks by some of the Pioneer Mothers and other guests, a song and two recitations by 90-year-old Mrs. Lighthill of Fort Jones, the serving of delicious refreshments, and the artistic arrangement and fragrance of many boquets of spring flowers made the afternoon a happy one for both guests and hostesses.

An interesting statement made by Mrs. Hayden, local authority on earlyday history, was that the first road from Oregon to Sacramento followed the early mule trail from Yreka through Scott Valley, Callahan and Trinity Center. The road which the present highway follows, through the Sacramento Canyon, was built later. Mrs. Hayden witnessed the signing of the contract for this road in her home in Callahan.

Pioneer Day Celebration.

Placentia—Members of Grace No. 242 honored Marie Jacobsen with a surprise party at the home of Anna Lemke, April 29, and the Parlor presented to her a wedding gift. May 2 the homeless children committee sponsored a very successful card party.

The Parlor had its annual pioneer day celebration May 18 and more than a hundred old-timers of northern Orange County were present.

The dinner tables were very attractive with potted red geraniums, and the favors were tiny cactus plants in gaily-painted pottery. Thos. L. McFadden told of early school days in Placentia when it was a part of Los Angeles County and known as Cajon district. Vocal selections were given by Marybelle Chapman, Johanna Lemke and George Forster.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Stockton—A fashion revue of ye olden times that concentrated on the beauty and the prized variety of costumes possessed by Stocktonians was held by Joaquin No. 5, April 23. A mock wedding concluded the festivities.

Santa Cruz—Santa Cruz No. 26 initiated four candidates May 13. Among the visitors were Past Grand Bertha Briggs and Supervising Deputy Rose Rhyner. A Mothers Day program was presented by Mary Gregory and Arista Mellor

FIESTA AT SANTA INES MISSION

(MARION ARROQUE.)

SANTA BARBARA AT MISSION SANTA Ines, May 5, the romantic charm of Spanish days came back to enliven once more, for a day, the old hospitable spirit of the historic landmark, as members of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 N.D.G.W. joined the mission guardian in welcoming Los Rancheros Visitadores, unique organization of horsemen, nearly 300 strong, on their sixth annual visit to the mission.

Acting jointly on the reception committee were also members of Los Amigos de Santa Ines, organization formed under the guidance of Reina del Mar Parlor, in which all Santa Barbara communities and forces are pledged to the complete restoration of the 130-year-old mission. Although outwardly appearing in good condition, Santa Ines is actually in acute danger of disintegration. Infested with termites, countless millions of the insects are daily working its destruction by turning the supporting beams to dust.

In their annual four-day trek into Valley Santa Ines, Los Rancheros Visitadores resurrect a custom prevailing in Santa Barbara County nearly a century ago. In those colorful days, the ranchers used to ride from one great rancho to the other to lend a friendly hand with the spring roundup. By day, they would ride the range. At night, there would be great feasts under the stars, and much rollicking fun as they gathered around huge bonfires to spin yarns or sing the songs of the West. Photo shows the modern Rancheros Visitadores stopping to pay their respects to the historic Santa Ines Mission at Solvang, May 5, as natives of the region stage an old-time celebration in their honor.

More than 200 caballeros on horseback, all costumed in old Western style, with an additional fifty riders in stagecoaches, buckboards and chuck wagons, composed the party of rancheros, while an equal number of spectators were assembled in the front corridor of the mission. Amid the sonorous ringing of the bells, the riders approached in picturesque cavalcade, mounted on some of California's most beautiful horses, with four matched palomillos in the lead followed by the four white Arabians of Adolfo Camarillo which are known as the finest parade horses in America. Their approach was a glamorous and memorable sight, as they followed the ancient Camino Real through the rich spring beauty of Santa Ines Valley.

Each year these riders revive the traditions of the country with a three-day trek, from which automobiles are rigidly barred, through this valley, visiting from rancho to rancho, camping out, waxing healthy and enthusiastic on a diet of frijoles, barbecued beef and vino as did their Californian predecessors in the same way and in the same land a hundred years ago. Few other events bring the Old California back so vividly.

No less true to the spirit of those times was the greeting arranged at Santa Ines by Reina del Mar Parlor in co-operation with Elmer Awl, capable manager of the Rancheros. Grouped before the mission in striking contrast to the Spanish costumes of the Native Daughters was the famous choir of St. Anthony's College, Santa Barbara, wearing grey Franciscan habits such as Father Junipero Serra introduced into California. Directed by Father Owen Silva, O.F.M., native born under the shadow of the Queen of Missions at Santa Barbara, these young men sang old hymns and Californian folk songs. Also on the reception committee was Father Lewis Schoen, O.F.M., member of Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W.

Marion Parks of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. (Los Angeles), who is history advisor to Reina del Mar Parlor and secretary of Los Amigos de Santa Ines, acted as mistress of ceremonies, introducing Father Sebastian Brennan, O.M. Cap., father-guardian of Santa Ines; Frank J. McCoy of Santa Maria, president of Los Amigos, and Anna E. McCaughey of Reina del Mar, whose strong devotion has been the chief force behind the years of service her Parlor has given to Santa Ines.

Leo Carrillo, noted Spanish-Californian, and John G. Mott, both members of Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. (Los Angeles), spoke in behalf of Los Rancheros, as also did their president, Jack Mitchell of Santa Barbara. Eloquently, Mott spoke of the unusual gathering as a meeting upon consecrated ground, in a place made sacred by the heroism, faith and labor of men who dedicated their lives to California when it was yet a wilderness, and charged his hearers to consecrate themselves to the preservation of California's historical heritage. Lively music and dancing closed the brief ceremonies. Teresa Janssens of Reina del Mar Parlor, solo dancer, was followed by a group of Native Daughters in "La Jota Vieja," folk dance of early Santa Barbara.

Grass Valley—Manzanita No. 29 had a reception in honor of Past Grand Alison F. Watt, April 20. The occasion, which proved most happy and one long to be remembered, was her eightieth birthday anniversary. Close to a hundred attended, and remarks were made by Judge George L. Jones and Hazel Allen. The committee in charge was headed by Florence George.

Sacramento—Miss Harriett S. Lee of Woodland No. 90, recognized as one of the originators of Mothers Day, delivered an address on the beginning, growth and spirit of the day before the Assembly of the State Legislature. By the Sacramento City and County Parlors, she was presented a large boquet of beautiful carnations.

Salinas—Aleli No. 102 had a Mothers Day program May 9. President Rose Evelyn Rhyner delivered a welcome address, and Louise Brinero and Alberta Schmidt, carrying May baskets presented nosegays to the members' mothers. The refreshment tables, joined to form "M," were decorated with May baskets, and at each plate was a candy maypole. The Parlor's Golden Poppy sewing club meets the fourth Thursday of each month.

Hollister—Members of Copa de Oro No. 105 whose birthdays are celebrated in December, January, February, March and April were honorguests of the Parlor April 25. Chairman Edna Hansen extended greetings. The refreshments tables were attractive with bowls of bright spring blossoms, and at the plate of each birthday girl was a choice pansy plant in full bloom. The Parlor's May 9 social session was an enjoyable dutch whist evening, with appropriate hall decorations and refreshments.

Chico—May was a busy month for Annie K. Bidwell No. 168. The 9th, Mothers Day was observed, and Past Grand Carrie Roesch-Durham was among the special guests. Committee in charge: Olive Pearl, Ida Webber, Marry Wesbrook and Myrtle Stolp. For the 11th, a charity dance was arranged by a committee composed

LIVERMORE—A CENTURY AGO, ROBERT Livermore settled in a Alameda County valley that later assumed his name, and in recognition of the centennial of this Pioneer of Pioneers Las Positas No. 96 erected near the site of his original hacienda a monument, made of stones taken from Las Positas Creek, bearing the inscription:

"ROBERT LIVERMORE
First Settler of Livermore Valley.
Born in England 1799. Died Rancho Las Positas 1858. Arrived in Monterey 1822. Married Josefa Higuera Y. Fuentas 1830. Settled on Rancho Las Positas 1835. 'Next to the Mission Fathers, he was the first man to engage himself in the culture of grapes, fruit and grain.' The Livermore Hacienda was a short distance north of this spot. Erected by Las Positas Parlor No. 96 Native Sons of the Golden West. Tablet placed by the Historic Landmarks Committee Native Sons of the Golden West. 1935."

The monument was formally dedicated, May 12, the following participating in the impressive ceremonies: Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Past Grand President Charles L. Dodge, Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Secretary John T. Regan. At the dedication a bronze plaque inscribed "Dedicated by the Grand Officers N.S.G.W., May 12, 1935" was attached to the monument.

Splendid addresses were delivered by Frank Fiorio, chairman of the day; Chas. A. Koenig, Grand President; Past Grand President Joseph R. Knowland, chairman Grand Parlor Landmarks Committee, and Dr. Chesley Bush of Las Positas Parlor, who dwelt on the life of Robert Livermore. Musical selections were furnished by the Livermore school band. Others in attendance were Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter P. Rothenbush, Grand Trustees Henry S. Lyon, Joseph J. McShane and Edward T. Schnarr, Past Grand Presidents Hubert R. McNoble and Clarence E. Jarvis.

The same day, prior to the monument dedication, Angelita No. 32 N.D.G.W. (Livermore) honored the Pioneer by placing at his grave at Mission San Jose a marker inscribed: "In memory of Robert Livermore, the first Anglo-Saxon settler of Livermore Valley. Born in England 1799, died at Livermore 1858. This marker erected by Angelita Parlor No. 32 N.D.G.W., Livermore, California, May 12, 1935."

Mrs. R. R. Kingsley, president of Angelita, presided, and the dedicatory address was delivered by Grand President Gladys E. Noce. "I Love You, California," was sung by Mrs. C. G. Clarke, and the benediction was pronounced by Mrs. Anne McDonald, a charter member of the Parlor. Also present were Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Past Grand President Estelle M. Evans.

Grand Parlor Prompts Activity.

Vallejo—At a group initiation of the Solano and Napa Counties Parlors under the auspices of Vallejo No. 77, April 23, twenty-eight candidates were presented, twenty-six for the host-Parlor, and one each for Napa No. 62 and Calistoga No. 86. The ritual was exemplified by the following:

Grand Secretary John T. Regan, president; Erwin J. Lemley (Fruitvale No. 252), junior past president; Past Grand Charles L. Dodge, senior past president; Grand Trustee Edward T. Schnarr, first vice; Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, second vice; Grand Trustee Adrien M. Hynes, third vice; Grand Trustee Thomas M. Foley, marshal; Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann, inside sentinel; Grand Organist C. George Cuthbertson, organist.

Prior to the initiation the grand officers were guests of the Parlor at dinner, and after the meeting all assembled were entertained at a splendid repast. Thos. J. O'Hara was the master of ceremonies, and addresses were made by Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane, visiting grand officer for Vallejo, and City Attorney Thos. J. Horan. The roundup of eligibles in Vallejo was prompted by the meeting of the Grand Parlor in that city, and the activity will be continued.

Fourteen Initiated.

Petaluma—The grand officers ritual team initiated May 7 a class of fourteen candidates for Petaluma No. 27, among them some of the leading officials of this Sonoma County city. Many members of neighboring Parlors were in attendance to greet these visitors who exemplified the ritual:

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

Sacramento—Sacramento No. 3 staged May 16 a rally for eligibles. Good entertainment was provided. Ed. T. Griffing and his committee were in charge.

Stockton—Stockton No. 7 is progressing with arrangements for the statewide Admission Day celebration September 7, 8 and 9—three glorious days. Ray Friedberger is the general chairman, Grand Marshal Walter P. Rothenbush the vice-chairman, John R. Williams the secretary, and W. C. Neumiller the treasurer. The parade committee includes C. P. Rendon, Julius B. Manthey, James Ford, George Ditz and Harry Dunlap. Harry Herrmann heads the accommodations committee, and Past Grand Hubert R. McNoble the reception committee.

San Francisco—Past Grand Justice Emmet Seawell of Santa Rosa No. 28 was in Washington, D. C., last month in attendance at the American Law Institute as a representative of the California Supreme Court.

Sacramento—Theodore (Ted) N. Koening, a member of Golden Gate No. 29 (San Francisco) and for many years police chief of this city, died May 16, survived by a wife. He was a native of Sacramento City, aged 68. He had a statewide acquaintance and was exceptionally well liked.

Lincoln—In recognition of Silver Star No. 63's fiftieth institution anniversary, members of that Parlor were entertained at a banquet given by Placer No. 138 N.D.G.W., May 15. Past Grand Anna Mixon-Armstrong was the principal speaker.

Ferndale—Following its annual custom, Ferndale No. 93 conducted the local Memorial Day ceremonies. The committee in charge of arrangements included J. Bognuda (chairman), E. P. Calanchini and S. J. Damon.

San Diego—As the result of an appeal by Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer of San Diego No. 108, a date palm planted, according to tradition, more than 150 years ago at the direction of Father Junipero Serra in the shadow of Mission San Diego de Alcala, has been rescued from impending destruction.

San Bernardino—Arrowhead No. 110's officers and members went over to the calico celebration at Barstow, May 11, and several candidates were initiated. A SERA program was featured May 8, and a dinner was held May 15 jointly with Lugonia No. 241 N.D.G.W.

Hayward—For the benefit of the homeless children, Eden No. 113 staged an amateur night, which was a great success. There were thirty-three contestants, including musicians, dancers and other entertainers. Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon was a speaker. The Parlor has reorganized its baseball team; Frank A. Bernard is the new manager.

Santa Barbara—Francis Price of Santa Barbara No. 116 has been elected a member of the board of trustees of Stanford University.

Quincy—Quincy No. 131 initiated eleven candidates May 9, the ritual being impressively exemplified by a corps of officers headed by Past President J. D. McLaughlin as president. At the conclusion of the ceremonies a chicken dinner was enjoyed.

Sebastopol—Sebastopol No. 143 entertained May 3 the Marin and Sonoma Counties Parlors. Sea Point No. 158 (Sausalito) exemplified the ritual. Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Grand First Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin and Grand Secretary John T. Regan were among the large number of visitors. The drum corps of Sebastopol, W. S. Borba leader, took part in the parade and ceremonies at the cornerstone laying of the new Sebastopol high school; 2,000 people, including many children, were in attendance.

Sutter City—Sutter No. 261 will have its annual picnic at Garwood Grove, near Nicolaus, June 30.

Oakland—Fruitvale No. 252 staged its fourth annual athletic night May 15. Grand Trustee Edward T. Schnarr, in charge, was aided by John B. Powers, Ernest C. Perry, Albert Koch and Tom Powers.

Oakland—Lakemont No. 275 and Lakemont No. 259 N.D.G.W. celebrated May 22 their first institution anniversaries. A program was followed by dancing, and refreshments were served.

San Francisco—The Board of Grand Officers, with Grand President Harmon D. Skillin presiding, will meet June 8 to assign visiting districts and transact other business.

There are thousands of fine eligibles just waiting to be extended an invitation to affiliate with the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. Be a recruiter—extend the invitation today, not tomorrow!

ringing in a candidate the sum of $2.50. This mount may be designated a bonus, a gratuity, gift or compensation. It may be accepted, or ejected. It may be turned over to the charity ind, or refunded to the candidate. The Grand arlor is not concerned with what happens to it, ut we do feel that the payment of it to the rother who brings in a new member is far iore justified and salutary than its being used or the salary of so-called organizers.

"So much good came from the plan carried ut by Junior Past Grand President Koenig in rganizing his district deputy grand presidents ito groups, that I intend to continue with this olicy during the coming year and, as soon as ossible, have the district deputies in different ections of the state organize and strive through ich organized efforts for the betterment and crease of our Order.

"It is my humble opinion that the Order bene- ts greatly in publicity when the Grand Officers 'e afforded the opportunity of dedicating some ublic building or project. While it is to be ealized that economic and financial conditions ave to a certain extent materially slowed up he building industry, nevertheless we do know iat public schools, state and county buildings, ederal, state and municipal projects are daily eing planned and constructed within the con- ies of California, and I know of no more fit- ng ceremony, as far as the dedication of a uilding erected upon California soil is con- rned, than that which is conducted by the ative Sons of the Golden West. In this regard, ay I urge all members of our Order who are any way instrumental or influential in the anning or erection of public buildings to see it that, if possible, an invitation be extended our Order to either lay the cornerstone or edicate the building.

"In conclusion, I extend to all Parlors of our der, and to the officers and members thereof, e greetings of a Grand President whose desire to further the interests of the Native Sons of e Golden West. Be assured that I realize my eaknesses and frailties. I realize also the re- onsibility and the seriousness of the trust that u have imposed upon me and, finally, I realize at I must look to you for the support, the couragement and the co-operation which will ve us that which we are all working for—a rong, rugged and glorious Native Sons of the olden West!"

Grand President Skillin, at the conclusion of s address, announced that all appointments d been made and would appear in The Grizzly ar for June. Here they are:

VALLEJO GRAND PARLOR

Grand Historian Charles R. Boden, for the exceptionally good Grand Parlor publicity prepared for the daily papers, was given the thanks of Grand President Koenig and the Grand Parlor.

Entertainment features, arranged by Vallejo Parlor No. 77 N.S.G.W. and Vallejo Parlor No. 195 N.D.G.W., were carried out exactly as detailed in The Grizzly Bear for May. The Vallejo Natives were ideal hosts and hostesses, and there was one continuous round of pleasure. If any Grand Parlor visitor to Vallejo failed to have a royal good time, the fault was with him or her, and not with the hosts or hostesses.

Letters and telegrams of greetings from many fraternal organizations and several Native Sons were received, and ordered acknowledged or filed.

Among the Grand Parlor visitors was A. C. Lutgens, a charter member of California Parlor No. 1 (San Francisco).

A communication calling attention to the inability of the United States Navy Band to play "I Love You, California," because it has not the music, was referred to the incoming Board of Grand Officers.

Thomas J. O'Hara (Vallejo Parlor No. 77), president Vallejo Chamber Commerce, addressing the Grand Parlor, said the people of Vallejo were glad the Native Sons had come to the city and were sorry to see them leave.

At the Past Grand Presidents' annual reunion dinner were Judge Frank H. Dunne, Lewis F. Byington, Hubert R. McNoble, Joseph R. Knowland, Clarence E. Jarvis, William P. Caubu, Edward J. Lynch, James A. Wilson, Charles L. Dodge, John T. Newell and Seth Millington. Prevented by illness from attending, Herman C. Lichtenberger sent a letter of regret. Judge Dunne was elected the Dean of the P.G.P. Association.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

NOTE—Expressions of opinion in these "Growls" are unless indicated otherwise, those of the Managing Editor, CLARENCE M. HUNT.

THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT rendered May 27 a unanimous decision invalidating the National Recovery Act. At a press conference following this important decision, President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared it the most important since the Dred Scott decision preceding the Civil War, and said the ruling will force the Government back to "the horse and buggy days." The Court was severely criticised by others, particularly the brain trusters, the government theorists and the financial beneficiaries of the New Deal.

Undoubtedly inspired by these criticisms and the "horse and buggy days" reference, United States Senator William E. Borah of Idaho delivered, June 2, a forceful address which should be read and digested by every advocate of unadulterated Americanism. He upheld the Constitution and justified the Supreme Court's decision, saying, in part:

"We live under a written Constitution. ... [illegible] ... written document binding upon rulers and people alike. ... [illegible] ..."

Before the Federal Congress is a bill (H. R. 7170) which, if enacted into law, will nullify any and every effort to prevent the japanizing of these United States. The bill, introduced by Congressman Clarence F. Lea of California, provides for the naturalization of Japs who served with the American forces during the World War. In protest, the Sonoma County Pomona Grange has adopted the following resolution, setting forth good and sufficient reasons why the bill should not be passed by the Congress:

"Whereas, U. S. House of Representatives Bill No. 7170, introduced by Hon. Clarence F. Lea, permitting naturalization of Japanese veterans who enlisted in the American armies in the late great war, is favorably reported for passage; and [illegible]

Resolved, By the Sonoma County Grange, that herein [illegible]"

This proposed legislation should be vigorously opposed by those who have at heart the welfare of the nation. The scheme must have originated in Japan, in furtherance of its "peaceful invasion," but it must be balked, otherwise we are lost—to the Japs. If you love California and would maintain it as the White man's paradise, protest against the passage of this destructive bill!

The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America has frequently been referred to in these "Growls" as the best financed and the most dangerous propaganda bureau in this country—an [illegible]

"The Council," said Dr. Mitchell, "has been hand in hand with the Civil Liberties Union which, in turn, protects the I. W. W., the agents of Soviet Russia, the Communists, the direct actionists of every label."

The California Legislature adjourned, after the longest session of record, without passing any constructive legislation. Millions of new taxes were levied, however, to keep the political racketeering machine well manned and oiled! Truly, California has the sort of government—reactionary—voted for last November. Burdened taxpayers, mentally paralyzed by fear propaganda, marched to the polls and did the bidding of the interests and the politicians. Now, they will pay for their stupidity—and what a price!

There is pending before the Federal Congress a measure introduced by Representative Martin Dies of Texas which, if passed and enforced, will rid this country of millions of undesirable aliens and go a long way towards relieving the dangerous unemployment situation. The measure has already been endorsed by 155 organizations, and should have the backing of all organizations and individuals that believe in Americanism—America for Americans.

The Congress should pass without delay this bill, which is similar to the alien-deportation laws enforced in England, France, Germany, Italy and other countries. Among other things, the measure makes mandatory the deportation of aliens of illegal entry; it gives aliens legally here twelve months in which to become citizens or go home; it requires all aliens to secure Labor Department permits to work, and the permits would be issued only when employers show they cannot find United States citizens to fill available positions.

The Sacramento Bee, a powerful battler against crookedness and a champion of the masses, has been signally and deservedly honored by being awarded the Pulitzer prize for rendering during 1934 the most disinterested and meritorious service by an American newspaper.

The award was based on the expose—in a series of articles prepared by Arthur B. Waugh, associate editor, at the direction of Charles K. McClatchy, editor and owner,—of corrupt Nevada State political conditions. The Sacramento Bee is the first California newspaper to receive this award.

Referring to the United States Navy's maneuvers, Admiral Kanjo Kato of the Japanese naval general staff is reported to have said: "If Japan maneuvered that close to American shores it would greatly agitate American opinion."

As a matter of fact, Japan has been for years, and still is, maneuvering not only close to, but actually upon, American shores. Witness the "peaceful invasion" of the Pacific Coast states by Japs, in the interest and for the glory of the "rising sun."

Apparently, another attempt is to be made to frighten the United States into the League of Nations. Pacifists and foreign propagandists are fostering the move. Commenting thereon, United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California says:

PROCEEDINGS SACRAMENTO N.D. GRAND PARLOR

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

WITH GRAND PRESIDENT GLADYS E. Noce presiding throughout the deliberations, the Forty-ninth Grand Parlor of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West was in session at Sacramento City, June 17, 18, 19 and 20. Mrs. Bessie C. Leitch, chairman of the Grand Parlor arrangements committee of the Sacramento City and County Parlors, called the assemblage to order, and the grand officers were conducted to their stations by an escort team from Amapola Parlor No. 80 (Sutter Creek), the Grand President's home-Parlor.

Past Grand President Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen extended greetings on the Sacramento Parlors' behalf, and a welcome to the Capital City was extended by Mayor Arthur D. Ferguson.

Grand President Noce concluded her report with thanks for the fine co-operation given her, saying "No one is sufficient unto himself, but rather each one of us draws heavily from the faith, love and kindness of others. If I have contributed anything to the advancement and wellbeing of our Order during the year I was privileged to serve as its Grand President, it has been made possible because of the devotion and loyalty of my friends and the goodness of God."

Reports of grand officers and committees dealt mostly with matters which have heretofore been given publicity in The Grizzly Bear. A synopsis of the Sacramento Grand Parlor proceedings, with no reference to proposals which failed of passage, follows:

FUNDS IN GOOD CONDITION.

Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler reported the total receipts for the Grand Parlor year were $13,851.80, and the disbursements $13,185.05. The June 1, 1935, worth of the General fund was given as $22,213.51, including a cash balance of $17,328.76. A balance of $815.26 in the Redwood Memorial Grove fund was, August 10, 1934, transferred to the General fund, that project of the Order having been completed.

The report of Grand Treasurer Susie K. Christ showed the following balances in the several Grand Parlor funds June 1, 1935: General, $17,328.76; Phelan Trust, $1,098.81; Death Benefit, $1,748.80; Mills College Scholarship, $657.98; University Scholarship, $403.97.

Treasurer Millie Tietjen of the Grand Parlor Home Committee reported the following balances June 1, 1935: General fund, $2,149.47 commercial account and $5,926.59 savings account; endowment fund, $10,884.59. The year's receipts from the Loyalty Pledge were $375.94, and from the cook books $89.32.

CHANGES IN CONSTITUTIONS.

Grand Parlor:

Art. III, Sec. 2 amended to read "The Recording Secretary must keep a record of attendance of Past and Present officers."

Art. VI, Sec. 10 amended to provide "The Deputy Grand President shall examine the books of the Parlor or Parlors under her jurisdiction at the beginning of her term."

Art. VIII, Sec. 2 amended to provide that the Grand President may appoint committees "from the personnel of the Subordinate Parlors as well as from the personnel of the Grand Parlor." Also, by creating a Welfare Committee and adding a new paragraph, No. 14, defining the duties thereof—to have charge of "charitable work not already listed."

Art. XI, Sec. 1 amended to provide that "not fewer than fifty qualified persons in a City where there are three or more Parlors" may apply for permission to form a new parlor.

Subordinate Parlors:

Art. V, Sec. 2 amended to provide that "Members over six months in arrears for dues and who have not been declared suspended cannot be counted in the Parlor's membership when electing Delegates."

Art. VII, Sec. 3 amended to read "Members six months in arrears for dues and assessments shall stand suspended" etc.

Art. VII, Sec. 4 amended to provide that a suspended member, desiring to be reinstated, shall not be required "to pay initiation fee nor to go through the ceremony of initiation," etc.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

Stockton was selected as the meetingplace of the Fiftieth (1936) Grand Parlor.

The granting of a charter to Albany Parlor No. 260 at Albany, Alameda County, was ratified.

Mileage allowances for the session of approximately $1,415, made by the Transportation Committee, were approved.

A budget of $12,000 was approved, and the percapita tax was fixed at one dollar, payable in July and January.

The assessment for support of the Native Daughters Home in San Francisco was fixed at twenty-five cents.

The grand officers were voted "the privilege of inviting relatives and friends to their installation."

The Grizzly Bear Magazine was re-endorsed as the official organ of the Order, and financial provision was made for the publication therein of the Official Directory of Subordinate Parlors.

The scholarship at the University of California was, on recommendation of the University Scholarship Committee, awarded to Mary Margaret Steel of El Carmelo Parlor No. 181 (Daly City).

The invitation from Stockton Parlor No. 7 N.S.G.W. to participate in the three-day Admission Day celebration in Stockton, September 7, 8 and 9, was accepted.

Changes in the Ritual and the Manual of Instruction proposed by the Ritual Committee were approved in their entirety, and the printing of the Manual of Instruction was authorized.

Ordered that the salute to the flag be incorporated in the installation ceremonies. Also, that the name "Americanization" as applied to that project of the Order be changed to "Americanism," as "our government needs our help to spread the message of only one 'ism,' Americanism."

The History and Landmarks Committee was directed to present to the 1936 Grand Parlor plans for a statewide celebration in 1939 of the centennial of John A. Sutter's arrival in California.

The following contributions made by Grand President Noce were ratified: $50 to Carmel Mission, $25 to the Southern California Festival of Allied Arts, $15 to Columbia Parlor No. 70 towards a marker to designate the site of the first successful long-distance telephone in the United States, and $10 toward the erection of a door at Mission San Jose.

Ordered that, in future, the report of the Grand Trustees as compiled by the public accountant be incorporated in the Advance Reports. Also, that the reading at Grand Parlor of the financial reports of the Grand Secretary, the Grand Treasurer and the Grand Trustees be eliminated, inasmuch as these are printed in the Advance Reports.

The Americanization Committee's report, which was accepted, stressed the fact that "before we can hope to teach Americanism to our citizens of foreign birth we must first become 'America conscious' ourselves," and closed with the statement that "Americanism is the only 'ism' recognized by Native Daughters of the Golden West."

A proposal of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 (Santa Barbara) that the Annie L. Adair Memorial Fund be created in memory of Mrs. Annie L. Adair, lately deceased energetic worker for the homeless children, was approved. The fund, to be administered by the Central Homeless Children Committee, will provide scholarships for adopted children. It is to be accumulated by voluntary contributions, and as a nucleus Reina del Mar gave $250. For the Central Committee, Chairman Ariana W. Stirling accepted the trust.

Reports of the Extension of the Order Committee, showing the admission of 1,254 new members during the year; of the Pioneer Roster and Relics Committee, stating registrations to date totaled 4,088; of the Loyalty Pledge Committee, showing payments during the year totaled $781.83; of the History and Landmarks Committee, setting forth the fine work accomplished by Subordinate Parlors; of the Education Committee, referring to the compilation of the "History of the Order" and suggesting that Subordinate Parlors invest in and study "Twenty-five Lessons in Citizenship," were approved.

At the election for grand officers, 367 ballots were cast, and the following were chosen:

Grand President—Mrs. Anna C. Thuesen (Alta Parlor No. 3).

Grand Vice-president—Mrs. Florence Danforth-Boyle (Gold of Ophir Parlor No. 190).

Grand Secretary—Mrs. Sallie R. Thaler (Aloha Parlor No. 106).

Grand Marshal—Mrs. Ethel I. Begley (Marinita Parlor No. 198).

Grand Inside Sentinel—Mrs. Claire Lindsey (Golden Gate Parlor No. 158).

Grand Outside Sentinel—Mrs. Mary B. Noerenberg (Californiana Parlor No. 247).

Grand Organist—Mrs. Pearl N. Reid (Santa Cruz Parlor No. 26).

Grand Trustees (in order of vote received)—Mrs. Orinda Gunther-Giannini (Orinda Parlor No. 56); Mrs. Alice M. Lane (Castro Parlor No. 178); Mrs. Alice Mathias-Oldham (El Carmelo Parlor No. 181); Mrs. Hazel B. Hansen (Verdugo Parlor No. 240); Mrs. Nellie M. Cline (Grace Parlor No. 242); Mrs. Clara A. Gairaud (Vendome Parlor No. 100); Miss Clarice E. Cool (Caliz de Oro Parlor No. 206).

They, together with Mrs. Gladys E. Noce (Amapola Parlor No. 80), who automatically became the Past Grand President, were publicly installed by Supreme Grand President Irma W. Laird, who was assisted by Edna Briggs (La Bandera Parlor No. 110), acting grand marshal; Willow Borba (Santa Rosa Parlor No. 217), acting grand inside sentinel; Evalyn Towne (Miocene Parlor No. 228), acting grand outside sentinel; Emilie Lachman (Sutter Parlor No. 111) acting grand organist, and Dora Brayton (Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167), assistant grand marshal. The emblematic ring of the Order was, on behalf of the Grand Parlor, presented to Past Grand Gladys E. Noce by Past Grand Estelle M. Evans.

GRAND PARLOR HIGHLIGHT.

The highlight of the Grand Parlor was Homeless Children Day, when Secretary Mary F. Brusie of the Central N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Homeless Children Committee gave her report and presented nine foster-mothers, residing in Sacramento and adjacent counties, and their children—four boys and five girls—ranging in age from two months to six years, all of whom had been placed for adoption when about six weeks of age. The unselfishness of the foster parents in forgetting their aversion to publicity concerning the adoption of their children, and considering only their joy in the possession of little ones needing them, and remembering only their gratitude to the two Orders who are carrying on the humanitarian work, was deeply appreciated by the assembled Native Daughters.

"What home means" to a homeless child was graciously voiced to the foster-parents by Chairman Ariana W. Stirling of the Central Committee. She thanked them for coming to the Grand Parlor as an inspiration to the members. One hundred and thirty-six outstanding foster homes have been added this year to the 4,473 homes, leaving 1,260 applicants waiting for children.

At the close of the Homeless Children report Grand Marshal Edna Briggs expressed the heartfelt enthusiasm for the children's work which the Sacramento Native Daughters have always manifested, and presented a check for $135 to Secretary Brusie from the Sacramento County N.D.G.W. Grand Parlor Committee. The courtesies extended in aid of this particular project were many. A large space had been set aside for the display of the Native Daughters' handwork and for the art gallery of milk-fund babies.

Other Native Daughters contributions received during the session were from El Monte Parlor No. 205 (Mountain View), $15.25; Lugonia Parlor No. 241 (San Bernardino), $25; Utopia Parlor No. 252 (San Francisco), $5.18; San Francisco district deputy grand president, $5; Stockton Parlor No. 256 (Stockton), $10.55; Phoebe A. Hearst Parlor No. 214 (Manteca), $3 toward their adopted "William." Beautiful layettes were displayed from the Sacra mento N D G W ... club Oneonta Parlor No 74 (Eureka) ... Parlor No 81 (Oakland) ... Parlor No 110 (Redding), Castle Parlor No 145 (San Francisco), El Dorado Parlor No 156 (Georgetown), Fort Bragg Parlor No 219 (Fort Bragg), Los Juntas Parlor No 221 (Martinez) and Pleasanton Parlor No 231 (Pleasanton).

Mrs. Amelia Acker of Reno, and Mar Parlor No 126 (Santa Barbara) ... a beautiful tribute to Annie L. Adair, whose death is mourned by those who knew and loved her, and whose loss as a worker in the Los Angeles office for many years is keenly felt by those who appreciated her worth, her sincerity and her love of the homeless children's work. A beautiful scroll, illumined by Brother Seraphino of Santa Barbara, was read and presented to the Central Committee and accepted by Chairman Stirling. It will hang in the office of the Central Committee and while it there will be placed each day a vase of fresh flowers for one who loved them. The tribute read:

"To the Priceless Memory of ANNIE L. ADAIR. California Parlors of Native Daughters of the Golden West dedicate this scroll to the daughter of the Southland who was a mother of mothers in her regard for homeless children. A devout Christian, twice a mother in her own right, Annie Adair brought to her department of Grand Parlor work a love of children, a confident faith in mankind, a capable and understanding of all phases of homeless child placement and a greatness of heart that endeared her to every contact. Her life and her works must serve always as inspiration to the Daughters who will continue the effort to smooth the path of the homeless child in their beloved Native State."

"MAKE OUR LIFE SCENE A WORTHY ONE."

"Within a few short hours," said Chairman Bertha A. Briggs in presenting the report of the Grand Parlor Publicity Committee, "the curtain will ring down upon the closing scene of another season of activity in the drama sponsored by the Native Daughters of the Golden West. As we cast diligently striving to effectively portray our individual roles in this drama, our membership may justly and happily applaud at this grand finale for our great stock company has played a commendable and valuable part in California's program for the year.

"As daughters of honored pioneer forbears, we each become the steward of a cherished heritage of ideals that led those intrepid men and women onward through danger and privation. Nothing so strengthens womanhood and widens thought as the constant effort to measure up to such noble ideals that uphold and enlarge our vision —that inspire our motives as we meet the challenge of each new day. Idealism permeates and sweetens the life of each of us like the fragrance of a rare and beautiful flower. Of this spirit of idealism and of our stewardship, we must give a satisfying account. We must make our life scene a worthy one—even to the most exacting audience. The proper preparation and presentation of this life scene is within our keeping each day. . . .

"Realizing that the opinion of the great outer-world audience is molded by newspaper stories regarding our activities, the aim of the publicity department has been 'to tell the news' of our organization—and to tell it in the most approved manner. . . . To further attract desired attention to our achievements, the whole-hearted support and co-operation of every member is solicited to increase the circulation of our official organ, The Grizzly Bear. Its editor puts forth untiring efforts to give, in its columns, accurate information, sound fraternal ethics and the inspiration to carry on. If our contributions are sometimes not published in their entirety, let us pause and ask ourselves, 'Are we lending our personal co-operation for the success of our only official publication?' Do not deprive yourselves of the pleasures and the benefits to be derived from reading this magazine, which serves as a bond to unite and publicize the aims and the activities, the aspirations and the accomplishments of those affiliated with us. . . . Encouraging statements of satisfactory press notices and gratifying co-operation of local newspapers have been received from practically all sections of the state."

The committee presented a list of "the most outstanding and out-of-the-ordinary activities that have earned the commendation of our outer-world spectators."

NOTES OF THE SESSION.

REACH OUT WITH ENTHUSIASM

MRS. ANNA C. [illegible] OF SAN [illegible] Parlor No. [illegible] Past Grand President of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, presided at the Grand Parlor session on Wednesday afternoon, May 29, at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco. The session was opened [illegible] Following her address, Grand President [illegible] Parlor [illegible] presented:

For nearly twenty-one years I have watched, always with great interest, the progress of events which led to the [illegible] recently elected Grand President of the Native Daughters of the Golden West. I have observed our Order grow greater and stronger with each year, greater in number in the years of prosperity, stronger and truer in the years of adversity.

"As each succeeding Grand President has taken her honored place, I have shared with her in the responsibility, the flood of emotion filling her heart. Without exception, humility and sincerity of purpose have been the keynote of each Ruler. And I, standing before you tonight, feel no sense of great achievement in having reached this exalted position of trust, but only a very deep sense of humility and a sincere desire to emulate, in some degree, the lofty and high ideals always in the heart of each of my predecessors.

Mrs. [illegible] Grand President N.D.G.W.

"Ideals are like the bright and beautiful stars gleaming in the heavenly depths above us. We know very well we shall not touch them with our hands. But, as the mariner who sails to distant lands takes these same stars as his guide to cross the pathless oceans, so should we keep our ideals before us, to lead us ever on and on to the goal of our ambitions.

"Somehow, I have always likened the Grand Parlor to the home with a large family, the Grand President, the mother; the Subordinate Parlors, the children—children who have married and gone into homes of their own. But, with the filial love that never truly dies, they once a year travel to the old homestead. There they find a real welcome, tolerance and perfect understanding. It is the one place where hurt cares may be wiped away, where little wrinkles may, with kindly hand, be smoothed out.

"It is not difficult to picture such a home where [illegible] that there are wise, [illegible] counsel, loving and lovable women, but the most [illegible] the most womanly woman is the HOME woman. All others the world could better afford to lose, than to suffer the loss of the home woman. Without her, the most endearing features of social life could not be, the 'At Home' could not exist. HOW THE FABLE OF THE ISLAND OF CALIFORNIA CAME TO BE REVIVED

Henry Wood, S.J.

(Director Varsi Library, University of Santa Clara, Santa Clara, California.)

THE CURIOUS FACTS THAT IN THE earliest maps Lower California was laid down correctly as a peninsula, and that in the seventeenth century it was made an island, an error to be amended only in the eighteenth century, are well known. Experts have discussed them with a meticulous examination of maps and charts. How the seventeenth-century change originated has not been so carefully investigated. Few dream that it was one of the fruits of the wars arising out of the Reformation. This, however, I propose to show.

The immediate followers of Columbus having brought to Europe the vague story of an island called California, Cortez naturally gave the name to the new land he found beyond the Gulf. The question then arose: is it really an island? He sent Ulloa to explore northward, who returned satisfied that it belonged to the mainland (1539). Castillo, his pilot, was sent by his successor, Mendoza, in an expedition led by one Alarcon up the Gulf. It entered the Colorado; and Castillo drew a rough map of the river's mouth. [Narrative and Critical History of America, Winsor, Vol. ii, pp. 442 ff.]

In the Library of Congress is a photostat copy from the original in the Pierpont Morgan Library, New York, of a "Map of the Western Hemisphere by Battista Agnese, 1530-1540," in which Lower California is a peninsula. The dates "1530-1540" must indicate the period in which the discoveries recorded in the map were made, not that of its actual construction. Castillo's drawing of the mouth of the Colorado could not have reached Agnese as early as 1540.

In 1562, Diego Guttierez published at Antwerp a map of North and South America. It shows California a peninsula, and the Colorado, with some indefinite affluents, falling into the Gulf. In 1584, Ortelius published at Antwerp also a similar map indicating pretty clearly the junction of the Gila with the Colorado. In 1598 came Wytfliet's, published at Louvain, showing the junction and also the shallows and flats at the river's mouth. But here is a curious error: at the mouth of the river is Montague Island. Castillo indicated it with a channel on each side, which, as he is mapping only the upper Gulf, he leaves open to the north. To each, Ortelius assigns a separate river; to the eastern, a large river, which he carried eastward immediately; to the western, a smaller river following more or less the actual course of the Colorado. Wytfliet does the same; and this the more readily, as he can thus make the greater river rise in the country of "The Seven Cities," which then appealed so strongly to the Spanish imagination. But this is beside our question. What concerns us is that all these cartographers made California a peninsula; and that all depended on Antwerp and Louvain, in the southern Netherlands, now Belgium, then completely under Spanish influence.

In 1569, seven years only after Guttierez, Gerhard Kremer, better known under his latinized name, Mercator, published his first map of the world in the projection which has made him famous. He was of the University of Louvain; but difficulties, in part, at least, religious, with the authorities led him to cross into Westphalia. His map, therefore, was published in Duisberg; but his information was all from Louvain. In it California is a peninsula. [Encyclopedia Britannica. Maps.]

In "With Padre Kino on the Trail," by Frank C. Lockwood of the University of Arizona, a work of great merit, we read that Kino came to Mexico holding California to be a peninsula, as he had been taught in the University of Freiburg by Father Adam Ayentler. In Mexico, he changed his opinion. His first reason for doing so was Don Juan de Onate's statement that in going west from Santa Fe in 1604 he had reached the sea in latitude 37°. His second, was similar assertions by other explorers. The third, was the authority of modern maps—he was speaking somewhere about 1680-1685—of which the best made California an island. The fourth, the strong north and south currents in the Gulf, which persuaded him of an opening to the north. [Op. cit. p. 81.]

As to the first and second reasons, it is hard to see how mere latitude could determine whether the traveler had reached the ocean or was still on the shore of a midland sea. With longitude also observed and some knowledge of the general trend of the coast, he could have formed a fairly reasonable conjecture. But nothing of this seems to have been in Kino's mind. With regard to the fourth reason, one must remember that Kino was from central Europe. His nearest sea had been the practically tideless Mediterranean. He knew little or nothing of the strong inward and outward currents produced by the tidal wave flowing and ebbing in a long gulf gradually narrowing and shoaling. Hence this must be taken as merely subsidiary to the chief reason, the authority of the map-makers. How had these come to revive the fable of the Island of California?

Let us return to Mercator, and his map which marked the opening of a new era in map-making. We have seen how, on account of religious difficulties with the Spanish authorities, he had left Louvain for Germany. The difficulties continuing, brought him into contact with Amsterdam, so that at his death his method of map-making fell into the hands of one Jodocus Hondius, a cartographer established in that city. Amsterdam was a busy port. The Mercator projection is especially useful in navigation. When, therefore, Hondius and his sons perfected it so as to publish in 1609 the first chart of the world in twelve sheets, the Dutch and English seamen welcomed their work. From these the new charts passed to the seamen of other countries, so that by 1630, published in London as well as in Amsterdam, they were in general use, found in every port.

In the first half of the seventeenth century the northern Netherland provinces having accepted the Reformation and declared their independence of Spain, lost all touch with that kingdom; generally, indeed, were at open war with it. For the Dutch, still more for their rivals, the English, Spain was an enemy with seaport towns to be sacked, plate ships to be captured; it was not a source of geographical information. Moreover, the question whether California was an island or not had no direct interest for either English or Dutch.

On the other hand, of absorbing interest was the Northwest Passage with its hypothetical Strait of Anian. This Hudson had sought in the sixteenth century; Baffin, James, Fox and others in the seventeenth. In the early eighteenth century the Hudson's Bay Company sent two fine ships on the same quest. The orders to the commander ran: "You are at the first opportunity of wind and weather to depart from Gravesend and by God's permission to find out the Strait of Anian." The expedition never returned. The illusion did not leave Captain Cook untouched. On entering the great inlet that bears his name his first thought was, "The Strait of Anian!" Exploration brought disappointment. Towards the end of his narrative he would persuade the reader that he had undertaken it to satisfy his more credulous officers. But it brought also chagrin. This one gathers easily from his somewhat splenetic remark that after all it was a good thing to have examined the place most carefully. Otherwise the cartographers might with some reason attach to his name a non-existent strait as easily as they had accepted the fable of the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

In these facts, then, we shall find the answer to our question. Two families of maps touch it. The earlier, of Spanish origin, has Castillo's map as a common ancestor. All its members show California a peninsula. The later goes back to the Dutch and English Mercator ocean charts in which the island, California, appears. The maps of the former family rested on the testimony of authentic explorers. Those of the latter involved a good deal of fanciful speculation. Let us explain:

The Strait of Anian was supposed to lead westward from the neighborhood of Hudson's Strait to the Pacific. The further east, therefore, the North Pacific could be carried, the greater the likelihood of such a strait. Indeed, the idea of the comparative proximity of Eastern Asia to the American continent was strong in the minds of earlier explorers. Of this we have a perennial monument in Lachine, just west of Montreal. It was the starting point of men who dreamed no less a term of their western voyage than China. From Mexico to Mendocino the general direction of the coast was northwest. At Mendocino the western trend seemed to stop. What, then, more likely than that in the unexplored north the coast should turn eastward? There were one or two Spanish seamen who could have set them right. But Protestant Amsterdam and London were not on speaking terms with Catholic Spain. So maps would show Oregon, Washington, British Columbia under the waves of the Sea of Anian. Into it, as a legitimate deduction, the Gulf of California was made to enter. And so, California and nearly a thousand miles to the north of it became an island of most fantastic shape.

Explorers' testimony lay buried in Spanish archives. The work of imagination was in every shipmaster's locker, on the book-stalls of every port, in the hands of mariners on every sea. What more could any cartographer ask? Who shall tell the secrets of the seas, if not the men that sail them? So in every country new maps took up the tale. In Mexico itself, they were received and trusted. There was none to disprove them, for the barren shores of the upper Gulf and a fruitless voyage could tempt no traders. At last, just as the far northern coast was about to begin its century of revelation the missionary Kino crossed the Colorado and saw the sun rise beyond the Gulf. The island fable was extinguished! That of the Strait of Anian was soon to follow, and with it the whole structure of seventeenth-century map-making to fall to pieces.

JOAQUIN MURIETTA

(Noted bandit who ravaged the State of California during the gold rush period.)

Was turned to bitter hate
And fury raged.
A boy became a hideous fiend
And crime was staged.
Foul deeds that dripped red blood
Foul deeds that stained his soul
On crimson trail.
Strange youth with madness in his heart
Let Hell prevail.

Time was when eyes looked love
And lips knew kisses warm
Joaquin and wife
A childhood love and loyalty
That filled his life.
O, little transient hour of Laughter, love and home!
Alas! that fate
Should snatch such sweetness from a youth
And give black hate.

Accused and flogged for crime
A sort of lynch-law court
Did make him see
His brother hanging from a tree
For robbery.
Released, he organized
Marauding bands that ranged
For many years.
In deeds—the blackest ever known
To pioneers.

Just twenty-one when caught
This boy of bloody crimes.
No—not all bad,
He sought revenge for injured souls
Bravery gone mad.

"Let not sleep fall upon thy eyes till thou has thrice reviewed the transactions of the past day. Where have I turned aside from rectitude? What have I been doing? What have I left undone which I ought to have done? Begin thus from the first act, and proceed; and, in conclusion, at the ill which thou hast done, be troubled, and rejoice for the good."—Pythagoras.

Passing of the California Pioneer

(Confined to Brief Notices of the Demise of Those Men and Women Who Came to California Prior to 1870.)

MRS. SARAH MARADA KYBURZ-Kent, native of Wisconsin, 91, came across the plains to California with her parents in 1846, first settling at Sacramento City and spending most of her life at Oakland, Alameda County, died at Placerville, El Dorado County. Deceased's father, Samuel Kyburz, was an early-day Sacramento hotelkeeper.

Mrs. Sarah E. Hopper, native of Missouri, 87, crossed the plains in 1852, died near Hughson, Stanislaus County, survived by three children.

Mrs. Emma Lowe, native of Ohio, came via Panama in 1853; died at Elk Grove, Sacramento County, survived by three children.

Robert Wickliffe Pendegast, native of Kentucky, 87; crossed the plains in 1854 and resided most of his life in Yolo County, where he was clerk of the county for two terms, died at Spokane, Washington State.

Mrs. Inezetta Kendall-Chesley, native of New York, 86; came via Panama in 1854, died at Oakland, Alameda County.

Stephen Prentice Baker, native of Michigan, 83, since 1853 a resident of Red Bluff, Tehama County, where he died, a wife survives.

Mrs. Eleanor Woodrome-Ten Eyck, native of Wisconsin, 84, came via Panama in 1855 and resided in El Dorado and Marin Counties, died at Sausalito, survived by two children.

Mrs. Lucy Ann March-Price, native of Missouri, 88, crossed the plains in 1857 and settled in Napa County, died at Santa Maria, Santa Barbara County, survived by eight children.

Mrs. Ann Cornwall, native of Missouri, 94; came in 1858; died at Stockton, San Joaquin County.

Mrs. Rosalie Mock-Ferguson, native of France, 87; came in 1858 and long resided in Tuolumne County; died at San Francisco, survived by four children.

Mrs. Elizabeth Grant-Baurhyte, native of Maine, 81, came via Cape Horn in 1859; died at Los Angeles City.

Mrs. Lucinda Roberts, native of Illinois, 88, came in 1859 and settled in Sutter County, died at Orland, Glenn County, survived by five children.

William Howard Lawrence, native of Massachusetts, 98; came in 1860 and settled in Santa Clara County, died at San Jose, survived by two sons. He was a member of the California Battalion that served during the Civil War.

Mrs. Mary W. Crouch, native of Pennsylvania, 103, since 1860 a resident of Eureka, Humboldt County, where she died.

George F. Bush, native of New York, 85, came in 1860; died at Oakland, Alameda County, survived by a wife and two daughters. He was an earlyday stage driver.

Mrs. Julia Ann Jones, native of Missouri, 75, crossed the plains in 1861 and resided in Shasta and Tehama Counties; died at Red Bluff, survived by seven children.

Mrs. Jane Gum-Hugill, 84, since 1861 a resident of Lodi, San Joaquin County, where she died; a son survives.

T. Charles Coltrin, native of Ohio, 84, crossed the plains in 1862 and settled in Sonoma County; died at Los Angeles City, survived by a wife and seven children.

Mrs. Martha Lathrop Baumann, native of Iowa, 71; crossed the plains in 1866; died at Tulare City, survived by two sons.

James Dodge, native of Nebraska, 79, crossed the plains in 1864, died near Chico, Butte County, survived by a wife and eight children.

Mrs. Elisa Howell, native of Missouri, 80, since 1865 a resident of Grimes, Colusa County, where she died, six children survive.

William Guy Shepard, native of Nebraska, crossed the plains in 1865, died at Upper Lake, Lake County, survived by a wife and six children.

Joseph Bernhardt Endert, native of Ohio, 84, crossed the plains in 1865, died at Crescent City, Del Norte County, survived by a wife and four children.

Mrs. Mary Jane Forsythe-Nutting, native of Illinois, 83; came in 1869; died at Woodland, Yolo County, survived by two children.

Mrs. Laura Kerr-Davis, native of Wisconsin, 76, crossed the plains in 1868, died near Merced City, survived by two daughters.

Mrs. Surrilda Ballard, native of Missouri, 86, came in 1868; died at Alturas, Modoc County, survived by eight children.

JOURNEYS ON

Thomas Richard Jones, one of California's best known Native Sons and a long time member of Sacramento Parlor No. 1; died, June 5 at Sacramento, survived by a son Dr. Charles E. Jones (past president Parlor No. 1) of Sacramento and two daughters, Mrs. Lola Bechtel of Ventura, B. C. and Mrs. Leola Hale of Marysville. For many years he was in the employ of the Central Pacific and the Southern Pacific railroads, advancing from telegrapher to the superintendency of the Sacramento division of the latter road.

THOMAS RICHARD JONES

He was born at Jackson, Amador County, October 31, 1853, the son of Thomas Jones who, in 1848, came to California in a party of thirty-nine Pioneers captained by James McClatchy, founder of the Sacramento Bee.

Since January 1910 to the time of his demise, Jones supplied for each issue of The Grizzly Bear the "California Fifty Years Ago" feature. He was exceptionally well informed on earlyday California, and was the author of two books, "California in the Days of Gold" and "You Bet."

"Tom" Jones was a splendid man, and numbered his friends by the thousands. In his passing, California has lost one of its intensely loyal Native Sons, one whose long life was overflowing with usefulness and kindly deeds.—C.M.H.

James Henderson Pope, native of Arkansas, 77, crossed the plains in 1861 and settled in San Joaquin County, died at Lodi, survived by four children.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Schnabel, native of Missouri, 86, came in 1859, died at Newcastle, Placer County.

Albert Beeson, native of Illinois, 82; crossed the plains in 1853 at the age of six months, died at Redwood City, San Mateo County.

Wilfred De Rome, native of New York, 83, came in 1861; died at Oakland, Alameda County, survived by a daughter.

Mrs. Maggie Rees-Mann, native of Iowa, 79, crossed the plains in 1864 and settled in Napa County, died at Lakeport, Lake County.

Mrs. Sarah Bastian, native of Wisconsin, 86, came via Cape Horn in 1852 and long resided in Nevada County, died at San Francisco, survived by nine children.

Elza Butler, native of Iowa, 73, since 1862 a Yolo County resident, died near Woodland.

Mrs. Katherine Schmidt-Herget, native of Germany, 92, came via Panama in 1858 and resided in Sacramento and Yolo Counties; died at Sacramento City, survived by six children.

PIONEER NATIVES DEAD

Asa T. Weeks, born San Mateo County, 1859, died Pescadero, May 19, wife survives.

Dr. Julia B. Platt, born San Francisco, 1858, died Pacific Grove, Monterey County, May 28.

Mrs. Lucinda Hunt, born Shasta County, 1850, died near Pittville, May 29; son survives.

Mrs. Sarah Locke-Francis, born San Mateo County, 1857, died San Francisco, May 30; son survives.

Frank Foster Southwick, born San Francisco, 1855, died there, May 31; wife and two children survive.

Mrs. Ella Adams-Olcott, born El Dorado County, 1856; died San Francisco, May 31. She was [illegible] Native Sons Villa Parlor No. 68, N.D.G.W., [illegible].

Mrs. Clara Frances Morrison-Wilson, born Sutter County, 1857; died Sonoma County, June 5; husband and two children survive.

Mrs. Margaret C. McConnell, born Shasta County, 1859, died Cortelia, June 8, son survives.

Mrs. Henrietta Morton-Hill, born Eureka, Humboldt County, 1857; died there, June 11; two children survive.

Mrs. Sarah Frances Cope, born Butte County, 1853, died Central House, June 14; four children survive.

Mrs. Valera Logan-Grant, born Placer County, 1858, died Roseville, June 16, two children survive.

Mrs. Cornelia Blair-Middleton, born Sacramento County, 1857; died Upper Lake, Lake County, June 18; seven children survive.

Mrs. Anita De la Guerra-Thompson, born Santa Barbara City, 1849; died Los Angeles City, June 21; three children survive. She was a daughter of Francisco De la Guerra, Santa Barbara's first mayor, and Concepcion Sepulveda, a member of the family that originally owned the Palos Verdes rancho.

Gustave E. Schwenke, born National City, San Diego County, 1859; died there June 22.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO—THE BOARD OF GRAND Officers met June 8, the following being in attendance: Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, who presided, Junior Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig, Grand First Vice Hartley Russell, Grand Second Vice Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Third Vice Joseph J. McShane, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Donald E. VanLuven, Edward T. Schnarr, Adrien M. Hynes and Jesse H. Miller.

Joseph B. Keenan (Niantic No. 105) and Junior Past Grand Koenig were nominated as directors of the San Francisco Hall Association, and Grand Secretary Regan was nominated as a director of the Santa Rosa Hall Association. The Grand Parlor owns stock in both associations.

The premium to be charged Subordinate Parlors for bonding their officers was fixed at the same amount as last year.

On suggestion of Charles R. Boden (Pacific No. 10), membership in the California State Historical Association was voted.

A letter from the National Historical Park Commission concerning Mormon overland trails of pioneer days was referred to the Grand President and the Grand Secretary with power to act.

So that the United States Navy Band may play "I Love You, California," it was ordered that the necessary music be purchased and presented to the band leader.

Engrossed copies of the resolutions in memory of Past Grands Greely, Coombs, Traeger and Gonzalez, adopted at the Vallejo Grand Parlor, were ordered prepared and forwarded to the families of the deceased.

It was ordered that changes in the Ritual approved at the Vallejo Grand Parlor be put in effect in January 1936. Any Subordinate Parlor, however, desiring to adopt the changes prior to that time is privileged to do so.

Resolutions pertaining to the creation of the office of grand lecturer, providing for a committee to investigate the possibilities of reorganizing the N.S.G.W., and for the establishment of a junior order, all referred by the Vallejo Grand Parlor to the Board of Grand Officers, were submitted to committees that are to report at a later date.

Grand President Skillin announced that a big class initiation will be held at Point Loma, near San Diego City, Cabrillo Day, Sunday, September 28, and that the grand officers have been invited to conduct the ceremonies.

District No. 2—Donald E. FORTY-NINE PICNIC AT HISTORIC SITE

Fresno—Fresno No. 25 had its annual "Forty Nine" picnic at historic Fort Miller, located in the hills on the San Joaquin River twenty-five miles from this city. More than a hundred members and prospects enjoyed the barbecue, rodeo, baseball and horseshoe pitching contests. Selma No. 107 lost the baseball game to Fresno by a score of 21 to 7. The early history of the fort and of Millerton, the first government-seat of Fresno County, was reviewed by L. A. Winchell, a member of No. 25 now past eighty years of age, but so well preserved he belies his age.

Memorial services, to which relatives and friends of all deceased members of the Parlor had been invited, were held in the lodgeroom June 7. A white carnation was placed on the altar for each departed brother as his name was called. Arthur H. Drew has been re-elected president of Fresno for the ensuing term.

SCHOOL DEDICATION.

The grand officers, headed by Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, will dedicate the Woodbridge school at Roseville, Placer County, July 4, at 9 a.m.

Central California Organizes.

Sacramento—For the purpose of furthering activity in the Parlors of central California, organization of the district deputies and Grand Parlor committeemen was perfected here by Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, June 17. J. G. Fitzhenry of Sacramento No. 3 was elected chairman, Herbert Osterman of Lodi No. 18 vice-chairman, and Larry W. Marvin of Sunset No. 26 secretary.

It was decided to hold monthly group initiations, and the first was held June 23 at Placerville under the auspices of Fred H. Greely No. 6 and General John A. Sutter No. 10 Past-Presidents Assemblies. The September initiation will be held at Stockton, the evening of the 7th, as one of the features of the statewide Admission Day celebration to be held there.

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

Sacramento—Sacramento No. 3 had memorial services June 6 in honor of departed members. District Attorney Henry S. Lyon of El Dorado County delivered the eulogy, and vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Fred Cippa. The committee in charge included Irving D. Gibson (chairman), J. G. Fitzhenry, June Longshore, J. Frank Didion, George A. Burns and A. M. Mull Jr.

No applications, no new members to fill the ranks. And California needs more Native Sons! Today's responsibility of every member of the Order is to contact eligibles. Don't leave this important duty for "George" to perform.

San Juan Bautista—The one hundred and thirty-eighth anniversary of the founding of San Juan Bautista Mission was celebrated June 23 with a pageant play written by Charles R. Boden of Pacific No. 10.

Modesto—Myron Moyle was elected president of Modesto No. 11, June 5. J. R. Broughton spoke on "The Early History of Stanislaus County."

San Jose—San Jose No. 22 had its annual family picnic June 23. Vincent Wagner was in charge of arrangements. Edward Gallagher is the newly-elected president of the Parlor.

Colusa—Colusa No. 69 plans to dedicate, probably during July, a memorial to William B. Ide, first and only president of the California Republic, whose remains are interred in the cemetery at Monroeville, first government-seat of Colusa County.

Santa Cruz—Santa Cruz No. 90 had its annual picnic June 23, and the main event was a baseball game between the teams of that Parlor and Watsonville No. 65. A membership drive is making good progress. J. Frank Murphy has been elected president for the new term.

Salinas—Santa Lucia No. 97 entertained the womenfolks June 3. Following movies in color, featuring "The California Mission Bells," whist was played. R. W. Adcock conducted an auction, and John Sousa was master of ceremonies. The enjoyable affair was arranged by E. Dougherty, George McDougall, Frank Trigeiro, Frank Lanini, John Massera, Paul Brindero and Merrill Cahoon.

There are thousands of fine eligibles just waiting to be extended an invitation to affiliate with the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. Be a recruiter—extend the invitation today, not tomorrow!

San Diego—San Diego No. 108 had initiation June 19 in honor of President Roby C. Jones, who has labored so diligently for the Parlor's advancement. Entertainment followed the ceremonies, and a baked ham dinner was served by James Murphy and Fred Kaland. Flag Day, June 14, a program was presented at Old Town, with Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer in charge. The Parlor, al ng with San Diego No. 208 N.D.G.W., is arranging a splendid

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

A SUMMER COAT IS AN IMPORTANT consideration, because of the place it fills in every youthful wardrobe. The smartest and, not by any means the most expensive, coats are the casual unlined types that go with practically everything in the way of summer dresses. They are beautifully tailored of novelty wool crepe and have a smart swing to them; in white, of course, and in the wanted pastel colorings.

The newest idea is a daytime suit of grayish blue linen lace. It is worn over a navy slip and has a navy satin blouse. The slim skirt, slightly flared, is street length, and the jacket is cut on classic tailored lines, with mannish revers and a single-breasted cut. It may be worn with a pouch cap of navy satin or felt. Navy handbag and shoes match.

Hand-knit dresses and suits in lacy weaves are being shown in all the summer pastels. Lace blouses are tops for wear with cocktail and dinner suits of dark crepe or satin.

Starched lace evening coats—three-quarters length and made of material that looks like the old-fashioned lace curtains that used to hang at parlor windows—are big news for summer. They are shown in white for wear over black or dark colors, and in pastel shades for wear with white or prints. Of course, there are the lace evening gowns, more numerous than ever this season, in varieties of cotton, linen and lace, sometimes starched and sometimes slinky.

Lace sweaters also are headliners in the shops these days. They are made of string or linen yarn, and come in delectable pastels with aquamarine and dusty pink in the lead.

The redingote coat, which displays a long line of the contrasting dress beneath and up the center front, is a smart, easy-to-find, sliminizing device. The coat or dress which has a waist-deep cape instead of sleeves is another trick which is very flattering to heavy upper arms and shoulders.

Pleats, terminating long skirt seams, are far more flattering to an out-of-size body than bias flares and give walking freedom. Surplice closings involving a deep "V" neckline are kinder than high neck fastenings which tend to show off a bosom curve too plainly. There are some figures that just won't go sylph-like and stay that way, but even the peskiest case of too-much-flesh can be trained into good lines and then covered with an excellent restraining foundation garment for clothes which provide the most flattering effects.

The medium size hat is usually a much better face frame for the buxom gal than a tiny skull cap or a generous cartwheel model. Severe perky trimmings on the hat are best. Millinery takes a prominent part in ensemble, so see that yours is chic and becoming. Flowers are natural bachelor buttons and roses. Hats are made of stitched crepe, and the crepe is printed with rich tints such as seen in persian tapestry. Ribbon bindings and bow trimmings are good.

Pigskin gloves are the smart choice today for general daytime wear, as well as for sports, and being sturdy and durable are given first choice for the traveler's wardrobe. These make a fashionable, practical accessory. A white pigskin has a hand-sewn back and rolled edge, and the natural pigskin also has the hand-sewn back. A cork-shade pigskin has a gusset to give a flared wrist and a leather laced-edge. The white hand-sewn pigskin comes in an eight-button length slip-on for dressy afternoon wear.

Pearls are swanky at this time. Some of the smartest debutantes have been seen at recent club affairs wearing modern versions of the pearl dog collar with bright sweaters and tweed suits. Pearls with sports clothes is one fad of the moment that has stuck. Black pearls also are on the up-and-up, being worn with pastel evening gowns with devastating effect. Pearl clips and pins also are seen, sometimes in dignified designs and sometimes in the more frivolous guise of insects and animals. A popular style is a clip made in the form of a bee with wings of black enamel and brilliants and the body of pearls. There is the perennial scottie made of seed pearls, and a grasshopper clip has a pearl body and crystal wings.

A yellow organdie party dress is billowy with fullness below the hipline. Pale yellow is a shade most flattering to a person with dark hair. The taffeta underslip is slit to the knee on each side, and the skirt of the dress is cut in six panels which flare out sharply to give a billowy fullness below. The upper half of the dress is simply made, with tiny cap sleeves, collar and jabot. Embroidery trimming makes a narrow border at the hemline of the skirt. A tie-on jacket of crisp taffeta is made on a fitted-in line, with pointed elbow-length puffed sleeves. Slippers should be in a matching shade of yellow, or a red toeless sandal style.

Chiffon, ever alluring, is due for high favor this summer. There is no fabric more alluring and flattering to the feminine graces than white chiffon, printed with large flowers of fuchsia, made over a fitted white slip. The front of the gown falls straight to the floor, but in the back four separate pieces are shirred to the skirt, adding much fullness. The bodice in front has a gathered bust caught with two ragged carnations, and a velvet sash of fuchsia is tied in a knot at the waistline, with long ends hanging to the bottom of the skirt.

A very charming frock of chalky pink crepe is used for a shirtmaker type frock. The blouse fastens up the front with large buttons that are tied on with self material and has elbow-length sleeves. The skirt is straight, with inverted pleats for fullness. On the left shoulder is worn a huge carnation of wine red. A hat of red or pink, trimmed with a dark band, is smart for all occasions.

Boucle suits have an air of smartness and good taste. Saw one in a three-piece style with a plain navy blue skirt and double-breasted jacket in a ribstitch. It had long sleeves, and a jumper of white. This is just the thing to wear with white accessories and top coat.

For sports wear, scarfs and shirts and pants of one kind or another fill the wardrobe for all outdoor affairs. And you must have a pair of those flattie play shoes; they go well with slacks. The swanky comfortable togs, the classic plaid coat and the plain tweed skirt will be useful for all sorts of casual rag-tagging as long as they hold together.

Another ensemble worthy of more than passing interest is the sun suit. The dress and hat are made of narrow-wale white pique, trimmed with bands of orange or blue pique. Sun suits have two pockets and suspender straps. Some are made of a rough cotton weave which comes in a choice of lovely monotone colorings, and some have adorable gob hats to match.

OLD, FORGOTTEN MISSIONS—DEAD SPOTS IN HISTORY—REDISCOVERED.

A complete chain of old, forgotten Spanish missions, swallowed up by the desert a generation ago but which were once bristling and bustling outposts of Spanish civilization and defense in the New World, has been rediscovered by the University of California. They were reared by the Dominican Friars along the coastal wastes of Lower California at the same time that the world-renowned Franciscan Missions were being built along the rugged El Camino Real in California. Nothing remains of them now but a jumble of weed-choked ruins, although they once linked the Franciscan chain to the north, and the Jesuit chain to the south, in one unbroken line of mission establishments that extended for more than 1,200 miles through the two Californias.

Peveril Meigs, university graduate student whose rediscovery explorations covered a period of several years, details the history of the old Dominican "Frontera" in a book issued by the University Press.

The original missions in the old chain were seven in number and covered an expanse of some two hundred miles. Descanso, next to the last mission built in the chain, was less than fifty miles from San Diego. Certain of the missions were given garrisons of Spanish troops, and were evidently intended, along with the Franciscan Missions, to form a far-flung line of defense for the Spanish occupancy of the Californias. All of these missions had been sold or granted to private individuals before 1859.

SAN FRANCISCO

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THEIR Grove of Memory Association, the San Francisco Native Daughters and Native Sons had their annual memorial services Sunday, June 2, in Redwood Memorial Grove, Golden Gate Park. President John Fanning of the association presided, and President Charles H. Spengemann of the N.S. Extension of the Order Committee, delivered the invocation.

Eulogies were delivered by Mrs. Gladys E. Noce, N.D. Grand President, and Harmon D. Skillin, N.S. Grand President, and Mrs. Wm. H. Urmy, and the memorial address was given by Jesse H. Miller, N.S. Grand Trustee. The rolls of deceased Native Daughters and Native Sons were called by Mrs. Laura Spitzer, John McGovern, Albert Schmidt and Miss M. J. Smith, and Miss Bertha M. Edler called the roll of Gold Star Native Sons of San Francisco.

Addresses were delivered by Public Works Director William Worden and Harry Kahn. Instrumental selections were rendered by the San Francisco municipal band, and vocal selections by Elsa Behlow Trautner and the San Francisco N.D. glee club. Troop 82, Boy Scouts of America, participated in the impressive ceremonies.

DEPUTIES HONOR N.D. GRAND PRESIDENT.

A luncheon in honor of Grand President Gladys E. Noce was given by the San Francisco deputies, under the direction of Supervising Deputy Gertrude La Fortune, June 1. A most delightful program was presented. Three hundred and eighty-five were in attendance, among the guests being Grand President Harmon D. Skillin of the Native Sons and Mayor Angelo Rossi.

June 7 the deputies had a farewell breakfast at the Native Daughter Home. Mrs. Louise Taber gave a most interesting talk on "San Francisco and Its Relations to Music and Grand Opera." A presentation was made to the Home, and also to Gertrude La Fortune, who was celebrating her birthday and tenth wedding anniversary. The deputies expressed deep appreciation for the privilege of serving under Grand President Gladys E. Noce the past year, wished their successors success, and hoped for another happy year. Best wishes were also extended Grand Vice-president Anna Thuesen for a most happy and successful year as grand president. The deputies repeated this adieu: "So this is the end of a perfect year, near the end of a journey, too, and leaves only memories that are kind and true."—E O'M.

FORTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 N.S.G.W. celebrated June 19 its forty-fifth institution anniversary, and inaugurated a determination to become the largest Parlor of the Order by initiating a class of twelve candidates. But twenty additional initiates will put South Parlor over the top and initiation will be a monthly feature until the goal is attained. Another class of at least a dozen will be initiated July 10.

Five of the seven living charter members—Daniel Harrington, first recording secretary, Louis Nonnenmann, first treasurer, Richard J. Handly, first marshal, John O'Connor and Daniel Paulus—were at the birthday party. In attendance also were Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, Junior Past Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Outside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, District Deputies Cornelius J. Ryan and L. A. Werner. Grand Outside Sentinel Richards, now affiliated with Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 (San Pedro), was for twenty years a member of No. 157 and made a special trip from Wilmington for the occasion. Past Grand President Clarence E. Jarvis, a member of Amador Parlor No. 17 (Sutter Creek), was originally a charter member of South San Francisco.

N.D.G.W. PARLORS NEWS NOTES.

Genevieve No. 132 elected officers June 6, Carolyn Kerwin becoming president. June 20 a bedspread made and donated by President Camile Jacobsen for the benefit of the social fund was disposed of. Drum Corps activities: June 6, a birthday dinner honored Lillian Desmond Amstein, recent bride. June 11, participated in civic parade and pageant for San Francisco's baseball shutins. June 16, accepted an invitation from the Ninety-first Division Association Inc. to join the 1935 American Legion pilgrimage to Yountville and spent a delightful day in the Napa Valley country.

Presidio No. 148 had an official visit May 28 from Grand President Gladys E. Noce, who was honor-guest at a dinner, attended by other grand officers, Deputy Rena Taube and many members. President Thelma Spengola presided and extended the Parlor's greetings.

NATIVE SONS ORGANIZE FOR ACTION.

Grand President Harmon D. Skillin of the Native Sons organized the district deputies and Grand Parlor committeemen of San Francisco, June 14. Elmer Gaetjen of San Francisco Parlor No. 49 was made chairman, L. A. Werner of Golden Gate Parlor No. 29 vice-chairman, and Martin Huber of Mission Parlor No. 38 secretary. Meetings will be held the first Friday of each month.

A committee was appointed to co-operate with a committee from the San Francisco Extension of the Order Committee in arranging for a large outdoor initiation in August or September.

PAST PRESIDENTS N.D. ENTERTAINED.

Dolores Parlor No. 169 N.D.G.W. presented "In a Night Club" June 3 for the entertainment of Past Presidents Association No. 1. Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson was mistress of ceremonies. As the talent came upon the floor a spotlight shone upon them. Myrtle Bottini impersonated "Mae West," and Emma O'Meara, Alvina Burkhardt and Mae Baumeister, as the "Neopolitan Trio," sang several numbers. Others who entertained were Gertrude Penaluna, Ann Godfrey, Hazel Nelson, Ellen Rahill. The program ended by the entire company singing "Keep Young and Beautiful." Refreshments were served.

THE STRUGGLE OF LIFE

(ARTHUR H. CLOUGH.)

Say not, the struggle naught availeth,
The labor and wounds are vain,
The enemy faints not nor faileth,
And as things have been they remain.

If hopes were dupes, fears may be liars;
It may be, in yon smoke concealed
Your comrades chase e'en now the fliers,
And but for you possess the field.

For while the tired waves, vainly breaking,
Seem here no painful inch to gain,
Far back, through creeks and inlets making,
Comes silent, flooding in, the main.

And not by eastern windows only
When daylight comes, comes in the light;
In front, the sun climbs slow—how slowly!
But westward, look, the land is bright.
—Exchange.

followed by merrymaking. Past Grand Joseph R. [illegible] and [illegible] were present, and [illegible] Clinton, J. Clem Bates and Preston Frank. A social [illegible] by J. N. Hatch, Henry W. Hansen and Charley Anderson. The committee of arrangements included Herbert D. Clark, Charles Von Togen and Preston Stahl.

Schultz—In appreciation of his twenty-five years of service as recording secretary, Sea Point No 158 presented to Manuel Santos a fountain pen June 5.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS—GOOD BUSINESS.

Visitors to the Manx Hotel, San Francisco, are high in their praise of the numerous improvements recently installed in that popular hostelry by Harvey M. Toy, managing owner, at a cost totaling many thousands of dollars. In addition to new carpets and furnishings, Toy is now equipping the Manx with modern elevators. Needless to say, the present fine condition of the Hotel Manx is responsible for the very good business it is proud to report.

San Francisco citizens have voted to add one half cent to the tax levy to support the San Francisco symphony orchestra, and to have the proposed Bay Bridge Exposition in 1938 on Yerba Buena Shoals.

Los Angeles City now has a population of 1,351,140, according to the Western Statistical Association. The 1930 census credited it with a population of 1,238,048.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

BAKERSFIELD—THE KERN COUNTY Parlors—El Tejon No. 239 (Bakersfield), Miocene No. 228 (Taft) and Desert Gold No. 250 (Mojave)—and Bakersfield No. 42 N.S.G.W. placed June 2 a bronze marker at Havilah, the first government-seat of Kern County. The picturesque history of the little mountain town was reviewed from the gold-rush days to its present deserted quietude. Mrs. Hannah Miller, a beloved Pioneer of Havilah now more than 90 years of age, unveiled the marker.

President Jesse Stockton of the Kern County Historical Society referred to Havilah's romantic background, mentioned the exciting times of the gold rush, and told of the moving of the county seat to Bakersfield. He reviewed the coming of Joseph Walker through Kern County in 1833 and mentioned that Walker's Basin and Pass had been named for that Pioneer. Mrs. Ona Moffett and Hal Bannister were co-chairmen of the occasion.

Mrs. Margaret Carlisle was elected president of El Tejon, June 7. Lieutenant-governor Hatfield was a guest speaker at the meeting and congratulated the Parlor on its history activities. Organist Marie Rehdorf-Hufines was honored at a bridal shower and presented with gifts. The presentation of the Parlor's gift was accompanied by the singing of "We Love you Truly" by Misses Ralpha Sanders and Eleanor Rehdorf, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mary B. Hampson. A white and silver decorative scheme adorned the table, with a bride's cake as the centerpiece. Mrs. Ralph Hinderliter was chairman of arrangements.

Twenty-third Anniversary Observed.

San Rafael—Marinita No. 198 received an official visit from Grand President Gladys E. Noce May 27. Baskets of sweetpeas, roses and snapdragons adorned the meetingroom. Mrs. Noce was escorted to her seat of honor by six members of the drill team and, while Mrs. Antoinette Hecht sang "An Orchid To You," presented with a gorgeous orchid attached to a pink and silver paper horseshoe. Three candidates were initiated, President Ruth Andrade and assisting officers exemplifying the ritual. Grand President Noce gave an inspiring talk on the Order's projects and complimented Marinita on its achievements. In the banquetroom, transformed into a spring garden, dainty refreshments were served, and remarks were made by the Grand President, Grand Vice-president Anna C. Thuesen, Grand Inside Sentinel Alice Oldham, Grand Outside Sentinel Claire Lindsey, Grand Trustees Alice Lane, Orinda Giannini and Willow Borba, Past Grands Margaret Hill, May Boldemann, Emma Foley and Evelyn Carlson, Supervising Deputy Ethel Begley and Deputy Pearl Lopus. May Zappetini was chairman of the delightful evening.

Marinita celebrated June 10 the twenty-third anniversary of its institution. Members came attired as children, and a schoolday skit was the evening's feature. Charter Members Vita Vollers, Ann Andrade, Myra Murphy, Ann Spinney, Lillian Whitmore and Rita O'Connor greeted Past Grand Emma Foley, the Parlor's "mother," with a song and a novel presentation. Speakers included Anna Loser, Deputy Pearl Lopus, Josephine Bergin, Dora Cooley and Irene Griffin. Refreshments were served at attractively decorated tables. Bertha Watson had charge of the entertainment and refreshments.

Government Is Living History.

Santa Ana—Thirty-five candidates for naturalization were honored June 10 at the annual program sponsored by Santa Ana No. 235 and Santa Ana No. 265 N.S.G.W. First Vice-president Muriel Bray presided, and welcomed the class. Matilda Lemon, chairman of americanization for No. 235, was in charge of the program and was assisted by Olive Witt, Mae West, Muriel Bray and Gladys Edwards.

Ray Adkinson (Santa Ana N.S.), superintendent of schools, was the principal speaker and his topic was "Citizenship and the Constitution." "Our government," he said, "is living history of a people who, casting off old ties, seek a new life and new achievements. It is the spirit of the Pioneer. The Constitution of our State begins with this spirit of the Pioneers, those people who came to California to seek a new life and new achievements. The spirit exemplified by applicants for citizenship, in casting off family ties and country, is but the replica of the spirit of the Pioneers." Other speakers were Mrs. Nell Hunt, class instructor, Mrs. Golden Weston, director adult education, and W. W. Wieman, principal evening high school. Muriel Bray has been elected president of Santa Ana N.D.G.W. for the July-January term.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Jackson—At a site on the Alpine highway overlooking the Sierra, a location often referred to as Inspiration Point—Ursula No. 1 unveiled June 8 a monument inscribed: "Dedicated to the memory of the Pioneers, men and women, who came by land and sea to make their home in the Golden West. Erected by Ursula Parlor No. 1, Native Daughters of the Golden West, June 8, 1935." Supervising Deputy Emma Boarman-Wright presided, and the speakers included Grand President Gladys E. Noce, President Clara Bachich and Sadie Winn-Brainard.

Chico—At the June 13 meeting of Annie K. Bidwell No. 168, officers were elected, Ellen Crowder being chosen president. One candidate was initiated, and refreshments were served by a committee composed of Josephine Alexander, Elizabeth Bond and Edna Boyd. A picnic was held June 23 at the Butte Meadows summer home of Mrs. A. G. Eames. May 26 members of the Parlor attended memorial services at Bidwell Memorial Presbyterian Church, and President Icel Snider, Ethel Estes, Olive Pearl and Irene Henry decorated the graves of deceased members.

Modesto—Morada No. 199 had a garden dance, May 18; flowers and greens decorated the ballroom, and a wishing well was an attraction. At a backwards party, May 22, members had their dresses on backwards; games were played and refreshments were served. The Parlor's drill team has been very active, and paraded on Flag Day.

Bieber—Mount Lassen No. 215 had a kitchen shower June 13 for Muriel McKenzie, who will become the bride of Mervyn Harvey at a home wedding in July.

Petaluma—Petaluma No. 222 celebrated its thirteenth institution anniversary with a dinner. Spring flowers were used in the decorations. Deputy Vida Vollers was a guest.

Sutter—South Butte No. 226 dedicated June 8 a marker at the Stohlman cemetery, earlyday Sutter County burying ground. Wilhelmina Beecroft, landmarks chairman of the Parlor, introduced Past Grand Esther R. Sullivan, who made the principal address. President Necia Correll had charge of the program, which also included vocal and instrumental selections.

Pleasanton—At the official visit of Grand President Gladys E. Noce to Pleasanton No. 237 and Angelita No. 32 (Livermore), May 23, seven candidates were initiated for the former Parlor and two for the latter. Spring flowers beautified the meetingroom in which 175 members of the Order assembled. A silver gift was presented the Grand President by the hostess Parlors. Pleasanton had on display its hope chest, to be turned over to the Central Homeless Children Committee, filled with baby clothing. Edith Kingsley of Angelita was chairman of the evening, and the ritual was exemplified in a commendable manner by President Evelyn Bell and assisting officers of Pleasanton.

Oakland—Past Presidents Association No. 2 honored Chief President Emilie Clifford and Chief Director Emily Lawson of the General Association at a May 21 dinner. Chairwoman Elizabeth Goodman was assisted by Josephine Clark. Memorial services for the Association's departed members, June 10, were in charge of Chairwoman Goodman.

Parlor for their loyalty and assistance at all times; to Past Grand Presidents Keith and Hill for their friendship and encouragement; to the members of all Parlors who have made it possible for me to serve the Order I love, and my most especial thanks to the members of the San Francisco Parlors and particularly Portola Parlor. Thanks, also, to the many who have traveled from far and near to compliment your Grand President and her Parlor, to my family for their generosity and assistance at all times, and for flowers, gifts and personal attention along my fraternal path, other thanks.

"And now, dear sisters, your Grand President begs of all of you the same loyalty, the same loving kindness and consideration, the same tolerance and constructive assistance, the same fraternal love that you have always given.

"I promise you that, with all the strength of my heart, I will give you SERVICE. But remember, to err is human and to forgive divine. That I may serve you to the fullest extent, I beg the blessing of Divine Providence upon my work, upon my office, upon you and upon our glorious State.

"I seek in prayerful words, dear friends,
My heart's true wish to send you,
That you may know that far and near
My loving thoughts attend you.

"I cannot find a truer word
Nor fonder to caress you.
No song or poem I have heard
Is sweeter than GOD BLESS YOU."

Following the dedication, the Native Sons proceeded to historic Coloma where, in the shadow of the Marshall monument, erected in commemoration of the gold discovery that caused a rush to California from all parts of the world, a class of candidates were initiated: Nine for Placerville Parlor, and one each for Hydraulic No. 56 (Nevada City) and Colusa No. 69 Parlors. The initiation was held under the joint auspices of Fred H. Greely No. 6 and General John A. Sutter No. 10 Past Presidents Assemblies, and the ritual was exemplified in a highly efficient manner by the officers of Colusa Parlor. A basket lunch followed the initiatory ceremonies. It was a splendid outing, the weather was delightful and the attendance good.

(ADVERTISEMENT.)

Fifty [illegible] artistically arranged scrapbooks, containing [illegible] pertaining to the sponsored or [illegible] placed in the various Grand[illegible] Parlor, were on display and elicited much favorable comment, emphasizing, as they did, the quantity of valued publicity given the Order and its projects. Awards for the best books, provided by Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs and Supervising Deputy Edith Kelly, went to the following: Group No. 1, Gold of Ophir Parlor No. 190; group No. 2, Eugenia Parlor No. 241; group No. 3, Genevieve Parlor No. 132. Honorable mention was given Marguerite Parlor No. 12, San Diego Parlor No. 208, Adli Parlor No. 102, Colus Parlor No. 194 and Berendos Parlor No. 23.

At a most colorful exemplification of the ritual, the evening of June 19, the Sacramento County deputies, under the direction of Supervising Deputy Edith B. Kelley, initiated a class of forty candidates for the Parlors of Sacramento and Amador Counties.

Entertainment features, arranged by a general committee made up of representatives of all the Sacramento County Parlors, were carried out exactly as detailed in The Grizzly Bear for June. If any Grand Parlor visitor to the Capital City failed to have a good time, the fault was with her, not with the hostesses.

PAST GRANDS REUNION.

The College of Past Grand Presidents held their annual reunion dinner the evening of June 18, with Catherine E. Gloster as hostess. Junior Past Grand Irma W. Laird was welcomed as the latest freshman. Flowers beautifully decorated the table, and at each plate was a demure co-ed in cap and gown, tightly clasping a cherished diploma on which was inscribed the name of a dinner guest.

Wise old "Professor Owl" stood in dignified silence at the head of the table, guarding the diplomas later awarded for proficiency in contributing to the program of entertainment. These diplomas in humorous vein proclaimed the hobbies and personal qualifications of the recipients. Witty stories, thrilling experiences, favorite poems and most embarrassing moments were happily related, and Estelle M. Evans sang her favorite song, "Sweet Mystery of Life." Group singing of the college song of the Past Grand Presidents further announced the personal vagaries of the guests.

At a business session, greetings were read from President Olive Bedford-Matlock and other absentees. Emma Lou Humphrey was chosen as president, and Bertha A. Briggs was retained as secretary. In attendance were Past Grands Carrie Roesch-Durham, Eliza D. Keith, Stella Finkeldey, Ariana W. Stirling, Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen, Emma G. Foley, Emma Lou Humphrey, Mamie G. Peyton, Alison F. Watt, May C. Lobenstein, Mabel E. Grace Hill, Grace S. Sommer, Mary E. Bell, Bertha A. Briggs, Mattie M. Stein, Amy V. M. Avoy, Catherine E. Gloster, Mae Hines-Noonan, Esther R. Sullivan, Estelle M. Evans, Evelyn I. Carlson, Anna Mixer Armstrong and Irma W. Laird.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

THE WOMAN'S CLUB OF HOLLYWOOD unanimously adopted a resolution, addressed to the Los Angeles County Supervisors Board, saying, in part: "We wish to suggest to the board of supervisors and the economic council that they give serious study to determine to what extent the evil of nepotism is practiced in Los Angeles County and to take such steps as are necessary to reduce to the minimum this family monopoly of jobs, thus spreading employment and improving the service."

The resolution will, of course, be courteously acknowledged, but it is a near-cinch there will be no curbing of nepotism until and unless the voters decree its suppression. Votes, not resolutions, will cure this and numerous other political ills from which we suffer.—C.M.H.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

At their memorial grove in Griffith Park the local Native Sons and Daughters held their annual memorial services May 30. Mary B. Noerenberg presided, and a tree presented by Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. was dedicated by Mrs. Mary K. Corcoran to her lately deceased sister, Mrs. Annie L. Adair, for many years most active in the Natives' homeless children endeavor. Among others in attendance were Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer and Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth of the Native Sons.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS.

An increase of thirty-seven percent in the amount of escrow business handled by California Bank during the first five months of 1935 over the same period a year ago is reported by Cashier Arthur T. Brett. The report also revealed that during each of the three consecutive months ending May 31, the number of escrows opened in the various offices of California Bank substantially exceeded the number recorded for any previous month during the past two years.

"This encouraging increase in escrow business," says Brett, "substantiates recent reports made by leading realtors of increasing activity in the real estate market. The gain is not confined to any particular area but appears to be general throughout Los Angeles County. The growing demand for certain types of modern single-family dwellings in desirable surroundings has had the effect of stiffening prices until the market price in some instances closely approaches or equals the normal value of the property. The Los Angeles Better Housing Exposition no doubt further stimulated interest in home buying and new construction as well as in repair and modernization of existing dwellings." The gain in escrow business recorded by California Bank has particular local significance inasmuch as all of the bank's offices are located in Los Angeles County and the increase graphically reflects definite progress in this district.

GRAND PRESIDENT N.S. TO VISIT.

LIBRARY GIVEN BEAR FLAG.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. entertained June 5 in honor of Deputy Kathryn Burke, Supervising Deputies Gertrude Tuttle and Mary Noerenberg, and all initiates of the year. Remembrances were presented the deputies, and delicious refreshments were served by Edna Holcomb. Forty-five bridge enthusiasts enjoyed the fourth party of the tournament June 12. Letha Brooks, the hostess, was assisted by Kay Sens, Ann Schiebusch, Edna Holcomb and Miss Rudge.

Flag Day, June 14, the Parlor, through Mrs. Earl Gara, presented to the Felipe de Neve branch of the Los Angeles Public Library a California State (Bear) Flag. Mrs. Louise Ward Watkins was the principal speaker, and Ora Monette accepted the flag for the library. Rose Graffiia Porrozzo, a recent bride, entertained the sewing club at her home June 15. A delicious luncheon was served, and a great deal was accomplished for the Parlor's new homeless children project. Four candidates were initiated June 19, making a total of thirty-seven for the term of President Olinda Kerby.

On account of Independence Day, Los Angeles' first July meeting will be held July 2, when a surprise party will be featured. Other events on the month's calendar are: 10th, card party, last of tournament; Ann Schiebusch, the hostess, will be assisted by Letha Brooks, Evelyn Trautwein, Elsie Hunter Ruiz and Edna Holcomb. 22nd, 7:30 p.m., sewing club at the home of Ethel Kennedy, 1601 West Santa Barbara avenue; Estelle Hedin co-hostess; all Native Daughters invited to come, sew and have a social time. The Parlor will be on vacation during August.

PIONEER DAY AT SANTA MONICA.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. wants the 1937 Admission Day celebration. To arouse interest, it has sent to all drum corps and marching units of Native Sons and Native Daughters Parlors a booklet picturing some of this city's many attractions and suggesting the starting of "1937 on to Santa Monica saving clubs."

July 27, Santa Monica City has its annual Pioneer Day celebration, in which the Parlor will take a leading part. In the historical parade, it will have a float depicting the Donner monument, also its drum corps and the Boy Scouts troop that it sponsors. In the evening it will feature a grand ball, open to the general public.

The Parlor's summer barbecue at the Marquis rancho, June 23, attracted a large crowd, and everyone had a good time. A baseball game between the teams of No. 267 and University Parlor No. 272 was won by the latter, score 12 to 8. Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz and Stephen Garey were the umpires. Following a feast of barbecued steaks, dancing was in order. Among the 450 in attendance were Past Grand John T. Newell, Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven, Grand Outside Sentinel Walter C. Richards and Mayor Wm. Carter. Dewey Houghton, the incoming president of Santa Monica Bay, was chairman of the arrangements committee.

STATUE MODEL GIVEN MUSEUM.

Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. elected officers June 11, Flora Jacobson being chosen president. June 25, Ruth Parris, retiring president, entertained at a farewell tea, and a class of candidates were initiated. The annual bridge luncheon at the Loos home was a delightful and successful event. Bridge was the diversion, and entertainment was provided by Jose Arias' orchestra, Hortense Steinike and Homer Gaines.

Under the chairmanship of Ora Evans, the Parlor presented to the Los Angeles Museum, June 13, the original model of the Felipe de Neve statue. The date also marked Californiana's anniversary. Florence Behm-Irish was the principal speaker. At the June birthday luncheon a very enlightening paper on the FERA and the plan for transients was read by Kathleen C. Arnold. She said California has twelve percent of the nation's transient population, or 80,909 people who cannot be forced to return to their legal residences.

The Rocha adobe, located near the stadium, was marked with a bronze plaque by the history and landmarks section of the Parlor June 28. Mms. Dexter Monroe and A. B. Fages were co-chairmen of the occasion.

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

Los Angeles—Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 elected officers June 13, Clyde H. Davis becoming president. Past Grand John T. Newell gave an informative talk on Boulder Dam.

Los Angeles—Ramona Parlor No. 109's officers-elect, with Clarence S. Hunt as president, will be installed July 12. A watermelon "bust" is billed for July 19 after the meeting; Edwin A. Meserve will be the speaker of the evening. The Parlor's anniversary barbecue June 9, directed by Captain "Bill" Bright, was a great success.

San Pedro—Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 is retaining its officers for the July-January term, Frank Bronson remaining the president.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Long Beach—Long Beach Parlor No. 154 has re-elected its corps of officers, with Gertrude Riddle as president, for the new term. Members of the thimble club spent June 15 at the Pomona home of Mrs. Alma Morrow. Following initiation June 20, entertainment and refreshments were provided. The social committee for June included Kitty Dillon, Genevieve Dalton, Mae Pickering, Bessie Kegly, Nell Keller, Helen Cervantes and Nora Dodd.

San Pedro—The thimble club of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 met in Averill Park, June 25, with C. Rogers and L. Sarciaux as hostesses. A telephone bridge party was in charge of Carrie Rogers. At election of officers the same corps, with Irene Caresse as president, were retained. July 15 the Parlor will have a card party at the Women's Club; Lillian Zirkel is the chairman.

Glendale—Verdugo Parlor No. 249 had a party in honor of Deputy Ernestine Aylward and Supervising Deputy Gertrude Tuttle, June 25. In charge of arrangements were Margaret Donlan, Louise Rubottom, Geraldine Leonetti and Vera Carlson. The Parlor had a successful evening at the Little Theater of Verdugos June 22, dancing following the three-act play "Murdered Alive;" Ione Gillett was in charge. Officers of Verdugo, with Ada Steele as president, will be publicly installed July 23.

CALIFORNIA FIFTY YEARS AGO

FOURTH OF JULY 1885, THE ONE HUNDRED and ninth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, was celebrated in California with parades, literary exercises, sports and fireworks in a glorious manner. At Placerville, El Dorado County, Placerville Parlor No. 9 N.S.G.W. had charge of the celebration. At Downieville, Sierra County, the E. Clampus Vitus had a parade.

At San Francisco, a monument to the memory of James A. Garfield, the martyred President, was unveiled in Golden Gate Park. The Society of California Pioneers at Sacramento, following an old custom, celebrated with a feast at which Governor George Stoneman was the honor-guest.

A forty-four-mile yacht race from Santa Cruz to Monterey, participated in by several yachts, was won by "Halcyon" in six hours and forty-five minutes.

The day's only serious accident was at Downey, Los Angeles County. A squad of youths firing an anvil salute accidentally exploded a can of powder and several were seriously injured.

California mourned with memorial exercises General U. S. Grant, who died at Mt. McGregor, New York, July 23.

Butte and adjacent counties were shaken by a severe shock of earthquake at 10:15 p.m. of July 16.

The Irish Land League had a state convention in San Francisco July 14. The league was aiding financially the election of Parnell to Parliament, and $85,000 had been collected in California and sent to Ireland.

Modesto, Stanislaus County, organized an irrigation company to bring water from the Stanislaus River near La Grange to irrigate the plains. The canal, forty feet wide and thirty-five miles long, would cost $200,000.

Grass Valley, Nevada County, had its annual three-day wrestling tournament, beginning July 7, and hundreds of Cornishmen participated. Jack Carkeek won the first prize, and Jacob Coombs the second prize.

The grasshopper plague was diminishing, but the insects got into Senator Leland Stanford's vineyard at Vina, Tehama County, and denuded 500 acres of vines.

The deer season opened July 1, and there were the usual accidents, including hunters being mistaken for bucks.

H. Wilsey of Petaluma, Sonoma County, imported from France twenty-eight Percheron stallions and mares for breeding purposes.

Another White baby was found in San Francisco's Chinatown, making twenty-six so far recovered. The foster-parents had paid $100 for the youngster.

A large number of mastodon fossil bones were exhumed from the bank of Putah Creek, near Davisville, Yolo County. Large oaks were growing on the deposit.

The first spike of the Colusa County railroad, to connect Colusa City with the railroad running from Davisville to Tehama, was driven July 4 by Miss Lulu Green.

At Vacaville, Solano County, the fruit-shipping industry was employing 100 Chinamen, and businessmen were complaining because they did not spend a cent in the town.

The Lompoc Indian tribe—numbering about 4,000 in 1849—that roamed Santa Barbara County, was now reduced to a single survivor, old and feeble, who was being fed by the citizens.

In defiance of the wishes of Nevada City, Nevada County, residents a powder company erected a storehouse on Aristocracy Hill. July 30 the first shipment of powder was stored, and that night the place was blown up by unknown parties.

A miner named Jackson found near Downieville, Sierra County, a four-pound gold nugget worth over $800. At the Bald Mountain mine in Sierra County a quartz boulder was found that yielded two pounds of gold.

Mariane Murietta, widow of Joaquin Murietta, noted bandit, was a seeress and leading the Mexican population in Stanislaus County. She was arrested on the charge that, to make a prophecy that the parents would soon weep come true, she had poisoned a child.

The stage from Washington, Nevada County, was stopped by two highwaymen July 27. Carrying no express box, the road agents robbed the five passengers of about $600.

At Visalia, Tulare County, July 2 fire destroyed a livery stable, a saloon and the Presbyterian church. Eight buildings in Truckee, Nevada County, burned July 3; loss, $12,000.

Darby's Oakland, Alameda County, tannery burned July 5; loss, $12,000. Two Spear-street lumber yards in San Francisco burned July 9; loss, $75,000.

Warren Smith's thousand-acre grainfield near Fresno City was devastated July 9 by a fire set by an incendiary, and the loss was $15,000.

Redding, Shasta County, had a fire July 13 that destroyed a hotel, the railroad depot and several other buildings. Chinatown of Hills Ferry burned July 13.

Frank Krunge's brewery at Susanville, Lassen County, burned July 18, with a loss of $10,000. July 27 the town's Chinatown went up in smoke.

The palatial residence of Governor Stoneman near San Gabriel, Los Angeles County, burned July 17; the loss was estimated at $20,000.

Fire July 22 destroyed seven buildings in the business section of Williams, Colusa County; loss, $25,000.

N. Carrega, who came to California in 1830 and was a leading Sonoma County vineyardist, died July 1.

Edward S. Spear, who arrived in San Francisco in 1850, died there July 4.

"Aunt" Sallie, a Negro woman who had been in the Ashe family for four generations, died at the Merced City home of Wm. L. Ashe, July 11, at the age of 101.

Judge Charles H. Swift died July 15 at San Francisco. He arrived in Sacramento in 1849, and was the first peace justice elected in that city.

J. M. Straw, a Tuolumne County Pioneer, died July 16 at Sonora. In 1851, walking the trail from Columbia to Sonora, he turned over a quartz boulder; it weighed eighty pounds, and yielded $8,500 worth of gold.

E. H. Hicks, engineer in a Forbestown, Butte County, quartz mill, was caught July 27 by a revolving wheel and whirled to his death.

In Fine Gold, Fresno County, James Tallant and C. Polkinghorne quarreled July 8. Tallant shot Polkinghorne and, the bullet passing through him, mortally wounded John Doody, standing behind him. Tallant was then shot.

Thomas A. Turner, an earlyday miner of Poorman's Creek, Plumas County, was blown up and killed July 11 by a giant-powder cartridge which was exploded beneath the cabin in which he was asleep.

Near San Luis Obispo City, July 7, a posse of seven armed men rode to a threshing crew and demanded the surrender of one of the crew. A parley ensued and the posse laid down their guns, which were seized by the threshers. In the ensuing melee Wood Howell, Clinton Brooks and Henry Huston were killed.

Tom Wong, a Chinese voter of Monterey County who could speak English, Spanish, Portuguese and Chinese and was often employed as a court interpreter, was found July 12 hanging from the limb of a tree. Investigation disclosed that Wong, who was also a fisherman, had first been riddled with buckshot and afterward hanged. No clue was found as to who had committed the murder.

Restoration of La Purisima Concepcion Mission, founded December 8, 1787, near Lompoc, Santa Barbara County, was begun by the CCC, June 6. The restored structure will, it is said, be an identical duplication of the original mission.

The Association of California Postmasters will meet in annual convention July 17-20 at San Diego City.

Theressa Gay

GHOSTS ARE HARD TO KILL! FROM time to time a controversy arises as to the exact date when James W. Marshall gazed down into the water of the tail-race of the sawmill, which he and John A. Sutter were building in partnership at the bend of the American River, about forty miles from Sutter's Fort, and spied some glittering yellow particles. Stooping down, Marshall put his hand into the icy water and picked one up. As he looked at the shiny bit of metal in his hand, he pondered as to what it could be. Marshall made a crude test at once. Satisfied that it was gold, he gathered some more. Carefully carrying these golden flakes in the crown of his old slouch hat, Marshall hastened to the mill yard to show his find to the workmen. Somewhat skeptical at first, the mill hands finally came to believe that their boss had really found gold. A subsequent test proved this to be correct.

An effort was made by General Sutter when he visited the sawmill the week following the gold discovery, to keep the finding a secret until the construction of the mill was completed. But the exciting news leaked out in several ways. The coast towns of California were deserted, as everyone shut up shop and hastened to the scene of the gold discovery. The news spread in all directions, and in time reached the far corners of the earth. From all over the world eager gold seekers made their way to the newly discovered El Dorado. Came 1849 and the rush was on.

It is unfortunate for history today that James Marshall kept no diary, nor made any other contemporary record on the very day that he so unknowingly electrified the world by picking up a small flake of gold, worth about fifty cents. At the time there was no concern as to the exact date of the discovery. Everyone was too intent upon digging for gold.

It was not until eight years after the event that any date for the finding of the first flake appeared in print. In its issue of February 9, 1856, the San Francisco Daily Chronicle published a letter dated January 28, 1856, and signed by James W. Marshall, though the letter itself is in the handwriting of someone else. "Upon the 19th of the same month of January discovered the gold near the lower end of the race," ran the letter.

The following year J. W. Hutchings, editor of Hutchings' California Magazine, interviewed Mr. Marshall in Coloma and obtained from him a verbal narrative regarding the gold discovery, which the editor wrote down at the time. This was published in Vol. 2, No. 5 (November, 1857) of the magazine over Marshall's signature. The account clearly shows that Marshall was not quite sure of the exact date, for he stated " . . . on or about the 19th of January—I am not quite certain to a day, but it was between the 18th and 20th of that month—1848. . . . Four days afterwards I went to the Fort. . . . " There he showed his find to Sutter. Together they tested it and pronounced it fine gold. A verification of this interview was contained in a letter written by Mr. Hutchings to John S. Hittell, pioneer and historian, December 28, 1885. This may be seen in the archives of the Society of California Pioneers, San Francisco.

In an unsigned statement made by James Wilson Marshall to Ogden Squires, January 28, 1865, the original of which is in the California State Library at Sacramento, the gold discoverer said, "I discovered gold on or about the 19th day of January 1848. . . . " Again he is not certain of the exact date.

In Marshall's biography, which was prepared under his direction, but written by George Frederic Parsons, and published in 1870, the date of picking up the small flake is given as the 19th of January.

It seems that the only authorities for January 19 as being the precise date of the gold discovery are the various statements of Marshall, and in two of them he appears to be somewhat hazy as to the actual day. None of these statements were made until after a lapse of some years, and then without reference to any contemporary memorandum or written account. After a lapse of years one's memory may not always serve him accurately as to the exact time of past events, so we may judge that Marshall's memory might not have been too reliable in regard to the day when he picked up the first bit of gold.

(This story, of great value from a California history viewpoint, came to The Grizzly Bear from John T. Regan, Grand Secretary N.S.G.W., who received it from Dr. Herbert E. Bolton, head of the history department of the University of California. Accompanying was this letter, dated Berkeley, May 10, 1935: "My dear Mr. Regan: As I told you over the telephone this morning, Miss Theressa Gay, one of my former students, is writing a book on James Marshall. Happening to see her the other day just after I got your letter, I asked her if she would write out a short statement of the facts of the discovery of gold. She did so, and her paper is so good that I am sending it to you with the thought that you might wish to publish it in The Grizzly Bear. You will note that at the end she has included material which nobody else has used, and which confirms the date January 24 as the discovery day. Yours very sincerely, HERBERT E. BOLTON.")

Be that as it may, January 19, 1848, was for many years the accepted date. On September 9, 1885, John S. Hittell delivered an Admission Day address before the Pioneer Society of San Francisco on the subject of the gold discovery. Mr. Hittell learned that Henry W. Bigler, one of the Mormon workmen employed at the mill at the time, was still living in St. George, Utah. He sent this survivor a copy of his address and asked him to correct any errors that he might find in it. Mr. Bigler replied that, according to his diary, the gold was discovered on January 24. At the request of Mr. Hittell, a copy was made of the Bigler diary. A few years later, in 1890, at the earnest solicitation of this same historian, Mr. Bigler forwarded to him the pages from his original diary, which record the gold discovery. This is one of the most valued manuscripts now in the possession of the Society of California Pioneers, San Francisco. It reads: "Monday 24th. this day some kind of mettle was found in the tail race that looks like gold. first discovered by James Martial, the Boss of the Mill."

The last statement has been inserted in darker ink and indicates that it was interpolated by Mr. Bigler after he had made his first entries. Perhaps he wanted to be sure that Mr. Marshall would be given full credit for the discovery—an honor of which attempts were made to deprive him.

Through the efforts of Mr. Hittell, the diary of Azariah Smith, another Morman laborer at the mill, was brought to light, and was published in the Overland Monthly, February, 1888. Mr. Smith made his entries weekly, usually on Sunday. He recorded the discovery as follows: "Sunday, January 30th. . . . This week Mr. Marshall found some piece of (as we all suppose) gold, and he has gone to the Fort for the purpose of finding out. It is found in the raceway in small pieces. Some have been found that would weigh five dollars." Had gold been discovered on January 19, Smith would naturally have recorded the event the preceding Sunday, January 23.

Further evidence that gold was discovered on January 24 is revealed by the New Helvetia Diary, another prized possession of the Society of California Pioneers. In it General Sutter wrote these brief statements regarding the activities of his mill partner: "Friday, January 28, 1848. Mr. Marshall arrived from the mountains on very important business." "Saturday, January 29, 1848. Marshall left for the mountains." "Very important business" cannot be interpreted otherwise than to mean that Marshall had come to the Fort to show his find to Sutter and to ascertain whether or not it was gold.

Marshall had stated that four days "afterwards" he went to Sutter's Fort, though he does not make it clear whether the four days was the interval between the discovery and his start for or his arrival at the Fort. If the latter is what was intended, the date of discovery must have been January 24, since he arrived at the Fort on January 28. If January 19 is the day of discovery, the four-day interval has no support, save Marshall's word, and it does not agree with other authorities.

The Bigler Diary further records: "Sunday, Jan. 30th.—Clear and has been all week. Our metal has been tried and proved to be gold. It is thought to be rich. We have picked up more than a hundred dollars worth last week." This entry confirms Marshall's return to the mill not later than the day after he left Sutter's Fort. It will be seen that the Bigler entry of January 30 also confirms the fact that the metal was gold, while the Smith diary of the same date makes no such confirmation. This discrepancy could easily be accounted for. Smith probably wrote in his diary before Marshall returned, while Mr. Bigler made his entry after the arrival of the mill boss.

The diaries of Bigler and Smith and the New Helvetia Diary agree substantially with one another, and point clearly to the fact that January 24 must have been the date of that all-important event.

Since Mr. Hittell's investigations, significant evidence has come to light which has not hitherto been used, and which confirms his findings. In the Historian's Office of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Salt Lake City, is a manuscript biography of Albert and Azariah Smith, which was apparently written by the latter. This sets the date of discovery as January 24.

Still further, the golden jubilee of Marshall's discovery was fittingly celebrated in San Francisco on January 24, 1898. Honored guests of the occasion were the four surviving members of the group who were employed at the mill when the first flake was picked up. While these four men were in San Francisco, the Historical Committee of the Society of California Pioneers secured affidavits from these old gentlemen regarding the date of the gold discovery. The originals were deposited in the archives of the Society, but unfortunately were destroyed in the fire of 1906, along with much other valuable material. It was indeed fortunate that they had previously been published in the San Jose Pioneer, February 15, 1901, from which they are quoted.

"We, the undersigned, companions of James W. Marshall, and present at the Sutter Saw Mill at the time of the discovery of gold by Marshall, give this, as our full conviction, founded on memory and written data, that the exact date when the first piece of gold was then discovered was the 24th (twenty-fourth) day of January, 1848.

"I, the undersigned, hereby certify that on the said day the first particles of gold were picked up by Jas. W. Marshall in the mill race; that Henry N. Bigler took his diary from his pocket and remarked: 'I must make note of this, for it may be of some importance at some time.' This question of date was fully discussed and settled as the 24th day of January, 1848.

"James S. Brown

"Witness: Almarin B. Paul."

The certificate and seal of James C. King, notary public, are appended to the affidavits.

This second affidavit bears out the fact that Mr. Bigler carried out his habit of recording events when they happened. In April 1934, Mr. Adelbert Bigler, son of the diary keeper and at present a reporter of the Fourth Judicial District Court, Provo, Utah, stated to the writer that he distinctly remembers that his father always carried in his pocket a small notebook. It was his custom, wherever he might be, to jot down what he was doing, or what was happening. His son recalls having seen him do so many times. It is not at all unlikely that he made the above comment while recording the gold discovery on the spot. To Henry W. Bigler is accorded the honor of preserving for posterity January 24, 1848, as the exact date of the finding of that bit of precious metal.

(James Wilson Marshall, who discovered gold in California at Coloma, El Dorado County, January 24, 1848, was found dead in the bed of his cabin at Kelsey, El Dorado County, the morning of August 10, 1885,—fifty years ago—having passed quietly away during the night. He was buried August 12 by the Pioneer Society of El Dorado County and Placerville Parlor No. 9 N.S.G.W. on a knoll at Coloma overlooking the spot where he made his world-renowned gold find. Marshall was close to 75 years of age at the time of his demise, having been born in New Jersey, October 8, 1810. He arrived in California, at Sutter's Fort, in 1845.—Editor.)

TRI-COUNTY FIRE LOOKOUT.

Saint Helena (Napa County)—A new fire lookout station, built atop Mount Saint Helena by Sonoma, Lake and Napa Counties, was formally dedicated July 21. Situated at the extreme top of the mountain, the station commands a clear view of practically all of those counties and, as well, a view from the Pacific Ocean to the Sierra Nevada and from San Francisco Bay to the Siskiyou Mountains.

California had the lowest birth rate of any state in the union during 1934, according to the Federal Census Bureau.

CALIFORNIA PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL--- AMERICA'S EXPOSITION AT SAN DIEGO

Jack Adams

THE CALIFORNIA PACIFIC INTERnational Exposition at San Diego, California, celebrates four centuries of progress and achievement in the West. It marks a new era of prosperity so aptly expressed in such huge building programs as Boulder Dam, the Grand Coulee power and irrigation project, the San Francisco trans-bay bridges, the All-American Canal, and numerous other public and private works, with investments totaling billions of dollars.

This Exposition tells the story of mankind's restless urge toward achievement from the time the high-sterned galleons of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo sailed into San Diego Bay and claimed southern California for Spain through the present, and gives a glimpse into what the future promises. The Exposition grounds occupy more than three hundred acres in Balboa Park, famous as one of the five most beautiful parks in the world. In the center of San Diego, it covers an area of more than 1,400 acres, less than five minutes from all air, rail, bus and steamship terminals.

The Exposition section of the park is laid out in the form of the letter "S" extending from northeast to southwest. The amusement zone (El Zocalo) forms the top of the "S," the middle section is composed of exhibit palaces, and the lower portion is devoted to additional exhibit palaces and individual industrial buildings. Huge buses are available for tours of the grounds.

For natural beauty and colorful history, no better spot could be found than San Diego. Fra. Junipero Serra, who founded the chain of missions which extend, one day's journey apart, from San Diego in the south to Sonoma in the north, called it "the land of joyous aspect." Truly, it is that!

Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, a Portuguese sailor in a Spanish uniform, discovered these shores in 1542. Under direction of Serra and his brother monks, the Indians built the first irrigation ditch, the first impounding dam, the first town, the first school and the first church ever erected on these shores. Such illustrious names as Viscaino, Coronado and Portola are identified closely with San Diego's early history.

The Palace of Science is the tallest of the exhibit structures, rearing the jeweled California tower into the sky. This building houses such examples of the progress of man as ancient Peruvian surgery, a collection of 5,000 weapons gathered from every corner of the globe, the priceless Monte Alban jewel collection loaned by the Mexican government, and the newest marvels of modern telephony. The Palace of Foods and Beverages contains displays, exhibits and demonstrations of everything from the latest type of patented can opener to the most modern multi-operations bottling machines, and from apples to zweiback.

The Palace of Electricity and Varied Industries is devoted to exhibits of electrical machinery and devices. The Palace of Natural History contains 397,088 specimens of birds, fish, mammals, insects, reptiles and plants.

The Palace of Travel, Transportation and Water, through its animated exhibits and displays, tells a graphic story of the great strides made by transportation during the past 400 years, from the ox-cart to today's speedy methods of travel by land, water and air. The Palace of Better Housing, with its adjacent Federal Housing Administration exhibit, shows, in its scores of exhibits and displays, everything that has to do with the home and home ownership, from basement to attic. "Modeltown" and "Modernization Magic" show two phases of FHA work.

The Palace of Education is dedicated to modern scholastic training. The House of Charm is the center of style and domestic arts, containing everything that appeals to feminine taste and beauty. The Hollywood Motion Picture Hall of Fame features the story of the motion picture, graphically presented. Here actual talking pictures are made in full view of the audience.

The House of Hospitality is the meetingplace for out-of-state visitors to the Exposition, and the place where visiting dignitaries are entertained. The Press Building houses accommodations for representatives of newspapers, radio, newsreels, magazines and other channels of news dissemination.

Individual exhibitors, including the United States Government and the State of California, have spent millions for their participation in FREQUENT SCENE ON AVENIDA DE LOS PALACIOS, SHOWING CALIFORNIA TOWER IN BACKGROUND.

STROLLING TROUBADOURS PLAYING IN THE PATIO OF THE HOUSE OF HOSPITALITY.

All the permanent buildings of the exposition of 1915, of Spanish Renaissance and Spanish Colonial design, have been utilized as exhibit palaces in the 1935 Exposition. Added to them are many new structures, bringing the total number to more than one hundred. These new buildings combine the two oldest and most typically American schools of architecture, the ancient Mayan and Indian Pueblo. Little or no ornamentation is used on these buildings, the architects depending almost wholly upon native, living, blooming flowers and vines. With the arboreal and floral glory of the park generally, a breath-taking picture is presented to visitors.

An ideal place to live and thrive

AMERICA'S EXPOSITION has a major objective to all of us—permanent growth. Millions of visitors will sample our living conditions during the next few months—including low cost gas and electric service.

On March 1, this Company introduced new electric rate schedules which placed electricity cost in this territory "AMONG THE LOWEST IN THE NATION" (according to United States Government survey).

The San Diego Consolidated Gas & Electric Company has always contributed its share to community progress whenever called upon, and we feel that these new electric rates will stimulate community growth. In return we hope you will help us spread the good news of low gas and electric rates among our Exposition visitors.

America's Exposition will always be recognized as a monument to the united unselfish efforts of a progressive people—but the extent of permanent business stimulation, increased payrolls, etc., to be derived from the Exposition depends altogether on a continuation of mutual understanding and teamwork.

America's Exposition. The Federal Building cost $350,000 and contains exhibits of more than twenty government departments. The building, itself, is of unique Mayan design, said to be one of the finest of its type ever built. The California State Building, costing $90,000, provides display space for the counties of the state, and a huge exhibit of the state government showing the manifold products of California.

One of the most beautiful spots on the Exposition grounds is the reproduction, faithful in every detail, of the gardens of the Casa del Rey Moro, in Ronda, Spain. Another is a reproduction of a section of the gardens of the Alcazar in Seville, Spain. The California Gardens present a colorful array of native flowers, rock gardens and pools. Flowerland is a model garden spot in the Spanish Village.

Fronting the Botanical Gardens is the Laguna de Espejo (Mirror Lake), a pool which reflects the surrounding buildings by day and catches the soft hues of an electric fountain at night. This is one of the most photographed spots in California. All of Balboa Park is a riot of tropical and sub-tropical growth. Flora regarded as hothouse growth in many parts of the country here bloom openly.

Musically, America's Exposition presents a never-to-be forgotten picture. At the Organ Amphitheater is the most magnificent instrument of its kind in the world. Free concerts are presented here. Then there is the Ford Music Bowl, a huge amphitheater where daily symphonies, musicals, chorals, band concerts, ballets and stage presentations are offered.

America's Exposition strikes a new note in nocturnal beauty. Instead of the glaring brilliancy so marked at other expositions, the California Pacific International Exposition offers a night scene hitherto unrevealed. This is accomplished through use of color screens on concealed floodlights, cast against the exhibit palaces in such a manner as to accentuate their architectural perfection. Hundreds of other colored floods cast their soft rays against trees and shrubbery.

The Arco del Porvenir (Arch of the Future) dominates the Plaza del Pacifico in the heart of the grounds and midway between the eastern and western entrances on the Avenue of Palaces. Done in the stately Spanish Renaissance manner, it houses the central control of the public address system and floodlights with a total of 4,000,000 candlepower. Its decorative effect is enhanced by large reflecting pools on either side.

Gay, colorfully costumed senoritas and picturesque flower stands brighten the Plaza del Pacifico, where a typical Mexican flower mart presents one of the most delightful scenes on the grounds. Naturally, the Amusement Zone is brightly illuminated.

When the entire United States Fleet holds its second concentration here in August, the brilliance offered by the searchlights of the vessels sweeping the skies from San Diego Bay will make a superb illumination spectacle, combined with the World's Fair lights.

The House of Pacific Relations is the foreign colony participation of the Exposition. This is composed of fifteen hacienda-type cottages, with floral patios, surrounding a central court and pool. This section is dedicated to international peace and amity.

The picturesque architecture of Old Spain is reproduced faithfully in the Spanish Village. This covers an area of 90,000 square feet and contains numerous units. It is the largest village of its kind ever built for an exposition. Olive trees and colorful blooms add to the attractiveness of the scene.

Camp George H. Derby, at the northern end of the amusement zone, is a model army encampment. Here the Thirtieth U. S. Infantry rifle company and band are stationed and participate in a colorful retreat ceremony every evening at the Plaza del Pacifico. The camp, under the command of Capt. Thomas N. Stark, is open daily from 2 to 4 p.m.

One of the high spots of interest is the Exposition Zoological Gardens housing 2,500 animals, birds and reptiles. Many rare specimens are to be found here.

The Midway is a kaleidoscopic city of merry-making with a group of fun attractions gathered from all corners of the world. The Midway is 1,200 feet long and 350 feet deep, with a forty-foot promenade called "El Zocalo." The 2,400 feet of frontage presents every conceivable type of architecture.

Located just off the Plaza del Pacifico north of the California Tower is Shakespeare's Old Globe Theater, where brief versions of plays by the Bard of Avon are presented. The theater is a replica of the Globe Theater, founded in London in 1599, as near as documents warrant. In the plaza, and on the village green outside the theater, performances of old English country dances are presented free.

More than 150 Indians from thirty different North American tribes live in the Indian Village at the extreme northern end of the Exposition. Rug weaving, pottery, basketry, arrow-making, blanket-weaving and other arts in which the Redmen excel are indulged in. Well-known Indians who live here include Black Hawk, Watah Montezuma, Thunder Cloud, Willow Bird and Tat-Sum-Bo. Each of the following tribes is represented by men, women and children: Sioux, Pawnee, Cherokee, Ute, Modoc, Omaha, Navajo, Hopi, Apache, Iriquois, Pueblo, Zuni, Yakima, Ponca, Shasta, Shoshone, Winnebago, Mission and Osage.

Motorists driving to San Diego for America's Exposition will find ample accommodations in the city. Entrances to the Exposition are arranged to lead from main traffic arteries. Directional signs, illuminated at night, have been placed all over the West on principal highways. Signs throughout the city point the easiest routes to the Exposition area. Ample parking facilities have been arranged within easy access of the grounds.

ADMISSION DAY IN SAN DIEGO

(SAN DIEGO PARLOR N.S.G.W.)

CELEBRATION OF ADMISSION DAY, September 9, that will live long in the memories of those attending, is being planned for San Diego by San Diego Parlor No. 108 N.S.G.W. and San Diego Parlor No. 208 N.D.G.W. under the general chairmanship of Carl H. Heilbron, assisted by an executive committee composed of Henry U. Emery and Mrs. Fern F. Cummins, assistant general chairmen; Miss Marion S. Stough, secretary; Albert V. Mayrhofer, treasurer; the following chairmen of subcommittees: Judge Eugene Daney Jr., finance, Ed H. Dowell and Mrs. Sarah Miller, publicity, Stephen Dove, program, Joe Kelly and Mrs. Marie James, initiatory ceremonies; Dr. C. H. Henderson, Roby C. Jones, Wm. Clark, John P. Murphy, Judge Everett N. Curtis, Burt W. Pauter, Fred Vallejo, Mrs. Edith Barngrover, Miss Irma Heilbron, Mrs. Mabel Burgert, Mrs. Carl H. Heilbron and Miss Ann Wood.

The day will begin with a mammoth parade at 9:30, the first division to include units from the United States Army, Navy and Marine Corps, mounted official California Pacific International Exposition escort, distinguished guests in automobiles, marching bodies of Native Daughters and Native Sons of the Golden West, floats of various Parlors of both Orders and bands.

The second division will depict San Diego's part in the history of California from 1500 to 2000. The period up to 1542 will be shown by a group of Indians in the costume of that time and with primitive equipment. The Portuguese societies of San Diego will enter a float portraying the arrival of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, who was a native of Portugal.

Through the co-operation of Rt. Rev. Monseigneur John M. Hegarty V.F., dean of San Diego and Imperial Counties, Sir Albert V. Mayrhofer, Knight Commander of the Holy Sepulchur, and M. D. Goodbody, Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus of San Diego County, the Catholic societies of San Diego will enter a marching group representing the arrival of Fra. Junipero Serra and Gaspar de Portola.

Admiral W. T. Tarrant, Commandant of the Eleventh Naval District, has assured the committee that the fullest co-operation of the Navy could be depended upon, both in the military section and in the entrance of a float depicting the arrival of Commodore Stockton in San Diego Harbor in 1846 to take possession of San Diego and southern California in the name of the United States.

The Navy will also co-operate in the section of the parade which will portray the arrival of General Kearney with his troops, who were met at Warner's Ranch and escorted to San Diego by Lieutenant Beale and a detachment of sailors and marines from Commodore Stockton's ships, then in San Diego Harbor. In this section will also be depicted the arrival of the Mountain Men, the trappers and forty-niners. Under the capable direction of Chester Gunn and William Clark, with the co-operation of the Historical and Pioneer Societies and the oldtimers of San Diego County, this section should be outstanding.

A float picturing the future of California is being planned by San Diego Parlor of Native Daughters under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mabel Burgert. Floats showing other periods are yet to be assigned. Inspector Fred Vallejo of the California Highway Patrol is arranging for an escort of motorcycle officers, all Natives.

The parade will proceed to the Organ Pavilion in the Exposition grounds for a program of music and speaking. On this program will appear representatives of the Grand Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters, the Governor of California and the President of the United States. An interesting feature will be the flag raising ceremony presented by Albert V. Mayrhofer, raising the four flags that have flown over California—Spanish, Mexican, Bear and American.

Among those who have been named as honorary vice-chairmen are Percy J. Benbough, Mayor of the City of San Diego; Edgar F. Hastings, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of San Diego County; Frank G. Belcher, President of the California Pacific International Exposition; G. Aubrey Davidson, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Exposition; Admiral Senn, Naval attache to the California Pacific International Exposition; Admiral W. T. Tarrant, Commandant Eleventh Naval District; John Lawrence Fox, President of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce; Albert V. Mayrhofer, President of the California State Historical Association; Herman C. Lichtenberger, Past Grand President of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West; Grace Stoermer and Cora Sifford, Past Grand Presidents of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West; Don Stewart, Postmaster of the City of San Diego; Senator LeRoy A. Wright, President of the San Diego Historical Society; Mrs. Ella Harritt, President of the San Diego Pioneer Society; Mrs. Hazel Hansen and Mrs. Nellie Cline, Grand Trustees of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West; Judge Lawrence N. Turrentine, Judge Lloyd Griffin, Judge Eugene Daney Jr., Judge Joe Shell, Cave Couts, James Wood Coffroth, Allan H. Wright, Mrs. George W. Marston, Mrs. Marion Kettner, Virgil Bruschi, Edward L. Head, Judge Edgar A. Luce, Judge Everett Curtis, Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman, George Marston, and other prominent San Diegans of over fifty years residence. The Inter-Parlor Committee of the southern Parlors of Native Sons and Daughters is being asked to suggest other names for the list of honorary vice-chairmen and able speakers for the program.

Included in the plans of the committee is an initiatory ceremony for both the Order of Native Sons and Order of Native Daughters, and invitations will be extended to the various Parlors of southern California to furnish candidates.

The special attractions for Admission Day at the Exposition will include lectures on California in the House of Hospitality by Frederick Vining Fisher, and programs throughout the day in the State Building to be arranged by Adolph Muehleisen, Commissioner for the State of California in charge of the California Building at the Exposition, working in conjunction with representatives from all sections of the state.

It is not intended that this celebration should in any way conflict with the official Admission Day celebration at Stockton, but to all southern Californians who find it inconvenient to travel so far north is extended a cordial invitation to join with the Natives in San Diego for a due observance of California's natal day as a state of the Union, Admission Day, September 9, a legal holiday.

The California Dairy Council will meet in San Diego, August 12-14.

CALIFORNIA FIFTY YEARS AGO

AUGUST 1885 CAME IN WITH A BLISTERING norther that gave California the hottest nineteen days experienced since the days of '49. In some parts of the inland valleys the thermometer registered 115 degrees, and every part of the state, except the Sierra and the seashore, had above 100 degrees of heat. There was not a cloudy day during the month.

General U. S. Grant's funeral was held in New York City August 8, and the day was one of mourning throughout California.

Sonoma County had rival fairs, one opening at Santa Rosa August 18 and the other at Petaluma August 24. Santa Clara County had its first fruit fair, at San Jose, August 24, and there were more than 3,000 exhibits.

August 25, the fifteenth annual El Dorado County Fair opened at Placerville, and the sixth annual Third District Fair, embracing Butte, Colusa and Tehama Counties, opened at Chico.

August 31, the seventeenth annual Nevada County Fair opened at Grass Valley, and the Golden Gate Fair opened at Oakland, Alameda County.

The California National Guard had its annual encampment at Santa Cruz, commencing August 15. For the first time, the camp grounds were illuminated by electric lights and connected by telephone with the outside.

Grand Secretary Isaac L. Long was this month found to have embezzled $5,000 of the Order of Chosen Friends' funds.

Sacramento City celebrated August 31 the completion and opening of the new Clunie Theater.

Los Angeles County wineries were offering but $8 a ton for grapes.

Many acres of Santa Barbara County land were this season planted to English walnuts.

Hog cholera broke out in Napa and Merced Counties, and thousands of swine died.

The Digger Indians of Placer and adjacent counties had this month near Colfax a grasshopper feast lasting a week.

Staten Island was being reclaimed by the building of a twenty-six-mile levee around it.

The two-mile tunnel at Big Bend on the Feather River was nearing completion. It was designed to dry twelve miles of the river bed so that it could be mined.

A Los Angeles County landowner, sinking a well, found a deposit of asphaltum thirty-eight feet thick.

The Iron Mountain mine in Shasta County was sold for $200,000, and the Bonfield mine at Smith's Flat, El Dorado County, was sold for $30,000.

Frank Miller found August 27 in Auburn Ravine, near Ophir, Placer County, a gold nugget worth $260.

Ben Colvin uncovered on his Grass Valley, Nevada County, ranch a rich quartz ledge. Some of the milled rock yielded $155 in gold to the ton.

Placerville Parlor No. 9 N.S.G.W. celebrated with a grand ball August 6 its fourth institution anniversary. It was instituted by Grand President H. Clay Chipman, August 21, 1881.

The stage from Sonora, Tuolumne County, to Milton had its periodic holdup August 19 by a highwayman who took the express box.

The San Jose, Santa Clara County, Safe Deposit Bank of Savings was robbed August 12 of $10,000 in twenty-dollar gold pieces. A man purchasing a bill of exchange occupied the cashier's attention while a confederate made off with the tray of coin.

Frank Parker, Williams, Colusa County, farm hand, set fire to M. Potts' barn and nine horses were cremated. He stole eight other horses and was captured at Arbuckle while arranging to ship them by freight to San Francisco.

Horse thieves in San Benito County who sold their plunder in southern California were discovered rendezvouing in Cantua Canyon, once a hiding place of Joaquin Murietta. Officers this month captured several of the gang with a large number of stolen horses.

In San Francisco, Gaston, a Frenchman, quarreled with Hansberg, a German, over the Franco-Prussian war. A duel resulted, and was fought with rapiers in Marin County. The German was mortally wounded by the Frenchman, who then attacked the spectators, and they subdued his fury.

Judge T. B. Riordan died August 4 at Nevada City, Nevada County. He arrived there in 1849 and for more than a decade was a district judge.

SAN DIEGO

THE UNDERSIGNED CORDIALLY INVITE THE NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHTERS TO VISIT CALIFORNIA'S FIRST CITY AND THE CALIFORNIA PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

H. L. McCoy, sheriff of Yuba County for eight years, died at Marysville August 5. He came to California in 1850.

Berthold Hoen, pioneer Sonoma County vineyardist, died August 7 at Santa Rosa, which city he laid out in 1854. He also built the county's first winery.

Lewis Reynolds, private secretary to James G. Fair, died August 10 at Virginia City, Nevada State. He arrived in Sacramento City in 1849 and established there the first general merchandise store.

Helen Hunt-Jackson, author of the California novel, "Ramona," died August 12 at San Francisco.

Judge John C. Burch, elected to the Federal Congress from California in the '50s, died August 31 at San Francisco.

Fires took a heavy toll during August, among the most destructive being those at Markleville, Alpine County, and Placerville, El Dorado County, the 2nd; Oakdale, Stanislaus County, the 3rd; Calistoga, Napa County, the 14th, and San Luis Obispo City, the 17th.

Forest fires which broke out at Cedar Hill, El Dorado County, and in Packer Canyon, Sonoma County, did immense damage, and a big blaze in Topango Canyon of the Santa Monica Mountains for a week covered southern California with a canopy of smoke.

At Sonora, Tuolumne County, the flour mill of Bray Bros. burned August 6, and Jacob Bray, one of the owners, asleep in the mill, was cremated.

A Vallejo, Solano County, fisherman named Johnson fell from his boat August 4 and mired in the mud up to his waist. His yells for aid were unheard, and there he stuck until drowned by the rising tide which slowly engulfed him.

Charles Mosher, San Joaquin County farmer, August 4 was driving twenty-four mules hitched to a combined harvester. The team ran away, Mosher and several mules were killed and the harvester was demolished.

A Central Pacific freight train was wrecked near Summit, Placer County, August 10. A wrecking train, on its way to clear the track, struck a handcar near Emigrant Gap on which railroad workmen were riding, and G. W. Moore, Lewis Gregg and James Stevens were killed.

Daniel T. Mooney, driving in a carriage near Santa Monica, Los Angeles County, was killed August 17 by the accidental discharge of a revolver.

The British ship "Haddington" was wrecked August 20 near Point Reyes, Marin County. Eighteen of the crew were drowned and the $110,000 cargo of flour and canned salmon was lost.

J. G. Cavanagh, aged 80, quarreled August 14 with J. B. Hodgdon, aged 70, at Aqueduct City, Amador County, and the former stabbed the latter to death.

The engine of an East-bound Central Pacific passenger train was ditched August 21 near Cisco, Placer County, and Fireman A. J. Henderson was scalded to death.

In a fit of jealousy, Henry D. Benner August 11 killed Amanda M. Towne, cook at a Mad River, Humboldt County, lumber mill. While in custody of a constable, a vigilante posse of lumber jacks riddled his body with bullets.

James Markin and Thomas Flannigan began skylarking in a San Rafael, Marin County, saloon August 1. The latter became angry and stabbed the former, killing him instantly.

George Cobb, Newville, Colusa County, hotelkeeper, was August 20 abusing his wife and Hiram Green attempted to protect her. That ired Cobb, who got a rifle, and Green then armed himself. Cobb fired and missed, and Green then shot him dead.

M. J. Brundage found near Challenge, Yuba County, an oak tree two feet in diameter at its base. At a hight of fifteen feet it had two branches between which grew a cedar tree thirty feet high and fifteen inches in diameter at its base. Whether the cedar was a parasite or was rooted in the ground was not ascertained.

Two Colusa County farmers, getting drift wood off a Sacramento River island, split open a large log. It was hollow, and in the cavity they found a dead California lion. The animal was believed to have sought refuge there from flood waters that drowned the lion and carried the log upon the island.

The American Chemical Society will meet in San Francisco August 19-23.

FREDERICK LAW OLMSTED, PRESIDENT FIRST YOSEMITE VALLEY COMMISSION

May Stanislaus Corcoran

FREDERICK LAW OLMSTED HAS FLITted through California annals as a flash of light rather than what he really was —a definite historical character. The collection of forty-seven photographs of Las Mariposas presented by his sons to the California Historical Society in San Francisco a few years ago reawakened interest. These photographs were taken by C. E. Watkins in 1864 at the request of Olmsted and by him preserved in his Brookline, Massachusetts, office until returned to California in 1928. Many of them represent the accomplishments of his predecessor, John Charles Frémont, first manager of Las Mariposas. Both men were cultured friends of nature, writers, explorers, engineers and botanists. Frémont was military; Olmsted, a landscape gardener, was the first president of the Yosemite Valley Board of Commissioners and second occupant of the "White House" on Mount Bullion.

In the early sixties, stock excitement swept from Atlantic to Pacific. Gold on Las Mariposas seemed inexhaustible. The New York stock market was ready as ever. June 25, 1863, "The Mariposa Company" was organized in Wall street. Its paper capital amounted to $10,000,000, with a fair prospect of a still further increase. Frémont's name remained at the head of the board of directors, but he was away in the Civil War. The officers of the company were: James Hoy, president; Morris Ketchum, treasurer; George W. Farlee, secretary. To them fell the difficult task of selecting a manager for the vast estate. After a search of several weeks they offered the responsible position to Frederick Law Olmsted, of whom the secretary wrote: "For his fitness for the position we need say no more than refer the public to his great and enduring work of the Central Park, and his knowledge and widely extended reputation for integrity, ability, and remarkable administrative faculty."

August 10, 1863, Olmsted accepted the superintendency of the Mariposa Mining Estate in California. September 14, waving farewell to his family, he sailed on the "Champion" from New York Harbor, westward bound. October 11, he passed through the Golden Gate to the City of San Francisco, and from there, on the steamboat "Mariposa," wound through the tules of the San Joaquin in the shadow of Mount Diablo to the City of Stockton, Port of Safety for the Southern Mines. Dr. J. Ashburner and Professor W. P. Blake, two of the world's most competent engineers, geologists and mineralogists, were appointed advisors. Trenor W. Park, the well-known Californian representative, proved a valuable assistant in the stupendous undertaking.

As might be expected from a stock board, orders came to advance work on each of the twenty-seven large mines, all the small ones, to keep every mill in constant operation, and let no pause occur anywhere. "The water power of the Merced is abundant at all seasons of the year; and should fuel ever become scarce in the vicinity of the present steam mills, the Merced River can always be relied upon to furnish all power wanted for the reduction of ores." True to Nuestra Señora de la Merced then and now.

Olmsted, apparently for the good of the world, seemed to do exactly as he pleased. Congressional reports attest that he had the respect of the population, miners included. In the spring of 1864, when the world was gay with wildflowers, his family joined him in the "White House" on Mount Bullion. That same year an honorary M.A. degree from the Harvard University was conferred upon him on account of his work for the United States Sanitary Commission. Distinctly a landscape gardener, when the loveliness of the Valley of the Mariposa—with its moonlight rainbows and strangely Hawaiian charm—cast its spell over him, he yielded to the fascination and centered his attention on the mill and long tunnel.

He read, as you may read today,—for little has changed—the report of J. Adelburg, Ph.D., San Francisco, August 21, 1860. "27. The Great Mariposa Vein. The last and richest of all, is yet virgin, only the outcroppings are merely taken off, which have been worked by hand and arrastras." True then, the same statement was true in the twentieth century when the Mariposa paid the closing of the entire grant. In 1859 the Stockton Republican said: "Portions of the machinery for Frémont's new mill, in Mariposa County, continue to arrive from below, and are duly transported with one hundred stamps, and will be one of the largest in the state."

In the beauty of this mill, a photograph of which is among the collection of the California Historical Society, the personality of Frederick Law Olmsted is clearly discernable. Commenced by Colonel Frémont, Olmsted completed the structure. The interior was unique in galleries of most-rare woods, harmoniously designed. This did not interfere with the machinery, but did display the artist in the exquisite blending of highly polished oak and manzanita. Olmsted also constructed the long tunnel from mine to mill.

"The Mariposa Estate, its Past, Present and Future," which comprises the official report of J. Ross Browne, United States Commissioner, upon its mineral resources, transmitted to Congress March 5, 1868, by the Honorable Hugh McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, tells the story of Las Mariposas.

Yosemite called! Finding Mount Bullion too warm and too infested with grizzlies, the Olmsted family placed their camp in Yosemite. With Professor Brewer of the State Geological Survey and John Charles Olmsted, the manager made an exploring trip eastward through the high Sierra.

September 28, 1864, Governor Low issued the following official proclamation, in which is an item overlooked by many California historians:

"Whereas: The United States, by an Act passed at the first session of the Thirty-eighth Congress, has granted to this State the territory comprising the Yosemite Valley and the Mariposa Big Tree Grove, to be held and used for the purposes mentioned in said Act; and whereas, it is also provided in the Act that the management and control of tracts of land shall be confided to a Board of Commissioners to be appointed by the Governor. Now, therefore, be it known that FREDERICK F. LOW, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority in me vested, has appointed FRED LAW OLMSTED, PROF. J. D. WHITNEY, ALEXANDER DEERING, GEORGE COULTER and GALEN CLARK, said Commissioners to whom is confided the management of the aforesaid tracts of land. . . . All propositions for the improvement of the aforesaid tracts of land, or for leases, should be made to the Commissioners, through FRED LAW OLMSTED, Bear Valley, Mariposa County."

Through seven decades these words of Governor Low have appeared upon the statute books of California, and historical writers have passed them unnoticed. Olmsted was the first "President of the Commission," invested with all rights of Guardian. In his words, "In the performance of these duties I visited the Valley frequently, established a permanent camp in it and virtually acted as its superintendent." He continues:

"The distinctive charm of Yosemite does not depend, as it is a vulgar blunder to suppose, on the greatness of its walls and the length of its early summer cascades. It lies in the rare association with the grandeur of its rocky elements, of brooks flowing quietly through the ferny bosky glades of very beautifully disposed great bodies, groups and clusters of trees. In this respect its charm is greater than that of any other scenery that, with much searching, I have found. There is nothing in the least like it in the Canyon of the Colorado, sometimes foolishly compared with Yosemite. I felt the charm of Yosemite much more at the end of a week than at the end of a day, much more after six weeks when the cascades were nearly dry than after one week, and when, after having been in it off and on, several months, I was going out, I said, 'I have not yet half taken it in'."

In January 1865 Olmsted was appointed on the California Agricultural Fair governing board. In July of that year he became interested in planning grounds for the University of California. In September he advised concerning Golden Gate Park, and in November was officially selected to report a public plan to the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco.

Central Park, New York, was, however, wherever he went, the star he must follow. He resigned the management of Las Mariposas and, moving out of the state in the autumn of 1867, tendered his resignation as President of the Yosemite Valley Commission. He had held the office without a salary, at a cost to himself, a benefit to California and to the complete satisfaction of Governor Low. Again quoting from the Brookline, Massachusetts, letter: "Moving out of the state I presented my resignation to the office, which was accepted by the Governor with expressions of regret and gratitude." To fill the vacancy on the board, W. W. Cleveland of San Francisco was appointed.

The world-beloved Galen Clark, discoverer of the Mariposa Grove of Big Trees, succeeded Olmsted as Guardian of Yosemite. Las Mariposas still holds its wealth inexhaustible. Stock markets still hold headquarters in New York. But the landscape gardener's work reached into the infinite. And photographs of Las Mariposas in the California Historical Society rooms are still a historical study.

Homeless Children

A WORTHWHILE NON-SECTARIAN ENDEAVOR SPONSORED AND SUPPORTED BY THE ORDERS OF NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

AFTER YEARS OF CONCENTRATED effort in any line of work, vacations mean a change, new faces, new fields and rest. To one worker rest means quiet, to another physical activity, to all a chance to be alone, away from the problems of humanity.

Up in the foothills of Redwood City, California, there has been built a simple little home of wood. The roof peak touches the giant oaks; farther up, the sky is sunny and blue; half-way down the pretty geraniums peer over a window box, and at the base of this house the flowers grow in profusion, making a garden of friendship, because to this little garden, deserted as it is for weeks at a time, kind friends come and water and plant pansies here, nasturtiums there, zinnias on the terrace, snapdragons hiding a wall of stone, lavender waving over the birdbath and perfuming it. Sometimes a new tree, a tall and stately locust, or a grapevine, has greeted the tired worker's eye with each returning visit, and she at once is refreshed.

When vacation time comes, she has resolved to put from her mind all thought of her Homeless Children's work and everyone connected with it and to visit or to see no one for two whole weeks.

But when the soft wind blows over the hills at twilight after a warm day and happy folk from the valley below drive up around the hills to enjoy the panorama of Mount Hamilton on the south and Mount Diablo on the east, and the glistening bay in between, there comes to the ears of the occupants of the little brown house the noise of an announcing horn, and down the crooked brick path patter little feet, with their owner at times balancing like a tightrope walker and taking it quite as seriously, conscious of his bigness and his exploring of a new country, looking very wee as he is first silhouetted against the sky and later against the great trees.

Following the little man come the fond foster-parents and, often, his grandparents, too, a little concerned lest he fall, bursting with pride over the success of their experiment, marveling over his improvement under their love and guidance, and wondering if any parents ever before had been so blessed.

As they seat themselves inside and the few toys are brought out to keep the little ones occupied, all that is in these parents' warm hearts seems to pour from their lips as they earnestly tell of their great love for children and of their hopes and plans for their future. One is to be a doctor, another is to be a professor, another a mechanic because he seems so mechanical. The girls are to have musical advantages and college, to become wives and, best of all, mothers.

And when the sun goes down behind the dull dark-blue hills, and the pink glow lingers, and all go up the winding path, some of the older children stopping to ask for some special flower that they haven't in their own little gardens, the worker stands and waves farewell and a "Come Again," and the children wave back. And it IS a VACATION, after all!

An Orange County attraction will be the twenty-sixth annual Newport-Balboa Tournament of Light, August 1-0.

The San Mateo County National Horse Show opens for a week's run August 3 at Atherton.

The Stanislaus County Fair is billed for Turlock, August 5-10.

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

SHARKSKIN IN WHITE AND PASTEL hues is among the new fabrics for the popular slack suits. These suits have taken a definite place in the chic woman's wardrobe that marks them as more than just a fad. There is a time and a place when they seem just the thing and the only thing to wear. As a part of the vacation collection they will be found indispensable. For yachting moments they are great when worn with the necessary low-heeled, rubber-soled shoes. For any country wear later in the season they are handy for leisure hours around the house when someone may unexpectedly drop in at the cocktail hour. Sharkskin fabric is the most practical of any because it manages to look neat and pressed in spite of rough treatment.

The outfit may be varied with different tailored blouses, or a change of kerchiefs at the throat. One day try blue, and then pink or yellow, and so on. A hand-blocked kerchief is of silk in autumnal shades such as brown, orange, yellow or white. The jacket is of the gathered semi-sports variety so flattering to the figure. The patch pockets are slightly gathered, and the well-tailored slacks have cuffs at the bottom.

Snappy white clothes are the proper dress at this time. No matter what you have, you can not go wrong if you dress yourself in gleaming white. You will look as fresh as the morning breeze all the time. You will find linen suits with plenty of bright gilets and pullons very satisfactory. White wool coats will be comfortable over daytime clothes or evening toilettes. Berets worn with sun glasses will be much more satisfactory aboard ship than brimmed felts to protect eyes and coiffure.

Lace makes a chic, packable evening gown which is able to withstand salt air and dampness. Seersucker suggests an alternate dinner costume, which will be smart and practical. Sandar cloth is used for smart summer pumps that look divinely cool. They have long open spaces on the sides that are crossed with lattice-like braids of white kid, and there is a white ribbon bow at the toe; the heel is continental.

Cotton evening gowns are fashion's answer for the hot-weather wardrobe. Blues, crisp and cool, are to be seen at the smartest places these summer nights, worn by most discriminating debs.

Whether you like your dance frocks trim and tailored or billowing with fluffy ruffles, you may find your pet in cottons. There are, to begin with, the crisp organdies and organzas that have been the highlights of the season. They are in white and pastels, and are shown with grosgrain or velvet ribbon shoulder straps and skirts frothing into cascades of ruffles or pleated frills.

Organdie frocks of black and navy also are in the summer picture and are worn dramatically with brief frilly jackets or capes of white net.

The dotted swisses, as popular now as ever, are shown with off-the-shoulder capelet sleeves and lots of accordion pleated frills and babyish ribbon shoulder straps. They are seen in both light colors and in black, navy and brown with white dots.

The evening gown of white or dark pique also is having its inning, shown usually in tailored shirtwaist styles, with round collar, pleated bosom and buttons from neck to hem. A navy blue pique evening frock is one of the outstanding cottons seen. It is trimmed with white irish crochet buttons and belt, and is worn with a white pique mess-jacket.

For the heavier woman or one who considers herself a bit matronly, shirtmaker dresses, so smart just now, are out of the question, but I saw one the other day in a downtown shop that was made especially for such a person. It was of white crepe with a matching jacket. The dress was short sleeved and had tiny horizontal tucks set in the front, at the cuffs and on the collar. It had a "V" neck, and fastened with four big pearl buttons down the front. The hip-length jacket hung straight and the sleeves were long.

Another heavy white crepe tailored suit has, for a change, an edging all around the jacket and at the pockets of navy blue with little white polka dots. You may fill in the neck with a matching scarf and wear white accessories. This is just the thing for gadding about the resorts.

Dark cotton dresses, which have a town-minded dash about them, are coming along famously for the mid-summer season, both in one-piece and in jacket-dress designs. They are on the scene all day and far into the night.

The smartest luncheon spots as well as the busiest offices are all peopled by cool appearing women, decked out in sweet washable outfits. There are smart blouses of every description. When it is a suit year, you are bound to see blouses blossoming in new colors, fabrics and styles.

Your present wardrobe includes, at least, one suit in tweeds, men's fabrics, linen or cotton. Your next move is to get several blouses to give variety and chic. If you need a dressy blouse for smart occasions, you cannot do better than to select one of angel skin lace with a soft yoke in front and short cap sleeves. They are attractive in beige, white or pink. For all sports occasions you will be a dashing picture in a new fishnet scarf, which may be tied a dozen ways. It is made of a square of knotted strings and comes in navy, red, turquoise, pink, green or white.

This is a white shoe season. In addition to the old familiar pump of white buck, with toes and quarters and heels of brown, blue or black kid, we have monks' sandals, ghillies, dancing sandals and what-not, all boasting a white base. There is no doubt about it, the clever color trim on a plain white shoe can make the foot look far more delicate than ever a plain white shoe could.

A dresden satin sandal is designed to complement chiffon gowns and is cut out so that it looks especially summery. We have the pump which covers the toes and very little else of the foot, made of linen bands. One may buy these in white, to be dyed to match any of the season's colors. The strapped sandal is a popular model for general wear in almost any color, and when designed in metal kid is a favorite with some dancers of the evening. We always have a dressy oxford, which ensembles smartly with street clothes.

LIVERMORE VALLEY ORIGINALLY KNOWN AS "VALLE DE SAN JOSE."

"That the Livermore Valley" of Alameda County, says the Livermore Herald, "was once the 'Valle de San Jose' is the surprising and interesting information contained in the latest addition to the recorded history of the valley, a photostatic copy of a map in the Bancroft Library of the University of California, secured by Dr. Chesley Bush of" Las Positas Parlor No. 96 N.S.G.W.

"The map was drawn in 1824 and although without any marking to indicate by whom it was drawn, was evidently to show the territory under jurisdiction of Mission San Jose. There are no accompanying papers to give further information on the map.

"It designates the present Livermore Valley as 'Valle de San Jose' and indicates three villages of Christian Indians in the northern part, apparently along Las Positas Creek. One village is shown near where Pleasanton is now located. The hills and mountains around the valley are designated as 'Sierra.' No roads or trails are indicated.

"The territory covered extends northward to include most of the delta country, where the Indians had not been Christianized, according to the designations of their villages on the map, and south to Santa Clara. With the map was a pen and ink drawing of the altar in the original church at Mission San Jose, a splendid piece of work indicating a very elaborate altar."

STATE'S POPULATION ESTIMATED.

Sacramento City—Based on average daily attendance of public schools students, the State Education Department estimates California's population to be 5,837,003, an increase of 159,752 compared with the 1930 census. According to the survey, about 40 percent of the state's population, 2,307,904 people, reside in the southern California area.

The Dahlia Society of California will have its twentieth annual show in San Francisco, August 29 and 30.

Lakeport, Lake County, will present August 31-September 2 a program of water sports and rodeo.

Enthusiastic Admission Day Committee.

Oakland—At public ceremonies July 9 attended by more than 200, officers of Aloha No. 106 and Athens No. 195 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed. Deputy Florence Shapero officiated for the former, Johnina Lindblad becoming president. Martha Murray received a past president emblem at the hands of Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, and Chairman Grace DuPont, Gladys Farley and Jennie Peterson presented gifts to President Lindblad, Grand Secretary Thaler, Grand Marshal Ethel Begley, Juanita de Romo, Ruth Leonard and Ellen Hitch. On behalf of Athens, C. J. Hearn presented a boquet of beautiful roses to President Lindblad. Dancing and refreshments concluded the installation ceremonies.

Aloha's Admission Day committee is actively engaged in raising funds for costumes to be worn by the members in the Stockton parade September 9. Alma Lilienthal is chairman of the enthusiastic committee, which includes Jennie Peterson, Juanita de Romo, Grace DuPont, Gladys Farley, Caroline Schulze, Irene Madden, Martha Watson, Ruth Trestler, President Johnina Lindblad and Martha Murray.

Boy Scouts Will Get State Flag.

Chico—Officers of Annie K. Bidwell No. 168, with Ellen Crowder as president, were installed by Deputy May Belle Bills July 11. Large baskets of summer flowers were used in the decorations. Ieel Snyder, retiring president, Mary Wesbrook, Evelyn Boyd, Elsie Hume Mann and Deputy Bills were presented with gifts. Refreshments were served.

The Parlor will present a large California State (Bear) Flag to the newly organized Camp Lassen troop of Boy Scouts of America. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Eames welcomed members of No. 168 at their Butte Meadows summer home June 23. An abundant luncheon was served, and a variety of diversions occupied the guests' attention throughout the afternoon.

Anniversary Celebrated at Picnic.

Placentia—Grace No. 242 celebrated its seventh institution anniversary with a picnic at Irvine Park the evening of June 28. A fine program was a special feature, and dancing was enjoyed. The committee in charge included Rena Johnson, Lena Aspden and Dora Trendle. A prettily decorated car entered by the Parlor won third prize in the Fullerton Valencia Festival.

Supervising Deputy Helen Anderson, accompanied by several members, assisted July 17 at the installation of officers of Lugonia No. 241 (San Bernardino) in the Native Sons clubhouse at Crestline. The Parlor held a dance July 20, with Christine Dunham as general chairman. Officers of Grace, with Rebecca Hasson as president, will be installed August 1.

Recesses for Summer.

Hollister—Copa de Oro No. 105 featured past presidents night June 27, when former leaders were honored and filled the several stations. In memory of those deceased, a brief memorial ceremony was conducted, and a short eulogy was delivered by Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs.

July 11, the final meeting preceding the summer recess which will last until September 12, the Parlor honored members whose birthdays occur in May, June and July. At the business session's close adjournment was made to the attractive garden of Edna Hansen, hostess of the evening, where refreshments were enjoyed.

Evening Picnic Happy Success.

San Jose—Verna Steiner became the president of Vendome No. 100 July 24, when officers were installed by Deputy Genevieve Epler. There was a large attendance. Arrangements were in charge of Etta Waddington-Smith, Marie Buck, Deputy Alice Roll and the vice-presidents. The monthly afternoon card party was in charge of Martha Waddington.

The Parlor enjoyed an early evening picnic during July in Alum Rock Park. The social features after dinner were hiking, and bridge in the cabin presented by Vendome to the Park Commission as a memorial to the California Pioneers. The cabin has recently been renovated by the Parlor, and the commission installed a new fireplace. The picnic was such a happy success another will be held in late summer. A large class of candidates will be initiated by Vendome in October.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Napa—July 22, the forty-eighth anniversary of its institution, Eshcol No. 16 entertained the charter members. At the First Grand Parlor of the Order, Eshcol was represented by Grand Inside Sentinel Kate Even-Stewart, still a member of the Parlor. With Deputy Bretta Lundell officiating, officers of No. 16 were installed July 29. A pleasant evening is looked forward to August 12, when Grand President Anna C. Thuesen will pay her official visit.

Santa Cruz—The float of Santa Cruz No. 26 won first prize in the Independence Day parade. It was decorated in golden ribbons, poppies and butterflies, and featured a California bear. The members, attired in white gowns with red polkadots, carried golden bordered parasols.

Ione—A monument to the Pioneers of Ione and vicinity, sponsored by Chispa No. 40, was dedicated July 21. Allen Martin was master of ceremonies. The monument was unveiled by President Myrtle Tonzi and First Vice-president Pauline Ringer, and the dedicatory address was delivered by Past Grand Gladys E. Noce. Past Grand Clarence E. Jarvis of the Native Sons was a speaker.

Sonora—Mrs. Carmen Heither, affiliated with Dardanelle No. 66, was 82 years of age July 16. Members of the Parlor called at her home, extended best wishes and presented her with gifts.

San Jose—San Jose No. 81 received Deputy Alice Roll, Supervising Deputy Clara Briggs and Grand Trustee Clara Gairaud July 17. All officers, with Ruth Ross as president, have been

STOCKTON NO. 7 IS MAKING GOOD progress in its plans for the statewide Admission Day celebration in the San Joaquin County government-seat September 7, 8 and 9. Ray Friedberger is the chairman of the general committee, and John R. Williams the secretary. Chairmen of subcommittees in charge of details include Law T. Freitas, Ben Waller, C. P. Rendon, W. A. Strong, Dave S. Matthews, Harry Herrmann, Ralph Mitcher, Guard Darrah, W. R. Ruggles, Fred Johnson, Julius Gaedtke and Past Grand Hubert R. McNoble. Featured events on the three-day program are:

Saturday, September 7—In the evening, N.S.G.W. group initiation of northern California Parlors, the grand officers exemplifying the ritual.

Sunday, September 8—In the morning, contests of N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. drill teams and drum corps. In the afternoon, baseball contests between visiting teams.

Monday, September 9—Admission Day parade, directed by Grand Marshal Walter P. Rothenbush, 11 a.m. N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Parlors from all sections of the state will participate in what promises to be a very large and exceptionally colorful parade.

The Grand Parlor Transportation and Mileage Committee—Joseph Berry (chairman), Louis F. Erb and Wesley Colgan—has arranged with the railroads for low round-trip fares from various points in California to Stockton. The rates are open to all persons.

CABRILLO?

Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo was the first White man to view Alta California and to land upon its soil. Born in Portugal, he was a mariner in the service of Spain. He headed an expedition which, September 28, 1542, entered San Diego (originally named San Miguel) Bay.

Grand Parlor History Committee.

A meeting of the Grand Parlor History Committee—Frank C. Merritt (chairman), Peter T. Conmy (secretary), Charles R. Boden, Past Grands Edward J. Lynch and Fletcher A. Cutler, and Grand Historian Rev. Thos. J. McKeon—was held in the office of Professor Herbert E. Bolton at the University of California, June 17. The purpose was to appoint history fellows for the school year 1935-36 and to present Resolution No. 12, adopted at the Vallejo Grand Parlor, to the University. This resolution called on the History Committee to petition the University to have one of the history fellows write a complete history of the Bear Flag Party.

John Hussey, a graduate student at the University, was nominated by Dr. Bolton to perform this service as Resident Fellow 1935-36 at $500. The nomination was approved by the committee and sent to the president of the University, who has made the appointment. John H. Kemble who, during the past year, has been writing a history of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, was appointed Traveling Fellow at $500. He is going East to secure documents which are not available in California. On completion of Kemble's work, a complete history of the first and greatest trading concern which functioned in the early days will be available.—P.J.C.

Correction.

In the account of the June 8 meeting of the Board of Grand Officers which appeared in The Grizzly Bear for July 1935, was a notation, "membership in the California State Historical Association was voted." That was an error; membership was taken in the California Historical Society.—Editor.

Looking Back Fifty Years.

August 15, 1885, at Redwood City, San Mateo County, Redwood No. 66 was instituted by Grand Vice-president Charles W. Decker with eighteen charter members. E. A. Eikerenkotter was the first president, and Harry Jacobson the first secretary.

Sheriff's Posse Supper During Fiesta.

Santa Barbara—Santa Barbara No. 116 had its annual barbecue July 14 at Stow's ranch, Goleta. The affair was a wonderful success, more than 300 being in attendance. Following the feast of barbecued chicken, the "White House" group rendered vocal selections, M. Van Renssalaer gave an interesting talk on California trees, and President Al Kingwell delivered a welcome address. Dancing and games followed the program. Frank Castro, general chairman, was assisted by Wm. McCaffrey, Harry Sweetser, James Sloan, District Deputy A. C. Dinsmore, Leland Holiday, Gus Janssens and C. D. Livermore.

The Parlor plans another successful sheriff's posse supper during the Old Spanish Days Fiesta in Santa Barbara. This supper is given in honor of Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz and posse of Los Angeles County who annually come to Santa Barbara as the guests of No. 116 to ride in the fiesta parade. This group is one of the most distinctive and outstanding attractions in the whole lineup.

Co-chairmen Harry Sweetser and A. C. Dinsmore of the Parlor's fiesta committee are arranging to hold the supper at El Mirasol hotel, where a spanish meal will be served at 6 p.m. Available tickets are limited in number. Other members of the committee are C. W. McCormick, A. J. Janssens, Leland Holiday, John Arroqui, James Sloan, Frank Castro and Joe Baggio.

Grand Trustee Visits.

During July, Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven officially visited the following Subordinate Parlors of his visiting district: Watsonville No. 65, 17th; El Dorado No. 52 (San Francisco), 18th; Santa Cruz No. 90, 19th.

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

"The Native Sons and Daughters of Humboldt County, together with the Arcata Chamber of Commerce, are arranging for a full and complete observance of Admission Day, September 7, 8 and 9, at Arcata."—[This information came to The Grizzly Bear from a Native Daughter of Eureka.—Editor].

Stockton—Officers of Stockton No. 7, with Al Buckle as president, were installed July 1 by District Deputy Herbert Osterman. On behalf of Stockton No. 256 N.D.G.W., President Alvira Sanguinetti presented the Parlor with United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags.

Placerville—Officers of Placerville No. 9 and Marguerite No. 12 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed July 9, Harry S. Brown and Wilma Berriman becoming the respective presidents. A program was presented and refreshments were served.

San Jose—Fred L. Thomas of San Jose No. 22, district attorney Santa Clara County, was elected president of the District Attorneys Association of California at the Santa Monica convention.

No applications, no new members to fill the ranks. And California needs more Native Sons! Today's responsibility of every member of the Order is to contact eligibles. Don't leave this important duty for "George" to perform.

Gridley—Past Grand Seth Millington of Colusa No. 69 was recently severely burned by blazing tar while assisting his sons repair a boat. He is now well on the way to recovery.

Vallejo—Vallejo No. 77 initiated a class of candidates July 9, the ritual being exemplified by a team from Fruitvale No. 252 (Oakland), headed by Grand Trustee Edward T. Schnarr. Officers of the Parlor were installed July 17, C. L. Miner becoming president. W. J. Tormey, T. J. O'Hara and Joe Clavo have been named a committee to arrange for the celebration of Vallejo's fiftieth institution anniversary next March.

Weaverville—In the Fourth of July parade, Mount Bally No. 87 and Eltapome No. 55 N.D.G.W. were represented by a float that was awarded first prize. The float, designed to bring before the public the homeless children work of both Orders, was a huge basinet banked with flowers. Three small girls and two small boys rode, one in the basinet and the others sitting on pillows upon the floor.

Ferndale—Officers of Ferndale No. 93, with R. Z. Boynton as president, were installed July 15 by District Deputy Fred Nicholsen. A past president ring was presented O. A. Bartlett. Plans were discussed for the county-wide picnic in Rohner Park, August 18, under the auspices of the Humboldt County Native Sons, with the Native Daughters of the county as guests. At the meeting's conclusion refreshments were enjoyed.

San Bernardino—The annual Fourth of July barbecue of Arrowhead No. 110 at its Crestline clubhouse in the San Bernardino Mountains was largely attended and a complete success in all particulars. July 24, the Parlor observed its forty-eighth institution anniversary. It was instituted July 20, 1887, with twenty-six members. Dwight W. Fox was the first president, and George L. Bryant the first secretary.

There are thousands of fine eligibles just waiting to be extended an invitation to affiliate with the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. Be a recruiter—extend the invitation today, not tomorrow!

Hayward—District Deputy Allen G. Norris installed the officers of Eden No. 113, July 9, and in the course of an address highly complimented the Parlor on its accomplishments. Ruel Lucas is the new president. F. B. Leonard, chairman of the evening, presented a past president emblem to Jesse Ramos. Members of Hayward No. 122 N.D.G.W. were in attendance, and at the conclusion of the ceremonies dancing and

THE VALUE OF THE NATIVE SONS FELLOWSHIPS IN HISTORY

(REV. THOMAS J. McKEON,
Grand Historian N.S.G.W.)

AT THE N.S.G.W. GRAND PARLOR IN Vallejo, one of the delegates who opposed the usual appropriation for the History Fellowships did a very good work. His opposition prevented the voting of the scholarship fund from being a mere perfunctory act on the part of the Grand Parlor, but a reasoned, worked-out decision on the part of the individual delegates to continue this splendid generosity to further the history of California.

To conclude that, because we have several sets of histories on California, the history of the state has been written and that nothing remains to be done, is to forget that historians would be the first to tell their readers, if they thought it were not taken for granted, that they have not completely covered the ground, that many doubtful points were solved by ignoring them completely, and that many gaps in the records had to be bridged by clever generalizations. Any serious student of history knows these things. And any one who would stop to think a bit, would be quick to realize that they needs must be so, especially in the history of California, because so many of the necessary documents are not in the state, but in the archives of Europe, Mexico and the East.

Twenty years ago, it was written that Kino, the remarkable explorer of the Jesuits, was a German, and a series of articles were written on that assumption. Dr. Bolton now shows he was an Italian, Eusebio Chino, born in Segno near Trent in northern Italy, educated in Germany, missionary to the Pimas and explorer extraordinary. Dr. Bolton found his facts in Europe.

It was thought for some years that Eldridge's "Beginnings of San Francisco" was the last word on the subject because he used much untouched material in the Bancroft Library. But in editing his "Anza's Explorations," Dr. Bolton again shows the value of checking assumptions by the documents, and he corrects Eldridge on important as well as on minor points.

Last year, the Nueva California Press issued "The Founding of the First California Missions" by Douglas Watson. In this book were printed some letters, never before published, which cleared up some points in the very early history of California and made obvious some matters in Father Serra's coming to California which the Rev. Zepherin Englehardt, the historian of the missions, admitted were baffling and obscure. Now, thanks to the "Watson" letters, the record is satisfactory.

In "Polk, the Diary of a President," edited by Allen Nevins, we read (page 22): "I held a confidential conversation with Lieut. Gillespie of the Marine Corps . . . on the secret mission on which he was about to go to California. His secret instructions and the letter to Mr. Larkin, United States Counsel at Monterey, in the Dept. of State, will explain the object of his mission." Yet this same Allen Nevins, in his "Fremont," when he goes into a detailed study of Lieut. Gillespie's conversations with Col. Fremont, does not show that he had seen the files of the Department of State at Washington, and is full of surmises about the purport of the "secret instructions." Further, he does not seem to know of what W. F. Swasey, the consular secretary to Larkin at Monterey, says in his "Early Days and Men of California" about a confidential letter given Larkin by Lieut. Gillespie from Secretary of State Buchanan, read to Swasey and destroyed. The purport of this letter, as given by Swasey, would indicate what Lieut. Gillespie told Fremont. And, likely enough, the beginnings of the Bear Flag Party will not be clear until these points are worked out.

These are but a few instances which come to mind to show what research in our own day has done, or could do, to increase our knowledge of the history of California. The Native Sons of the Golden West, therefore, are living up to the finest traditions of the Order in continuing these History Fellowships.

refreshments were in order. The married and the single men of Eden had their annual baseball contest July 6, and the former went down to defeat, score 7 to 3.

San Jose—Observatory No. 177 has presented United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags to the courts of Santa Clara County to replace those presented in 1928 that were destroyed in the Court House fire of 1931. The committee in charge included Ronald G. Stewart, Kenneth R. Malovos and R. K. O'Neil.

Oakland—Athens No. 195 held its annual picnic at Bjornsen Park July 7. Active in charge of arrangements were F. Trestler, H. Farley and C. Hearn. The Parlor's new corps of officers is headed by F. Trestler, president.

No applications, no new members to fill the ranks. And California needs more Native Sons! Today's responsibility of every member of the Order is to contact eligibles. Don't leave this important duty for "George" to perform.

San Diego—Chairman Joseph C. Kelley of San Diego No. 208's membership committee has sent this message to every member of the Parlor: "We must make this our banner year. The Order is looking forward for an increased membership. Let everyone give his very best efforts for just one year and marvelous results will be obtained." Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer is chairman of the committee arranging for the dedication, September 28, of the Cabrillo monument. At that time, too, it is planned to have an outdoor group initiation of the southern Parlors.

Sutter—The picnic of Sutter No. 261 near Nicolaus June 30 was highly successful. A complete program of sports ended with dancing in the evening.

A LIFE

(OWEN S. ADAMS.)

I want to live in the dizzy whirl
Of social life and get the thrill
Of being on top, so if I stop
This life of haze and doubt
I can remember long tear and song
And know that I knew
What life was about.

I want to be in the political world
And climb the last rung and get the last pearl
And scheme and promise something new
And always act as officials do,
So when I go to the other sphere
I can look back o'er things done here
Whether real or false sane or queer.

I want the money of the rich
And feel the banker's and miser's itch
And have the joy of wealth and power
And even feel the envious glower,
So when I enter the life to come
I can think back o'er the film that's run
And laugh and laugh at all the fun.

I'd like to live the beggar's life
And know his aches and feel his strife
And feel the worry of being poor
And down and out and even more
So, when I go to the land above
The world of peace and lasting love
I can tell them of the life before.

I want to do most everything
To hear both Satan and Angels sing,
To taste the bitter and eat the sweet
Live in mansion and walk the street,
So when I go to the other side
I can strut and strut and say with pride
That I lived a LIFE before I died.

(The above lines came to The Grizzly Bear from Owen S. Adams of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. with the notation "They are different from the usual 'mission, padre, western gold' contributions."—Editor.)

RAPPING LOBBYISTS AND THEIR EMployers, Franklin Hichborn, in an address before the Commonwealth Club of California, July 5, declared: "The public enemies you and I have to fear are the employers of the type of lobbyist we have in Washington and Sacramento. They are public enemies number 1 and number 2." Referring to the California State Legislature, he said:

"The Constitution provides that no claim against the state shall be created without express authority of law, and that any contract or agreement purporting to create such a claim shall be null and void. That rule has been evaded by subterfuge. Literally millions of dollars of unauthorized claims have been paid in this way.

"What shall we do about it?," he queried. "First, we should make the Legislature nonpartisan in name as well as in fact. . . . We should replace our outworn Legislature with a one-house legislature of not more than forty members . . . meeting in continuous session and devoting all their time to state business. The lobby as it has developed should be discouraged by public opinion and by definite laws against reprehensible lobbying, protecting always the citizen's right to petition. Interference with the election of legislators by powerfully financed groups should be prevented by a purity of election law."

RECEPTION FOR N.D. GRAND PRESIDENT.

Mrs. Anna C. Thuesen, Grand President N.D.G.W., was tendered a reception and luncheon by the San Francisco County deputies the afternoon of July 13. On behalf of the deputies, Supervising Deputy Nan Kelly presented a beautiful gift to the Grand President, who expressed appreciation for the thoughtfulness of this group of her official family and outlined a constructive program for her term.

In attendance were Deputies Rose Campi, Emily Taylor, Georgia Thierbach, Juanita Blanchfield, Ruth Koehler, Irene Milan, Gertrude Collins, Tessie Pearce, Ruby Bried, Nora Scheflin, Rena Taube, Helen Mann, Agnes Curry, Margaret Barrett, Anita Johnson, Genevieve Martell, Margaret Kane, Mona Theisen, Mae Waring, Mary Vogt, Charlotte Higginbotham, Gertrude LaFortune, Loretta Cameron, Mazie Roderick, Ellen Gouch, Ida Mesquite, Alma Hall, Kay Jensen, Mae McCarthy, Gertrude Maruno and Emily Ryan.

BANK IN STRONG POSITION.

Further gains in deposits, earnings and liquidity are reported by The San Francisco Bank in its semi-annual statement. From the standpoint of liquidity the bank is in especially strong position, having cash, United States Government and municipal bonds of $93,777,892, as against deposits of $154,803,474. Loans on real estate total $68,489,063.

Deposits have risen $1,392,729 from the December 31, 1934, figure. The bank reports cash on hand of $18,353,559. Holdings of United States Government securities have increased to $52,404,186 as against $45,684,295 at the beginning of the year, and $36,526,166 a year ago. Portfolio of municipal securities, however, has been reduced to $23,020,146 from the year-end total of $32,555,027.

Reserves and undivided profits now total $4,157,383, as against $4,064,842 at the beginning of the year; in addition, $187,500 has been set aside as a reserve for taxes, etc.

NOTABLE EVENT.

At joint ceremonies conducted July 18 by Deputies Mae McCarthy and Emily Ryan, officers of Genevieve Parlor No. 132 and Utopia Parlor No. 252 N.D.G.W. were publicly installed. Assisting the deputies were Grand Marshal Ethel Begley, Grand Inside Sentinel Claire Lindsey, Grand Trustees Orinda Giannini and Alice Lane, Past Grand Mae Himes Noonan, Agnes Curry, Juanita Blanchfield, Frances Lewis, Mary Fitzgerald, Emma Mathewson, Eugenia Mabley and Vera Lawless Shea.

The unique attraction of the ceremony was sisters becoming presidents of the Parlors, Carolyn Lawless heading Genevieve and Ursula Lawless heading Utopia. Five of the Lawless sisters are affiliated with Genevieve, and the sixth is a charter member of Utopia. The officers-elect of both Parlors were attired in organdie formal gowns of pastel shades and carried old-fashioned boquets. Ruby Bried and Nora Scheflin sang the installation odes.

Grand President Anna C. Thuesen was honorguest of the evening, and among the many others in attendance were Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson, the "mother" of Utopia, and Past Grand Margaret Hill. Gifts were presented Mrs. Thuesen, Deputies McCarthy and Ryan, Past Presidents Catherine Askew of Utopia and Eugenia Mabley of Genevieve. On behalf of Genevieve's drum corps, Marshal Gladys McQueen presented a merchandise order to Rena Taube, in appreciation for her untiring efforts in behalf of the corps. Refreshments and dancing concluded the outstanding event.

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

Officers of Stanford Parlor No. 76 were publicly installed July 13, Edward Charles Neely becoming president. Dancing and refreshments followed the ceremonies. Urban Morf was chairman of the evening.

James Hugh Donohoe, a charter member of Sequoia Parlor No. 160, died July 7, survived by a wife and three children. He was born at San Francisco, November 17, 1867.

Officers of Presidio Parlor No. 194 and Presidio Parlor No. 148 N.D.G.W. will be jointly installed at public ceremonies August 5. Presidio No. 194 will feature a Cabrillo and California history night September 30. Grand Historian Rev. Thos. J. McKeon will deliver the principal address. Peter T. Conmy is in charge of arrangements.

Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, Junior Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Joseph Rose (Marshall Parlor No. 202), Edward J. Wren and Frank M. Buckley (National Parlor No. 118) and their families left July 11 for their annual outing along the Redwood highway.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

An Extension of the Order Committee, composed of two representatives of each of the San Francisco Parlors, has been formed. Officers are: Helen T. Mann, chairman; Agnes Curry, secretary; Emily Ryan, assistant secretary; May Warring, treasurer; May McDonald, guard; Lillian Wales, organist. Chairmen of subcommittees include: Past Grand Eliza D. Keith, California history; Loretta Cameron, ways and means; Vera Thompson, publicity.

Alta Parlor No. 3 sponsored a banquet, June 29, complimentary to its honored member, Grand President Anna C. Thuesen. Thirty-five Parlors of the bay district were represented. In response to her introduction, Mrs. Thuesen called on all Native Daughters to work with her for the honor and the glory of the Order. Among the other speakers were Founder Lily O. Reichling-Dyer, Past Grands Eliza Keith, Margaret Hill, Emma Foley and Mae Boldemann, and Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler.

Genevieve Parlor No. 132's drum corps had a birthday dinner June 27 for Frances Feudner and Rena Taube. The corps accepted an invitation from the Noe Valley Improvement Club to parade July 28. Plans are under way for a dutch whist during August.

At a public ceremony July 13, Miss Anita Jebe became president of Dolores Parlor No. 169. The officers, attired in cotton formals and carrying shower boquets of sweetpeas, were installed by Deputy Ruby Bried. The new president extended a welcome and pledged service. Ethel Dethlefson, accompanied by Betty Marquis, rendered a vocal selection, and Deputy Bried was presented with a gift. Among the guests were Grand Marshal Ethel Begley, Grand Trustee Orinda Giannini, Past Grand Mae Boldemann, and twelve deputies. Past Grand Evelyn Carlson was chairman of the occasion. Dancing concluded the ceremonies. July 10, Delegates Hazel Nelson, Ada Saunders and Juanita Blanchfield were guests at a surprise party. Ida Corrigan was chairman, and presented gifts to the two new deputies, Alma Hall and Juanita Blanchfield.

In the presence of many friends, officers of Castro Parlor No. 178 were publicly installed July 17 by Deputy Agnes M. Curry, Edna Baldwin becoming president. Grand President Anna C. Thuesen was among the honored guests. Several presentations were made, among them an emblematic bracelet to Past President Paula Hilzinger. Dancing concluded the evening's festivities. August 3, at the Native Daughters Home, a reception will be tendered Grand Trustee Alice M. Lane, a member of Castro. August 21, the Parlor will initiate a class of candidates.

The Humboldt County Fair is to be held at Ferndale, August 21-25.

DEATH REVISITS HOME N.D. PAST GRAND.

Berkeley (Alameda County)—Death again visited the home of Miss Sue J. Irwin, Past Grand President N.D.G.W., and July 11 removed her father, Joseph I. Irwin. He was a native of Ireland, aged nearly 87 years, and came to California in 1874. May 19, Miss Irwin's mother, Mrs Susie Irwin, passed away at the age of 65 years.

In Memoriam

ELLA HEINSDORFF.

No one hears the door that opens,
When they pass beyond our call;
Soft as loosened leaves of roses,
One by one our loved ones fall.

The Angel of Death has entered our Parlor and has taken from our midst our beloved sister, Ella Heinsdorff. We tenderly condole with her bereaved family in this, their hour of trial and affliction.

Let us not think of her as dead but as having preceded us to that golden shore where she waits to welcome us as we too pass through that golden gate. By her death Ruby Parlor No. 46 N.D.G.W. has lost a loving member.

Resolved, That our sincere and deep sympathy be extended to her son and relatives, furthermore be it resolved, that a page of our records be dedicated to her memory, and that a copy be sent to the son and The Grizzly Bear.

NELLIE LOMBARDI,
BELLE SEGALE.

Murphys, June 12, 1935.

EMMA PARR.

To the Officers and Members of Manzanita Parlor No. 29 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our deceased sister, Emma Parr, beg to submit the following:

We regret that another of our respected sisters has been called to her reward and we are grieved at the knowledge of her passing from the scenes of our daily life. Though unable on account of illness to be with us often in the past few years, her interest in the work of our Parlor never wavered and she was a loyal, interested sister to the end. To her bereaved family we extend our sincerest sympathy in this hour of their sorrow, and remind them that "this life of mortal breath is but a suburb of the life Elysian whose portal we call Death"—and when we will all be reunited again.

We wish a copy of these resolutions to be sent to the family of the deceased, another to The Grizzly Bear for publication, and another to be spread upon the minutes of this meeting.

Yours in P.D.F.A.,

VERA HANSEN,
ANNIE CONLIN.

Grass Valley, June 4, 1935.

CARRIE NORTHWAY.

To the Officers and Members of Rudecinda Parlor No 230, Native Daughters of the Golden West—Your board of trustees submit the following resolutions, in respect to the memory of our departed Recording Secretary, Sister Carrie Northway:

In loving tribute to the memory of our departed sister, Carrie Northway, who has answered the call of our Heavenly Father: We have lost a true and loyal member, and her willingness to do and her untiring efforts have endeared her to all of us.

Resolved, That to her bereaved husband and sister we extend our sincere sympathy and inscribe these resolutions upon the minutes, and that copies be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication, and to her husband and sister, Mrs. Juanita Brown, and brother.

"The voice is mute, and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true;
Oh, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten, Sister dear,
Nor will you ever be;
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee."

LETITIA SARCIAUX.
TENNIE PADILLA,
LILLIAN ZIRKLE.

San Pedro, July 1, 1935.

MARY FREERICHS.

To the Officers and Members of El Pescadero Parlor No. 82 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee on resolutions, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called to her eternal rest our beloved sister, Mary Frerichs, rewarding her long life of conscientious effort; and whereas, though we mourn her loss in the Parlor we are comforted by the beautiful memories of her loyalty to and love for our Order; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the memory of her service be cherished in the Parlor as an inspiration to every member for all time, until we too, our years of service over, shall meet her again. To her bereaved family we extend our heartfelt sympathy and commend them to the loving care of our Eternal Father. Be it further resolved, that copies of these resolutions be sent to the family of our late sister, to The Grizzly Bear Magazine, and that they be spread on the minutes of the Parlor.

Respectfully submitted in P.D.F.A.,

MARY A. HEWITSON,
EMMA E. COX
Committee.

NATIVE DAUGHTER NEWS

retained. A past president pin was presented Lillian Heppe. Dainty refreshments were served. The "shadow sister" game has helped greatly in stimulating attendance. The Parlor's drill team will make its initial appearance at Stockton, September 9.

Oakland—At public ceremonies July 11, officers of Piedmont No. 87 and Piedmont No. 120 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed. Deputies Gladys Farley and Allen Norris officiated, and Grace Hadlen and Joseph Silva became the respective presidents. Past president emblems were presented Gertrude Noe and Grand Trustee Adrien M. Hynes. Marian White was chairman of the evening. Dancing concluded the enjoyable occasion.

Sacramento—With Thelma Barton as president, officers of La Bandera No. 110 were installed by Deputy Mabel Thomas July 19. A past president emblem was presented Charlotte Kirtlan, and gifts were presented Deputy Thomas and Supervising Deputy Lily Mae Tilden. Flora A. Schmittgen was the general chairman, and Eva Mordecai and Clara Weldon had the refreshments in charge. Edna Briggs heads the committee arranging for the Parlor's participation in the Stockton Admission Day celebration.

Monterey—Assembling in the chambers of the City Council July 2, a delegation from Junipero No. 141 presented to Monterey City a beautiful California State (Bear) Flag. The presentation was made by President Mrs. Gregory Otazua, assisted by Marshal Louise Schiaffino. The gift was a surprise to the city authorities, who expressed appreciation for the flag and commended the thoughtfulness that prompted its giving. Following the presentation the Parlor members went to the home of Mathilde Bergschiker for a brief meeting.

San Juan Bautista—San Juan Bautista No 179 had its first meeting July 3 in its new home, the recently-acquired adobe now being restored. A large group from Copa de Oro No 195 (Hollister) attended. After the business session a happy hour was spent in the receptionroom, where refreshments were served.

Sausalito—President Marie Ashoff and her corps of officers initiated July 8 one of the largest classes in the history of Sea Point No. 196, fourteen candidates. Delicious refreshments and dancing followed the ceremonies. A delegation from Orinda No. 56 (San Francisco) was among the visitors. Chairman Audre L. Cathie and her committee were highly complimented for the successful evening. A drill team, formed within the Parlor, plans to make its initial appearance in the Stockton Admission Day parade.

San Rafael—Marinita No. 198 held a reception July 9 in honor of Grand Marshal Ethel Begley, who was presented with a gift of silver. The hall was beautifully decorated with hydrangeas, which made a colorful background for the pastel evening gowns of the officers. One candidate was initiated, and a program was presented by Polly Paretto, Ruth Hall, Eugenia Wilson and Antoinette Hecht. Refreshments were served in the banquetroom, where a rainbow color scheme was carried out. Among the many guests were Grand Trustee Orinda Giannini, Past Grands Emma Foley and Margaret Hill, and Deputy Pearl Lopus. Supervising Deputy Vida Vollers, chairman of the occasion, was assisted by Irene Griffin, Hermina Serpa, Ann Andrade, Mae Zeppetini and Bertha Watson.

Saint Helena—Miss Phyllis Thompson, a member of La Junta No. 203, has for the fourth consecutive year been awarded the Grand Parlor scholarship at Mills College. The announcement was made at the Parlor's July 2 meeting.

Santa Ana—Officers of Santa Ana No. 235 were publicly installed by Deputy Maude Van Fleet, July 22, Muriel Bray becoming president. The thimble club was entertained June 27 at the home of Gertrude Etzold. Ruth Kotlar, retiring president, entertained July 9 at her Laguna Beach summer home; a sumptuous buffet luncheon was followed by swimming and cards. Mrs. Ina Hargrave-Cope, a charter member of the Parlor, died July 5 at the age of 52, survived by a daughter.

Bakersfield—Officers of El Tejon No. 239 and Bakersfield No. 42 N.S.G.W., with Margaret Carlisle and Wm. Rea Jr. as the respective presidents, were jointly installed June 28 by Supervising Deputy Florence Hinderliter and District Deputy Mart Leonard. A program of musical numbers preceded the ceremonies. Gladioli and zinnias decorated the hall, and the banquet table adornments reminded of Independence Day. Sadie Clendenin and Hal Bannister were co-chairmen of arrangements. El Tejon plans a membership drive for the coming months, and a decided increase in membership is hoped for.

Susanville—In the Fourth of July parade "The Emigrant Train," sponsored by Susanville No. 243 and Nataqua No. 152 (Standish) was awarded first prize.

Past Presidents News.

Oakland—Association No. 2 elected Josephine Loomis president June 24, and had a reception honoring Ann Meincke, who was the recipient of many gifts. July 8, a high jinks program was presented and refreshments were served, and a successful whist was held at the home of Oro Rogers. July 14, Alice Miller entertained at her summer home in Kilcare Woods. July 17, a benefit whist was held at the home of Chief President Emilie Clifford.

San Jose—Susie Mattei was installed as president of Association No. 3 July 9. Preceding the meeting a picnic dinner was served outofdoors beneath the trees of Alum Rock Park. The Association accomplished much charity work the past six months. The next meeting of No. 3 will be held at the summer cabin of President Mattei in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

J. REUBEN CLARK JR., FORMER UNITED States Ambassador to Mexico, addressing a Los Angeles gathering said: "Our ears are deaf to the clanging chains of tyranny in this country. It is apparent that we have felt secure for so long that we do not recognize its approach. But I have an abiding faith in the good judgment of the American people, if they can only be brought to reckon with the problem. Tyranny always rides a white horse. It always disguises itself as a friend of the people.

"I am not sure that I see the real picture today, but I am convinced that there are those who are exerting a powerful influence in administration circles who are not averse to seeing conditions arise in the United States—and I am not so sure that they are not willing to co-operate in fomenting them—so that our whole form of government can be subverted to the point either of establishing a dictatorship in the model of certain European countries or of sovietizing the United States."

Referring to the Constitution of the United States, the speaker declared: "We know for a certainty that the War of the Revolution was fought purely on the basis of principle, and that principle was the principle of self-government. . . . Prospering under the privileges insured by the Constitution, this country has advanced as no other in a like period in all history. . . . It would seem that we have been experimenting—looking, perhaps, to see how things are done in Europe with forms of government wholly alien to basic principles of Americanism and self-government. There is nothing desirable that cannot be done under the Constitution of the United States as it exists, or as it can be amended in the proper form.

"We need more people today with strong convictions in support of our Constitution and the courage to stand back of their convictions. We need men with courage to refuse to support any effort aimed at undermining of the Constitution. And we need men who will continue to protect us against evasion of constitutional provisions, or tyranny in any guise. We must try to know and understand our Constitution and all the protection that it affords us as a people. We must regard it as a living thing, a human document which means life and liberty to all."

FAITHFUL OFFICERS REMEMBERED.

At the July 2 meeting of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., two long-faithful officers who recently resigned from their stations—Recording Secretary Mary K. Corcoran and Treasurer Grace T. Haven—were presented by the Parlor with gold cards of life membership. And were they surprised! The presentations were made through Edith Schallmo and Gertrude Allen, and both recipients feelingly responded. In appreciation for good work, the Parlor presented a year's dues to Edna Holcomb. Delicious refreshments concluded the evening.

July 17, Gertrude R. Allen was installed as recording secretary of No. 124, Flora Holy as financial secretary, and Juanita Porter as treasurer. The July 22 gathering of the sewing club of the Parlor at the home of Ethel Kennedy was enjoyed by many.

Los Angeles will be on vacation during August. September 11 the officers-elect, with Leonie Clos as president, will be publicly installed by Deputy Erma Watts.

"FIESTA OF MEMORIES."

Santa Monica—This city's annual pioneer days celebration was climaxed July 27 by a magnificent "Fiesta of Memories"—a historic pageant parade unfolding the history of California. Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. was represented by a most attractive float depicting the raising of the Bear (California Republic) Flag at Sonoma, June 14, 1846. Supporting the float was the Parlor's drum and bugle corps in picturesque costumes, and the troop of Boy Scouts of America which No. 267 sponsors. In the parade, too, as representatives of the Order of Native Sons, were Grand President Harmon D. Skillin and Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer. Following the parade, the Parlor had open house at its meetingplace.

Officers of Santa Monica Bay were installed July 3 by District Deputy Daniel McSweeny, Dewey L. Houghton becoming president. The drum and bugle corps of the Parlor will stage a big show in August. The best available talent has been secured by the committee in charge. Remember the fine show put on last year? Well, the coming one will be better, say its sponsors.

N.D. PARLOR GETS STATE FLAG.

Officers of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W., with Flora Davis Jacobson as president, were publicly installed July 9 by Deputy Dolores Malin Luckey. With their dainty dresses the officers wore leis of pastel-colored carnations. Many gifts were presented, including an elaborate quilt, made by the Parlor's sewing circle, to Ruth Parris, retiring president; Florence Behm Irish made the presentation address. To the Parlor, Gertrude Tuttle presented a silk California State (Bear) Flag.

Congratulatory remarks were made by Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Trustees Hazel B. Hansen and Nellie Cline, Grand Outside Sentinel Mary B. Noerenberg, Supervising Deputy Flora Holy, Florence Dodson Schoneman and Marvel Thomas. Vocal selections were rendered by Sophia Stewart and Marybelle Chapman. Delicious refreshments were served.

The annual Californiana picnic was held July 23 at the Sunset Beach home of Mrs. Charles H. Owens. The Parlor will be on vacation until September 10, when plans for the balance of the year will be announced.

TO VISIT MOUNT WILSON.

It seemed like old times at Ramona No. 109 N.S.G.W., July 12, with a large crowd, including many visitors, in attendance. Eight candidates were initiated by the officers-elect. Following the ritual, District Deputy Edward Baldwin, assisted by Deputy Grand President Walter Odemar and John Paralieu, installed the officers, with Clarence S. Hunt as president.

Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth, for the Parlor, presented a gavel to Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt, retiring past president. Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer addressed the initiates, and among the many other speakers were Curtis Colyear, "Bill" Reuter and District Deputy Daniel McSweeny. "Bill" Bright was put in charge of 109's membership campaign, and reports indicated good progress.

August 9, Ramona will initiate another large class of candidates. There will be no meeting August 16 as that evening will be given over to a trip to Mount Wilson.

AIRSHIP BRINGS GIFT.

Glendale—In the presence of a large assemblage, including delegations from all Los Angeles and Orange Counties Parlors, the officers of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. were publicly installed July 23. Deputy Alice Waldow officiated, and Sophia Stewart sang the installation odes. Ada Steele, as president, heads the new corps of officers.

Among the speakers of the evening were Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen and Grand Outside Sentinel Mary B.

Noerenberg. Fine entertainment numbers were introduced, including those by Laura Randall-Chester and family, Geraldine, Wendell and James. A clever "stunt" was the appearance in the meetingroom of an airship, which carried a gift to President Steele.

July 9, following the final meeting of her term, Ione Gillett, retiring president of Verdugo, entertained at supper at her home.

WILL PUSH FORWARD.

Compton—District Deputy Daniel McSweeny, assisted by Frank Ziegler and Grand Outside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, installed July 22 the officers of Compton Parlor No. 273 N.S.G.W., Roy W. Tarleton becoming president. Several applications for membership were presented, and there was much enthusiasm. There were several visitors, and much goodnatured "kidding" passed between representatives of various Parlors.

On assuming his station, President Carleton highly praised the faithful service given Compton by his predecessor, Roy C. Hood, and gave assurance that the Parlor will push forward to a prominent place in the Order. Other speakers were President Frank Bronson of Sepulveda, Harold Thomas, District Deputy Edward Baldwin, Robert Dunn, Edgar Black, "Bill" Reuter and Recording Secretary Wm. Don Castillo.

UNIVERSITY PARLOR NEWS.

Officers of University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. were publicly installed July 17 by District Deputy Daniel McSweeny, assisted by Frank Ziegler and Bernard Hiss. Clifford J. Bonk, the new president, is being supported by a staff of young, aggressive officers, and it looks like a banner term for the Parlor. Among the speakers of the evening were Dr. George Woods, retiring president, and Dr. Gerald Miller. Refreshments and a social good time followed the ceremonies.

July 26, University entertained the womenfolks at its new and cosy clubhouse, 1750 West Santa Barbara. Cards, dancing and entertainment were provided. The scrappy baseball club of the Parlor is now in training, under Manager Stan Parker, for the Admission Day contest in Stockton. The team has been doing splendid work, and was recently presented with new uniforms by the athletic committee. J.H.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Long Beach—At the July 18 meeting of Long Beach Parlor No. 154, entertainment and refreshments were provided by a committee composed of Lois McDougall (chairman), Flora Elder, Alice Borden, Eliza Houghton, Jessie West, Violet Henshilwood and May Gillies.

San Pedro—Mrs. Carrie Austin-Northway, one of the organizers of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230, passed suddenly away, June 27, at the age of 59; a husband survives. She was a most active worker and for several years was the Parlor's faithful recording secretary. Letitia Sarciaux has been selected to succeed her as secretary. July 15, the Parlor sponsored a public card party. July 9, under the auspices of the Florencita thimble club, a luncheon was held at the home of Lucia Guzman, who was assisted by Catherine Hackett.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 had a reception July 10 for Supervising Deputy Flora M. Holy and Deputy Inez Sitton; Virginia Mecham was in charge of the social hour. July 20, the Parlor joined with Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. at open house celebrating pioneer week; many quaint oldtime costumes were in evidence. July 24, the officers of No. 245 were installed by Deputy Sitton, Myrtle Barden being retained as president; refreshments were in charge of Reta Smith.

SIX PAST PRESIDENTS GET EMBLEMS.

Glendale—District Deputy Edward Baldwin, assisted by District Deputy Daniel McSweeny and John Paralieu, installed July 18 the officers of Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W., Ferris J. Farrel becoming president. One candidate was initiated, and reports showed the Parlor to be in excellent condition.

The feature of the evening was the presentation by Glendale, through District Deputy McSweeny, of very attractive past president emblems to Leslie Henderson, Albert Boeckman, Phil Molen, Loring Kent, Leslie Schelbach and Harvey Gillett. Among the speakers was Grand Outside Sentinel Walter C. Richards. Appetizing refreshments concluded an enjoyable evening.

ARRANGING FOR ADMISSION DAY.

The Native Sons and Native Daughters of Los Angeles County have formed a committee to arrange for the celebration of Admission Day, September 9. Officers are Albert Boeckman of Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W. chairman, Gertrude Allen of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. vice-chairman, Dorothy Ravn of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. secretary, and Frank Frank of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. treasurer. Meetings of the committee are being held every Friday night in Patriotic Hall.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Miss Caroline Ellsworth (Californiana N.D.) is away on a vacation trip.

Raymond L. Haight (Hollywood N.S.) was a visitor last month to Washington, D. C.

NEVER FORGET

"There is no substitute for membership"

25. Especially large delegations came from Glendale Parlor No. 264 and Compton Parlor No. 273. Supper was served outofdoors at 6 p.m. under the supervision of President Frank Bronson, Jack Melee, George Fontes, Houghton Neergaard, Dewey Richards and Ralph Bagdasar.

Then followed initiation of thirteen candidates, ten for Sepulveda and three for Compton, the ritual being impressively exemplified by the officers of No. 263, headed by President Bronson. This was the opening initiation in Sepulveda's determination to double its membership and to annex the Grand Parlor prize. Grand Outside Sentinel Walter C. Richards is directing the campaign, and the one regret of the evening was that, because of serious illness, he could not be present.

Among the speakers of the evening were Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, District Deputies Daniel McSweeny and Edward Baldwin, President Roy Tarleton and Secretary Don Castillo of Compton, George LaRue, Harry Prager, and "Bill" Reuter, the dues-getting financial secretary. Phineas Banning Young, a descendant of Wilmington's noted Pioneer, Phineas Banning, spoke for the initiates.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION.

Officers of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W., with Harry Davis as president, were publicly installed July 25 by District Deputy Harry Honn. At the conclusion of the ceremonies cards were played and refreshments were served. July 27, a wiener bake was held at Cabrillo Beach.

August 22, the Parlor will have its annual oldtimers night. History and landmarks will be the theme.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Minnie Leuschner, mother of Julius O. and Herbert W. Leuschner (Los Angeles N.S.), died June 26, at the age of 57.

Silas Emory Masters, affiliated with Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W., died July 6, survived by a wife. He was born at Riverside City, April 29, 1890.

Patrick Joseph Bodkin, brother of John O'B. and Henry G. Bodkin (Hollywood N.S.), died July 11, at the age of 56.

J. Harvey McCarthy, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died July 24, survived by a wife and a son. He was born at San Diego City, May 4, 1870.

Mrs. Martha E. Blakely, wife of William T. Blakely (Ramona N.S.), died July 25 at South Pasadena.

ORGANIZE FOR ACTION.

Harmon D. Skillin, Grand President of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, called a meeting for the evening of July 27 in Los Angeles of the officials of the Grand Parlor in the southern section of the state, extending from Bakersfield and Santa Barbara to San Diego, and the following responded: Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Trustees Judge Donald E. VanLuven and Leo V. Youngworth, Past Grands Herman C. Lichtenberger and John T. Newell, District Deputies Mart E. Leonard, A. C. Dinsmore, Harry T. Honn, Edward E. Baldwin, Daniel F. McSweeny and Ivan H. Harper, Deputy Grand Presidents Clarence M. Hunt, Sidney B. Witkowski, Albert V. Mayrhofer, Walter H. Odemar and Albert K. Boeckman, and Committeemen Bernard H. Hiss and William J. Bright. Others in attendance were Carl Heilbron (San Diego Parlor No. 108), Perry Harris (Ramona Parlor No. 109), Frank Bronson (president Sepulveda Parlor No. 263) and Maynard Garrison (University Parlor No. 273).

Grand President Skillin suggested that the group organize for action to advance the Order's interests, and that was done by the selection of the following officers: District Deputy Daniel F. McSweeny, chairman; District Deputy F. L. McGarvey, vice-chairman; Maynard Garrison, secretary. It was decided to hold frequent group initiations of all Parlors in the southern district, and this schedule was approved:

August 22, with Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 at Wilmington; September 28, Cabrillo Day, with San Diego Parlor No. 208 at San Diego; October 26, with Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 at San Bernardino; December 4, with University Parlor No. 273 at Los Angeles.

Carl Heilbron outlined San Diego's Admission Day, September 9, celebration program; Leo Youngworth, saying conditions in this country are most serious, advocated a militant course for the Order; Mart Leonard told of Bakersfield Parlor No. 42's fine progress; Albert Mayrhofer expressed the opinion that, with unselfish determination as the propelling force, anything worthwhile may be accomplished for and by the Order; Albert Boeckman said the Los Angeles N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Interparlor Committee is absorbed in Admission Day plans, and "Bill" Bright gave some "inside" information on the Jap menace in California.

GRAND SECRETARY N.D. ON SICK LIST.

Oakland (Alameda County)—Mrs. Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Secretary N.D.G.W., has been very ill at her home here, but it is expected she will have sufficiently recovered from her illness to take up her official duties August 1.

TOAST TO TOWNSEND

(EMMA G. FOLEY.)

Cheer up, Grandma! Don't you cry,
You'll wear diamonds by and by!
When the Townsend plan goes thru
Then we all shall envy you.
Uncle Sam has money mills
Made to grind out brand new bills;
He will champion your cause
With his Old Age pension laws.
You will find the poor relations
Sticking like a League of Nations.
No more worry over bills,
Butcher's duns and doctor's pills,
No more panic over rent—
Leave that to the Government!
You can soar away full-fledged
With the over-privileged,
Dine on squab and caviar,
Sport a streamline motor car.
When the blizzards "bliz" a bit,
Off to Palm Beach gaily flit,
Lead a life of pleasure bent—
But you must spend every cent!
Whoopee, Grandma, keep alive,
Life begins at sixty-five!

OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURERS WELCOME INSPECTION OF PRODUCTS.

Located in the downtown section of Los Angeles, at the corner of Pico and Hill streets, is the Outdoor Equipment Co., manufacturing distinctive trailer roadhomes and the famous "Wilson Fold Flat" wooden boats. A well-equipped shop occupies 14,000 square feet of floor space.

The years of experience of the mechanics and experts is reflected in the distinctive designing, the perfect balance, the light construction of a trailer coach, assembled strictly on body building principles, that is sturdy, durable, compact and light weight, yet airy and very livable. A very unusual feature of design is the chassis, assembled separately and attached to the coach body in such manner as to make it easily removable, thereby enabling it to be used as a box trailer.

The company welcomes inspection of the many body designs, and with the wide range of prices one is sure to find just the right trailer roadhome at very convenient terms. The famous "Wilson Fold Flat" wooden boat is a novel device well worth one's time going to see, as it folds up compactly and may be carried under the arm or upon the running board of a car; it has a total weight of less than eighty pounds.

COSTLY MONKEY BUSINESS.

Mrs. George B. Simmons, a farmer of Missouri, is reported to have said at a Menasha, Wisconsin, gathering: "Nothing is more heartbreaking than that so many of our people are ready to believe there will be a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow instead of a tax bill that will bankrupt our nation and its citizens.

"All this tinkering with us farmers is only costly monkey business, cutting down consumption of our farm products at home and abroad and making nice fat jobs for a bunch of harebrained professors who wouldn't know how to brace a corner post or on which side of the cow to start milking."

Santa Cruz City will recall its romantic past with a Mission Pageant, August 30 and September 1.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

NOTE—Expressions of opinion in these "Growls" are, unless indicated otherwise, those of the Managing Editor.
CLARENCE M. HUNT.

THE CALIFORNIA STATE GOVERNMENT has called a special election for August 13. Three propositions will be submitted to the electorate, and propertyowners should go to the polls and swat all of them, for if they are approved real estate will be further encumbered and taxes will be further increased.

Proposition No. 1 authorizes $13,950,000 bonds for more state buildings. VOTE NO! In 1910 the State had less than $5,000,000 in bonds outstanding; today it has a bonded indebtedness of $180,958,500. While the state's population has increased about 150 percent, the state's indebtedness has increased more than 3,500 percent, and every penny of that indebtedness is a lien on real estate, Mr. Homeowner, regardless of the politicians' contention otherwise.

Proposition No. 2 authorizes the State to issue tax anticipation notes. VOTE NO! The Constitution now provides that the State cannot incur indebtedness beyond $300,000 without the voters' approval. If this proposal is approved, a short-time $60,000,000 debt may, and certainly will, be created.

Proposition No. 3 authorizes the state finance director to pledge the State's credit for water for certain state institutions. VOTE NO! There is no dollar-limit to this scheme, and it could cost anywhere from $900,000 to $900,000,000. The record of the past argues against giving any governmental agency the authority granted by this proposal.

Also, take into consideration the fact that the California State Government has already increased the tax levy some $57,500,000, equivalent to $18.70 in brand NEW taxes for every person in the state. The cost of operating the State Government has been increased $32,000,000; no attempt whatever has been made to reduce the cost. Bear in mind, too, that high and increasing taxes are reflected in the mounting prices for the necessities of life. The consumer, not the dealer, pays this tax bill.

The propertyowners of California—those who are "stuck" for the squanderings by government—should begin to give serious consideration to the tax situation. The taxload will continue to be increased until they forcibly rebel, for politicians are not interested in reducing taxes; the more they get, the more they want, and exact. Politicians want the "dough," regardless of how it is raised—via direct taxes, bond issues or what not. Government has deteriorated into a racket and, like all other rackets, should be cleaned up. Apparently, the only way to clean up the government-racket is to stop the flow of tax-dollars, for then the political-rats will desert the ship of state.

So, why not a tax strike, now? Sure, it might force the State into bankruptcy, toward which it is fast approaching under existing conditions. Good would result, however, for the political-racketeers and their henchmen would be unseated, and men with ability and "guts" could be entrusted with giving California an efficient government at mightily reduced cost.

A tax strike, you say, is too drastic. Well, a drastic ill requires a drastic cure. And the ever-increasing taxload is the drastic ill that prevents the return to normalcy. Until that load is lessened, depression cannot possibly be routed. If you desire a return to normal conditions, with work and happiness, you will approve of and support a tax strike, for there appears to be no other way to force a necessary reduction in the cost of government.

Unless you are willing that Japs and all other ineligible-to-citizenship aliens shall be accorded the privilege of gaining citizenship through naturalization, file a vigorous protest with your representatives in the Federal Congress against H.R. 7170 which, if it becomes a law, will permit alien Japs who served with the United States forces in the World War to be naturalized.

Once open the door to the limited extent provided for in this bill, and it will, in time, be forced wide open—and Japan's "peaceful invasion" will be accomplished. The naturalization safeguard should be maintained, with no exceptions.

At a meeting in San Diego City of supervisors and welfare directors of California, "unemployable indigents" were under discussion. Supervisor Sweet of San Diego County expressed the opinion that "The Federal administration grabbed a bear by the tail and can't let loose. If it does, it will raise up in this country an organized indigency which will overthrow the government. . . . The Federal Government has put a premium upon pauperism." William Jerome of Orange County declared that "Communists will control this country unless something is done."

Well, why not DO something? Talk and resolutions will not solve this, or any other, question, but action will! Refuse one penny of relief to all, except those who are honestly and deservedly entitled to it; get rid of the chiselers, among both the handersout and the receivers of relief, and detach relief from politics.

The opinion is openly expressed throughout the nation that we must continue to hand out billions for relief to prevent an armed uprising—"billions for peace, or billions for internal war." If that is actually the situation, then right now is the time to cut out the relief-billions! The sooner this dangerous situation is cleared up, the better for the country. The main reason for conditions being so rotten is that we are guided by fear, rather than by courage to do that which we know should be done.

In the course of an Independence Day address at Grass Valley, Nevada County, Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States, said:

"There are fluctuating inequities and injustices even under liberty and democracy. There are many who suffer. Humanity is not perfect. But over all, the redemption of those who suffer and the cure of injustice have their only hope in the preservation of these liberties.

"It is not reactionary to hold fast to these fundamentals, to oppose tyranny, and to support liberty. We realize that life is different in 1935 from 1776. The functions of government must always be expanded to restrain the strong and protect the weak. That is the preservation of liberty itself.

"These are times for genuine progressive action—that we recover prosperity and that we secure the better distribution among all the people of the abundance which has been the product of our system of liberty. But there are things that must be permanent if we would attain these purposes. The first of these is liberty.

"In this crisis of liberty and this darkening eclipse of human freedom through the world, America has today a transcendent mission to civilization far beyond our own safety. It is our high duty to hold bright the light of individual liberty. From that light alone can come the material and spiritual redemption of mankind.

"That is an obligation to our children and our obligation to humanity. Independence Day, amid a threatened world, should bring rededication to the proposition that the freedom sought for men shall not be dimmed in America, but shall this light to the world be extinguished."

Kansas closed the books for the fiscal year ended June 30 with a balanced state budget and, in addition, governmental units have had [illegible] debts reduced and property taxes lightened.

Contrast that with the condition in California where, day by day, in every way, governmental costs are increased, debts enlarged and property taxes pyramided.

Economy, entered by Governor Alf M. Landon, is responsible for Kansas' financial showing. In California, the governing powers-that-be never heard of economy, hence the showing is depressing.

Why limit the removal to so-called "stars"? Should not the executives be included, also? If the Federal Government, basing its action on moral turpitude, would do a wholesale deporting of foreigners, many of our national stinkpots would be purified.

Governor Harry W. Nice of Maryland, addressing the Commonwealth Club of California at San Francisco last month, declared: "All of the rest of the world has moved toward recovery. America alone has lagged behind. Had America maintained a firm stand for rehabilitation, I am convinced we would have a more substantial recovery than that which exists.

"It was this uncertainty of the public mind that enabled professional and political quacks to intrigue, with their curealls, the imagination of a depressed people . . . they preached the doctrine of minimum effort and assured income. . . . People were deceived by these Hans Andersen fairy tales, only to find that, at the end of the rainbow, there was no pot of gold and, thus disillusioned, they are full of discontent. The first essential requisite in the correction of this situation is courageous action in stopping extravagance, enforcing economies, and reducing taxes, so that the industries, particularly the smaller ones, may survive. . . .

"During times of uncertainty and tribulation, false prophets make headway because, to many people, a change of any kind is always alluring—but the time has come to abandon the 400 and follow the one; otherwise, we shall be led ultimately to the precipice. . . . The day of diminishing returns from taxation, regardless of the form of the tax, is at hand. . . . The silent, long-suffering, patient citizen must be aroused and urged to move, in one great phalanx of citizenry, towards a return to national sanity, and it is for us to speak with a vigor, equal and greater than that of the glamorous groups who now rend the political air with their shouts of approval of hysterical, destructive and totally insane governmental policies."

In 1874 the combined deposits and capital of all banks in California totaled approximately $100,000,000.

Today the deposits of The San Francisco Bank alone are well in excess of $154,000,000, indicative of how this institution has kept pace with the growth of the state.

CALIFORNIA FIFTY YEARS AGO

THE THIRTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF California's admittance to statehood—Admission Day, September 9, 1885—was generally observed throughout the state. The main celebration, under the auspices of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, was held at Santa Rosa, Sonoma County, with Western Star Parlor No. 28—the original name of Santa Rosa Parlor—as the host. Special trains were run from San Francisco and Sacramento. Grand Marshal L. W. Julliard directed the Admission Day parade, in which more than 800 members of the Order participated, and Governor George Stoneman was a guest of honor.

In his report to the N.S.G.W. Ninth Grand Parlor (Woodland 1886), Grand Secretary Henry Lunstedt, referring to this Admission Day celebration, said:

"The 9th of September celebration at Santa Rosa was another memorable event in our history, and reflects great credit upon the Order in general, and in its management upon Western Star Parlor, No. 28, in particular. The exercises consisted of a procession, an oration by Grand Orator Charles L. Weller, addresses by J. H. McGee and Mark L. McDonald, and a poem by Brother George Homer Meyer, a grand ball, and conferring of the 'Hyrugeon' Degree in the evening. Of the parade, the Sonoma Democrat says: 'No finer procession was ever witnessed in this State. It was superbly managed, and of the greatest credit to the Native Sons of the Golden West.' In the past three years the Native Sons have made Admission Day a gala day in California, as the importance and the peculiar and strange history of the event deserves. All the Grand Officers, except Sentinels, and representatives from nearly every Parlor were present."

The Amador County Pioneer Association joined with Excelsior Parlor No. 31 N.S.G.W. (Jackson) in a picnic that was attended by an immense crowd. Anthony Caminetti was the orator of the day.

Pioneer Associations of Stockton, Santa Cruz, Sacramento and San Francisco sponsored observances of the day in those cities. At the latter city, John S. Hittell delivered the Admission Day oration.

The evening of September 8 the Pioneers and the native daughters of Elk Grove, Sacramento County, presented a magnificent banner to Elk Grove Parlor No. 41 N.S.G.W. Miss Mary McConnell made the presentation address. Citizens of Santa Rosa presented a beautiful banner to Western Star Parlor No. 28 N.S.G.W. Miss Josie Byington made the presentation address.

The annual State Fair opened September 7 at Sacramento for a two weeks' run. The city was "closed," and the sports were absent. Receipts of the fair were $25,271.

The San Joaquin Valley Fair opened at Stockton, September 22; gambling was tabooed there, also. The District No. 11 Fair, embracing Plumas, Lassen, Sierra and Modoc Counties, opened September 28 at Greenville, Plumas County, and the same day the Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties Fair opened at San Jose. All had prosperous runs and were well attended.

A 320-acre grain farm near Dixon, Solano County, was sold for $32,000.

Senator Leland Stanford announced he had selected Palo Alto, Santa Clara County, as the location for his proposed university.

The University of California's income for the fiscal year was reported as $98,470, and its expenses $97,428.

There was but one rainy day during the month. The fall at Sacramento registered .08 of an inch, and at Red Bluff, Tehama County, 2.91 inches. No rain fell in southern California.

Work of building the California and Oregon Railway was resumed September 1 north of Delta, Shasta County.

Several thousand people gathered at Pasadena, Los Angeles County, September 16 to celebrate completion of the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railway.

Crude oil took the place of coal as a fuel, September 27, on the ferryboat "Piedmont," plying between San Francisco and Oakland. As a result, fourteen firemen were let out.

A species of white bear, found near Mount Shasta, was about the size of a shepherd dog and very ferocious. Three of the animals were killed this month.

A California lion located on the Kelly rancho in Santa Barbara County and evaded capture. So far, it had carried away fifteen shoats.

For the year 1892 1893 1901 1903 1904 1918 and 1921 the Grand Parlor has not had no general celebration of Admission Day, but local celebrations were held in sixty-six communities.

A dense swarm of bees passed north over Fresno County, September 9. They came from southern California, but their destination was never ascertained.

September 10, flocks of wild geese from Canada began arriving in northern California.

A cave containing several human skeletons was discovered near Murphys, Calaveras County. The cave was explored for 300 feet.

At Santa Cruz City, workmen excavating for a new church exhumed over fifty skeletons of Indians buried near the mission there years before.

Coroner O'Donnell, searching for lepers in San Francisco's Chinatown, discovered an underground morgue where the bones of 300 Chinamen were being prepared for shipment to China.

An association, with Governor George Stoneman as president, was organized to raise funds to erect a monument to the memory of General U. S. Grant.

Placerville Parlor No. 9 N.S.G.W. appointed a committee to arrange for the erection of a monument at Coloma, El Dorado County, to the memory of James Wilson Marshall, gold discoverer.

The stage from Alturas, Modoc County, to Redding, Shasta County, was stopped September 16 near Millville by two highwaymen, who took the express box.

Two masked men stopped the stage from North San Juan, Nevada County, September 23. Before they could get into action, a man astride a mule came up. The animal took fright and began bucking and kicking, and the highwaymen fled.

Louis and William Beckley, Sacramento County youths, went to Calaveras County to farm. September 2, while digging a ditch, they uncovered a vein of quartz assaying $196 in gold to the ton.

Senator William M. Gwin, a native of Tennessee who came to California from New Orleans in 1849, died September 3 at New York City, aged 70. He was a delegate to the First Constitutional Convention of California, was one of the state's first United States senators, and played a prominent part in winning statehood for California. His remains were brought to San Francisco, where they were interred September 12.

Peter Dreher, who came to California with the famous Stevenson Regiment in 1847 and had resided at Santa Cruz City since 1849, died there September 7.

Squire Burgess, a '49er who had unearthed several fortunes mining in Sierra County, died at Goodyear Bar September 11.

THE PAST MUST NEVER DIE

Harmon D. Skillin

(GRAND PRESIDENT N.S.G.W.)

ADMISSION DAY, SEPTEMBER 9TH IS the anniversary of California's admission into the Sisterhood of States and we, as Native Daughters and Native Sons, understand and realize this to be a fact in history. Yet we venture to say, and do not feel that we are exaggerating, that there are thousands of people living within the confines of California who do not know why September 9th is a legal holiday.

The Native Daughters and Native Sons in particular should be interested in the observance of Admission Day. Our organizations, founded to perpetuate the colorful and picturesque history of our State, necessarily are concerned with the birthday of such a State.

Printed elsewhere in this issue of The Grizzly Bear is a circular letter which the laws of the Native Sons of the Golden West make compulsory for the Grand President to issue. You will note therein that all members of our Orders are called upon to fittingly observe our State's birthday. We have said before, and we repeat with emphasis, that there is a strong movement tending towards the extermination of Admission Day as a legal holiday. We do not express this criticism towards all, but there is no doubt many who have entered the confines of our State seeking wealth and prosperity and, having found therein the opportunity to make a good living, are absolutely indifferent as to its pioneer history and traditions. Their one and only desire is the search for the almighty dollar. California's romantic past to them is dead, and always will be. They live merely for today and tomorrow.

All native Californians should be instilled with the spirit that the past must never die. The story of the Pioneer, the tales of our Missions and the rugged adventures of the old '49ers must never be obliterated. To us, the early history of our State is something to be revered and respected. In no better way can we contribute to this than by a fitting and proper observance of California's birthday.

It is undoubtedly a coincidence, but the first celebration of Admission Day held under the auspices of the Grand Parlor of our Order was in the City of Stockton, in 1883. Prior to that date, the celebration always took place under the auspices of the Pioneers. This year we will again travel to Stockton. Not, however, under the handicaps and obstacles which the members of our Order had to meet some fifty years ago, but over beautiful highways and lanes of travel of such a nature that one may reach there, even from the very borders of the State, within a day's journey. Let us see to it, therefore, that upon this day we actively participate in the celebration. This does not mean merely going to Stockton and standing upon the sidelines to observe the parade pass by. That is an opportunity which those born without the State will be privileged to have. Our right and our duty will be to join the marching thousands who, by colorful costume, by bands and drum corps, by flags and floats, will carry the message that California is having its eighty-fifth birthday party.

STOCKTON IN EIGHTY-SIX YEARS

Stockton Chamber Commerce

CAPTAIN CHARLES M. WEBER, through his ambition and initiative to further the interests of his fellow-Americans and set up a new settlement, founded the City of Stockton in a wild country as rugged as any American frontier. He was a forerunner to the vast army of gold seekers, swarming over the plains a few years after he entered California. Weber chose the site of Stockton for the establishment of a shipping point for products of the San Joaquin Valley and its location on what became the route of travel between the San Francisco Bay district and the Mother Lode mining region in the Sierra Nevada Mountains. From the French trappers and fur traders, Weber learned that the San Joaquin River joined the Central San Joaquin Valley with Golden Gate and the Pacific Ocean, and furnished then the only practical and economical means of moving supplies to the mines. The fertile fields of the valley provided pasture for herds of cattle, and quantities of fish and game abounded, safeguarding the food supply of the early settlers. Weber realized immediately the value of its location at the approximate center of a rich agricultural area and the concentration point for products.

A partnership was formed by Weber with Gulnac, Mexican citizen, and as a result, the Mexican governor, Micheltorena, granted 48,747 acres of some of the richest land in California. This affiliation with Gulnac was primarily for the purpose of obtaining the Weber rancho and the site of Stockton. The partnership was dissolved in 1845, according to previous agreement. The city, one of the few older settlements escaping the Spanish influence, received its name through the warm friendship which sprang between Weber and Commodore Stockton during the Mexican War, in 1847.

Stockton sprang into a city overnight, with the discovery of gold at Coloma, El Dorado County, January 24, 1848. Weber organized the Stockton Gold Mining Company, which ran up a fabulous income. During that year the great extent of territory was ceded to the United States by Mexico under the terms of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo. Fire laid hold of the tent city a year later, and gave the citizens the opportunity of building anew with more permanent structures.

From 1853 until the present day, this city has experienced a steady and vigorous growth, each succeeding year showing a larger population, more homes with more business activity in depressions and out of them. The retirement of men and women from the Mother Lode gold region provided many excellent, industrious farmers, who found more wealth in the soil of the rich valley than they could possibly have uncovered in the rocky hills.

Stockton and its history is of particular interest to the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West, because those glorious organizations have in their ranks the spirit of the sturdy Pioneers who started this state on its golden career. The fact that the gathering here on September 9, 10 and 11 for a three-day celebration, brings back many former inhabitants or children of some of the early settlers, is of great significance to the historical background of this city. California was admitted to the Union in 1850, and Stockton became an incorporated city the same year. The native parentage of Stockton residents is fifty-one percent of the total of seventy-five percent of the native White in this city. This indicates a permanence of Stockton's population and the actual number of native-born Californians in a population of 56,000.

The San Joaquin River, playing such an important part in the early history of this city and interior California, has again set a precedence in modern-day life with the development of Stockton's deep-water port.

During the gold rush days in California, sailing vessels came through the Golden Gate and up the San Joaquin River to Stockton. Here they unloaded the first ocean-borne cargo in the San Joaquin Valley. Many buildings in the Mother Lode and the San Joaquin Valley were constructed from materials brought around Cape Horn by these vessels.

Later, as the hills were washed away through placer mining, the San Joaquin River sifted the mud and silt and gradually lost its depth. The channel and river were filled to such an extent as to allow only river steamers and barges to ply their trades.

As early as 1872, citizens of Stockton actively engaged in a program to bring about improvement of the San Joaquin River, Stockton Channel, and such wharves and harbor facilities as were then in use at Stockton. The interest in the development of deeper water at Stockton never abated, and with the constant ambition of Stockton's farsighted citizens, finally the project gained recognition and then momentum.

In July 1916, Congressman Charles F. Curry succeeded in putting through the Federal Congress a Rivers and Harbors Act authorizing a survey on a channel to accommodate deep-water vessels. The following years brought about an increased activity on the part of the Stockton Chamber of Commerce and the citizens of Stockton. United States Army engineers commenced surveys of the physical problems involved, and the Chamber of Commerce compiled data on potential tonnage and possible business through a deep-water port located at Stockton. A number of hearings were then held, and in 1919 Colonel L. H. Rand, district engineer, submitted a report on the project to the chief of engineers at Washington, D. C.

Negotiations with Washington necessarily covered a long period of time. Many surveys and studies were made to prove that the tonnage moving in and out of the central valleys of California would be benefited to the extent of at least one dollar per ton savings in transportation costs.

In May 1924, Major U. S. Grant III, district engineer, concurred with the primary recommendations of his predecessor and reported favorably upon a twenty-four-foot channel from Suisun Bay to Stockton. In November of the same year, Major Grant submitted a supplementary report recommending a channel of twenty-six-foot depth instead of twenty-four feet. In January of 1925, General Harry Taylor, chief of the United States Army Engineers, recommended to the Secretary of War that the Federal Government assist in deepening the waterway to the extent of paying one-half of the cost of dredging; right of way to be furnished by local interest, and the City of Stockton to construct and complete 400 feet of open wharves and 800 feet of covered wharves. In due time, a bill embodying General Taylor's recommendations was passed by the Congress and signed by President Coolidge on January 21, 1927. In the meantime, the electors of Stockton had approved a bond issue for three million dollars by a vote of 13 to 1.

Much time was necessarily consumed in securing the rights of way from the various owners along the line of the proposed ship channel. Dredging operations finally started, in April 1930, and were practically completed in December 1932. When the Port was officially opened in February, 1933, the City had constructed 500 feet of open wharves instead of the agreed 400 feet, and 937 feet of covered wharves instead of the agreed 800 feet, three brick warehouses and a belt line railroad, as well as a complete water system for fire protection. It was possible to enlarge upon the original wharf and warehouse plan, because of reduced labor costs and lower prices of materials.

The total cost of this original project was approximately six million dollars, money provided by Municipal, State and Federal Governments. The City of Stockton provided three million ($3,000,000) dollars, the State of California gave five hundred and ten thousand, five hundred ($510,500) dollars and the Federal Government donated two million five hundred thousand ($2,500,000) dollars.

The sponsors of the Stockton deep-water project had two direct objectives in mind. The first of these was the commercial interest; namely, the shipment of wide varieties of commodities between Stockton and its tributary area and world points at lower costs than would be possible without deep-water facilities at Stockton.

The second objective in building this port was the industrial interest. The provision of highly efficient transportation facilities; the stimulation of industrial development and consequent factory payrolls occasioned by varied natural resources of that area for which Stockton is the logical trade center.

Although the Port of Stockton has been operating less than three years, both of these objectives have been satisfactorily attained. Through the use of the port, shippers of Stockton and the hinterland on which the business of this city is dependent, have reduced freight handling costs on an average of approximately one dollar per ton. Already, several industries have established plants adjacent to the port and private projects set off the skyline.

EL DORADO GRAMMAR,
One of Stockton's Modern School Buildings

While the Port of Stockton has been for decades the object of many Stockton citizens who have lent their untiring efforts to its accomplishment, creation of the port has exemplified the results of co-operation by the governments of the City of Stockton, the State of California and the United States. These bodies have contributed money, as well as technical and other services, to bring about successful operation of the Port.

The Federal Government, for the initial project, provided in excess of $2,500,000 as well as the engineering services necessary for design and construction of the deep-water channel and turning basin. The State of California initially participated to the extent of $510,500 in providing rights of way and through its law-making powers laid the legal foundation necessary for various port construction and operative features. In addition to money from its permanent waterfront improvement fund, the City of Stockton originally contributed $3,000,000 from a bond issue to the project.

The Port of Stockton is located in the center of the great central valleys of California, which include the San Joaquin and the Sacramento Valleys, having an approximate length of 450 miles, and an average width of 60 miles, extending from Bakersfield, Kern County, on the south to Redding, Shasta County, on the north.

The highways emanating from Stockton, like the spokes of a giant wheel, give promise that motor trucks will continue to play a large part in the progress of this port. The profiles of the highways and those of the rail lines leading to and from Stockton throughout these valleys are practically at floor level.

Tonnage surveys, which were confirmed by United States engineers, showed that a deep-water port at Stockton eventually would mean reductions in freight costs of over $900,000 on 1,000,000 tons of freight per year. Results of operations to date indicate that this volume will eventually be accomplished, if adequate terminal facilities are provided at Stockton. Actual experience in the use of the port by shippers has demonstrated the saving of approximately one dollar a ton, confirming the original estimates.

This same freight advantage which is made available to commerce by the Port of Stockton becomes a decisive factor in connection with the location of factories to process materials from the Stockton hinterland for world markets or to process materials from world sources for the Western American market. Conditions at Stockton, which are favorable to highly diversified materials,—power, water, sites, buildings and labor—are enhanced by this transportation factor.

The Port of Stockton has stimulated local factory payrolls. This is demonstrated by the fact that a $150,000 cement plant has been built and is now in operation. Also, we have a $250,000 cotton compress and a $300,000 grain terminal. In conjunction with these, there is being constructed a $75,000 oil refinery, adjacent to a $50,000 oil terminal. Also, in the past year three major companies have erected plants, the investment totaling $425,000. Lumber handling facilities have been provided for by a local concern at the cost of $30,000 and additional facilities with warehouse space have been constructed at a cost of $75,000. This shows a grand total of $1,355,000 spent by industries through the influence of the Port of Stockton.

Initial terminal facilities which are a part of the comprehensive terminal plan have been provided for, and more than fulfill the minimum required by the Federal Government. In less than one year, the capacity of these facilities was absorbed and they became inadequate to handle the commerce available.

Materialization of the port project indicated that commerce in excess of that which could be handled on a twenty-six foot waterway would be available and handled through the Port of Stockton. Through action initiated June 5, 1932, and under authority granted by the President on August 31, 1933, the War Department, through its Engineer Corps, expended an additional one million dollars to improve the deep-water facilities from twenty-six to thirty-two feet.

Reviewing the terminal facilities drafted by the City and Port authority, initial improvements consisted of a belt line railroad, wharves, transit sheds, a cargo warehouse and storage yards.

Construction and enlargement of facilities at the Port of Stockton have never abated. During the past year the transit shed and wharf space has actually been doubled. There are at the present time 3,170 feet of concrete wharves accommodating seven large vessels, 2,690 feet of covered transit sheds, 90,000 square feet of storage warehouses, and the belt line facilities have been extended to all new industries and buildings. A total of $9,000,000 has been invested to date, with more construction in view.

We find the tonnage movement through the Port of Stockton keeping abreast of the growth of the terminal facilities. With available space for storing 72,000 tons of general cargo and a berthing capacity for eight vessels, foreign and domestic lines find accommodations at Stockton exceptional. Tonnage handled by the ocean terminal the first six months reflected an increase of 100 per cent, 90,774 tons in 1934 and 170,715 tons in 1935; total tonnage handled during the year 1934 showed an increase of 334 percent over 1933, the first year. There have been 645 ocean cargo ships in port since its opening in February 1933. Seventeen steamship lines serve the Port on intercoastal shipments, sixteen lines are in coastal service, two in gulf service, and an oriental line makes regular calls, with one foreign in service.

An indication, in a fair measure, as to the success of Stockton as a seaport was illustrated recently, with seven vessels of the larger type in port at one time. Still more interesting is the fact that these vessels represented as many types of trade. The first, a Greek vessel from the Argentine in South American trade; the second, an American vessel in Gulf-Pacific trade; the third, an American vessel in the Atlantic-Pacific trade; the fourth, a Norwegian vessel loading 7,500 tons of grain for England; the fifth and sixth, American vessels in the Atlantic-Pacific coastwise trade, and number seven another Norwegian freighter sailing directly to Japan. Such is the type of service offered to shippers in the interior counties of California through the development of a deep-water port at Stockton.

Today we see how the untiring efforts of the City, State and National Governments, plus the unfailing co-operation and support of the people of the City of Stockton, have enabled each of these steps to be successfully fulfilled. Stockton's deep-water port has achieved world-wide recognition. Shippers have been aided materially by the port, and have shown their appreciation through their constantly increasing use of the port and its facilities.

ONE OF STOCKTON'S FINE CHURCHES.

The constant support and loyalty of the citizens of Stockton has brought the aim of farsighted Pioneers to a successful end, and has rightfully gained for Stockton the title of the world's most rapidly growing seaport.

It will be the opportunity of all the members of the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West to view this modern inland seaport on the occasion of the Admission Day celebration in Stockton. The experience of viewing large ocean freighters in the heart of the San Joaquin Valley is always treated as a novelty by visitors in Stockton.

The country surrounding Stockton is the garden spot of California, and contains some of the richest farming land in the state. A great variety of agricultural products are grown, for the markets of the world. The distribution of wealth in agriculture and industry is evenly divided, with industrial activity following along the lines of agricultural production and farm resources.

Dredgers used in the construction of the many levees in the thousand miles of waterway are manufactured in this city. Pumps, harvesters, road building and land leveling machinery all aid in making Stockton one of the leading implement manufacturing centers in the West. Lumber produced in the adjoining Sierra Nevada Mountains goes into the making of countless articles for re-manufacture sold into world trade. Paper boxboard, paper products, cartons and wallboard are some of the numerous products of local industries. Recently, canned fruit

ADMISSION DAY 1935 AT STOCKTON

(ADMISSION DAY COMMITTEE STOCKTON PARLOR N.S.G.W.)

TEN THOUSAND NATIVE SONS AND Native Daughters, in bright uniforms and fancy dresses, will march in Stockton on September 9 in observance of the State's natal day. And the more than fifteen thousand visitors expected for the three days of festivities will be given the finest show and will witness the most colorful spectacle in the history of Admission Day celebrations.

Every Parlor of Native Sons and Native Daughters in the state will have delegations participating in the various events which will be held during the three days, and all the Native Sons and Native Daughters will march in the parade, the climax of the celebration.

Every hour of September 7, 8 and 9 will be filled with ceremonies, competitive games, and entertainments. On their arrival, visitors will be met by Boy Scouts of America, who will direct them to their destinations.

No expense has been spared to make this gala celebration an outstanding success. Visitors will be convinced that the twenty years since the last Admission Day celebration was held here is too long a time to have stayed away from Stockton.

The Admission Day parade—a long serpentine line of marchers in uniform, depicting the successive periods in the history of California, mounted officials, automobiles, decorated trucks and floats—will be watched with the keenest interest by the thousands along the line of march. It will move at 10:30 a.m. of Admission Day, Monday, September 9, from Market and San Joaquin Streets, east on Market to Aurora, out Aurora to Main, west on Main to Hunter Street Square, out Weber Avenue to Wilson Way, then counter march on Weber to Hunter Street Square, where the parade will pass in review.

F. Salfield, Dave Matthews, C. P. Rendon, Julius B. Manthey, James Ford, Harry Dunlap and Paul Riordan.

THE HOST

Stockton Parlor No. 7 N.S.G.W. was organized Saturday, March 12, 1881. Samuel L. Terry, Dayton F. O'Brien and George C. Israel were instrumental in securing the requisite number of signatures to establish the Parlor. When Frank Higgins, the Grand President, came up from San Francisco to regularly institute the Parlor and install its first officers, he found waiting for him in the K. of P. Hall, located in the "Hook Building," northeast corner of Main and San Joaquin Streets, the following charter members: Samuel L. Terry, Dayton F. O'Brien, George C. Israel, Hugh J. Corcoran, Ralph P. Lane, Montgomery Baggs, H. O. Haas, Walter C. Hogan, W. G. Wallace, Leroy S. Atwood, George L. Wolf, J. W. Glenn, J. C. Zignego Jr., W. R. Louttit and Frank E. Lane.

For a few months the Parlor meetings were held in the same hall with only partial regularity. No new additions were made to the membership owing, perhaps, to the fact that the Order was new and its principles and purposes were but vaguely defined and little understood. The Parlor was about to lose its charter when, by petition to the Grand President, the charter was reopened and a list of additional charter members was secured, largely through the persistent efforts of Leroy S. Atwood. A meeting was called in the same building, though in another hall. Several grand officers came over from Sacramento, where a session of the Grand Parlor had been held, and a thorough reorganization of the Parlor was effected on June 11, 1882. The charter was kept open until August 25th, and thirty-six names were added to the charter list. Henry E. Adams was the first regularly initiated member. Most of the first charter members participated in the reorganization and again accepted offices.

The Parlor was now firmly established and a substantial increase of membership followed. The lodgeroom in which the reorganization took place was abandoned for a more commodious one, located in the Austin Building, and long afterwards known as "Native Sons' Hall." . . .

The year following the reorganization (1883) was very propitious, and our prosperity and zeal attracting the attention of the Grand Parlor, Stockton, at its session, was selected for the holding by the Order at large of the first general celebration of the anniversary of Admission Day. Curtis H. Lindley of this Parlor was elected Grand Marshal, and under his excellent management the celebration was made a grand success and an event in the history of the Order.

Stockton Parlor has always been represented by a full delegation at every session of the Grand Parlor. . . . This Parlor has been well represented and taken a prominent part at every Admission Day celebration. It may be noted that in 1886, when the celebration was held in San Jose, Stockton Parlor's drill corps, captained by John D. Gall, attracted the attention of all. In 1890, at the celebration in San Francisco, Stockton Parlor paraded the largest representation of any interior Parlor. In 1894, at the celebration again held in San Jose, the hayseed band of Stockton Parlor was the leading feature of the parade. . . .

In 1896 the Parlor again undertook the general celebration of Admission Day. W. B. Nutter was Grand Marshal and the parade was noted for the fact that more Native Sons were in the line of march than on any previous occasion. This celebration reflected great credit upon the Parlor and its hospitality. With the coming of the celebration of that year, a new life came to the Parlor, and a long list of initiates, and when the year closed the membership had been increased upwards of one hundred.

In the year 1900, when the Admission Day celebration was again held in San Francisco, the river steamer "H. J. Corcoran" (named for one of our charter members) was chartered to carry the members to San Francisco and there remain as headquarters. At this celebration Stockton Parlor again had in line the largest number of members of any interior Parlor. On this occasion the members wore as a uniform blue serge suits, the coats of which were faced with poppy-colored silk.

On June 1, 1901, the meeting place of the Parlor was transferred to Pioneer Hall, northwest corner of Sutter Street and Weber Avenue. The Parlor by gradual accumulation acquired about one-third of the stock in the corporation owning the building. This stock was sold in Grand President Harmon D. Skillin and other grand officers and Past Grand Presidents of the N.S.G.W. will review the marchers. In the stand, also, will be officials of the State of California, and Mayor Franke of Stockton. After passing in review, the parade will proceed to Main and Center Streets, the most central point from which marchers may reach their headquarters.

In addition to the Native Sons and Native Daughters in the parade, there will be a large contingent of military marchers, Stockton police, Boy Scout of America troops, units of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary, and the drum corps and the chanters of the American Legion, long famous throughout the whole country.

Prizes for the best decorated float, the best marching, the winning drill teams and drum corps will be awarded, also prizes for winners of the baseball and the softball games. The competition committee for awarding these prizes is composed of three members of Stockton Parlor No. 7 N.S.G.W., and any and all decisions made by this committee shall be final.

Every member of each competing unit must be affiliated with the Parlor his or her unit represents. Disqualification shall be the penalty for units having participants who are not members of the N.S.G.W. or N.D.G.W., and/or who do not belong to the Parlor the unit represents.

The following Native Sons and Native Daughters championships are to be determined: (a) Native Sons drum and bugle corps, (b) Native Sons straight drum corps, (c) Native Daughters drum corps, (d) Native Daughters drill team. Members of a unit will be permitted to participate in one classification only .

GRAND PARLOR N.S.G.W.
ADMISSION DAY OBSERVANCE COMMITTEE.

Stockton, August 12, 1935.

"To All Subordinate Parlors Native Sons of the Golden West—Dear Sirs and Brothers: We are again nearing the birthday of our beloved State, California.

"It is hoped that all loyal Native Sons will lend their efforts to commemorate this important date and make preparations for the proper observance of the day.

"Stockton, the Inland Port of our State, as you have already been advised, has been selected as the spot for our celebration this year.

"Now is the time for us to show the people of California that we appreciate our heritage and that our pioneer father and mothers have not lived in vain.

"Pack your grip and come to Stockton. If this is not possible, arrangements should be made for local observance of the day by literary exercises, a parade, or other demonstrations to which the public should be invited.

"The ninth falls on Monday and Stockton is making preparations for one of the greatest three days' celebrations, on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, that has ever been held in California.

"Here where land and water meet and whence led the trails of our Pioneer Fathers to Jackass Hill, to the early homes of Mark Twain and Bret Harte and to other early historical points of the Mother Lode, we will celebrate as in the days of yore.

"Impress upon your merchants that they should close their doors of business on that day. Stockton on that day will close every business house except those of refreshment and repose. We'll be seeing you at Stockton."

Signed: HARRY HERRMAN, chairman, WILLIAM G. MUNTZ, SIDNEY B. WITKOWSKI, EDWARD HENSLEY, NICHOLAS MURPHY, Grand Parlor Admission Day Observance Committee.

December 1912, after the Parlor had moved to the hall, formerly the Elks' Hall in the Mail Building.

At the session of the Grand Parlor held at Oroville in 1900, Hubert R. McNoble of this Parlor, through the united efforts of the whole Parlor in his behalf, was chosen Grand Third Vice-President, and at the Grand Parlor session at Bakersfield in 1903 he was elected Grand President.

In 1912 the general celebration of Admission Day was again held in Stockton, and W. E. O'Connor as Grand Marshal was in charge of the parade. The latter was confined to Native Sons alone, no outside organizations being in line, and was commented upon both for the number in line and for the many decorated and historic floats.

In 1915, at the general celebration in San Francisco, held during the Panama-Pacific Exposition, Stockton Parlor's appearance in line in decorated automobiles was the great outstanding feature of the parade.

The Parlor moved into its present home in the Smith & Lang Building, January 1, 1920. Here it maintains its own lodge and club rooms, the latter open to the members at all times.

The Forty-fourth Session of the Grand Parlor was held in Stockton on April 18, 19 and 21, 1921, James F. Hoey, Grand President, presiding. The Fifty-fifth Session of the Grand Parlor was held in Stockton May 16-19, 1932, Seth Millington, Grand First Vice-president, presiding.

HEADQUARTERS.

During the Admission Day festivities in Stockton, headquarters will be maintained by the following:

In Remembrance of

Admission Day, 1935

Fires took a heavy toll throughout the state during September, among the most disastrous being: Kimball's carriage factory and several other buildings, San Francisco, 2nd, $75,000 loss; Wallace's tannery, Pasadena, Los Angeles County, 2nd, $10,000 loss; Grady's opera house and other structures, Fresno City, 7th, $25,000 loss; Fresno Vineyard Company's wine cellars and distillery, 11th, $100,000 loss.

A forest fire got out of control near You Bet, Nevada County, September 16, and destroyed the residence and sawmill of Louis Voss; loss $40,000. Jerry Culverson, in Burney Valley, Shasta County, lost his farm buildings and eight horses by fire September 22; loss $10,000.

The 3-year-old daughter of Omar Gould, living on a Roseville, Placer County, farm, September 10 got hold of a box of matches and set a fire that burned her fatally, destroyed the farm outbuildings and cremated four draft horses.

Gertera Romaro, one of the gang of horse thieves operating in the San Joaquin Valley, was located September 1 on a ranch near Merced City shearing sheep. Officers went there to arrest him, and in his attempt to escape he was shot dead.

Louis Anderson went insane September 12 and killed Superintendent Wm. Russell of the Felton, Santa Cruz County, lime works. He was pursued by a posse and when, September 17, he refused to surrender and prepared to fight, he was shot and killed.

In a quarrel at Chico, Butte County, September 21 between S. Chaney and H. C. Burson, brothers-in-law, Burson killed Chaney.

Dr. A. W. Powers, living in Bear Valley, near Hollister, San Benito County, was found September 17 hanging from the limb of a tree. He had first been shot and killed and then his body had been suspended from the tree, by unknown parties. A placard attached to the body read: "Vigilante No. 150."

At a meeting of the Irish Land League in San Mateo City the evening of September 22 a speaker delivered a fiery address and used the expresssion "We must use dynamite" several times. After saying it emphatically the 'nth time, a hissing noise was heard and a volume of black smoke began to arise from one of the aisles. Some one yelled "dynamite," and the hall was quickly emptied. No explosion followed, and after about fifteen minutes of anxious waiting investigation disclosed an empty cigar box, with a long piece of burned fuse. A reward of $100 was offered for the apprehension of the practical joker.

As a memorial to the Pony Express, an old building in Sacramento City where, seventy-five years ago, California's first overland mail was received, has been presented to the State.

The Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs Association will have its forty-second annual convention September 9-12 at Sacramento City.

Walnut plantings in California total 139,005 acres, with an investment of $135,065,154.

and vegetable processing plants have become important, due to a demand in the East for choice California canned goods. Luxurious cruisers are the pride of local boat builders and the enjoyment of boat lovers everywhere.

Located in the great valley of California, the climate of Stockton is inviting and healthful. The warm dry air, with its lack of moisture, is more stimulating than depressing. A cool ocean breeze, blowing off the Pacific Ocean through the Carquinez Straits, tempers the valley atmosphere, before gathering warmth. This assures pleasant and delightful evenings.

Stockton is essentially a city of homes. Fine gardens, well-kept lawns and large trees throw a contrast against the brightness of the famed California sunshine. Community improvements have advanced with every phase of modern progress, and the city is also noted for parks, playgrounds and recreational facilities. Two hundred fifteen acres of park space, provide a wealth of activities in swimming, tennis and baseball, or just a pleasant spot to relax. On the banks of the San Joaquin River, below the deep-water terminal, is the Stockton Golf and Country Club. The municipal nine-hole golf course is located just south of the San Joaquin County Fair, the yearly scene of fine exhibits and wonderful horse racing.

Stockton has not neglected her youth. No community can boast a better education system. A full course of studies are available, from kindergarten to a college M.A. degree. All buildings were remodeled or rebuilt, with the addition of a few more to take care of expanding needs and to conform to the latest type of school architecture. Manual training, domestic arts, music and commercial training is part of the complete instruction received in Stockton schools. This is further strengthened by the College of Pacific, situated on a beautiful campus in this city. It is the oldest co-educational college in California and has a kindred pioneer spirit in keeping with the rest of the community.

Stockton's central location, adjacent to the state's widely heralded scenic wonders, affords exceptional opportunities to enjoy the great out-of-doors. Some of the leading scenic attractions of California are within a few hours' drive from this city. A thoroughly enjoyable week-end trip may be made to such points as Lake Tahoe, Yosemite National Park, Calaveras Big Trees, Silver Lake, American River Canyon, Gateway to Tahoe, Mercer's Cave in Murphys, Bret Barte and Mark Twain Gold Camps and the Mother Lode, or to any coastal resort and watering places. One-day trips are sufficient for visits to any of them, and many other enjoyable tours are ever present.

For the hunter and fisherman, Stockton's location affords exceptional good game and fishing. Ducks, doves, quail, geese, deer and other game abound near Stockton. The bass fishing is the finest in the nation, and trout fishing is the great sport of the Sierra. The thousand miles of waterways hold untold opportunities for swimming, bathing, fishing and boating, and can be explored during one's leisure time by a system of levee roads and ferries.

And so, in reviewing Stockton's wealth of agricultural products, industrial activities, deep-water harbor, homes, schools and recreational opportunities, we find there is still a community where the sturdiness and open-heartedness of the Pioneer lives, bringing the charm of Western hospitality to all that visit this city.

Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West are assured the best that this city has to offer, and the Admission Day celebration this year will be remembered by all those attending. We wish to welcome all those visitors to enjoy a real three days of pleasure.

SAN FRANCISCO

Rev. Thomas J. McKeon
(GRAND HISTORIAN N.S.G.W.)

IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE, THE FIRST Admission Day celebration was unique. It was not celebrated on September 9th. It was unlike any other ever held, and though it was not the "planned" celebration, it was far more exciting and zestful.

California did not know that Congress had taken the action which admitted her into the Union until October 18th. On that day, the steamer "Oregon" came into the Bay of San Francisco firing the agreed-upon number of guns that told the waiting city the good news. At once, intense excitement prevailed. Business of every description was instantly suspended. Courts adjourned in the very midst of legal proceedings. Men dropped their pens at their desks, and their tools in the shops, and flocked, pell-mell, into the streets, wild with excitement. And in no time at all, the town, his wife and the children were at the wharves. When the "Oregon" rounded Clark's Point (the tip of Telegraph Hill which then extended out into the bay), her masts filled with fluttering flags and banners, a vast shout arose from the thousands on the wharves, ships and Telegraph Hill. Cheers, mighty cheers, as from one immense throat, echoed and re-echoed, for the long-sought statehood was granted and the heart of California was glad.

Every public place was speedily thronged with eager seekers after particulars. The newspapers which came out a few hours afterwards were bought at from one to five dollars a copy, to be worn to thin tatters long before all were content at seeing with their own eyes the news that meant so much to them. "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick," and politics had kept putting off and off the admission of California till the citizens almost dispaired. And this splendid news lifted a weight from their hearts.

As the day advanced, the excitement increased. Flags of every kind, so long as they were flags, were run up upon every flagpole; and flagpoles were improvised from planks and branches of trees to bear aloft with flaunting bunting the exaltation of a people to whom statehood had been granted. Two large guns in the Plaza (Portsmouth Square) were constantly discharged. And the eager populace, glad to express their joy so vociferously, were impatient at the gunners who were cautious not to let the guns become too hot lest they burst. At night, the streets were filled with people, joyous and exultant. Every public building and place of resort (and early San Francisco had plenty of them) was ablaze with light; bands added to the excitement with their fanfare and martial music; bonfires blazed upon the city's many hills; impromptu dances and parties added to the gayety, and dawn found the city still celebrating because now California was a State.

On October 29th, the regular "planned" celebration was held. A long procession of public bodies, fire companies, uniformed groups, Chinese in native costume, banners, bands and drum corps marched to the Plaza, where the Honorable Nathaniel Bennett of the State Supreme Court delivered an oration. The largest public ball ever given to that time lasted till dawn. Fireworks, bonfires and illuminations continued the celebration. But for frenzied excitement and abandon, for sheer hilarity and joy, the impromptu celebration on the day the "Oregon" brought the news far surpassed the "planned" affair.

We Californians, we Native Sons, often fail to realize the meaning of the fact that California was the thirty-first state admitted to the Union. There had been fifteen "slave" states and fifteen "free" states, and the Congress battled for long, weary months before California was admitted. The South fought against it; the North fought for it. For as the decision went, so would the destiny of the country. To admit it as a free state the South knew would forever break the balance it had been insisting upon, and had kept till now. And it is a providential fact that the State Legislature which met, elected its officers and disbanded before California was admitted to the Union,—a remarkable achievement in itself—in setting the boundaries of the State where they are, and not including the present Nevada and Utah, influenced the South to grant statehood to a free California because it was thought that "slave" states might be carved from the rest of the territory.

But California was admitted, and the balance was broken. The days of slavery were almost over. California repayed the North fourfold by pouring gold into the United States Treasury to win the Civil War. And so, we Native Sons should not forget to celebrate the admission of our State. Because of the importance of that admission, we should not let our fellow-citizens forget.

HISTORIC SITE PLAQUED.

The Historic Landmarks Committee of the N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor placed and dedicated August 8 at the southwest corner of Sacramento and Merchant streets a plaque honoring Pony Express riders of the early days. The office of the Alta California Telegraph Company, western terminus of the express, formerly occupied the site.

Past Grand President Lewis F. Byington presided, and among the speakers were Grand President Harmon D. Skillin and Past Grand President Joseph R. Knowland. Mrs. Alma Carlisle, a descendant of one of the founders of the Pony Express, unveiled the plaque.

BREAKFAST AT N.D. HOME.

Rena Taube of Genevieve Parlor No. 132, Grand Inside Sentinel Claire Lindsey of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 and Phylis Hirst of Balboa Parlor No. 249 were hostesses at the August 11 breakfast at the Native Daughters Home. The floral decorations at the speakers' table were most unusual—magnolia blossoms.

Joseph Tinney of Rincon Parlor No. 72 N.S.G.W. gave an inspiring oration on "Education," and Past Grand Dr. Mariana Bertola pleased with humorous remarks. Chairman Taube, on behalf of the hostess Parlors, presented to Dr. Bertola for the Home a gift of amber glassware, and expressed a wish that it would give as much service and pleasure as has Dr. Bertola during her many years of leadership.

A delightful morning was concluded with a program to which the following contributed: Miss Meinen, Imelda Archambault, Lucille Rus-

JOINT INSTALLATIONS.

Officers of Rincon Parlor No. 72 N.S.G.W. and Gabrielle Parlor No. 139 N.D.G.W. were publicly installed by Deputies Gus Ritter and Nan Kelly, Peter Lovrin and Hazel Spiegel becoming the respective presidents. Ethel Begley, Grand Marshal N.D.G.W., was the honor-guest, and a past president emblem was presented Florence Bodeman of Gabrielle. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served. Both Parlors are looking forward to big turnouts at Stockton, Admission Day, September 9.

Officers of Precita Parlor No. 187 N.S.G.W. and Las Lomas Parlor No. 72 N.D.G.W. were installed by Deputies Cornelius Ryan and Gertrude Collins, Peter Ferran and Daisy Hunter becoming the respective presidents.

With Ed. Reniger and Anna L. Duddy as the respective presidents, officers of Presidio Parlor No. 194 N.S.G.W. and Presidio Parlor No. 148 N.D.G.W. were publicly installed August 5 by Deputies A. M. Nishkian and Gertrude LaFortune. The ceremonies, attended by more than 500, were followed by dancing and refreshments. Outside Sentinel Thomas Lyons, Financial Secretary Herman Schmidt and Recording Secretary G. A. Ducker of No. 194 began, respectively, their forty-second, thirty-ninth and twenty-eighth terms of office. Late this fall, when its new hall in the Golden Gate Valley-Marina District is completed, Presidio N.S.G.W. will celebrate its forty-first institution anniversary, having been instituted August 21, 1894.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS PARLORS NEWS.

Officers of Alta No. 3, with Thelma Flake as president, were publicly installed by Deputy Emily Taylor. The halls were decorated with pink gladioli. Refreshments were served, and several presentations were made. Past Grands Eliza D. Keith and Margaret G. Hill were in attendance. Entertainment was furnished by Estelle Carr and Zelle Marchand. Chairman Alice Creighton was assisted by Robina Sheperd, Margaret Kent, Angeline Vest, Mary Jordan, Rebecca Macey, Agnes Hughes, Mary Warren, Mary Schultz, Mary Noonan and Claire Bolman.

Grand Trustee Orinda Gunther-Giannini was honor-guest at a reception and dance sponsored by Orinda No. 56. President Rose Van Laak welcomed the guests, and Mrs. Giannini, who was the recipient of many gifts, expressed appreciation for the honor conferred on her and pledged faithful service. Musical numbers were rendered by Alyce Gendotti, N.D.G.W. glee club, Mae Baumeister, Nora Schefiin and Mae O'Keefe. Among the many in attendance were Grand Marshal Ethel Begley, Grand Trustees Alice M. Lane and Alice M. Oldham, Grand Inside Sentinel Claire Lindsey, Past Grands Dr. Mariana Bertola, Eliza D. Keith, Emma G. Foley, May C. Boldemann, Margaret G. Hill and Evelyn I. Carlson, Deputy Juanita Blanchfield, and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Gunther, parents of Grand Trustee Giannini.

President Carolyn Kerwin of Genevieve No. 132 plans to commemorate Constitution Day with a fitting program September 5. Members of the Parlor's drum corps attended August 6 a birthday dinner in honor of Bernice Storm. Preparations have been formulated to celebrate California's birthday in a most edifying manner.

Keith No. 137's officers were installed by Deputy Rena Taube, Sallie Sullivan becoming president. Hilma Richter was chairman of the evening. Dancing and refreshments followed the ceremonies. Visitors included Grand President Anna Thuesen, Past Grand Margaret Hill, Grand Marshal Ethel Begley, Grand Trustees Orinda Giannini and Alice Lane, Grand Inside Sentinel Claire Lindsey.

Helen Lokken, former drill captain, was honor-guest of Dolores No. 169 August 14. Pres-

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

PLAIN BLACK SATIN IS CHIC. THERE never was a more satisfactory fashion than the one which invariably brings us plain black satin dresses. In August, all the girls, both short and tall, or lean and plump, will get over the last dog days in dashing cool black satin. The shops are simply bursting with such models, and many are seen on well-dressed women along the streets. At present, the short-sleeved models are having the biggest play and they look especially well when worn with white hats. White gloves are usually a part of the ensemble, but the black shoes are undoubtedly the smartest. Most of the short-sleeved models have rather full circular skirts, with waistlines that are either normal or dropped the least bit. When pleats are part of the design in these latest dresses, they are not pressed in, but are permitted to curve in folds, usually to the front of the skirt.

Black is going to be more popular than ever the coming season. The cooler months have brought some unique introductions, so black is in very definitely. It is smart to finish the season with a black hat, gloves and bag worn with a brilliant print dress.

This is the time of year when writers babble deliriously of a confusion of trends, but here are some things you may be sure of for fall: Fabrics will glitter by day and by night. Skirts will be shorter for daytime and floor length for evening. Skirt fulness is back, in flares, in gores and, most important, in pleats. Front fulness is the order of the day, achieved by drapery, shirring, pleats and whatnot. Clothes will hang more loosely, yet they will reveal the figure. The day of the skin-tight skirt is over, yet correct foundation garments are more important than ever.

Black and gray are the fall color favorites, though the deep vivid colors such as green, red, blue and rust are well in the picture. Afternoon dresses may take to trousers. The harem hem is still apparent. A certain designer shows them for women's sports, afternoon and evening wear. Skirts are definitely divided. Pleated trousers come in daytime woolens, satins and velvets. Trouser dresses have tunics.

Hooded capes for evening and sports are on the up and up, and some dresses even have monks-hood collars. The three-quarters capes have a dramatic military swish and will be the particular pets of the season, both in furs and fabrics for day and evening. Evening gowns run to sumptuous metallic fabrics, shining cellophane or mixtures of the two. They are shown both in classic draped lines and in period style with full skirts.

Belts have grown wider. They come in suede or soft calfskin and it is chic to buy them to match the handbag. They may be worn in the evening or in the daytime. Sports or street apparel has suede and calfskin. Gold and silver adorn the evening gown. Jeweled buckles are used in a swanky way, as a brilliant color contrast.

Jewelry plays an important part in the composition of feminine loveliness. The right ornament makes the pretty one at the evening party appear dazzling and chic, while the wrong selection puts her completely out of sartorial form. So, what must be considered?—the time and the place, of course, color of the frock, color of the eyes and one's own personality. Quaint trinkets from grandma's treasures suit the quiet, demure girl, but the glittering, slinking, exotic woman may get away with flashier decorations. Pearls are for blondes, that is a safe rule, though brunettes may wear them too. Topaz is ideal when golden tresses cover the pretty head. Use your own good taste.

Believe it or not, stockings of pink, pale blue, chamois and yellow are reported as the latest panic. The vogue for wearing sheer pink chiffon stockings with black street costumes has spread. You will see them often from now on. Vivid hosiery are predicted, to match evening gowns. Raspberry and purple are expected to be in high demand, in addition to the navy blue now so popular. A new waterproof stocking is guaranteed not to spot in rainy weather. The knee-length stockings, with an elastic band at the top, are debutantes' choice for evening and sports wear, solving the garter problem for girls who do not like girdles.

You may add a spot of white or color to any costume with a vestee. New trimming touches for fall are alencon lace in bows and jabots on dark sheer dresses. White frogs, white tassels, and white card girdles are used to accent black crepe street dresses.

Now that Ethiopia has landed on the front pages, we will have the ethiopian turban. However, it is something pretty, special and highly decorative. You will see it mostly in rich, glittering, metallic fabrics, wrapped around the head in the approved Ethiopian manner and secured at the front with a vivid jewel, or maybe a feather. It is worn with a dinner gown or semi-formal evening costume and blends well with the elegant trend of the mode. Other turbans of the moment are going in for huge bow trimmings, flaring like blackbirds, and posed toward the front. The bow turban is seen mostly in black velvet or stiff faille for fall and is dashing for wear with the first fall frock.

You will all agree that the new woolens are lovely, from the standpoint of color and texture. Rich autumn monotones are in the majority, although there are a restricted number of novelties being shown. These include plaids, checks and chevron stripes.

If you are thinking of an autumn suit right now, nine times out of ten its coat will be a swagger. They come in many lengths, but seven-eights meets the popular demand. The silhouette changes are both definite and delightful. We are "swagger mad," whether for sports, travel or street. For dressy afternoon or formal evening, the swagger takes precedence over all other types. It is amazingly versatile and varies its length to suit its mood.

Backs are important. By their backs, if by nothing else, will the vintage of the new coats be revealed. Having been prepared for a radical change in the neckline, it may surprise you to find collars still affecting a high or even higher line. Coincident with the new high collars and scarfs, we find many filled-in designs, which may be draped higher or lower to personal preference. As for the triangle scarfs, they come in a wide variety of materials and colors, and in a still wider variety of designs. They are fringed, hemstitched or picoted, handdrawn or hand-crocheted. They are gaily printed or woven in colorful designs, and perfect beauties are done in batik. Brilliantly correct is art. So suggest inspired accessories which will make you love the new season.

THE JOSHUA TREE

In desert wilderness
With out-stretched limbs you stood
To show the way
For Mormons sought the Promised Land
In which to pray.

Strong pointers were your arms
To the land of Joshua
The Lord prepared
A land of honey and of wine
For those who cared.

What eloquence is yours!
Strong tree of mystic power
Day after day
Your arms of faith still point men to
The promised way.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

NOTE—Expressions of opinion in these "Growls" are, unless indicated otherwise, those of the Managing Editor.
CLARENCE M. HUNT.

ADMISSION DAY REVIVES, OR SHOULD revive, an interest in history. And what history is more intensely interesting than that of wonderful, glorious California, the brightest gem in the Circle of States! For nigh on to twenty-nine years The Grizzly Bear has featured history—the authentic, not the mythical, variety—and has given preference to the history of California during, and just preceding, the American era. Because, Admission Day of September 8, 1850, witnessed the termination of Mexican rule and the official inauguration of American rule over California. Admission Day should be observed, therefore, not as a Spanish or a Mexican holiday, but as an American holiday, for such it truly is.

History is predictive! Closely studied and correctly interpreted, it serves as a never-faulty guide. Permit history to guide, and we cannot go far astray, unless we become apathetic.

For some twenty years, history being the inspiration, The Grizzly Bear has warned of the Jap menace to California, giving the unvarnished facts incident to the steady advance of the "peaceful invasion" army of little yellow men upon California soil. Quantities of "inside," and also generally-known, information has been released, without fear, through these columns, and the machinations of the yellow-Japs, and likewise those of the white-Japs, have, without fear or favor, been exposed. And, during these past twenty years, The Grizzly Bear has repeatedly sounded the warning that, unless the advance of Japan's "peaceful invasion" army be stayed, California will be lost to the White race!

That conclusion is based on history. POSSESSORS OF THE SOIL HOLD THE DESTINY OF THIS STATE! The history of California, as well as that of the world, so records and proves, beyond any doubt. Japan's subjects in this state have in their possession vast acreage of the most fertile land, acquired through trickery and law defiance, and subjects of Japan—here to do that country's bidding—have colonized in strategic locations throughout the state. So, it must follow, as the night the day, that, unless this invasion army from Japan be dispossessed of the soil, California is destined to become thoroughly japanized—part and parcel of the Empire of Japan—and the time is not far distant!

Oh, California, may this Admission Day instill or rekindle in the hearts of thy children the PIONEER SPIRIT! May they emulate the valor and the virtues of those Pioneer Fathers and Mothers who, few in number, but unafraid and fired with determination and love of country, pushed forward and, overcoming seemingly insurmountable barriers, won, for their time, control of the destiny of California. May thy children be aroused and, through united, militant action NOW, not tomorrow, remove the menace to California that, through apathy, has become most serious!

Too long have we stood still, while the Japs push forward. Too long have we protested by mouthings and resolutions. Too long have we depended on public officials, who have failed miserably in their sworn duty. May Admission Day inspire thy children, California, to right about face! May thy natal day, American California, witness the inauguration of a militant movement that will recover lost ground!

Delay no longer and be not afraid. California—the Paradise of the White Man—was given into our keeping by the Pioneers. Are we going to be faithful to that trust, or are we going to pass this priceless heritage on to our descendants as the paradise of the yellow man? The destiny of California rests in our decision today!

The State Government received a glorious, and deserved, rap at the polls August 13, when a large majority of the voting citizens turned down the three more-revenue propositions submitted at a special election. It was a vote of lack of confidence in the political powers-that-be, a vote of warning to lower the ever-mounting cost of government. Incidentally, The Grizzly Bear is the ONE publication that, in the interest of the homeowners of California and to the disgust of the politicians, openly advocated the swatting of every proposition.

It is very doubtful, however, if the spenders of tax-wrung funds guiding the Ship of State to bankruptcy will heed this rebuke at the polls and lessen the cost of government. As a matter of fact, they continue to increase the number to be fed at the public trough—adding to the numerical strength of the political machine. And, by some hook or crook, they will get the funds they want, unless the taxpayers revolt. Already there is talk of a special session of the Legislature.

Taxes are preventing the return to normalcy, and also forcing propertyowners onto relief rolls—generally admitted facts. Instead of asking, at a costly special election, for more revenue, why did the State Government not seek abolishment of many of the much-talked-about "fixed charges" which could well be dispensed with? Simply because the politicians would not permit that; it would necessitate reducing the personnel of the political machine—that must be kept intact and well financed, despite the plight of propertyowners!

The cost of government can, and should, be reduced,—and taxes lowered—even though the governing forces contend otherwise. But it is very apparent that the reducing will have to be forced by the taxpayers. Stop the flow of tax funds down the political rathole via a tax strike and see how quickly the course of the Ship of State will be righted—and taxes reduced. California needs a safe, sane, competently administered and financially sound government—one operated within the ability of the propertyowners to support—and a tax strike will provide it, speedily.

Why talk about it any longer—let's act."

The district attorney is right, and action—additional necktie parties—may be expected unless there be a decided improvement in conditions. Not only is the machinery wrong, but also many of the machinery operators.

Hats off to the citizens of old Sonoma County! The disturbers, who were being fed at public expense, after much grumbling departed. Action got desired results!

A movement followed to have the State Emergency Relief Administration require those receiving or who may in future apply for relief to take "an oath of allegiance to uphold the Flag, Constitution and Government of the United States of America and to bear arms in their defense, if necessary." That's a splendid proposal, one which should have the approval of every loyal citizen and patriotic organization of California. Any person who refuses to make, and abide by, that oath is not deserving of assistance. The carrying out of this policy by all public relief agencies should, for the good of California, be demanded by those who are furnishing relief funds, the taxpayers.

The thing necessary to be done, if democracy is to survive, is to clear away from the roots the political-racketeer parasites (big-ones).

They are coming in all manner of conveyances, droves of families without any means of support, camping enroute, and are quartered

WILMINGTON—SAN PEDRO

THE FORWARD LOOKING HARBOR DISTRICT OF THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

Stanley A. Wheeler

ON THE SAME MUD FLATS AND SHALlow sloughs which the Spanish navigator Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo found in 1542, there stands today the world's outstanding man-made seaport, Los Angeles Harbor.

In this same area which the British navigator Captain George Vancouver visited 140 years ago and found only a handful of Indians, 50,000 people now live in San Pedro and Wilmington, their lives bound up in the commerce and trade of the thriving gateway to the great Pacific Southwest.

And from the same natural surroundings which Richard Henry Dana described as "desolate," there has been built a deep-water port with forty miles of frontage, twenty-five miles of it highly improved with steamship terminals, shipyards, lumber plants and naval facilities.

San Pedro and Wilmington were formerly independent waterfront towns, but since 1909 they have been parts of metropolitan Los Angeles. San Pedro comprises the outer harbor district and extends from the waterfront up into the Palos Verdes Hills. Wilmington surrounds the inner harbor district and extends eastward to the Long Beach boundary. East of San Pedro and south of Wilmington lies Terminal Island, an important industrial section of the port.

During the last fiscal year 6,824 commercial ships arrived to discharge their passengers and cargoes at San Pedro and Wilmington docks. These vessels handled approximately 19,000,000 tons of cargo, valued at approximately $700,000,000. Both of these tonnage and valuation figures were greater in 1929-30, the year before world-wide depression claimed its toll on business. In that year 8,633 commercial vessels, under the flags of a score of maritime nations, arrived.

Some of the harbor's special distinctions include: largest petroleum shipping port in the world, largest lumber receiving port in the world, the principal water shipping point of the world for citrus fruits, first in the world for the export of borax, first in American intercoastal tonnage, second only to New York in American export tonnage to foreign lands, second port of the world in importance and quantity of its fisheries products, Grimsby, England, ranking first according to latest data available.

Because of the gigantic oil fields in the southern part of California, San Pedro and Wilmington have become the logical shipping points for the petroleum trade moving by water. The average annual shipments run over 100,000,000 barrels to all parts of the world. These shipments are valued at more than $200,000,000. Southland gasoline goes out to run the airplanes and automobiles of the Orient, South America, Europe and Africa. Fuel oil from this port drives the shipping of most of the nations of the world. Its kerosene lights the "lamps of china." The Atlantic coast of the United States also buys and ships much of its oil from this area, by way of Panama. Ten large oil companies maintain highly developed waterfront loading stations to serve tank ships.

More than 400,000,000 board-feet of lumber moved into the port last year from timber-growing areas of the Pacific Northwest. This figure has been trebled in some of the years gone by. Much of the building of California, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and New Mexico has been done with lumber moved through San Pedro and Wilmington.

This year 3,000,000 boxes of southland oranges, grapefruit and lemons are moving out to overseas markets by way of the port. A hundred ships with refrigeration compartments carry this great fruit crop. Northern European nations are the principal foreign buyers of the fruit, but the Orient, Australia and Hawaii have taken their share. Even New York is today receiving increased amounts of citrus by the water route.

Los Angeles Harbor has directly benefited from the building of the Panama Canal to a greater degree than any other American seaport. A dozen intercoastal lines under the American Flag, and twice that number of foreign lines from Europe make this port their first call after passing westbound through the great isthmian waterway.

In recent years the harbor has become important as the doorway to Hawaiian and Australian markets. The ships of 180 different lines call regularly. Eight of these are in around-the-world passenger and freight service. One steamship company, in describing the harbor's trade routes, stated that one can sail to 700 world ports from San Pedro and Wilmington.

Of growing importance in the last ten years has been the passenger traffic. Representatives of the press who "cover the waterfronts" of San Pedro and Wilmington are authority for the statement that "Eventually most all persons in world news pass through Los Angeles Harbor." And thousands more, who are not "in the news" also move up and down the gangplanks of passenger steamers calling at this port.

The southland's famed vacation facilities for both summer and winter, the ever-growing commercial importance of Los Angeles and its vicinity where more than 2,000,000 people reside, the Hollywood motion picture colony, the development of the Panama Canal, all contribute to the flow of travelers by water. Santa Catalina Island has played its share in this traffic.

A dozen large and modern fish packing plants can be found on the waterfronts. Here are canned the principal tuna packs of the world. Sardines and mackerel are also important for canning in this area. The port supports many fresh fish markets, which freeze and ship seafood products to all the states of the Union. More than 2,000 boats form the San Pedro and Wilmington fishing fleet.

Hundreds of pleasure craft are owned by southern Californians, and many of these are based at the harbor, which provides adequate building and repair yards. The famed biennial California to Hawaii yacht race usually starts from San Pedro.

Eight months out of each year the United States fleet bases its larger ships off San Pedro and Long Beach. During this time twelve of the fifteen battleships of the navy and most of the nation's twenty heavy "treaty" cruisers operate out of the port for their annual fall, winter and spring gunnery exercise. Gradually the navy is building up shore facilities in San Pedro. Plans are now pending for the development of a great base in the outer harbor, and already the navy has taken a lease on the municipally owned airport on Terminal Island.

Pending in Washington are bills and appropriations which some day will provide a giant drydock in San Pedro, large enough to lift the largest vessel in the fleet.

Important to both the navy and to the future trade of the harbor is the great breakwater now being extended under Federal Government contracts. The San Pedro breakwater, built years ago through the efforts of such distinguished leaders as Stephen M. White, United States Senator from California, is 2.11 miles in length. Out from Long Beach is a seawall more than a mile in length, and between these two a new "island section" more than two miles in length is being built to afford an enormous protected deep-water anchorage.

As the world's greatest man-made seaport, Los Angeles Harbor already represents an expenditure of approximately $56,000,000. Municipal funds totaling $42,000,000 have built piers, cargo sheds, roadways, rail connections and deep-water channels. Federal funds have totaled more than $14,000,000, and have served to build the breakwater, deepen the former shallow sloughs and reclaim mudflats.

The development of San Pedro and Wilmington has not been entirely connected with harbor and shipping facilities. Each of these communities, admittedly parts of a great city which claims the fifth largest population figure in America, have distinct civic achievements to themselves.

Both San Pedro and Wilmington have their own chambers of commerce, fraternal orders, churches and civic clubs. Both communities have public buildings, parks and schools which would be a credit to any American town, and more of these facilities are to be built.

Banning Park in Wilmington is a beauty spot well worth visiting, and in addition it carries with it the atmosphere handed down by one of California's old pioneer American families.

San Pedro boasts three excellent public grounds in Point Fermin, Averill and Peck Parks. For years the Los Angeles board of playground commissioners has taken pride in these projects. San Pedro, already provided with a large and modern branch city hall, will soon be supplied with a new half-million-dollar Federal building which will house the postoffice and all federal branches of the government connected with the shipping industry.

San Pedro's development dates back to the Sepulveda family, which first acquired the land under a grant from the King of Spain in 1800. Descendants of the Sepulveda family are still prominent in the life of the community.

Wilmington's colorful history includes the original planning of the town by General Phineas Banning in 1854 and the building of historic Drum Barracks during the Civil War.

Present-day modern trade of both communities dates through the years when desert camel trains helped to carry cargoes and mail to and from the waterfront, when Yankee trading ships came in from Boston by way of Cape Horn and when General Banning and other pioneers raced their stagecoaches between the harbor and the Pueblo of Los Angeles.

N.S.G.W. GROUP INITIATION.

Wilmington—Sepulveda No. 263 N.S.G.W. was host for the first group initiation of the southland Parlors for the 1935-36 term August 22, and every Parlor in San Bernardino, Orange and Los Angeles Counties was well represented, the attendance approximating a hundred. Among the number were Past Grand John T. Newell, Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth, District Deputies Daniel F. McSweeny (chairman District Deputies Promotion Association), Edward Baldwin and Ivan Harper, Deputies Walter H. Odemar, Albert K. Boeckman, Sidney B. Witkowski and Clarence M. Hunt.

The officers of Sepulveda with President Frank Bronson presiding, assisted by Roger Johnson (Los Angeles No. 45) at the piano, exemplified the ritual for the benefit of ten candidates—three for Sepulveda, two each for Glendale Parlor No. 264 and Compton Parlor No. 273, and one each for Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 and Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267.

District Deputy McSweeny addressed the initiates, taking for his theme the deaths of Will Rogers and Wiley Post and urging the Native Sons to dare and to do. Grand Trustee Youngworth called attention to the Jap menace. Refreshments were served. September 17, Sepulveda Parlor will present United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags to the Carson-street public school, Wilmington.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS IN NEW HOME.

San Pedro — Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. had as a visitor August 13 Deputy Ruth Ruiz, who installed the officers. The Parlor is now meeting at the corner of Nineteenth and Cabrillo streets, San Pedro, the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

Fiesta de San Gabriel will be held at San Gabriel, Los Angeles County, September 7-9, in celebration of the one hundred and sixty-fourth anniversary of Mission San Gabriel Arcangel, which was founded September 8, 1771.

The Los Angeles County Fair is billed for Pomona, September 13-29. Included also will be the Riverside and the Orange Counties Fairs.

SAN BERNARDINO

CITY AND COUNTY — THE GATE WAY TO GOLDEN CALIFORNIA

SAN BERNARDINO, "THE COUNTY OF diversified products and unlimited resources," is another region in California where scenic snow-capped mountains tower over golden orange groves. Possessed of thousands of fertile and well-watered acres guarded by the picturesque San Bernardino Mountains, a vast stretch of desert with untold treasures of minerals, combined with transcontinental rail lines, 3,600 miles of roads and highways, and a dozen thriving cities, San Bernardino County is, in truth, an empire.

San Bernardino, a southern California county, is touched by the counties of Riverside, Orange, Los Angeles, Kern and Inyo, while across the entire boundary on the east are parts of Nevada and Arizona. This section embraces 20,175 square miles, or large enough to place the States of Delaware, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Rhode Island within the boundaries. Compared with another state, it is slightly over half the size of Kentucky.

The general surface is made up of uplands, fertile valleys and deserts. All the great southwestern section, south of the Mojave Desert, itself larger than the State of Massachusetts, is traversed by a range of mountains. It is here that most of the population reside, an area sixty miles east of Los Angeles with San Bernardino as the vortex of activity.

The San Bernardino Mountains, including the summit of Cajon Pass, Mount San Antonio and Mount San Bernardino, take a northwest and southeast trend and break into wavy hills between the mountains of San Diego County and the Colorado Desert in Imperial County. The highest peaks reach an elevation of 11,800 and 12,600 feet, capped with snow many months of the year. One of the attractions lies in the marvelous views of the orange and lemon groves with their perpetual green and huge balls of golden fruit, or the splendor of the fragrant blossoms, against a background of snow.

Many of the valleys have an artesian water belt of great value as the ranges are timbered or covered with vegetation. On the south sides chaparral is predominant. These natural covers act as a barrier to the rainfall or the flow of melting snow, while the mountains shield against the heated air of the Mohave Desert, transforming it into a desirable warm, dry climate to give the county the chief industrial feature, the orange.

The early history of San Bernardino County, especially San Bernardino Valley, is marked by the heroism and devotion of the mission padres, the romance of the early Spanish settlers and the never-tiring loyalty of the Pioneer.

Father Juan Bautista de Anza, while seeking an inland route from Sonora, in Old Mexico, to Monterey, California, led the first expedition into the county, in the year 1774. Father Francisco Hermenegildo Garces, who accompanied the expedition, returned in 1776 to make further exploration. With Mojave Indians as guides, he followed an ancient Indian trail across the desert and is supposed to have been the first White man to traverse this territory or to view the Mojave River. This trail began in the vicinity of Needles, followed the river and its western branch to the summit of the San Bernardino Mountains, down the southern slope and into lower Cajon Pass. Practically the same route is used at the present time.

Padre Dumetz of the San Gabriel Mission founded a capilla at the Guachama Rancho on May 20, 1810, and was known as Old San Bernardino. This was the feast day of St. Bernardine de Sienna. This was a part of the general movement of the missionaries to establish missions in the interior as a protection against desert Indians who threatened the coast missions. However, Old San Bernardino was only temporary, as a strong garrison would have been required in the face of Indian raids. At the request of immediate Indians, Father Jose Zalvidea of San Gabriel Mission, Los Angeles County, introduced stock raising and farming at Guachama, constructing the first adobe house and the first irrigation ditch in the valley, in 1819. The main ranch building on Mission road, five miles from San Bernardino, has been restored.

On April 12, 1848, a group of soldiers from the Mormon Batallion, returning to Salt Lake City, took with them the first wagon to make the trip through Cajon Pass. The following year Captain Jefferson Hunt undertook to guide a caravan of 100 wagons into southern California, consisting of people enroute to the California gold fields but who were detained on account of snow in the high passes of the Sierra Nevada Mountains. Many lost their lives in or near Death Valley after they had strayed from the main caravan to seek easier routes due to misleading rumors. Captain Hunt returned to Salt Lake City in 1850 and agitated establishing a Mormon colony in southern California. Brigham Young was agreeable, and in March 1851 500 Mormons, with horses, cattle and household equipment, departed for San Bernardino Valley. The first of the three sections arrived and camped at Sycamore Grove, in Cajon Pass, June 24, 1851. After the entire party assembled a location for a settlement was sought and the present site of San Bernardino was selected on account of the abundance of grass and water for the stock.

One of the most elaborate fortifications, patterned after that at Salt Lake City, was constructed on the present site of the county courthouse, in the year 1852. The following year the townsite of San Bernardino was laid out, one mile square, and on April 13, 1854, the new city was incorporated as the county seat of San Bernardino County. A recall of Mormons in 1857 forced many to return to Salt Lake City, but by this time the town was on its way to grow and new settlers were constantly coming in.

San Bernardino Valley embraces an area of 1,200 square miles. It lies in a shape resembling a horseshoe, and from the ocean, sixty to seventy-five miles distant, sea breezes enter it daily. This is a veritable garden spot, prolific in vineyards, orchards and fields, and it is here that the county has its center of population.

Borings of 150 to 200 feet pierce beds of vegetable mold, as the area was undoubtedly at one time an inland lake. Potash, iron and other necessary constituents of plant life are found. The valley is well watered by wells, irrigation from mountain streams, and when the many creeks and rivers flow during months of the year this is in truth an unusual picture of beauty. The two great irrigating systems are the Arrowhead Reservoir and Power Company and the Bear Valley Irrigating Company. The first furnishes water from the Sierra. The latter supplies water from the Santa Ana River at an elevation of 6,200 feet.

With abundant rainfall during certain seasons in the higher elevations, combined with melting snow, a natural reservoir almost twenty miles long is capable of holding billions of gallons of water. This was an ancient lake, but by means of a great dam the waters provide for Redlands and surrounding regions. This project has converted an arid desert along the base of the San Bernardino Mountains into a section having many attractive and prosperous towns and cities, a few equal in beauty to the most charming communities in the nation.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS ENTERTAINED.

San Bernardino—Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. observed its forty-eighth institution anniversary July 24 and entertained several public officials. President Harold G. Lord was in charge of the affair. Under the supervision of Henry B. Peake, a chicken supper was served. Chester P. Summers was master of ceremonies, and among the speakers were John Andreson, Ben Harrison, Joseph H. Hayden, police chief San Bernardino City, Emmet L. Shay, sheriff San Bernardino County, and Jerome B. Kavanaugh.

August 28 the Parlor had its annual watermelon "feed" at Harlem Springs. The committee of arrangements included T. J. Sawyer, chairman, Gordon Lee, Ralph Fredrickson and Gerald Lord.

MASSES OF FLOWERS IN DECORATIONS.

Ontario—Officers of Ontario Parlor No. 251 N.D.G.W. were installed July 25, Mrs. Lemuel Graves becoming president. Masses of flowers were used in the decorations. Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Fred Austin, Mrs. Nelson Van Fleet and Elizabeth Graves. Among the many visitors from surrounding Parlors was Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen.

MYSTERY SISTERS REVEALED.

San Bernardino—President Evelyn Shaddox of Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. presided at her first meeting July 24. At the potluck dinner, Katherine McIntosh chairman, the mystery sisters were revealed.

August 28 interesting travel talks were given by members who had been on vacation. A social hour followed, with Marguerite McKenzie in charge. In September a series of card parties will be started; four members of the Parlor will be hostesses at each party.

PAST PRESIDENTS N.S. TO MEET.

San Bernardino—The next regular meeting of Arrowhead Assembly No. 14 Past Presidents Association will be in the form of a dinner at Sycamore Inn, one-half mile east of Upland on Foothill boulevard, September 19. Officers will be installed, and delegates will be elected to the General Assembly, which meets in October. Good entertainment is promised at the September 19 gathering.

SAN FRANCISCO

ident Anita Jebe extended greetings, and Sister Lokken was presented with a crystal gift. Dainty refreshments were served at tables decorated with red, white and blue. The favors were tiny dolls, in uniform, representing each member of the drill team. Visitors were Deputy Ruby Bried, Ann Godfrey, and members of Orinda Parlor. Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson was chairman for the occasion.

Grand Trustee Alice M. Lane and Delegates Margaret Griffith, Muriel Hayes, Mae Waring and Paula Hilzinger were tendered a reception August 3 by Castro No. 178. The spacious lounge of the N.D. Home was beautifully decorated with cut flowers by Lena Farrari. Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCluskey, Ethel Browning and Isabel Thiebaut entertained. Among the guests were Grand President Anna Thuesen, Grand Trustee Orinda Giannini, Grand Inside Sentinel Claire Lindsey, Past Grands Margaret Hill, Mae Boldemann and Evelyn Carlson, Deputy Agnes Curry, Postmaster and Mrs. William McCarthy. President Edna Baldwin presented Grand Trustee Lane with a gift, and Grand President Thuesen was the recipient of a boquet of gorgeous roses. Refreshments and dancing concluded the social event, of which Sadie Ingham was chairman.

Arguello No. 257's officers were installed at open ceremonies, Adele Mason becoming president. Guests were Grand President Anna Thuesen, Past Grands Dr. Mariana Bertola and Margaret Hill, Grand Inside Sentinel Claire Lindsey, Grand Trustees Orinda Giannini and Alice Lane, Supervising Deputy Mae McDonald. A delightful program, followed by dancing and refreshments, was given by Grace Fuendeling, Audrey Wills, Ramona Martindale and C. Christopher.

NATIVE SONS PARLORS NEWS.

Stanford No. 76 entertained August 6 in honor of thirty-one members who were formerly affiliated with Yerba Buena No. 84. The Parlors consolidated in 1925, and Grand First Vice-president Hartley Russell was among the former Yerba Buenaites who are now Stanfordites. August 8, Stanford presented a California State (Bear) Flag to Troop 82 Boy Scouts of America.

Max E. Licht, since 1921 recording secretary of Bay City Parlor No. 104, died August 6, survived by a wife and three children. He was born in San Francisco, August 22, 1869. He was a delegate from the Parlor to many Grand Parlors, and served the Order as Grand Outside Sentinel, Grand Inside Sentinel and Grand Marshal. His funeral services were conducted by Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, Junior Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice-president Joseph J. McShane and Grand Secretary John T. Regan.

Castro No. 232's officers were installed by District Deputy Theodore Smith, Leonard A. Worthington becoming president.

OUTDOOR N.S.G.W. INITIATION.

The San Francisco Native Sons Parlors had a joint outdoor initiation on Strawberry Hill, Golden Gate Park, August 25. Officers of Castro Parlor No. 232 exemplified the ritual.

The initiation was arranged by the San Francisco committee of deputy grand presidents and Grand Parlor committeemen Elmer Gaetjen (San Francisco Parlor No. 49) chairman, Martin Huber (Mission Parlor No. 38) secretary, assisted by Charles Roberts (Stanford Parlor No. 76).

on the taxpaying population of this State. And the people here don't know what to do about it."

Shaffer should have added that the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors encourages the coming of the horde by contributing liberally of taxpayers' dollars to promotion organizations. If the people don't know what to do about it, we'll enlighten them: remove the supervisors who graciously hand out public funds to support promotion organizations and for the upkeep of thousands of Mexis and work-shying "tourists."

Ethiopia and Italy are now in the limelight, so these facts related by Dr. H. Arthur Steiner in the course of an address are of interest: "This remote little kingdom [Ethiopia], which is now girding itself for war with Italy, for many years was known to the rest of the world as 'Abyssinia' until the country reverted to its original name and officially became 'Ethiopia.' So far as history can determine, Ethiopia was originally peopled by a white race and remained so until the days of the Roman Empire, when negro blood began to dominate. Since that time, the Ethiopians have become a mixed race of Caucasian and Negro blood. Ethiopia was a province of Egypt during the eighteenth dynasty but obtained its independence about 1500 B.C., and has since remained almost continuously a free country."

In Memoriam

MERCY SHEPPARD.

To the Officers and Members of Calistoga Parlor No. 145 Native Daughters of the Golden West—We, your committee appointed to draft a resolution of respect to the memory of our departed sister, Mercy Sheppard, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, One of our beloved members, Sister Mercy Sheppard has answered the call of our Heavenly Father, it is with deepest sorrow we bow in humble prayer, realizing our loss is the heavenly gain of our dear sister, and whereas in her death our Parlor has lost a highly esteemed sister, therefore be it

Resolved, That Calistoga Parlor extend sincere sympathy to her bereaved family, also that this resolution be spread in full upon the minutes of this Parlor, that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased sister, and a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

"And at home in the beautiful hills of God
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, when our work is done,
With joy we shall meet her there."

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

THE ADMISSION DAY, SEPTEMBER 9, celebration at the California Pacific International Exposition, San Diego, will be entirely under the sponsorship of the southern California Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters.

Arrangements for the Los Angeles County Parlors' participation in the San Diego festivities are in charge of a committee which includes Albert Boeckman, chairman; Gertrude Allen, vice-chairman; Dorothy Ravn, secretary; Frank Frank, treasurer; H. Perry Harris, Fred Leonetti, Mrs. M. Merrill, Sidney Witkowski, Mary Noerenberg, Myrtle Bardin, Ella Steinbeck, Juanita Porter and Geraldine Leonetti. Also assisting are Kathrine Worsham, George Fontes, Harry Davis, Virginia Mecham and Flora Jacobson.

Plans provide for the chartering of a special train, to be used as a hotel, which will leave Los Angeles at midnight of September 7 and return early the morning of September 10. To assist the San Diego committee in financing the Admission Day parade, tickets of admission to the Exposition are being sold at a reduced price.

At the San Diego Admission Day festivities, the Grand Parlor N.D.G.W. and the Grand Parlor N.S.G.W. will be represented on the speakers' program by Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer and Deputy Grand President Daniel F. McSweeny. At the flag-raising ceremony, Grand Trustees Hazel B. Hansen and Nellie M. Cline, and John J. Ford will assist. In division two of the Admission Day, September 9, parade, which will depict San Diego's past in the history of California from 1535 to the present, the Los Angeles committee will have a float, "California's Admission to the Union."—E.S.

Celebrate Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-fifth anniversary of California's admission to the Union, some where, some how. Show your love for and loyalty to the Golden State.

ACTION URGED.

Approximately fifty Native Sons from San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Orange and Los Angeles Counties gathered around the festive board August 17 in response to the joint call of the District Deputies Association and Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth. The latter's invitation was directed chiefly to the presidents of the southern Parlors, most of whom responded.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss a resolution approved at the Vallejo Grand Parlor, particularly the declarations: "Recent developments in the Pacific and the Orient are of such importance as to attract the serious attention of all patriotic citizens of the United States of America. . . . We believe in America for Americans and oppose and condemn Communism, Fascism, and all organizations antagonistic to our American form of government."

District Deputy Daniel F. McSweeny presided, and Grand Trustee Youngworth spoke at considerable length. He pointed out that patriotism is at a low ebb in this country, and urged action in line with the resolution at issue. Other speakers were Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven, Past Grand Presidents Herman C. Lichtenberger and John T. Newell, Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, President A. C. Ryce of Santa Barbara Parlor, Deputy Walter Odemar, Ray Howard and Maynard Garrison.—C.M.H.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS TRAVEL.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. is making elaborate preparations for the installation of its officers, with Leonie Clos as president, September 11. The ceremonies, which will begin at 8:30 p.m. and to which all Natives are invited, will be conducted by Deputy Erna Watts. Dancing will follow the installation. September 18, a shower will be given Marvel Thomas, recently married at Monterey, Mexico, to Arnold Tempest.

The Parlor had no meetings during August, so its members traveled: Thelma Stengel visited in Oregon; Ellen Wilson and husband went East; Leonie Clos visited Mexico and the Canal Zone; Olinda Kerby and Louise McNary and husbands visited several national parks in northern California, Oregon and Washington; Alice Bray was in Europe, and Rose O'Connor was in Mexico City. At Santa Barbara's Old Spanish Days Fiesta, No. 124 was represented by Matty Gara, Inez O'Shea, Ella Steinbeck, Evelyn Howell and several others.

UNIVERSITY NEWS.

The initiatory team under the chairmanship of George Woods added eight new names to the roll of University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. August 14. Among those honored were Jim Rorison, Bill Howard and Fred Johnson Jr. of U.S.C. football fame. Some fifty members of the Order witnessed the ceremony, and the initiates were welcomed by Jim Mullally of Bay City Parlor No. 104 (San Francisco) and Maynard Garrison.

The Parlor's annual "stag" August 28 was one of the outstanding affairs of the year. Solly Smith and his committee, members of the baseball team, put on a real show. Stan Parker's University Wildcats are all set to invade Stockton September 9 and add a few more laurels to their baseball crown. The team has strengthened considerably the past year. Many members of the Parlor will accompany the team to the San Joaquin county seat for the Admission Day celebration.—J.P.H.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS NOTES.

At an organization dinner at the Women's Athletic Club, a campaign was launched to increase the membership of the southern counties Parlors at least fifty percent by March 1, 1936. Among those attending were Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen, Grand Outside Sentinel Mary B. Noerenberg, Supervising Deputies Flora Holy and Helen Anderson.

Native Californians were among the honor-guests at the Hollywood Bowl breakfast July 30. Past President Ora Evans of Californiana Parlor No. 247 was the hostess-chairman.

Long Beach—Long Beach Parlor No. 154 enjoyed an entertainment and refreshments August 15. Chairman Eugenia Smith was assisted by Veryl Valiket, Hazel Ramey, Emily Cousins, Victoria Thompson, Etta Burch, Wanda Mase and Dorothy Chalker. Deputy Mildred Gray was a visitor. A benefit card party August 29 was in charge of Leola Temby, assisted by Kitty Dillon and Lucretia Coats. The thimble club met August 22 at the home of Emily Cousins.

Glendale—Members of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 spent an enjoyable evening August 3 at the home of Past President Ione Gillett. August 9, President Ada Steele opened her home for a luncheon and cards. Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen August 24 gave an old-fashioned whist party, those in attendance wearing clothes of other generations.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 now meets in the Carlton Hotel, 3005 Main street, Ocean Park.

Compton—At ceremonies attended by 175, officers of Compton Parlor No. 258 were publicly installed July 30. Deputy Letitia Sarciaux, assisted by Supervising Deputy Flora Holy, officiated and Emma Castillo became the new president. Quantities of dahlias and gladioli decorated the hall, and the officers-elect were lovely in white evening gowns. A delightful program was provided, and refreshments were served. Among the visitors were Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen and Grand Outside Sentinel Mary B. Noerenberg, and President Roy Tarleton of Compton Parlor No. 273 N.S.G.W. In charge of the affair were Lottie Phelps, program, Kate Glavinic, refreshments, and Lucille Adams, decorations.

NATIVE SONS NEWS NOTES.

Los Angeles—Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 initiated two candidates August 8, the new corps of officers, headed by President Harry Davis, exemplifying the ritual. Past Grand John T. Newell was among the speakers. The August 22 meeting was omitted to permit members to join the group meeting at Wilmington. The Parlor's September program includes: 12th, old-timers night, history and landmarks by W. O Gilkey.

Los Angeles—Ramona Parlor No. 109 members paid a visit August 16 to Mount Wilson "Bill" Bright heads a committee making arrangements for another "stag" barbecue, scheduled for early in October.

Los Angeles—Officers of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 were installed August 5 by District Deputy Harry Honn, assisted by Albert Cron and Frank Ziegler, William O'Meara becoming president. A feast of watermelon followed the ceremonies. The Parlor plans a fraternal call on Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 at San Bernardino.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 staged a fine show August 30 to raise funds with which to send its drum corps to Stockton for Admission Day. Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz was master of ceremonies. The Parlor will make a fine showing in the September 9 parade at Stockton, having in line the Santa Monica municipal band, a float and several uniformed members, in addition to the always-willing-to-serve drum corps. In the recent Pioneer Days parade in Santa Monica No. 267's float, "The Raising of the Bear Flag at Sonoma," was awarded third prize.

Compton—President Roy W. Tarleton of Compton No. 273 has outlined a progressive program for that Parlor—one that warrants the hearty co-operation of all members. "It is up to each and every member to bring in at least one new member during the next few months," urges Secretary Wm. Don Castillo, "and see how fast the Parlor will grow."

Marshal Frank J. Ziegler of Ramona and Treasurer Stanley Parker of University spent an enjoyable week at Catalina last month, "Stan" taking a 165-pound swordfish, and "Zieg" landing six yellowtail.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Percy G. West (Sunset N.S.) of Sacramento was a visitor last month.

A native son recently arrived at the home of Jim Kirby (Hollywood N.S.).

Frank D. Moore (Ramona N.S.) last month paid a visit to his former hometown, Oakland.

Harold Farley (Athens N.S.) and wife, Gladys Farley (Aloha N.D.), of Oakland were among last month's visitors.

A native daughter arrived August 1 at the home of Captain William J. Bright (Ramona N.S.) of the sheriff's office.

A native daughter, Kathleen Yvonne, arrived at the Compton home of Mrs. Jack Pickell (Compton N.D.) August 7.

Miss Florrie Witkowski, daughter of Sidney Bertram Witkowski (Los Angeles N.S.), was wedded August 17 to Robert William Sherry.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Helena Barbin Thorpe, mother of Spencer Thorpe (Ramona N.S.), died August 12. She was a native of Louisiana, aged 85.

William A. Variel, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died August 14. He was a native of Camptonville, Yuba County, aged 76.

Referring to the Federal Administration's objection to tax-exempt securities, the New York Sun says: "Only a few months ago Mr. Roosevelt was photographed in the act of buying the first of the baby-bonds issued to coax money out of hiding. These bonds are tax exempt; the public is still officially urged to buy them. Will Mr. Roosevelt next be photographed in the act of denouncing the holders of these securities?"

Los Angeles County has 847 miles of state highways, 4,323 miles of county roads and 8,154 miles of city streets, a total of 13,324 miles.

California retail grocers will hold their thirty-sixth annual convention at Del Monte, Monterey County, September 16-18.

"Lives of great men also remind us that planks are things a candidate stands on before election and sits down on afterwards."—Boston Herald.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

"TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS of Subordinate Parlors Native Daughters of the Golden West—Dear Sisters: By the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848, Mexico ceded California to the United States. It was just at that time that gold was discovered and the new territory took on a great national importance. The discussion as to what should be done began in Congress in 1846, immediately involving the question of slavery. A furious conflict developed so that nothing was accomplished in the two successive sessions. Even at the end of the third, in March 1849, the only progress made toward creating a government for the territory was that the national revenue laws had been extended over it and San Francisco had been made a port of entry.

"Early in 1849 temporary local governments were set up in various towns, and in September a convention framed a state wide constitution and applied for admission into the Union. On the 7th of September 1850, a bill finally passed Congress admitting California as a free State.

"Gold rush followed—and for three months wild excitement reigned. Mining was about the only industry that contributed to the growth and prosperity of California during the early fifties.

"On the 9th of September, eighty-five years ago, California sprang full-fledged into Statehood. The birthday of this glorious State of ours has been celebrated throughout the years by a suitable program and parade.

"In celebrating this important event, let us pause and reflect upon one of the outstanding events in our history, that of the pioneer trek across the plains. Enduring hardships, leaving homes, friends and loved ones and journeying to this western land, those sturdy pioneers established this great heritage, our Home.

"Too much cannot be said of those brave men and women. Our Pioneer Fathers were sustained and upheld through all the hardships and dangers by their desire for adventure, fortune and the promise of a new land. Our Pioneer Mothers, following the promptings of their hearts, sustained by love, followed by the side of their loved ones, encouraging, praising and ministering to their many wants. Let us honor and revere their memories.

"As a nation is judged by the character of its public men—not merely by their ability, but by their ideal and the measure in which they idealize; by their attitude in private life and much more by their attitude in public life,—so will the many hundreds of people who journey to Stockton on the 9th of September, when the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West gather to celebrate the birthday of their State, judge the character and personnel of our Orders by their conduct in public places. Let us celebrate with joy and happiness, yet with dignity. Remember that the eyes of the State are upon us and that the publicity gained by the glorious celebration should reflect honor and glory upon our members as well as the Orders.

"All glory to our Pioneers! All glory to our California! God grant that some of this reflected glory fall upon our Order.

"With the sincerest of good wishes for the prosperity and success of our Order, I am sincerely and fraternally yours in P.D.F.A.,

"ANNA C. THUESEN,
"Grand President, N.D.G.W.

"San Francisco, August 16, 1935."

San Diego Extends Invitation.

San Diego—Plans have been completed by San Diego No. 208 and San Diego No. 108 N.S.G.W. for an outstanding celebration of Admission Day, September 9, at the California Pacific International Exposition.

The festivities will begin with a parade at 9:30 a.m. depicting the history of California. Following this, a program of music and speaking will be presented at the Organ Pavilion on the exposition grounds.

A cordial invitation is extended all Californians to join with the Natives of San Diego in the observance of California's natal day.—S.M.

Oldtimer Remembered.

Alturas—August 1, Alturas No. 159 entered enthusiastically into plans for beautifying the Modoc County highways leading into Alturas by scattering seeds of flowers that will blossom in this semi-arid region. Plans for observance of Admission Day were announced by Chairman Neva Asher. A greeting-gift was ordered sent Pioneer Robert Wells on his ninety-second birthday, August 7, and the new native son of Lillian Renner was remembered with a gift. At the meeting's close Past Grand Catherine Gloster was hostess for the social hour.

Returned from a vacation trip through Washington and Oregon, Past Grand Irma Laird recently entertained Alturas' members at her lovely home, where she presided at a buffet supper. On this occasion the Parlor's latest bride, Lelah Boyd Faulkner, was showered.

Plans Party for Charter Members.

Sacramento—La Bandera No. 110 enjoyed August 16 a program given under the direction of Emily Neubourg Cullom. Thelma Barton presided, and Helen Aunger and Charlotte Kirtlan were co-chairmen in charge of arrangements. Numbers were contributed by Georgiana Gmeiner, Wayne and Mrs. Beeman, Italo Bernardini, Lawrence Burck and John Wilson. Several candidates were initiated.

Edna B. Briggs of the Parlor's history and landmarks committee represented the Native Daughters on the Pony Express program, August 9, speaking at Mills and Folsom. La Bandera's drill team will appear in the Stockton Admission Day parade in attractive new uniforms. For the latter part of September, the Parlor is planning a birthday party for Clara Weldon, charter member and for many years the recording secretary.

Hundreds at Installation.

Placentia—Grand Trustees Hazel B. Hansen and Nellie M. Cline, Grand Outside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Supervising Deputy Helen Anderson, and Deputies Eleanor Fisher and Erna Watts were July 18 dinner guests of Grace No. 242. A birthday party was held, and Matilda Enfield was given a handkerchief shower.

Nearly 300 guests attended the installation of Grace's officers August 1. Deputy Nola Noyes officiated. President Rebecca Hasson made a very sincere acceptance speech. Grand Trustee Cline presented the past president ring to Matilda Enfield, and a splendid program was provided by Helen Anderson. Guests included Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, for whom the Parlor is named, Grand Trustee Hansen and Grand Outside Sentinel Noerenberg.

August 16, Mrs. Marshall Stone, a bride of the month, was complimented with a party and showered with many beautiful gifts. Dora Trendle was honor-guest at the August birthday party. Many of Grace's members plan to visit San Diego for Admission Day. Eugene Marzo, father of Matilda Enfield, died July 27 at the age of 80 years.

Hearty Welcomes Extended.

Quincy—Following the initiation of a candidate August 5 by Plumas Pioneer No. 219, officers of that Parlor and Quincy No. 131 were jointly installed. Deputies Edith Grother and J. D. McLaughlin officiated, and Idessa G. Moody and L. W. Larison became the respective presidents. Marguerite Hamblin, retiring president of Plumas Pioneer, was presented with a jewel, a gift of the Parlor in appreciation of past services.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies a delicious banquet was served by a committee of Native Daughters headed by Verbena Moseley. Among the speakers of the evening were Presidents Moody and Larison, who extended hearty welcomes to the many in attendance.

GRAND PRESIDENT'S OFFICIAL ITINERARY.

San Francisco—Grand President Anna C. Thuesen will officially visit the following Subordinate Parlors during September:

4th—San Jose No. 81, San Jose.
11th—Phoebe A. Hearst No. 214, Manteca.
12th—Bonita No. 10, Redwood City.
17th—Hayward No. 122, Hayward.
18th—James Lick No. 220, San Francisco.
19th—Piedmont No. 87, Oakland.
20th—El Pescadero No. 82, Tracy.
23rd—Stirling No. 146, Pittsburg.
24th—El Vespero No. 118, San Francisco.
26th—Aleli No. 102, Salinas.
27th—Junipero No. 141, Monterey.
28th—Ano Nuevo No. 180, Pescadero.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Stockton—Officers of Joaquin No. 5 were installed by Deputy Bess Jackson, Marion Grondona becoming president. After the ceremony a social repast was served. Harriet Corr was chairman of the arrangements committee. Joaquin is to send invitations to all Parlors to join in the 1936 Grand Parlor festivities at Stockton next June, when Past Grands Carrie R. Durham and Mamie G. Peyton will celebrate, respectively, their fiftieth and twenty-fifth anniversaries as officials of the Grand Parlor.

Napa—Grand President Anna C. Thuesen made her official visit to Eshcol No. 16 August 12. Many visitors were in attendance. A dinner preceded the meeting, and refreshments were served at its close. President Ruby Brien presided, and one candidate was initiated. Mrs. Thuesen gave an inspiring talk on the aims and objects of the Order, and won the esteem and love of all members by her sweet and amiable manner. Gifts and flowers were presented the Grand President.—E.I.

Santa Cruz—Santa Cruz No. 26 entertained at a delightful potluck picnic in De Laveaga Park. Those whose birthday anniversaries are in July, among them Past Grand Stella Finkeldey, were honored. Deputy Alma Nyland installed the Parlor's officers July 29, Hazel Brass becoming president. Among the large number in attendance, including several visitors, were Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs, Supervising Deputy Alta Macauley and Deputy Alberta McCormick. Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Laura Griffin, Marie Pratchner, Lucille Harrison and Mamie Cavanagh.

Ferndale—Oneonta No. 71's officers were installed by Deputy Pearl Robinson, Elizabeth Ridder becoming president. Short talks were made by Supervising Deputy Myra Rumrill, Lena Pettengill, Martha Waddington and Deputy Robinson. Several presentations were made. Cards were enjoyed for a short time, and a fine potluck supper concluded a very pleasant evening. The hall and the tables were attractively decorated with lovely flowers.

Oakland—Piedmont No. 87 had a social meeting August 15 in charge of Augusta Huxsol. Guests were Deputy Gladys Farley and Jennie Peterson. Refreshments were served. August 21 the Parlor held a whist, the funds derived therefrom being used to defray the expenses of sending Piedmont's marching unit to Stockton for Admission Day.

Lodi—Officers of Ivy No. 88, with Lila Keslar as president, were installed August 7 by Deputy Ada Javette. Gifts were presented and refreshments were served.

San Jose—With the social committee on duty, Vendome No. 100 was hostess to a large gathering August 14. A laugh-producing playlet, "A Mist-Deaf Wedding," with twenty-six characters, was staged by Mrs. Herbert Stockton, and a kitchen shower was given in honor of Joyce Barker. September 11 the Parlor will present a historic, patriotic program, open to the public. Grand Trustee Clara Gairaud, general chairman, will be assisted by Deputy Alice Roll, Tillie Brohaska, Alice M. Treat, Stella M. Baggs and Imogene Thompson.

Oakland—Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, a past president of Aloha No. 106, was honor-guest at a dinner given by the Parlor August 13. Other guests were Past Grand Sue J. Irwin, Deputies Irma Murray and Florence Shapero. The sole decoration of the table, arranged around a pool containing lovely water plants and goldfish, was a woodwardia fern. The placecards were hand-colored photos of a field of California poppies. Chairman Jennie Peterson, in the Parlor's behalf, made a presentation to Mrs. Thaler.

Oakdale—Officers of Oakdale No. 125 with Hattie Hover as president were installed by Deputy Elenor Lewis. Junior Past President Esther Marty was the recipient of many presents. Short talks were given by Supervising Deputy Ethel Enos, Grand Trustee Clarice Cook, Past Grands Mamie Peyton and Carrie Durham, Charter Members Lou McLeod, Ella Watson and Minnie Woodside. Lovely refreshments were served. Jointly with Oakdale No. 142 N.S.G.W., the Parlor will have a float in the Stockton Admission Day parade.

Pescadero—With Dorothy Nunes as president, officers of Ano Nuevo No. 180 were installed by Deputy Alberta McCormick. Among those present were Supervising Deputies May L. MacDonald and Nan J. Kelly, several members of Santa Cruz No. 26, and Past Grand Margaret Hill. A feature of the evening was the presentation, by Margaret Dias, charter member of the Parlor, of a past president pin to her daughter, Margaret Dias. Refreshments concluded a happy evening.

Colusa—Colus No. 194 and Colusa No. 69 N.S.G.W. officers were jointly installed, with Martha Neary and Albert Dokkin as the respective presidents. Gifts were presented the installing officers, and refreshments were served.

Vallejo—Officers of Vallejo No. 195 and Vallejo No. 77 N.S.G.W. were installed at joint ceremonies conducted by Deputies Ella Ingram and Werner Hallin. Carrie Congrave and C. L. Minor are the new presidents. Several presentations were made, among them a gift to Juliet Bliss, retiring president of No. 195. Dancing followed the ceremonies, and refreshments were served by a committee headed by Elvena Woodard.

Modesto—Officers of Morada No. 199 were installed by Deputy Laura Roberts, Agnes Packard becoming president. Large vases of greenery and bright-colored zinnias and other summer flowers were placed about the meetingroom, and arches of fern appeared over the various officers' stations. At the meeting's close refreshments were served at tables arranged in the form of a large cross on which flowers of bright hues and fern predominated.

San Diego—With Fern Cummins as president, officers of San Diego No. 208 were installed by Deputy Pearl Conard. A past president emblem was given Doris Hoffner. Grand Trustee Nellie

Homeless Children

OCTOBER 8, CHILDREN'S DAY, SEEMS a long way off, friends, doesn't it? But, as a matter of fact, only one month and eighteen days are ahead for you to formulate plans for the benefits which enable the N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Central Committee to continue in the work for the homeless children.

The first of April of each year finds some of the Parlors unable, for various good and sufficient reasons, many times, to send their contributions for the work before the books are closed. The certified accountants like "Time and tide wait for no man," and this is a sort of suggestion on the part of the Central Committee that the Parlors begin to give their benefits as early as possible, in order that the returns may reach the Central Committee before April 1, 1936, the end of the fiscal year.

Contributions from Native Sons Parlors received too late for last year's annual report are: Sacramento No. 3, $10.00; Petaluma No. 27, $15.00; Santa Cruz No. 90, $35.00; Monterey No. 75, $25.00; Tuolumne No. 144, $10.00; total, $95.00. Contributions from Native Daughters Parlors received too late for last year's annual report are: El Pajaro No. 35, $10.00; Mariposa No. 63, $5.00; Junipero No. 141, $2.50; Victory No. 216, $10.00; total, $27.50. Joint contribution: Washington Parlor No. 169 N.S.G.W. and Betsy Ross Parlor No. 238 N.D.G.W., $171.10.

Parlors of Native Daughters contributing toward this year's expense: El Monte No. 205, $15.25; Miocene No. 228, $10.00; Rio Rito No. 253, $5.00; Lakemont No. 259, $2.50; Golden Gate No. 158, $5.00; Twin Peaks No. 185, $15.00; Utopia No. 252, $5.18; Lugonia No. 241, $25.00. Other contributors: San Francisco district deputy grand president, $5.00; Sacramento County Grand Parlor Committee, $135.00. Total, $222.93.

Miss Irene F. Schonfeld of Dolores Parlor No. 169 N.D.G.W. preferred to contribute $10.00 to the homeless children fund rather than to put that amount into a president's pin. Friends of the work contributed $205.00—Miss C. Gresel, $200.00, and Rabbi Phillip A. Langh, $5.00.

Total contributions, $731.53. Refund on board from state, $60.00; refund on board from county, $90.67; refund on board from parents, $674.08; total, $824.75. Dividends and interest, $151.60.

Native Daughters Parlors which have completed payments since April 1, 1935, on the milk fund: Sans Souci No. 96, for "Harold Donald;" Los Angeles No. 124, for "Dolores;" Keith No. 137, for "Frances;" Long Beach No. 154, for "Richard Waldow;" Fort Bragg No. 210, for "Alder Glen." Golden Gate No. 158 has paid in full for a second child "Chas. A.;" Portola No. 172 in full for a third child, "Don;" Caliz de Oro No. 206 in full for a second child, "George."

Native Daughters Parlors which have begun payments on a third child: La Bandera No. 110, for "Edna the Third;" Los Angeles No. 124, for "Annie L.;" Keith No. 137, for a boy "fat and chubby;" Presidio No. 148, for "Ronald;" Guadalupe No. 153, for "Katherine;" Caliz de Oro No. 206, for "Esther." Stockton No. 256 has taken a second child, "Caroline," making the total milk fund from April 1, 1935 to August 1, 1935, $171.66, and a grand total for the milk fund of $4,100.73.

Total income of the Central Committee April 1 to August 1, $1,879.90; disbursements April 1 to August 1, 1935, $6,021.40. Cash on hand: commercial account, $3,059.21; savings account, $5,325.00.

Cline was an honored guest. Virginia Burke entertained the past presidents club at her home August 19.

Petaluma—Officers of Petaluma No. 222 and Petaluma No. 27 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed August 6 by Deputies Bertha Watson and Wesley Beach, Zonra Tompkins and Peter Durando becoming the respective presidents. The lodgeroom was beautifully decorated, the blue and gold color scheme being carried out with gorgeous summer blooms. Among the visitors were Supervising Deputy Vida Vollers, Past Grand Emma Foley and Deputy Ann Beach. Helen Sartori, retiring president of No. 222, was presented with a gift by that Parlor.

Santa Ana—Several members of Santa Ana No. 235 were guests of Mattie Edwards at her Lake Arrowhead summer home August 1. Marguerite Mize, finance chairman, sponsored a card party August 12. The sewing club had an all-day sewing session and outing at the Balboa beach home of Lillian Gant August 15. A plunkett dinner, to which all Natives are invited, is scheduled for September 23; Marguerite Mize and Mae West are the co-chairmen. Naomi Schoenrock of Alameda and Marion Crum of Oakdale, members of the Parlor, were visitors last month to Santa Ana.

Centerville—With Deputies Katharine Plumb and Monte Florence officiating, officers of Betsy Ross No. 238 and Washington No. 169 N.S.G.W. were publicly installed August 2, Marie White and E. J. Pimentel becoming the respective presidents. Evelyn Garcia was chairman of the occasion. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Bakerfield—Very successful card parties were given by the social committee of El Tejon No. 239. Jeanne Brown (chairman), Gladys Cooper, Florence Rea, Hallie Bowman, Millie Phelan, Ernestine Edwards, Hattie Knoles, Olive Hawley, Susie Jackson, Edna Collins and Lena Dewar. Plans have been made for a large membership increase, the goal being to make the total one hundred. Gladys Cooper and Edna Hobson are co-chairmen of the drive.

Antioch—Antioch No. 223 had a very successful cake sale. August 13 the new president, Blanche Garrow, presided at her first meeting. A drill team has been organized, with Ray Keith as drillmaster, the team is working hard and accomplishing its aim. A hope chest is to be disposed of.

Albany—Officers of Albany No. 260, with May Ellis as president, were installed by Deputy Dora Brayton. Margaret Schafer was chairman of the evening. Many beautiful gifts were received by those who participated in the installation. To Florence Bell was given a past president emblem, the presentation being made for Albany by Laura Isom who, with her daughter, Whimple Staples, founded the Parlor. Cards and dancing followed the installation.

Past Presidents Install.

Oakland—Officers of Association No. 2 and East Bay Assembly No. 3 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed, Josephine Loomis and Stanley Hadlen becoming the respective presidents. With Mrs. B. Taylor in charge of arrangements, a social program and refreshments were provided for 150 guests. Beautiful boquets were presented by Assembly No. 3 to the president and the retiring president of Association No. 2. A very enjoyable card party was held August 14 at the home of Mrs. B. Taylor, Mrs. Loomis assisting the hostess. Recording Secretary Elizabeth B. Goodman was a recent visitor to Los Angeles.

Celebrate Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-fifth anniversary of California's admission to the Union, some where, some how. Show your love for and loyalty to the Golden State.

In Memoriam

ARZELIA FRIEDRICK.

To the Officers and Members of El Pescadero Parlor No. 82 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee on resolutions, submit the following:

No one hears the door that opens
When they pass beyond our call;
Soft as Descend leaves of roses
One by one our loved ones fall.

Whereas, Another sister, Arzelia Friedrick, has answered the call of our Heavenly Father and gone on to her Eternal Home, and although prevented by distance and illness for many years from attending the Parlor meetings, still her constant interest in and loyalty to the Parlor were ever present, therefore be it

Resolved, That we keep her memory enshrined in the Parlor and extend our sincere sympathy to her son and relatives, be it further resolved that copies of these resolutions be sent to her sorrowing relatives, to The Grizzly Bear Magazine, and be spread on the minutes of the Parlor.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of

EMMA J. FREERICHS
EMMA E. COX,
Committee.

Tracy, August 17, 1935.

Lost for many years, the unmarked grave of E. E. Matteson has been discovered in the Pine Grove cemetery, Nevada City, Nevada County. Matteson's bid to fame was his invention of the hydraulic nozzle, which revolutionized placer mining.

An Intermountain Fair is to be held September 7 and 8 at McArthur, Shasta County.

"TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS of all Subordinate Parlors N.S.G.W.—Dear Sirs and Brothers: The laws of our Order make it mandatory for the Grand President at least thirty days before Admission Day each year to communicate with every Parlor in the State requesting the Subordinate Parlors to make arrangements for the proper commemoration of the admission of California to statehood in the year 1850.

"As Grand President of this Order it is my duty to observe the law. As a Native Son it does not seem to me that members of our Order should be so lax, or indifferent, that there should be the necessity of calling their attention to our State's birthday.

"There has been in the past and I venture to say there still is a decided movement aimed at banishing Admission Day as a legal holiday. There are many individuals, firms and others who would be pleased to see September 9th struck from the list of legal holidays. We, as Native Sons, above all others, should see to it that this day receives the recognition it deserves.

"The ideal way which this should be done, would be to have elaborate exercises, parades, etc., in every city and town where there is a Subordinate Parlor of our Order. Present conditions are such, however, that we must centralize and conserve our efforts in one gigantic celebration.

"This year, by resolution of the Grand Parlor, the celebration of Admission Day will be held in the city of Stockton. September 9th falling upon a Monday, the calendar has conveniently arranged that we may have a three-day celebration. The Native Daughters and Native Sons of Stockton are doing all in their power to see to it that the occasion will be one second to none. Let us assist them in their work by pledging our support and co-operation. Let each and every Subordinate Parlor of our Order, if possible, send a goodly representation to Stockton.

"Should distance be the only obstacle to participation in the principal celebration, may I earnestly recommend that your local Parlor make such plans so that the day is fittingly celebrated. Urge your tradesmen and shopkeepers to properly observe the State's birthday by closing their shops and stores. See that the California State flag, the Bear Flag, flies and is displayed in conjunction with the Stars and Stripes. Wherever possible, conduct some form of exercises that will demonstrate to the inhabitants of our State that we respect and observe our State's birthday.

"In conclusion, may I again urge each and every member of our Order, each and every Subordinate Parlor, to carry out the spirit and letter of our law and to do all that is physically possible to show to the world that September 9th is Admission Day, the birthday of the greatest State in the Union. Sincerely and fraternally yours,

"HARMON D. SKILLIN,
"Grand President, N.S.G.W.

CABRILLO DAY, SEPTEMBER 28, INITIATION AT SAN DIEGO.

The second group initiation of the southern Parlors for the 1935-36 term will be held at San Diego the evening of September 28 under the auspices of San Diego No. 108. The ceremonies will be conducted on the grounds of the California Pacific International Exposition, at a very private site with a beautiful setting. The ritual will be exemplified by the grand officers, with Grand President Harmon D. Skillin presiding.

This initiation will be one of the features on San Diego's Cabrillo Day, September 28, program being arranged by Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer. In the morning, at the Exposition grounds, there will be a pageant depicting the coming of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, the first White man to set foot upon California soil—September 28, 1542.

In the afternoon, the Cabrillo monument on Point Loma will be dedicated. The dedicatory ceremonies will be conducted by the grand officers, headed by Grand President Skillin, and the Grand Parlor plaque will be placed at the old Spanish Lighthouse which has been restored as part of the Federal Government's Cabrillo Monument Reservation.

Native Sons in exceptionally large numbers should trek to San Diego for this momentous occasion. Every southland Parlor should round up all possible eligibles, and have them in San Diego for initiation Cabrillo Day, September 28. Be swayed by the SPIRIT of the Pioneer, and make this an outstanding event—with the largest group of initiates—in the history of the Order!—C.M.H.

"Days of Days" in Old Humboldt.

Arcata—Arcata No. 20, the local Chamber of Commerce and Business Mens Association have combined in arranging for a three-day Humboldt County celebration of Admission Day. The festivities open September 7, with a "whiskerino ball" in the evening. September 8 will be devoted to baseball games and other sports.

September 9, Admission Day, scheduled events include: Morning, concert, Arcata Union high school band; noon, free barbecue; 2:30 p.m., parade and pageant depicting pioneer life of California, historical events, and progress in industrial life; after the parade, Indian stick games and tribal rites; 7:30 p.m., boxing matches. Arcata Parlor extends a cordial invitation to all sojourning Native Sons and Native Daughters to join in this celebration of California's birthday.

Says the Arcata Union: "The citizens leading in the preparations for the 'Day of Days' are asking our local residents and those who are about to join us on that day to call back the pioneer spirit of the old '49ers who went at things with a true spirit of enthusiasm and animation that made the Redwoods of California ring a welcome to these darers and doers of things. They expect to stage an event that would make the spirit of General John C. Fremont almost fill with envy."

ASSIST THIS SPLENDID WORK.

"To all Parlors Native Sons of the Golden West—Dear Sirs and Brothers: Under a State law, the Director of the Department of Natural Resources is authorized to register and number historic landmarks provided the landmarks suggested for registration are of sufficient importance to be recognized by the State. Under a companion measure passed at the same time, the State Highway Commission is directed to erect signs of a uniform nature directing travel to the registered landmarks. . . .

"To date two hundred and thirty-one applications have been accepted and recognized and numbered by the Department of Natural Resources. There are a great many counties from which no applications have ever been received; in other counties there has been no definite survey of the county to determine which points of interest actually warrant recognition. There are a few counties, however, which have been completely covered.

"As one of our main objects is to perpetuate the memory of the pioneer and to mark historic spots where something of importance in our State took place, it is our duty to assist those in charge of this splendid work by listing all historic spots and places in your community and forwarding same to this office. Thanking you for giving this your attention, I am, sincerely and fraternally yours,

"JOHN T. REGAN,
"Grand Secretary, N.S.G.W.

Anniversary Outing.

San Jose—Observatory No. 177 celebrated its forty-fourth institution anniversary at Bernal's Oak Dell Park, August 11. Guests included Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, Junior Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Treasurer John A. Corrotto, Past Grand Thomas Monahan and Grand Parlor Finance Committeeman Harry W. Gaetjen. Members of the Parlor and visitors enjoyed themselves the entire day.

The main morning event was a ball game between two picked teams, "These" and "Those," with Charley Hunt umpiring. Although the field temperature was around 110 degrees, the players showed a lot of pep. Target practice was directed by Harold Ford, and R. K. O'Neil had charge of the horseshoes. In the annual whist game, which has been going on for several years, the Kayser trophy went to Adolph Hansen and Dal Cox.

A fine old-fashion barbecue was served in the afternoon. Jesse Waterman was the toastmaster, and there were many speakers, Grand President Skillin giving a fine talk on "Native Sonism." The committee in charge of the anniversary outing included Charles Howes (chairman), Wallace Isham, Karl Haynes, Roy Field and Grant O'Neill.

Observatory's officers, with Donald Webb as president, were installed July 30 by District Deputy George McDonald. Louis Doerr entertained with Italian readings, and the good of the order committee provided refreshments. The Parlor has several candidates awaiting initiation.

Historic Vehicles Purchased.

Livermore—Las Positas No. 96 has purchased, through the efforts of Peter Reuss and Dr. F. L. Herrick, two freighters that will enhance the value of this city's collection of relics of early-day transportation and constitute the Parlor's future representations in Livermore Rodeo parades. Says the Livermore Herald, referring to these historic relics:

"Constructed at Stockton in 1870 by Henderson, far-famed builder of stagecoaches and pioneer vehicles, the freighters for twenty years

RIGHT NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO BECOME A SUBSCRIBER TO THE GRIZZLY BEAR—THE ALL CALIFORNIA MONTHLY.

THEY'LL BE THERE IN FORCE

OAKLAND ALAMEDA COUNTY Native Sons and Native Daughters are making extensive plans to uphold the tradition of this county, of usually having one of the largest and most colorful units in an Admission Day parade. Floats, bands, drum corps and marching units in uniform, from every Parlor in the county, will participate at Stockton, September 9. The Piedmont Parlor No. 120 N.S.G.W. drum corps, which won the state championship in the competition at Sacramento last year, will be on hand early, to defend its title this year.

Walter Melvin Davis has been appointed as general chairman of the Ninth of September Committee by Elwood Fitzgerald, chairman of the Alameda County Extension of the Order Committee, and is being assisted by Arnold Halstead of Piedmont No. 120 N.S.G.W. as first vice-chairman and Gladys Farley of Aloha Parlor No. 106 N.D.G.W. as second vice-chairman. Lester Steele of Oakland Parlor No. 50 N.S.G.W. and Thelma Schornick of Piedmont Parlor No. 87 N.D.G.W. are the secretaries. Richard M. Hamb of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 N.S.G.W. is once more acting as treasurer. The Native Sons and the Native Daughters of Alameda County work and plan together on these Ninth of September committees, so two chairmen, one for each Order, head every committee.

WALTER MELVIN DAVIS, General Chairman

ARNOLD HALSTEAD, Vice-Chairman

Following are the chairmen and co-chairmen of the sub-committees arranging details for participation in the Stockton festivities: Finance—Richard M. Hamb (Piedmont No. 120 N.S.), Jennie Peterson (Aloha No. 106 N.D.). Parade—Grand Trustee Edward T. Schnarr (Fruitvale No. 252 N.S.), Ester Regan (Fruitvale No. 177 N.D.). hauled goods between Stockton and the Mother Lode mines. With activity at the mines slowing down, they were purchased by a San Joaquin rancher who used them to haul grain from the Patterson and Tracy districts to Stockton. When the ranch encountered financial difficulties, A. R. Arnold purchased the vehicles at auction and offered them as a gift to the California Historical Society. The gift was declined because the society had no housing facilities for them and as a result they now become a part of Livermore's unusual collection. Capable of hauling ten tons of freight, the vehicles are approximately twenty feet long, four feet wide, and have sides six feet high. They move on seven-foot wheels with huge hubs. Both are in excellent condition with the original iron still intact."

Workers Organize.

San Jose—Grand President Harmon D. Skillin organized the deputy grand presidents and Grand Parlor committeemen of Santa Clara, San Mateo, Santa Cruz and Monterey Counties, with the following officers: District Deputy W. L. Gerrans (Observatory No. 177), chairman; District Deputy George R. McDonald (Mountain View No. 215), secretary.

The group plans to hold a joint class initiation at different Parlors in the several counties once each month.

Celebrate Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-fifth anniversary of California's admission to the Union, somewhere, somehow. Show your love for and loyalty to the Golden State.

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

Sacramento—The Sacramento County Native Sons and Native Daughters Parlors will be well represented at the Stockton Admission Day celebration. Their drum corps and drill teams will be in the September 9 parade. A joint committee—Ed. E. Reese (chairman), Albert W. Katzenstein and George A. Burns—is in charge of arrangements.

Placerville—The diamond anniversary of the Pony Express, observed with a re-riding of the route from Sacramento, California, to Saint Joseph, Missouri, was participated in here August 9 by the placing, under the auspices of Placerville No. 9, of plaques marking change stations along the route—Fleming ranch, Sportsman's Hall, Pacific House, Cedar Rock, Strawberry, Meyers and Stateline. At each place a brief dedicatory address was delivered by District Attorney Henry S. Lyon.

Fortuna—The Humboldt County Parlors—Humboldt No. 14 (Eureka), Arcata No. 20 and Ferndale No. 93—had a picnic at Rohner Park August 18. Baseball games and other sports were participated in by old and young.

San Jose—San Jose No. 22 had a whist party August 19 and a dance August 24, and several candidates were initiated August 26. The Parlor's drum corps, Charles Petersen leader, will escort the uniformed members, headed by John R. Sullivan, in the Admission Day parade at Stockton.

brated July 25 his seventy eighth birthday anniversary. He was born at San Francisco, July 25, 1857.

Saint Helena—Saint Helena No. 53 had its annual barbecue in Lyman Grove the evening of August 12. George Desenfant and Carl Schneider were visitors. Francis White had charge of arrangements.

San Rafael—Officers of Mount Tamalpais No. 64 and Marinita No. 198 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed by Deputies Walter Mazza and Pearl Lopus, Robert Bottini and Marguerite Brusatori becoming the respective presidents. Grand Inside Sentinel Monroe Label, Grand Organist C. George Cuthbertson, Grand Marshal Ethel I. Begley, Past Grand Emma G. Foley and Supervising Deputy Vida Vollers were in attendance. Refreshments were served in the banquetroom, beautifully decorated with hydrangeas, and dancing concluded the enjoyable evening. Co-chairmen of the affair were Henry Hewelcke and Ethel Begley.

Watsonville—Watsonville No. 65 celebrated its fiftieth institution anniversary at a banquet July 20. Carl Mehl was the toastmaster, and George Radcliff was the chief speaker. Among others introduced were Harold Close, the president, and James Hopkins, the first president, of the Parlor, District Deputy William East and President J. Frank Murphy of Santa Cruz Parlor.

Santa Cruz—Santa Cruz No. 90 initiated fifteen candidates July 19, when Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven paid his official visit. Others in attendance and among the speakers were Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, Grand First Vice-president Hartley Russell and Grand Third Vice-president Joseph J. McShane. Refreshments were served.

Georgetown—William A. Heuser, charter member of Georgetown No. 91 and a delegate to several Grand Parlors, died July 29. He was a native of Sacramento County, aged 71.

Oakland—Piedmont No. 120 will have an active part in the Stockton Admission Day festivities. It will take along its band and drum corps. President James A. Silva has named this committee to handle details: Steve Graham, Louis Koernig, Werneth Mitchell, Arnold Halstead, Richard M. Hamb, Frank E. Roemer and James G. Dignan. August 15 the Parlor sponsored a baseball night in honor of the Oakland team.

Sacramento—Richard E. Collins of McCloud No. 149 (Redding) has been made chairman of the State Board of Equalization.

Santa Ana—Officers of Santa Ana No. 265 were installed August 5 by District Deputy F. L. McGarvey, Carl Schroeder becoming president. Among the many visitors was Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven. August 7 the Parlor had a picnic supper and dance for members and their families in Irvine Park. Joseph Lecrivian, a member of the Parlor, and his bride were charivaried August 8 and, on behalf of No. 265, Ivan Harper presented them with a wedding gift.

PROGRESS

In 1874 the combined deposits and capital of all banks in California totaled approximately $100,000,000.

Today the deposits of The San Francisco Bank alone are well in excess of $154,000,000, indicative of how this institution has kept pace with the growth of the state.

SANTA BARBARA'S PIONEER MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Dorothy A. Yule

SANTA BARBARA, AS YOU MAY KNOW, is nestled between the mountains and the sea. Her head rests on the western slopes of the lofty Santa Inez Range, while the beautiful blue waters of the Pacific lap gently at her feet. In its early days, save for the narrow winding trail made by the padres along the seashore—over which traffic must have been painfully slow and wearisome—the wide lanes of the Pacific offered easy access to Santa Barbara. Is it any wonder then that so much of its early history and romance are connected with the sea?

It was in January 1866 that Captain Martin Morse Kimberly brought his lovely young bride to Santa Barbara on the famous old ship "Orizaba." Before her marriage to Captain Kimberly she had been Jane Amelia Merritt, a daughter of Phinias G. Merritt of San Francisco. Her father had come to San Francisco by way of Panama in 1855. He was the editor and publisher of the first republican newspaper in California, called "The Republican." A copy of the first edition of this paper may be found on file today in the state records at Sacramento.

Jane Merritt was born in New York City on the 13th of February, 1839. When still a very small child her family went to live in Galveston, Texas. It was while they were living there that Texas broke away from Mexican rule and became a republic. One of Jane's brothers was born at the time of the massacre of American soldiers down on the Alamo. He was named Zachary Taylor, after the valiant general who was fighting against the Mexican leader and who later became President of the United States.

When Texas decided to join the Union and preparations were being made for a celebration, it was planned to fire a salute. To do this, little bags had to be made to hold the powder for the guns. Father Merritt, being very patriotic and wishing his family to participate in the great event, brought home material from which his wife and daughters—little Jane among them—made the powder bags.

When Jane was fifteen years old her father went to San Francisco to conquer new worlds, while his children were sent with their mother to Philadelphia to complete their education. In 1860, Merritt went back to Philadelphia and brought his family out to San Francisco by train. It was there that Jane Amelia met Captain Kimberly and, December 24, 1865, they were married. The young couple spent a brief honeymoon at one of the few hotels then in San Francisco and early in January they left on the "Orizaba" for Santa Barbara.

In those early days few women ever came to Santa Barbara. When it was learned that a lady was arriving by boat, the inhabitants of the little settlement gathered on the beach at what is now the foot of Chapala street to watch the landing of the first lady to arrive in more than a year. There was no wharf at the time and passengers were rowed to the shore from the anchored ship by sailors who carried them in their arms through the pounding surf and set them down on the sand. Most of the inhabitants of Santa Barbara were Spanish or Mexican and they talked excitedly in their native tongue while they watched the difficult landing, for in January the breakers are not very gentle.

Though Captain Kimberly at the time of his marriage owned the property on which the few remaining members of his family now live, their present home was not built until some time after he had brought his bride to Santa Barbara. On their arrival they spent a few days at the old American Hotel, which was then being managed by Mr. Tibbitts, who later became editor of the "Daily News," still Santa Barbara's most flourishing newspaper. After this they took up their abode in a little house on what is now State street, but which at that time was just a pathway running down to the ocean and crossed by the deep barranca of Mission Creek. In this little house near the ocean Mrs. Kimberly's four children were born. They were Martin and Morse, now dead, and Guilford and Jennie, who still live with their mother on Chapala street—within one block of the ocean front. Miss Jennie Kimberly, born here in 1874, is more familiarly known to Santa Barbarans as Jane, a name which she acquired through her connection with the local newspaper when she conducted a children's department under the name of "Aunt Jane." She is still deeply interested in the welfare of children and is actively engaged in many civic and charitable enterprises. She devotes a great deal of time to writing and research and is a reliable source of authentic information regarding the early history of Santa Barbara and its Pioneers.

Before his marriage, Captain Kimberly had taken up land on Santa Cruz Island, one of the group lying about thirty miles off the coast of Santa Barbara County. He imported a fine blooded hog and two sows from San Francisco and started a pig farm. When, several years later, he was driven from the island by a claim of Spanish grant ownership—now believed to have been fraudulently obtained by two men who had previously been defeated by law in endeavoring to claim ownership to the City of San Francisco through the same method—he moved his possessions to San Nicholas Island, about twenty miles further out from the coast. The captain took up 160 acres of government land there. In moving, all his pigs could not be found and a few were left behind. These became the nucleus of the herd which now roams on Santa Cruz Island. In the intervening years they have reverted back to the wild, ferocious type with tremendous tusks and fighting spirit and they provide keen sport for intrepid hunters from the mainland today.

On San Nicholas Island, Captain Kimberly raised 15,000 head of sheep. He was thus engaged—sailing his own ship back and forth to the mainland with sheep and wool—when he met and married Jane Merritt. A few years after they were married—at a time when the island was overstocked with sheep—a very dry year set the animals burrowing four feet into the ground for wild carrots which grew there. The next year was still drier and the sheep died of starvation. With the drying up of all vegetation, the severe ocean winds destroyed all possibility of ever again making anything grow on the island and it is today a barren waste.

When Captain Kimberly was reduced to ruin by this terrible catastrophe, he resorted to otter hunting for a living. He had enjoyed it as a sport when a boy on Long Island Sound and had acquired the reputation of being the best shot in California before he had been here many years. It took perfect aim and a quick trigger to kill otter. They came to the surface for a moment only,—nose pointed into the air—took a quick glance around them in all directions and suddenly dropped out of sight. The men went out in two rowboats, traveling side by side until they spied the otter and then separating in v-shape to surround them—hunters standing upright, keenly alert, while sailors rowed the boats. The waters off southern California and Mexico were once plentifully stocked with otter but they are now extinct and there is little record of them or the method of hunting. When these animals became less plentiful, Captain Kimberly crossed the ocean and hunted otter in Japanese waters, spending many long months away from his home.

Mrs. Kimberly took an active part in the early development of education and social life in Santa Barbara. She became one of the founders of the present Trinity Episcopal Church at the corner of State and Micheltorena streets. The Bishop who came down from San Francisco for the dedication, asked her to name the church. She called it "Trinity" because of the fact that some of her ancestors were buried in the little graveyard of Old Trinity Church in New York City.

Mrs. Kimberly is the oldest living American Pioneer Woman in Santa Barbara. She is marvelously well and mentally alert as she chats with her visitor, recalling clearly so many incidents in her life and the early history of Santa Barbara. From her window she looks out and enjoys the gardens that surround her home; but she regrets the invasion of the large modern apartment houses set among the beautiful palms in the park across the street which was once the garden of the old Potter Hotel. She misses Castle Rock, the huge rock from which Castillo street derived its name. She tells how the rock clung to the upper edge of the cliff and how a heavy storm drove the waves up around its base, undermining it so that it fell to the beach below. Then after lying in a tremendous broken heap for so many years "they" cleared it all away and used it to build the breakwater. "They" might have left that for her to watch from her window. For from her window she can also see the place at the edge of the water where she was carried through the surf in that long ago when she first came to Santa Barbara. Yes, that was many years ago. She is almost ninety-seven now, but the soft texture and color of her skin still conceal her age as they must surely have done when she was in the bloom of youth. Her devoted daughter, Jane, herself entering proudly upon the threshold of pioneerdom, keeps notes of all her mother's anecdotes of her early life—to use them for a background for her own reminiscences in that day when she will be counted among the true native pioneers of Santa Barbara.

SOME CONJECTURES ON PLACE NAMES IN MARIN COUNTY

(GRAND HISTORIAN N.S.G.W.)

THE WRITER, SOME YEARS AGO, IN A talk on "Place Names of Marin County," hazarded the opinion that most of the names in the county, with the exception of obviously Spanish names like Corte Madera and San Rafael, were Indian names with more or less Spanish spelling. The best popular work we have on place names of the State is Sanchez' "Spanish and Indian Place Names of California." In the Spanish names, she is quite accurate, for she could go to the documents written by the Spanish explorers or padres, or to books which told in English the story of their achievements or which quoted from their writings. But in explaining the meaning of Indian names of northern California, she is far from accurate, because so little has been done by students in this regard and she had done little or no field work herself, so she had to depend upon writers who made no pretensions to research work but were satisfied with the obvious and the plausible.

Sausalito is a case in point. She says (p. 218), "Sausalito (Little Willow Grove), the diminutive of 'Sausal' (Willow Grove), or as formerly and officially written, 'Saucelito' (Little Willow), from 'Sauce'," and so on. But had she looked at the map in Bancroft's "History of California" (vol. III, p. 17), she would have seen that she had not gone back far enough for her origin of the name, for in that map Bancroft gives the spelling "Saucito" (Little Willow), and the map is of the year 1834.

The Spanish were a practical people, and gave names not because they were sweet sounding but, because the first time they passed a point, under Viscaino, was the feast day of the Three Kings (in English parlance the three wise men), so the point was called "Punta de Los Tres Reyes," our Point Reyes; or, because they wished to have a place where the sick Indians of Mission Dolores (San Francisco) might regain their health, so when they found a salubrious climate they called the place San Rafael. Rafael in Hebrew means the healing of God, not as Sanchez has it, "The guardian angel of humanity," and it was hoped, the quaint old narrative puts it, "that Saint Raphael would take care of the bodies as well as the souls of the neophytes placed in his Mission's care." And so "Saucito" (Little Willow) in 1834, when only Indians lived in the vicinity, is suspect, as "Novato" (New) on the same map is suspect, though Sanchez surmises it might be the name of a family.

In the hills back of and above Sausalito there is a group of rocks from which one may see the Bay of San Francisco and the Pacific Ocean. In the "Quarterly of the California Historical Society" (vol. XII, no. 3) there is an article on Russian seal and otter hunters. The writer tells an interesting story about the attempts the Russians made to catch seal and otter in San Francisco Bay despite the efforts of the Spaniards to keep them out. The Russians could not enter by way of the Golden Gate, so they landed (vol. XII, no. 3, p. 29) north of Point Bonita and carried their boats to Richardson's Bay. They landed at Jolly's Beach, as the Sausalitans call it, came along the sloping valley which crosses the ridge (The Hog's Back) and then descended to the cove north of the N.W.P. ferry slips, about where Pine Station is. In February 1804, the writer states, fifty canoes were seen landing at the beach to make the portage to Richardson's Bay, and later, "neophytes" (Indians) captured some of these hunters. The inference is safe that "neophytes" were the ones who saw the Russians make their landing. Now, if these watchers, or spies, were stationed on the rocks above Sausalito, they could see the Russians land on the beach and begin their climb to the ridge, in plain sight almost all the time. So I conjecture that instead of being "Saucito" (Little Willow), a Spanish word, the word should be the Indian "Sauteco" the watchers or the guards or the warden, with preference for the first word from "sautee," a watcher, with "co," the plural ending of any noun in the dialect. There is a place in Lake County called "Sauteeco" by the Indians. It is the hill just before one reaches Lower Lake at the end of the long canyon road leading from Middletown, and it was called "The Watchers" because there the Indians of the Middletown district watched for the coming of enemies. See Vol. XI, No. 3 of the "California Historical Quarterly" for a description of the Indians "watching" for the Americans who, they knew, would come to avenge the so-called "Kelsey Massacre."

Space is left for another conjectured spelling and meaning. Sanchez says (p. 213) that Tamalpais is composed of two Indian words "Tamal" (Bay) and "Pais" (mountain), and naively explains "that the resemblance of the latter word to the Spanish 'Pais' is thought to be purely accidental." But to one who knows how Indian words are gradually spanished, by people who know little Spanish and less Indian, such an explanation does not explain. "Tamal" does not mean bay but "West," and in the dialect from which the word is taken "Tamalco" means "West People" not "Bay People." But it was certain that "Pais" was a corrupted Indian word, and one could go no further.

In giving a talk on "The Bear Flag Party," the writer spoke of the so-called "Battle of Olompali" between the Mexicans and the "Bears," as they were called in Spanish. Later, when some Indians were met who spoke the dialect, an attempt was made to find the meaning of "Olompali." After an hour or more of ringing all the vowel changes possible it was found that "Ollum" meant "South" and that a word like "Ollumpalli" meant a circle, from the fact that the sun after swinging south starts to move west again and then east. And that was that, leaving one just as wise as before. Suddenly, driving home that afternoon, the writer remembered that "Pauwee" or "Pahhee," for the exact sound is between the two, meant "Mountain," and that Americans readily inserted an "el" in words thought to be Spanish; witness "Mallacomas" for "Mayocnoma" in Knight's Valley. Then, "Ollumpauwee" would mean "South Mountain," the Burdell Mountain one sees looming ahead as the machine proceeds from Napa along the Black Point Cut-off. And the conclusion leaped to one's mind that "Tamalpais" should be "Tamalpauhee" or "Tamalpauee," "West Mountain." "Pahee" could easily have an "s" added, influenced by the Spanish word "Pais," and the "h" not being aspirated by Americans would gradually disappear, for the same reason.

Now, it may be objected, with a certain degree of truth, that Burdell Mountain is anything but south, even as Tamalpais is anything but west. But, for some Indian villages of the early days, one mountain was south, as Tamalpais was west to the Indians who lived in or near Sausalito. And then, it may be added that the Indians did not have the precision of direction we use. So Santa Rosa, to the Indians of Middletown, was west, though the Whites of the place called it south. And the people of Kelseyville were called "Tamalco," the "West People," by the same Indians, while the Whites said Kelseyville was north.

HIGH SIERRA

(ESTHER CRONE.)

Have you been to the place where the tamaracks grow,
With their tops reaching up in the sky,
Where the lakes are so blue and the cataracts flow
From the peaks of the mountains so high?

Have you seen the sun rise in his glory at morn,
Displaying snowcaps in brilliant array,
Have you watched the grey shadows which at even adorn
The canyons at close of the day?

If not, come with me and hie to the hills
With their beauty and grandeur and lure;
It is there that my heart with ecstasy thrills
For the things that forever endure.

San Diego's California Pacific International Exposition will, it is announced, definitely close November 11.

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

ENOUGH ROPE IS A THEME SONG OF fall fashions. If you are not rope-conscious you will be before you are halfway through. Ropes trim necklines, waistlines and wristlines in the new fall clothes. Some of the ropes are used to knot around waistlines in the new loose-hanging monk-like gowns of fall. Some are twined about high necklines and tied in a bow with tassel ends. Some are used in place of hat bands and others trim the cuffs of pet gloves. There are golden ropes highlighting the waistlines of new black crepe frocks for dinner and afternoon. Silver belts look stunning on the new gray gowns and knotted rope trimmings are seen on many of the newest cossack caps and turbans. You may be roped in by the new fall fashions, but you should not let them throw you.

This winter's fashions are sumptuous in scarlet, gold, sepia and marble white. Color is more important than ever before. Black is stylish from the time one arises to the time she goes to bed. Green reigns in all its shades. For evening, red in every shade predominates. After red comes dead white, with gold and silver lame galore. Black satin for evening also is good. We find ourselves bedecked in clothes that are frankly gay—shades that are so gloriously alive—and now along come the jewel tones. We find them in dresses and charming new blouses. Satins, taffetas and velvets are seen in emerald, amethyst, sapphire, ruby and amber. Colored gloves, in lemon yellow or deep raspberry red, are worn with black.

If you have a suit for every day of the week you will not be going wrong, for suits already have a strong hold. Heavy dark brown wool is made into one of the best suits of the season that is both practical and very smart, with a straight skirt and a single-breasted jacket well cut. Over this goes a flaring topcoat, seven-eights length, with raglan sleeves and patch pockets. It is the kind of a coat one can always wear with skirts, blouses, sweaters or print dresses.

One of the new velveteen dressmaker suits is the delight of a woman who knows that the severely tailored outfit is not her best bet, but still likes the comfort of a coat and dress ensemble. The great variety of such costumes, made with fur jackets instead of cloth ones, is something to see this autumn. They are just the ticket for the business woman who often ends her day with a tea or dinner date.

Very smart is a striped dress in warm rust tones. It is striped manipulated to give slim lines and a lot of interest. The collar and tie are in one, which is always a slick effect. There are pockets let into the side seams of the skirts just as pockets are let into trousers. Godets in the skirt give ample walking breadth and add zip to the stripe pattern. A broad belt is of brown saddle leather, and metal buttons close the blouse.

Another smart one is made of black and white striped taffeta. This may be purchased in two shades of green or red stripes. Red lame, like burnished copper, is made into a perky little jacket that buttons down the middle of the front, flares out at the hips and cuffs, and ties with a huge bow at the neck. The skirt is made of black crepe and has a narrow black belt of kid.

In shoes, we find that suede accents are very smart combined with some other leather for afternoon street wear. Black seven-eyelet ties open at the front in a sunburst pattern of stitched patent braiding. Scalloped black or blue suede or kid shoes have patent leather heels. For dressy street wear the two-eyelet tie of gabardine or suede comes in black or navy. The vamp is appliqued, the heel is of suede and the shoe has a ribbon bow. Black or brown shoes have reptile, calf or ribbon trim. The soft rich surface of suede adapts itself to the draped lines of the new fall clothes. Swell ghillie type shoes come in ginger brown, dubonnet and darkest green. All-alligator strapped operas or suedes and alligator high-cut winter sandals will do just as well if one does not care particularly for shoes of unusual color.

There is no other single item of feminine adornment that does as much for a woman as a chic and becoming hat. A new chapeau, flattering in silhouette and color, can, in the twinkling of an eye, change her entire outlook upon life. The wise woman will give serious thought to her hat problem. If she does this she cannot go very far wrong. The new silhouettes are many and varied.

A wealth of luxurious fabric feathers and veils is a news item of the first order. Ostrich is staging a comeback in curled, uncurled and glycerined. The most fascinating of new colors is seen in the coque feathers. Saucy quills are much in evidence. Speaking of veils—they are darlings of the mode that stay on the hat and off the face. Bows! They are everywhere in millinery collections.

Berets of nubby or hand-knit fabrics are easy to accumulate in many colors. Scarfs are alluring in their diversity. The hats are in several shapes. One is a hat beret, another is a casual brimmed hat of the vagabond variety, and there is the turban with a fly-away bow.

The belts are wide and soft, and the handbags are pouches with plenty of inside pockets. Gloves are naturally of classic slipon variety and they are pretty swish. Hunter's green shade goes well with brown or gray clothes. Bordeaux is grand with beige or gray, and londo fox is just right to wear with wine.

Leather bags are made of smooth calf and grained leathers in autumn styles. A smart fashion accent to street and sports costumes is the fine lining.

Indicating their worth, handsome fur collars give luxuriousness to the new top coats. At this time there are beautiful persian ruffled collars and others of cross fox, jap mink or white fox dyed, topping tailored or more formal coats of rough surfaced and matelasse woolens.

Beautiful wool boucles are seen in boxwood green with flattering notched collars of grey persian lamb. Raglan shoulders, fitted cuffs and elbow fullness are new sleeve items. The general tendency is toward untrimmed sleeves.

Very straight, very slim and very elegant, for formal wear, is a handsome black diagonal woolen that boasts a full rippled collar of natural cross fox. The new trend in linings is the use of all-silk satin. After so long a time for silk crepe linings, satin comes as a pleasant innovation.

The luxurious fur collars are complemented by deep and roomy armholes, which tend to make that fall top so greatly desired. Slim waists with slightly flared skirts, and the straight classic silhouette are the most popular this season.

When buying a coat we count upon its lasting two or possibly three seasons. If we are cautious we can do this by following the lines of the mode and keeping well in mind our figure type and coloring. Otherwise it is dated and therefore undesirable as an investment. Fortunately for most of us coat fashions do not change with the rapidity of gown fashions.

A heavy brown and white novelty weave woolen is used for a sporty swagger coat. A new idea worthy of notice—the collar and large lapels, unusual in shape, are bound with dark brown velvet and a shade is repeated in the satin lining of the coat. Another interesting fabric is the soft, hairy imported woolen used for a three-piece ensemble with a plain dress and three-quarters coat faced with the fabric. Buttons and a leather belt of dark brown make this novelty mixture quite breath-taking.

"I shall exert every faculty I possess in aiding to prevent the Constitution from being nullified, destroyed or impaired; and, even though I shall see it fall, I will still, with a voice feeble perhaps, but earnest as ever issued from human lips, and with fidelity and zeal which nothing shall extinguish, call on the people to come to its rescue."—Daniel Webster.

Santa Cruz City will have a birthday party October 5 and 6 in recognition of the one hundred and sixty-sixth anniversary of the first visit to that site by a party of Spanish explorers.

Fresno City, in recognition of the fiftieth anniversary of its incorporation as a city, will stage a Golden Jubilee October 25-27.

The Redwood Empire Association will hold its fifteenth annual convention October 11 and 12 at Hoberg's, Lake County.

THOSE TO WHOM CALIFORNIA IS INDEBTED FOR ADMISSION DAY.

Eighty-six years ago, September 1, 1849, to be exact, California's First Constitutional Convention met in Colton Hall, Monterey City, and framed a document for the operation of a STATE government. The convention, of which Robert Semple was the president, completed its labors October 13, 1849, and the First Constitution was approved by the people of the state at an election held November 13, 1849.

Not until September 9, 1850, was California recognized by the Federal Government as one of the United States of America. But, for nearly a year prior to the adoption of the statehood act Admission Day California operated as a state.

Those who constituted California's First Constitutional Convention, those determined Pioneers who made Admission Day possible—together with the places of their nativity, included:

Joseph Aram, New York; Charles T. Botts, Virginia; Elam Brown, New York; Jose A. Carillo, California; Jose M. Covarrubias, California; Elisha O. Crosby, New York; Pablo De la Guerra, California; Lewis Dent, Missouri; Kimball H. Dimmick, New York; Manuel Dominguez, California; Alfred J. Ellis, New York; Stephen C. Foster, Maine; Edward Gilbert, New York; William M. Gwin, Tennessee; Henry W. Halleck, New York; Julian Hanks, Connecticut; L. W. Hastings, Ohio; Henry Hill, Virginia; Joseph Hobson, Maryland; J. McH. Hollingsworth, Maryland; Jacob D. Hoppe, Maryland; John M. Jones, Kentucky; Thomas O. Larkin, Massachusetts; Benj. S. Lippincott, New York; Francis J. Lippitt, Rhode Island; Benj. F. Moore, Florida; M. M. McCarver, Kentucky; John McDougal, Ohio; Myron Norton, Vermont; Pacificus Ord, Maryland; Miguel D. Pedro Rena, Spain; Antonio M. Pico, California; Rodman M. Price, New York; Hugo Reid, Scotland; Jacinto Rodriguez, California; Pedro Sansevaine, France; Robert Semple, Kentucky; Wm. E. Shannon, Ireland; Winfield S. Sherwood, New York; Jacob R. Snyder, Pennsylvania; Abel Stearns, Massachusetts; Wm. M. Steuart, Maryland; John A. Sutter, Switzerland; Henry A. Tefft, New York; Mariano G. Vallejo, California; Thomas L. Vermeule, New Jersey; J. P. Walker, Virginia; O. M. Wozencraft, Ohio.

In a copyrighted interview with the Beverly, Massachusetts, Evening Times, Justice McReynolds of the United States Supreme Court said: "The Constitution has carried us along through 148 years and now, with unrest troubling the world, is no time to make a change. . . . The Constitution is the foundation of our government and we must abide by it. Enforcement of its principles is necessary for recovery."

Native Sons of the Golden West

STOCKTON, SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY, HAD the greatest number of visitors in its history, September 7, 8 and 9, the throng being attracted there by the celebration, sponsored by the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, of the eighty-fifth anniversary of California's recognition as one of the sovereign states of the United States of America. It was a birthday party that will ever be remembered by the thousands in attendance.

The Admission Day, September 9, parade, the main attraction of the three-day celebration, was an imposing and pleasing spectacle which required two hours to pass. Made up mostly of Native Sons and Native Daughters of California, several thousand of whom from all parts of the state were in line with bands, drum corps, drill teams and floats, it was a distinct credit to the Orders and favorably comparable in all particulars to Admission Day parades gone before.

It is not the policy of The Grizzly Bear to make special mention of any particular Parlor on these occasions, the assumption being that each and every participating Parlor makes the best possible showing. The San Francisco and Alameda County Parlors must, however, be referred to, for they composed seven of the thirteen divisions of the Stockton parade.

In line were a goodly number of floats depicting the history, the development and the glory of California. Among the most timely and attractive were "Ideal Citizenship," entered by Fred H. Greely Past Presidents Assembly N.S.G.W.; the "Pioneer Mother," entered by Ursula Parlor No. 1 N.D.G.W.; the San Francisco Bay bridges, entered by the combined San Francisco Parlors; the Alameda County Court House, now in course of construction, entered by the combined Alameda County Parlors; a garden pergola, wistaria-hung, entered by Stockton Parlor No. 256 N.D.G.W. The latter three were beautiful floral creations.

During the parade, Grand President Harmon D. Skillin of the Native Sons was handed the following telegram from the president of a large San Francisco industry: "We have closed our business today, but with difficulty, since about half of our dealers are open. Suggest your organization conduct an active campaign next year to induce business establishments to close Admission Day. We will back you one hundred percent."

Admission Day parade prizes went to the following: Best float, San Francisco Bay bridges. Best combined men's and women's drum and bugle corps, Rincon Parlor No. 72 N.S.G.W. (San Francisco) and Gabrielle Parlor No. 139 N.D.G.W. (San Francisco). Best N.S.G.W. drum and bugle corps, Sea Point Parlor No. 158 (Sausalito). Best N.S.G.W. drum corps, Napa Parlor No. 62. Best N.D.G.W. drum corps, Genevieve Parlor No. 132 (San Francisco). Largest N.S.G.W. marching unit, Castro Parlor No. 232 (San Francisco). Best N.D.G.W. drill team, Orinda Parlor No. 56 (San Francisco). [Orinda has no drill team, but the award was made as here recorded.]

"IDEAL CITIZENSHIP"

Nevada City—The float, "Ideal Citizenship," here pictured, was the contribution of the Fred H. Greely Past Presidents Assembly No. 6 to the Stockton Admission Day parade. It was sponsored by the following N.S.G.W. Parlors: Colusa No. 69, Sutter No. 261, Argonaut No. 8 (Oroville), Marysville No. 6, Silver Star No. 63 (Lincoln), Rocklin No. 233 (Roseville), Auburn No. 59, Downieville No. 92, Golden Nugget No. 94 (Sierra City), Quartz No. 58 (Grass Valley) and Hydraulic No. 56 (Nevada City). E. J. Kilroy was the living bronze statue of Washington, R. L. P. Bigelow impersonated Uncle Sam, and Bobbie Bonner was the American youth. Escorts were Bill Kilroy, representing the United States Navy, and C. J. Mettos, representing the United States Army. Flag and banner bearers were Richard Marriott and Albert Pratti. The float was drawn by two beautiful iron-gray horses owned and driven by Robert Gates of Nevada City.

During the parade, "Ideal Citizenship" received continuous applause. Because of the sentiment and the lesson of citizenship it portrayed, the float elicited many complimentary, and some amusing, remarks. One onlooker was heard to remark: "Say, Uncle Sam, there's no need of you putting your hand out for a rakeoff. There's not a cent left for you." And another: "Mussolini hasn't a chance in the world now. Washington has come back to life."

N.S.G.W. GROUP INITIATION.

The evening of September 7 the Native Sons had a group initiation, the following exemplifying the ritual: Grand Secretary John T. Regan, president; Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, senior past president; Junior Past Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, junior past president; Grand First Vice-president Hartley Russell, first vice-president; Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, second vice-president; Grand Trustee Adrien M. Hynes, third vice-president; Grand Marshal Walter P. Rothenbush, marshal; Grand Trustee Edward T. Schnarr, inside sentinel; Grand Organist C. George Cuthbertson, pianist.

Twenty-two candidates were initiated, sixteen for Stockton Parlor No. 7, three for General Winn Parlor No. 32 (Antioch), and one each for Elk Grove Parlor No. 41, Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 and University Parlor No. 272 (Los Angeles). Among others in attendance were Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto, Grand Outside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, Grand Trustees Donald E. VanLuven and Charles D. Blaine, Past Grand Presidents Thomas Monahan, Charles L. Dodge, John T. Newell and Seth Millington.

CONTESTS AWARDS.

Contests between drum corps and drill teams of Native Sons and Native Daughters were held the afternoon of September 8, and awards were made as follows:

N.S.G.W. drum and bugle corps—Maneuvering while playing: Sea Point Parlor 158 (Sausalito), first. Standing and playing: Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214 (San Francisco), first.

N.S.G.W. drum corps—Piedmont Parlor No. 120 (Oakland), first; Sacramento Parlor No. 3, second. Non-maneuvering: Alcalde Parlor No. 154 (San Francisco), first.

N.D.G.W. drill teams—Twin Peaks Parlor No. 185 (San Francisco), first; Presidio Parlor No. 148 (San Francisco), second; Mission Parlor No. 227 (San Francisco), third; Dolores Parlor No. 169 (San Francisco), fourth; Marinita Parlor No. 198 (San Rafael), fifth; La Bandera Parlor No. 110 (Sacramento), sixth.

N.D.G.W. drum corps—Tamelpa Parlor No. 231 (Mill Valley), first; Genevieve Parlor No. 132 (San Francisco), second. Non-maneuvering: Mission Parlor No. 227 (San Francisco), first.

In the N.S.G.W. baseball contest, held September 8, the team of Stockton Parlor No. 7 came out victorious, and that of University Parlor No. 272 (Los Angeles) was the runnerup.

PAST GRANDS N.S.G.W. ENTERTAINED.

The afternoon of Admission Day, Hubert R. McNoble, Past Grand President N.S.G.W., and wife entertained at a delightful function at their Stockton home in compliment to visiting members of the N.S.G.W. Past Grand Presidents So-

SANTA BARBARA HAS OFFICIAL TREE

Santa Barbara Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W., with the assistance of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 N.D.G.W., has succeeded in having the County Forestry Board and the County Board of Supervisors adopt the Island Ironwood as the official tree of Santa Barbara County. Members of the Native Sons committee include Wesley McCormick (chairman), George A. Black, A. C. Dinsmore, F. V. Vestal and James E. Sloane, former mayor of Santa Barbara. Representing the Native Daughters are Edna McCormick and Anna McCaughey.

The tree, shown in the accompanying illustration, is in the Blaksley Botanic Garden of Santa Barbara and was recently dedicated by the Parlors. In the picture also are, left to right, Paul Sweetser, president Santa Barbara Historical Society and past president Santa Barbara Parlor; Mrs. Edna McCormick, chairman tree committee Reina del Mar Parlor; Mrs. Amelia Acres, deputy grand president N.D.G.W., and F. V. Vestal, first vice-president Santa Barbara Parlor.

The selection of the Island Ironwood as the official Santa Barbara County tree was originally recommended by Maunsell Van Rensselaer, assistant director Blaksley Botanic Garden. He says:

"The Island Ironwood is found only on the four islands off the coast of southern California: Catalina, San Clemente, Santa Cruz and Santa Rosa. The variety asplenifolius is most abundant on Santa Cruz Island, which is an integral part of Santa Barbara County. It may be assumed that this tree species is a relic of a flora that once flourished here, and that before the islands were separated from the mainland it had an extensive distribution along the coast of southern California. It is quite probable that only the more favorable climate of the islands has enabled it to persist.

"It was discovered on Catalina Island in 1884 by William S. Lyon, forester of California's first Forestry Board. The generic name Lyonothamnus was created in his honor, it being a combination of the surname Lyon and the Greek word thamnos, meaning shrub; floribundus indicates that the tree flowers abundantly, while asplenifolius refers to the resemblance of the handsome fern-like leaves to certain species of Asplenium. It was given the common name Ironwood by the early residents of Catalina Island because of the extreme hardness of the wood when seasoned. This species, however, should not be confused with the many other trees and shrubs commonly known as Ironwood. The Island Ironwood is unique from a botanic standpoint, in that it is the only species of the genus Lyonothamnus and is a member of the rose family."

ciety. A delicious luncheon was served, and the hostess' and the host's hospitality was unbounded.

Honored guests included Past Grands Lewis F. Byington, Joseph R. Knowland, Clarence E. Jarvis, Thomas Monahan, James F. Hoey, Edward J. Lynch, Judge Fletcher A. Cutler, James A. Wilson, Charles L. Dodge, John T. Newell, Seth Millington and Justice Emmet Seawell. Among other guests were Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto, Mms. Hoey, Dodge and Seawell, R. R. Veale (General Winn Parlor No. 32) and wife, Clarence M. Hunt (Sacramento Parlor No. 3) and wife, George Catts and John R. Williams (Stockton Parlor No. 7).—C.M.H.

CABRILLO AND CABRILLO DAY.

The Cabrillo Day festivities at San Diego coming so late in the month, September 28, it is not possible to give an account in this (October) issue of The Grizzly Bear. Headed by Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, the grand officers dedicated the Cabrillo National Monument, a Federal Government project, and initiated the Cabrillo class of candidates presented by the southern Parlors.

To assist the schoolchildren of California in developing an understanding and appreciation of Cabrillo and his California voyage, and to provide materials on Cabrillo for libraries, the California State Department of Education issued a bulletin, "John Rodrigues Cabrillo, Discoverer of California," compiled by Ivan R. Waterman, chief of the division of textbooks and publications, copies of which may be secured by interested parties by addressing the State Education Department, Sacramento. The price is twenty cents per copy.

In the bulletin are reproduced two Cabrillo poems, published in The Grizzly Bear some years ago. Regarding these, Chief Waterman writes the editor: "I wish to thank you for your permission to use the poems 'Cabrillo' and 'Who Was Cabrillo?' The inclusion of these poems has added to the attractiveness of the bulletin."—Editor.

DISTRICT INITIATIONS.

The Parlors of Marin and Sonoma Counties will hold a group initiation Monday, October 7, at San Rafael. Mount Tamalpais No. 64 will be the host, and the ritual will be exemplified by the officers of Sea Point No. 158 (Sausalito).

The southern Parlors will have their third group initiation Saturday, October 26, at the Crestline clubhouse of Arrowhead No. 110 (San Bernardino). That Parlor will be the host and its officers will exemplify the ritual.

Saturday, November 16, the Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano Counties Parlors will have a group initiation at Sonoma City. The host on that occasion will be Sonoma No. 111.

Bear Flag Given Hospital.

Bakersfield—Bakersfield No. 42 and El Tejon No. 239 N.D.G.W. presented September 8 to the Kern County General Hospital a California State (Bear) Flag. Hal Bannister was chairman of the occasion. Supervisor Charles Wimmer presented the flag on the Natives' behalf, and it was accepted by Dr. Joseph K. Smith. Other speakers were Mrs. Ray Carlisle, president El Tejon;

Native Daughters of the Golden West

SAN DIEGO—THE ADMISSION DAY CELEbration arranged by San Diego Parlor No. 108 N.S.G.W. and San Diego Parlor No. 208 N.D.G.W. attracted an immense crowd, September 9, to this city where, with the arrival of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, September 28, 1542, California history began.

The day's festivities opened with a pageant parade marshaled by Brigadier General Douglas C. McDougal, M. C., son of California's second governor, John McDougal. One of the most picturesque historical parades ever staged in San Diego, it was a display of California life from the earliest days of the White man's visitation to the Pacific Coast down to the present.

Among the floats were replicas of the ship in which Cabrillo arrived in California, and of the barge of Commodore Stockton's ship, U.S.S. "Congress," manned by men of the United States Navy in naval costumes of 1846. Directing attention to the homeless children endeavor of the Native Sons and Native Daughters, was a float, "California of the Future," with two score native California children in brilliant costumes.

Bill Wright, in the San Diego Union of September 10, referring to the San Diego Admission Day parade, said: "To the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West (and all the co-operators) copious thanks for the most interesting parade San Diego has seen for years and years! It was full of deft little touches."

Following the parade, a most interesting Admission Day program was presented in the outdoor organ pavilion of the California Pacific International Exposition. General Chairman Carl H. Heilbron presided, and prayers of gratitude for the blessings of work and play in California were offered by Father J. M. Thompson and Rev. John B. Osborn. Vocal selections were rendered by the Exposition mixed chorus and Francisca Nason Leidig.

A colorful ceremony, the raising of four flags that have flown over California—Spanish, Mexican, California Republic (Bear) and United States of America—was presented by President Albert V. Mayrhofer of the California State Historical Association, assisted by Mrs. Hazel B. Hansen, A. Perry Harris, Mrs. Nellie M. Cline and John J. Ford.

Addresses of welcome were delivered by Vice-president Elwood T. Bailey of the California Pacific Exposition, Mayor P. J. Benbough of San Diego City, and Chairman Ed. F. Hastings of the San Diego County Board of Supervisors. Responses were by Daniel F. McSweeny for the Native Sons, Miss Grace S. Stoermer for the Native Daughters, and Isadore Dockweiler for California.

The main speaker was Judge Albert Lee Stephens, who appeared on the program as the personal representative of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. His subject was "California's Admission to the Union," and in the course of his remarks he read the following telegram, expressing the President's good wishes: "The President would appreciate it if you would extend his greetings and good wishes to all those participating in the celebration and expresses his sincere regret that it is not possible for him to be there. The President delights in your pride of nativity and he wishes you a carefree day in this twentieth century fairyland [California]. Marvin H. McIntyre, Assistant Secretary to the President."

Large Class Initiated at Exposition.

San Diego—San Diego No. 208 opened the three-day Admission Day celebration here by initiating a large class of candidates in the auditorium of the House of Hospitality on the grounds of the California Pacific International Exposition. Representatives from many of the southern California Parlors were present.

Honored guests included Grand Trustees Hazel Hansen and Nellie Cline, Supervising Deputy Mabel Burgert, Deputy Pearl Conard, Florence Dodson-Schoneman and Francisca Nason Leidig. After the initiatory ceremonies a program of Spanish songs and dances, in charge of Alice Damarus, was presented, the songs being delightfully and ably rendered by Mrs. Leidig. August 21, San Diego had as a visitor Grand Trustee Clarice Cook.

General Public Entertained.

San Jose—For the general public, Vendome No. 100 sponsored an outstanding patriotic and historic program September 11. Grand Trustee Clara A. Gairaud, the chairman, was ably assisted by Alice Treat, Imogene Thompson, Stella M. Baggs and Deputy Alice Roll. United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags were used in the decorations.

John M. Burnett reviewed the history of California, and entertainment was provided by Troop 24 Boy Scouts of America, a nineteen-piece string orchestra, Jewel Smith McKenna, Dorothy Lorentz, Chris Vitale, J. C. Gordon and "Rattlesnake Bill." The aims and objects of the N.D.G.W. and the N.S.G.W. were told by Grand Trustee Gairaud. While Hazel Haub played "The Star Spangled Banner," the national and the state flags were furled by President Rose Baker of the Women's Relief Corps and President Verna Steiner of Vendome. The three-hour program, the initial one under the auspices of the Extension of the Order Committee, closed with bugle taps.

The "Odds and Evens" of the Parlor's attendance contest put on a stunt September 25 with Ella Graham as captain. A potluck dinner was also held. Reservations are being received for a large card party the afternoon of October 12. Mrs. E. A. Weller is the chairman.

Outofdoors Banquet for Grand President.

Grass Valley—Grand President Anna C. Thuesen made her official visit to Manzanita No. 29, August 20, and preceding the Parlor session a banquet was served outofdoors. Ninety members attended the meeting, and the Grand President delivered a fine address. On the Parlor's behalf, President Ann Quinn presented her with a gift, and Supervising Deputy Louise Wales was also remembered. Addresses were given by Past Grands Bertha Briggs and Alison Watt, Deputy Virginia O'Neil and others. After the meeting a fine program was presented and refreshments were served.

Pioneers of Grass Valley who arrived in California prior to 1858 were guests of Manzanita at a public reception and tea September 10. Florence George, heading the arrangements committee, greeted the guests, who included Mms. Harriet Caflin, M. C. Snyder, Nettie Washburn, Past Grand Alison Watt, Trecia White and Mary Wannamake.

Reception for Pioneers.

Alturas—Alturas No. 159 appointed a committee September 5 to interview the City Council in regard to having a museum and pioneer relics home included in the P.W.A. projects. Another committee was named to investigate the upkeep of oldtime cemeteries at Centerville and Alturas. A fund was set aside for resetting markers over the graves of five officers killed in the Crooks Canyon battle of early days.

Admission Day was celebrated with a reception for Pioneers. Following an address of welcome by President Irene Cummings, a pageant portraying six episodes in California history was presented by members of the Parlor. Several Pioneers contributed reminiscences to the program, and oldtime songs and musical numbers were featured by entertainers. While the honor-guests renewed old friendships, refreshments were served.

Tribute to Recording Secretary.

Sacramento—Charter Member Clara Weldon, for thirty-six years recording secretary of La Bandera No. 110, had a birthday anniversary September 20 and as a tribute of affection the Parlor had a party in her honor. Refreshments were served at tables bedecked with pastel colored flowers. On La Bandera's behalf, Charter Member Grace Sherman presented to Mrs. Weldon an electric toaster with tray and service dishes.

Ruth E. Peterson gave a talk on Constitution Day and Cabrillo Day, and the Parlor's drill team put on a military drill. Other speakers were Charter President Sophie Monteverde, Grace Schaden and President Thelma Barton. Special guests of the occasion were Past Grand Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen, Supervising Deputy Lily Mae Tilden, Deputies Mary Curry, Mabel Thomas, Ada Fawcett, Aileen Thompson, Delphine Smith, Ethel Miller, Maude Cook, Annie Almeida and Edna B. Briggs. The arrangements committee included Grace Schaden and Julia Noonan (joint chairmen), Mae Sydenstricker, Geneva Simonsen, Ethel Miller, Thelma Griswold, Ada Appleton, Lillian Bragg, Theresa Eberwine, Flora Schmittgen, Minnie Frankland, Mae King, Grace Sherman, Mae Keefe, Lucille Hume, Sofia Cecchettini, Mary Duffy and Mary Gallagher.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Redwood City—Bonita No. 10 had a very happy meeting, September 12, when Grand President Anna C. Thuesen paid her official visit. Among the many present were Grand Trustees Alice Lane and Alice Oldham, Supervising Deputy May McDonald, Past Grands Margaret G. Hill, May Himes Noonan and Evelyn I. Carlson, and several deputies. Gifts were presented the Grand President and others. Refreshments were served.

Fresno—Supervising Deputy Hazel Laverty has called a district meeting of Veritas No. 75 (Merced), Madera No. 244, Mariposa No. 63, Lomitas No. 255 (Los Banos) and Fresno No. 187 to be held here the night of October 25. At that time Fresno Parlor will observe its silver anniversary, and Past Grand Mamie G. Peyton will be among the many honor-guests. A dinner and special program are being planned by a committee composed of Maude Crosby, Lena Vierra, Iva Babcock, Edna Wolfe, Ora Osborne, Mabel Konkel, Harriett Boust and Hazel Laverty. Fresno City will have a golden jubilee the last week in October, and No. 187 will participate in a pageant parade and a costume ball to be held at that time.

Oakland—Grand President Anna C. Thuesen officially visited Piedmont No. 87, September 19. Several candidates were initiated, and at the meeting's close a banquet was served in her honor. President Grace Hadlen presided, and was assisted by Dorothy Davis and Lillie Halstead.

Woodland—In recognition of Admission Day, Woodland No. 90 had a program September 10 arranged by Edna Richter, chairman of the history committee. Plans were made for charter members night, to be held in October.

Sonora—Officers of the Tuolumne County Parlors—Golden Era No. 99 (Columbia), Anona No. 164 (Jamestown) and Dardanelle No. 66 (Sonora)—were jointly installed by Deputy Myrtle Shannon Stiff, assisted by Supervising Deputy Ethel Enos. At the conclusion of the ceremonies refreshments were served.

Hollister—Copa de Oro No. 105's first meeting, September 12, following the summer recess was an outstanding event. The festivities opened with a dinner. Lighted tapers and bright asters decorated the tables, and the song sheet covers featured the California State (Bear) Flag. President Ruby Nyland was toastmistress, and community singing was led by Dudley Lawn. At the meeting, officers of the Parlor—presenting a striking picture in identical white organdy formals with scarlet trimmings and matching corsages—were installed by Deputy Alma Nyland. In a splendid installation address, President Alta Trowbridge outlined her plans for the year and presented several novel ideas that will be carried out. Honor-guests included Supervising Deputy Alta Macaulay, Grand Organist Pearl Reid and Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs. Several presentations were made.

Middletown—Clear Lake No. 135 celebrated its thirty-third institution anniversary August 27. In attendance were Charter Members Cora Herrick, Angie Nelson and Addie Penney. Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Clara Hunt, Angie Nelson and Naomi Read.

Oroville—Following the summer vacation, Gold of Ophir No. 190 resumed its meetings September 4 when, in recognition of Admission Day, a California program in charge of Alta Baldwin was presented. Speakers included Grand Vice-president Florence D. Boyle and Sonora Steadman, and members engaged in a game of jumbled historical names. Tasty refreshments, served at tables decorated with flags and marigolds, closed the evening. In charge of arrangements were Emma Danforth, Hattie Clark, Hazel Scott, Florence Boyle and Elice LaVoy. It was reported that during the summer visitors from several foreign countries, a majority of the states and practically every California county registered at the N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Relics Building.

Byron—Donner No. 193 and Byron No. 170 N.S.G.W. had a float—a replica of the Donner monument—in the Stockton Admission Day parade. Donner Parlor is making preparations for a bazar to be held October 18. Committees are active on all projects.

Sausalito—Grand President Anna C. Thuesen officially visited Sea Point No. 196, August 26. A banquet preceded the meeting, and refreshments were served at its close. The Grand President complimented President Marie Ashoff and the other officers for their perfect ritual work and commended the splendid membership increase, Sea Point having initiated fifteen candidates since July 1. Among the many in attendance were Grand Marshal Ethel Begley, Grand

A WORTHWHILE NON-SECTARIAN ENDEAVOR
SPONSORED AND SUPPORTED BY THE ORDERS OF NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

THE SUBORDINATE PARLORS OF THE Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West are now arranging for their benefits for the work of the Homeless Children and are setting the dates for food sales, dances, movies and other forms of entertainment.

The Collector of Internal Revenue has notified the Central Committee that this year there will be no exceptions in granting amusement tax exemption, and that the tax MUST be paid on all benefit entertainments where the price of admission exceeds forty-one cents, unless the proper applications have been filed early and have been allowed by the Internal Revenue Department.

The proper blanks claiming exemption may be obtained from the San Francisco or Los Angeles Collectors of Internal Revenue, or from the Central Committee. These blanks must be made out in the name of the Parlor, signed by the Secretary of the Parlor or the Chairman of the Joint Committee, properly ACKNOWLEDGED and returned to the Central Committee to be signed by the authorized officer. The application must reach the Internal Revenue Collector far enough in advance of the entertainment to enable him to allow the exemption BEFORE the date of the benefit. If this time is not given the Collector and the requests for exemption come in too late, a tax will be required of the Parlors.

T. J. Church of the San Francisco Internal Revenue Office has expressed his interest in the work being done for the Homeless Children. He is in full accord with the project as it is handled by a Central Committee, accountable to the Parlors for all funds, and he does not want to be compelled to demand a tax for these benefit performances. He realizes that the members are giving their time, that their enthusiasm is sincere and their motives the best, and that the Homeless Children Committee will be entitled to an exemption, but again he reminds us that exemption must be CLAIMED on the printed BLANKS, and that these blanks must reach him as soon as possible after the benefit has been PLANNED, as he must obey the Federal law. He asks that these facts be broadcast to the Parlors in order that there may be no disappointments or misunderstandings. This claiming exemption is, after all, a simple way to gain money for the work, and if each Parlor planning its benefit will instruct the Secretary of the Parlor to attend to this requirement immediately the date is set, there will be no confusion.

Contributions received by the Central Committee during August: Bakersfield Parlor No. 42 N.S.G.W., $12.50; Princess Parlor No. 84 N.D.G.W., $1.50; Hayward Parlor No. 122 N.D.G.W., $100; Mary E. Bell Parlor No. 224 N.D.G.W., $20; total from Parlors, $134. Native Daughters milk fund, $62.50. Board received from state, county and parents, $518.85. Contribution from friends, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Benner of Berkeley, $100. Dividends, $28.75. Total income for August, $844.20. Disbursements amounted to $1,340.98. Balance in the commercial account September 1, $2,482.43. Marguerite Parlor No. 12 N.D.G.W. paid in full for its third child, "John W. Marshall."

If the Parlors will endeavor to give their benefits early and get the returns in promptly to the Central Committee, there will be no need of drawing from the savings account of $5,325.

Children placed from April 1 to September 1, 66. Children legally adopted during same period, 61. Applications received during August, 41; total since April 1, 199.

In Memoriam

BLANCHE SEPULVEDA.

To the Officers and Members of Aloha Parlor No. 106 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our departed sister, Blanche Sepulveda, respectfully submit the following:

The golden chain of our fraternity has been severed by the loss of our sister, Blanche Sepulveda. The trials, the disappointments that come in every life are ended for our sister, and her passing causes grief to all our members, who held her in deep respect. While we pay loving tribute to her memory, we are not unmindful of the sorrow that has come to her loved ones. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend the sympathy of the Parlor to her bereaved husband and her sister, that a copy of these resolutions be spread in full upon the minutes of our Parlor, one sent to her husband, one to her sister, and one copy to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

Respectfully submitted,

JENNIE PETERSON,
ALMA LILIENTHAL,
GRACE DUPONT.

Oakland, September 17, 1935.

MARY JACOBS.

To the Officers and Members of James Lick Parlor No. 220 N.D.G.W.—Your committee submits the following resolutions in respect to the memory of our beloved Past President, Sister Mary Jacobs:

In loving tribute to the memory of our departed sister, Mary Jacobs, who has answered the call of our Heavenly Father. We have lost a true and loyal member, and her willingness to do and her untiring efforts have endeared her to all of us.

Resolved, That to her bereaved husband and family we extend our sincere sympathy, and inscribe these resolutions upon the minutes, and that copies be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication and to her husband.

There's a face that is haunting as ever,
There's a voice that we're longing to hear,
There's a smile we'll remember forever,
Though we try to forget every tear.
There's a sad but sweet remembrance,
There's memory fond and true,
There's a token of affection, dear,
And heartache still for you.

MARGARET KANE
JULIA OWEN
ELLEN BELL.

NATIVE SONS NEWS

William Rea Jr., president Bakersfield; District Deputy Mart Leonard and Mrs Edith Sweet. During the raising of the flag Richard Skinner, accompanied by Miss Olive Bingham, sang "I Love You, California."

Bakersfield Parlor, which is making rapid strides ahead numerically, initiated eleven candidates August 30. Entertainment and refreshments followed the ceremonies.

Noted Pathfinder's Grave Marked.

Martinez—The grave of a noted earlyday California pathfinder, Captain Joseph Walker, the first White man to see Yosemite Valley, was marked with a plaque August 25 by Mount Diablo No. 101 and Las Juntas No. 221 N.D.G.W. State Senator Will R. Sharkey presided at the ceremonies, and the principal speakers were Past Grands Joseph R. Knowland and James F. Hoey.

Among the honor-guests was John Walker, nephew of Captain Walker who, in 1834, discovered Walker's River and Lake in Nevada State and Walker's Pass into California.

NATIVE SONS NEWS BRIEFS.

Sacramento—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of Sunset No. 26 celebrated September 2 his sixty-ninth birthday anniversary. One of the outstanding statesmen and orators of the nation, California sent him to the United States Senate in 1916.

Santa Rosa—Santa Rosa No. 28 initiated four candidates August 29, George Eckman directing the ceremonies. There were many visitors from Sebastopol and Petaluma. Refreshments were served, and several speakers responded to the call of President James Wilson.

Ferndale—In the Admission Day parade at Arcata, the float that attracted the most attention was one entered by Ferndale No. 93. It represented historic Sutter Fort and was accompanied by several members of the Parlor in costumes of the days of '49.

Livermore—Norman J. McLeod, charter member of Las Positas No. 96, died August 20. He was born at Centerville, Alameda County, September 3, 1862.

Santa Clara—To uniform and equip its baseball team, Santa Clara No. 100 sponsored a dance September 7.

Sonoma—At an inspiring meeting attended by Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, Junior Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig and Grand Secretary John T. Regan, August 24, the district deputies and Grand Parlor committeemen of Sonoma, Napa, Solano and Marin Counties organized. L. H. Green of Sonoma No. 111 was selected for chairman, and Charles Bacigalupi was made secretary.

Quincy—Grand First Vice-president Hartley Russell officially visited Quincy No. 131, September 12. A banquet was served, a number of eligibles being guests. In a fine address, the visitor stressed the order's good work.

Castroville—Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven paid an official visit September 5 to Gabilan No. 132. At that time, District Deputy Robert L. Adcock installed the Parlor officers, Joe Cotrone becoming president. The following evening, Grand Trustee VanLuven officially visited Monterey No. 75.

San Jose—The district deputies of Santa Clara, San Mateo, Santa Cruz and Monterey Counties met with Observatory No. 177, August 27, and representatives from many towns were present. Two candidates were initiated. Junior Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig and Grand Secretary John T. Regan gave interesting talks, and light refreshments were served.

(LILLIAN TREGANZA.)

Rise, rise, thou mighty guardian
Above the fair Marin;
Thy foothills hem her in.

Protect the beauty thou do'st share
And guard, oh guard her well,
That mortals still for many years
May worship in her spell.

The woods that skirt thy mighty form
Love thee as e'er their own;
They are not slaves, but couriers,
About a kingly throne.

Rise, rise above thy charges all,
Hold high thy crest, and wait,
For men come but to pay thee court,
Thou Monarch of the Gate!

A redwood burl weighing seven and one-half tons has been found near Big Lagoon, Humboldt County. It is said to be the largest, also the closest grained, burl ever discovered in this area.

Gladiolus thrip treatment is recommended in a new bulletin issued by the University of California College of Agriculture. The insect also attacks amaryllis, narcissus and other flowers.

SAN FRANCISCO

TO COMMEMORATE ONE HUNDRED years—1835-1935—of business progress, San Francisco, "The City That Knows How," will have a "Century of Commerce" celebration October 14-19.

A citizens committee appointed by Mayor Angelo Rossi to handle details is headed by Lewis F. Byington, Past Grand President N.S.G.W.

A civic and fraternal parade the evening of October 14 will open the festivities. The evening of October 19, a parade including appropriately costumed groups and floats depicting the various periods of life in San Francisco the past one hundred years will proceed to the Civic Auditorium, where the celebration will terminate with a historical pageant.

The San Francisco Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters will participate in these parades and be actively identified with all other features on the "Century of Commerce" program.

BENEFIT A GRAND SUCCESS.

The San Francisco Native Sons and Native Daughters sponsored a whist party and dansant, September 23, for the benefit of the homeless children. It was largely attended and a grand success. The general committee of arrangements was officered by: Frank M. Buckley, chairman; Alice M. Lane, vice-chairman; Bertha Mauser, financial secretary; Emily Ryan, recording secretary; Martin H. Huber, treasurer. Subcommittees were made up of the following:

Finance—Chas. A. Koenig (chairman), Ed. J. Wren, Agnes M. Curry. Publicity—Charles R. Boden. Donations—Gertrude LaFortune. Printing—Joseph Rose, Lulu Porter, Kitty Maloney. Concessions—Eugene Herzog, Ed. J. Wren, Michael Joyce, Lena Wall, Eugenia Mabley. Hall—Louis Erb, Vera Thompson, Paul Conniff, R. Nelson, Alice Schoknecht. Admission—Sidney Bernstein, O. P. Cosbie, J. P. Murphy, M. Lawler. Reception—Alice M. Lane, Mrs. Griffen, Mae McDonald. Whist and dance—Anna Thuesen (honorary chairman), Mae McDonald (chairman), Vera Thompson (secretary). Radio—Helen Mann. Prize judges—Orinda Giannini, Claire Lindsey, Pat Gould, Percy Marchant, Bertha Mauser, Ann Dippel, Paul Conniff, Vera Thompson. Music—Wm. James, Mae Shea, A. N. Nishkian, Loretto Cameron. Booster—Jesse Miller, Joseph Tinney, Conrad Hubner, Mae Noonan. Prizes—Nick Murphy, Ivo Monte, Lena Wall, Belle Foley, Edna Baldwin, Chas. Craig, Wm. Cavagnaro, Thos. Murphy.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS.

Orinda Parlor No. 56 celebrated its forty-fifth anniversary at a delightful dinner. Six charter members still remain with Orinda and in honor of their forty-five years of loyalty to the Order are being presented with life memberships. Members residing in Marin County put on an enjoyable skit, and then dutch whist was in order. Honor-guests were Deputy Juanita Blanchfield, Grand Trustee Orinda Giannini, Charter Members Past Grand Emma Foley, Katherine Britschgi, Anna Loser and Katherine Jewell. Mae Shea, chairman of the evening, was assisted by Laura Spitzer and Emma McClure.

President Carolyn Kerwin of Genevieve Parlor No. 132 will be hostess October 2 at a dinner party in honor of the drum corps, which was awarded two silver trophies at the Stockton Admission Day celebration. October 9 the Parlor will sponsor a card party; an enjoyable evening is promised. Charles Herman and Jas. O'Rourke were guests of Genevieve's drum corps at a dinner given in their honor at Stockton September 10. The drum corps will participate in the Columbus Day parade and the "Century of Commerce" celebration.

Resembling a picturesque English landscape scene, flower-arched, Dolores Parlor No. 169 entertained at a garden party September 11. Members in organdy frocks strolled through bowers of carnations and roses, and baskets of flowers were suspended from the chandeliers. Bridge and whist, followed by tasty refreshments, were enjoyed. Past Grand Evelyn Carlson, hostess of the evening, complimented the members of the drill team on their appearance and conduct in the Stockton Admission Day parade, and Captain Alvina Burkhardt thanked them for their co-operation. President Anita Jebe extended a welcome to the visitors, Pearl Wedde, Ruth Brown, Ann Godfrey and Mrs. Craig.

Mrs. Hannah McRaith-Barry, affiliated with Mission Parlor No. 227, died September 10, survived by a husband. She was one of the most active workers in the Order and was a delegate to many Grand Parlors.

NATIVE SONS NEWS.

Charles R. Boden of Pacific Parlor No. 10, assistant public defender since 1927, has been appointed municipal judge, and Municipal Judge Elmer E. Robinson of Bay City Parlor No. 104, has been advanced to a superior judgeship.

South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 had a largely attended meeting September 11. The Stockton Admission Day celebration was discussed, and Judge George Schonfeld, who marshaled the Parlor's contingent in the parade there, was plentifully "panned." Gene O'Donnell was among the speakers, and there was an abundance of humor.

Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven officially visited Guadalupe Parlor No. 231, September 3, and Marshall Parlor No. 202, September 4.

SURPRISE FOR NATIVE DAUGHTERS.

The San Francisco County N.D.G.W. deputies, headed by Supervising Deputy Nan Kelly, are formulating plans for an outstanding district meeting the early part of November. A surprise is in store for all in attendance at the event.

RECORD REQUEST.

The Manx Hotel recently received a request for accommodation, commencing August 1, 1938, during the contemplated World's Fair. It is believed to be the first such request on record. Reservations, however, will not be accepted until June 1, 1937.

Harvey M. Toy, managing owner of the Manx, is smiling broadly these days, due to the large increase in business.

Redwood National Forest Project Approved—The National Forest Reservation Commission in Washington, D. C., has approved the establishment in California of two redwood acquisition zones, one in Sonoma and Mendocino Counties and the other in Humboldt and Del Norte Counties. This action makes it possible for the Federal Forest Service to examine and bargain for redwood lands suitable for national forest purposes in these zones. When this project is completed, California will have the only redwood national forest in the world.

The Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons will be held at San Francisco, October 28-November 1. This will be the first national meeting of the Congress to be held in the far west.

Fire Prevention Week, beginning October 6, has been proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to encourage the study of ways and means to eliminate fire hazards.

"Dream of Plenty"—A big governmental appropriation with no strings attached is the politician's idea of paradise."—Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Argus-Leader.

A joint meeting of the California Real Estate Association, the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the Western United States Realty Conference will be held at San Francisco, October 2-5.

The San Mateo County Fall Fiesta is to be held at Bay Meadows, October 11-13. The outstanding floral, vegetable and other soil-products of the county will be featured.

Antioch, Contra Costa County, will hold its annual Fall Fair, October 4-6.

PREPARATIONS ARE BEING MADE BY Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. to entertain members of the Order from all over the southland, October 26, at the third group initiation of the southern Parlors to be held at Arrowhead's Crestline clubhouse. Scores of candidates will be initiated at this event, according to announcement, and Grand President Harmon D. Skillin and other grand officers will be in attendance.

Arrangements are in charge of Dr. R. L. White, first vice-president, who is being assisted by President Harold G. Lord, Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven and Junior Past President Eugene C. Ward.

Featuring unusual entertainment and a social gathering, members of Arrowhead gathered September 14 at the Crestline clubhouse for their monthly steak dinner. D. H. Davies was in charge of arrangements, and James A. Olivas arranged the program. As is customary with affairs conducted at Crestline, the '49er style prevailed. The Parlor presented several candidates at the "Cabrillo" group initiation, held outofdoors on the California Pacific International Exposition grounds at San Diego, Cabrillo Day, September 28.

SURPRISE WEDDING.

Judge Donald E. VanLuven, chairman N.S.G.W. Board of Grand Trustees, surprised his numerous friends by going to Santa Barbara, August 31, and being wedded to Miss Rose Szakacs, also of San Bernardino. The ceremony was performed by Judge Atwell Westwick of Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W.

The couple honeymooned in the northern part of the state, visiting, among other places, Stockton during the Admission Day celebration. They returned September 11 to San Bernardino, where they will make their home.

ELIGIBLES ENTERTAINED.

Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. began its fall activities September 11 by organizing a sewing club which will meet weekly. Articles for a Christmas bazar are now being made. The Parlor has changed its place of meeting to the American Legion Clubhouse, 388 Fourth street, sessions being held there the second and the fourth Wednesdays of each month.

September 25, Lugonia had an open meeting at which members of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. were special guests. An interesting program was presented and refreshments were served. Marguerite McKenzie and Marjorie Beck were in charge.

September 27, the membership committee sponsored an informal party at which all guests were eligibles. Bridge was played and entertainment was provided. Chairman Hazel Poole was assisted by Rhoda Smith, Eva Bemis, Marjorie Beck, Ruth Roberds, Mary Poppett and President Evelyn Shaddox.

Columbus Day, October 12, will be celebrated in numerous communities of the state.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

"DON'T BE FOOLED!", SAID DR. ROBert Gordon Sproul, president, addressing the students of the University of California at Los Angeles, September 16. "Don't be fooled by quack remedies for society and government, peddled by egocentric agitators. Don't be misled by the sophistry and the seizing upon issues not in question. I do not see how any American citizen would agree to change his status of freedom with those who have dedicated life, liberty and freedom of happiness to the State. Above all things, be loyal. Be loyal to your university and to your nation."

"The disciples of discontent here and elsewhere developing a doctrine of despair," said Dr. Sproul, "proclaim a program that, if it were realized in action, would deny to all but a particular group the liberties that they mouth, and prate, and demonstrate so much about. Let me urge you to think hard and straight on these matters, and to cherish the basic liberty of the individual that has always been the pride of America. . . . Salvation does not lie in the exchange of our liberties for political, intellectual or spiritual serfdom."

HISTORICAL PLACES TO BE LISTED.

That tourists and Californians may readily know where to go when visiting historical places in southern California, a small booklet will be compiled and issued under the direction of the history and landmarks committee of the Women's Community Service Auxiliary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The booklet will include cultural and civic places of interest, with a historical description of each. The committee also will direct establishment of a permanent foundation for the development of California history and a permanent place to display relics and treasured possessions of earlyday Californians.

The committee, of which Miss Grace S. Stoermer, Past Grand President N.D.G.W., is the chairman, includes Mms. A. S. C. Forbes, Ana Beague Packman, Ralph L. Tuttle, Clarence E. Noerenberg, Chester C. Ashley, Donald Baker, Robert L. Burns, John P. Carter, B. F. Ferries, F. B. Gillett, Estelle C. Holman, Grace Y. Hudson, W. T. S. Hunt, Henry T. Wright, Clarence L. Variel, Blanche C. Wagner, Louis C. Fix, Dr. Marie Hugon Thorsen and Miss Evelyn L. Cooper.

STATE FLAG PRESENTED LEGION.

Long Beach—First Vice-president Leola Temby presided at the September 5 meeting of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. September 12 a benefit card party was held at the Norwalk home of Ada Adams. Assisting the hostess were Alma Morrow, May Gillies, Alice Waldow, Mary Stultz and Margaret Burch.

September 17 a California State (Bear) Flag was presented by the Parlor to Arthur L. Peterson Post of the American Legion. President Gertrude Riddle made the presentation address, which was responded to by Commander Harry Alberts. Bertha Hitt gave a short reading on the flag's history. At the September 19 meeting refreshments were served by a committee composed of Daisy Hansen (chairman), Alma Morrow and Violet Henshilwood.

Long Beach will have a benefit card party October 3. Kate McFadyen, chairman, is being assisted by Kitty Dillon, Daisy Hansen, Josephine Pierson and Margaret Burch.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

At elaborate public ceremonies, largely attended, officers of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., with Leonie Clos as president, were installed September 11 by Deputy Erna Watts. Among those in attendance were delegations from all surrounding Parlors, Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Trustees Hazel B. Hansen and Nellie M. Cline, Grand Outside Sentinel Mary B. Noerenberg and Supervising Deputy Flora Holy. Dancing concluded the installation.

Los Angeles' October program includes: 2nd, members of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 (San Pedro) and Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 will be guests of honor. 9th, card party, first of tournament; Thelma Stengel chairman. 16th, initiation; district deputies will exemplify the ritual. 18th, dance, jointly with Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W., at El Rancho Country Club. 26th, sewing club meeting at the home of Evelyn Howell.

UNIVERSITY PARLOR NEWS.

University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. will hold its annual birthday and Hallowe'en dance October 26 at Rancho Country Club. Art Hoenig is chairman of the affair and plans are being made for the finest party the Parlor has ever given.

Within a short time, presidents of the southern Parlors will be contacted by a committee from University to talk over the possibility and feasibility of an annual combined Parlors dance. It is the belief of the committee that, if the proper place be obtained and suitable music be secured, an affair of this type could be made the most outstanding Native Son function of the year.

Stan Parker's University "Wildcats" having conquered all but one team in the Native Sons state indoor baseball tournament, brought back from Stockton the runnerup trophy for the games played there during the Admission Day celebration. The boys made a fine showing, and were defeated only by the strong nine of Stockton Parlor No. 7.—J.P.H.

FASHION SHOW AND CARD PARTY.

Glendale—Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. had a luncheon, fashion show and card party September 26. Hostesses included Myrtise Tregea, Betty Sanders, Evelyn Wilson, Harriet Weeks, Geraldine Leonetti, Leonora Pagliuso, Anna Alpi, Vera Carlson, Martha Hawkinson, Doria Phillips and Marguerite Piuma. In charge of various details were Ione Gillett, Dorothy Ravn, Maud Molen, Ethel Kern, Mayme Kerri, Gussie Anderson, Ada Steele and Etta Fulkerth.

September 24, Judge Burt L. Wix addressed the Parlor on "The Constitution of the United States," the public being admitted. Gussie Anderson opened her home for a card party September 21; she was assisted by Margaret Donlan, Martha Hawkinson, Ida Gilman, Betty Sanders and Nan Hutchinson. September 20 the Parlor's sewing club was entertained at the home of Ione Gillett, and sowed for the homeless children.

TO EXEMPLIFY HOSPITALITY.

Mrs. Chas. Jacobson, president Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W., entertained at a tea at her home. This was one of a number of social affairs planned for the season to exemplify the spirit of hospitality for which native Californians have been noted since the days of their Pioneer forebears. September 24 the Parlor had its first business session following the summer vacation.

NATIVE SONS NEWS.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 received an official visit September 26 from Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 (Los Angeles) had its monthly birthday dinner September 20, following which Municipal Judge Frank G. Tyrrell delivered a splendid Constitution Day address. October 6 the Parlor will stage another barbecue; "Bill" Bright is in charge.

Hollywood Parlor No. 196 (Los Angeles) plans a fraternal visit October 9 to Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 (San Bernardino), and will take along entertainers. The visitation festivities will be held at Sycamore Inn, one-half mile east of Upland on Foothill boulevard. President William O'Meara of Hollywood has named contact men to visit at least once each month the Los Angeles County Parlors.

Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 (Santa Monica) will celebrate November 6 its institution anniversary at a past presidents night. At that time, too, a large class of candidates will be initiated. Late in November, the Parlor will feature another of its popular dinner dances. Many other social events are being planned for the fall months.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS.

Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 had a housewarming September 25 at its new meetingplace in the Carlton Hotel, 3005 Main street, Ocean Park. Arrangements were in charge of Betty Anderson, Melba Bembrooke and Marie Barnes.

Members of Compton Parlor No. 258 were entertained at the home of Mrs. Roy L. Adams, August 27. Roses decorated the rooms, and delicious refreshments were served.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Earl McGarry (Hollywood N.S.) was a recent visitor to Seattle, Washington.

Miss Mildred Pierson (Long Beach N.D.) of Long Beach has returned to Berkeley to resume her studies.

Mrs. Gertrude Riddle (Long Beach N.D.) of Long Beach spent a two weeks' vacation in San Francisco and Portland, Oregon.

Thomas M. Foley (Grand Trustee N.S.), Eugene O'Donnell (Dolores N.S.) and George A. Desenfant Sr. (Stanford N.S.) were among the visitors from San Francisco last month.

Superior Judge Walton J. Wood (Ramona N.S.) has been appointed associate justice of the state appellate court, and Frank G. Tyrrell (Ramona N.S.) has been appointed to a Los Angeles municipal judgeship.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Helen Hickson White, wife of Superior Judge Thomas P. White (Ramona N.S.), died August 30. She was a native of Los Angeles City, aged 41.

Richard E. Barry, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No 109 N.S.G.W., died September 20. He was a native of San Francisco, aged 65.

SOIL RETURNS MILLIONS.

The total land area of Los Angeles County is 2,633,600 acres, and during 1931 land in this area devoted to farming totaled 527,124 acres, with 205,837 acres under irrigation, according to a report just released by the research analyst of California Bank. The report, based on figures obtained from the California State Department of Agriculture, shows:

The crop income for the year to Los Angeles County growers was $46,209,125, and the livestock income $22,795,130. The latter income was split up as follows: dairy products, $9,739,130; poultry and eggs, $11,550,875; livestock for slaughter, $1,175,300; miscellaneous, $329,825.

Citrus fruits accounted for a large part of the total crop income in this county. Orange bearing acreage was placed at 43,649 acres, with a total production of 7,682,224 boxes valued at $16,516,780. Production of lemons was 1,984,680 boxes from 11,026 acres, and the value of the fruit was $7,204,390. Grapefruit production of 176,120 boxes from 629 acres was valued at $343,435.

Acreage planted to alfalfa hay totaled 28,850, with a production of 173,100 tons valued at $2,596,500. Walnuts accounted for 26,154 acres, and the value of the 6,408 tons produced was $1,601,930. A surprising feature of the report was the valuation placed on nursery stock, seeds, bulbs, flowers, etc. No acreage figures are given, but the stock in this county is valued at $6,500,000.

MAGIC RIVER (CALIFORNIA).
(J. A. McARTHUR.)

A magic river that I know
Comes tumbling down through banks of snow,
And from the snowy fountain-head
Glides mile on mile o'er bouldered bed.

Then, racing through great walls of stone,
The river comes into its own—
A broad expanse with sheltered coves
By laurel dells and redwood groves.

From upland hights beyond its banks,
Amid chaparral and shale,
Come cooing voices of mourning doves
And the lulling notes of quail.

A timid buck from off the hights,
With stately antlered head,
Glides through a grove of redwood trees
With mincing, graceful tread.

In eddying pools in sheltered nooks,
'Mid groves of emerald green,
Wild ducks quack in keen delight
And their glist'ning plumage preen.

With rhythmic beat like warriors' drums
Of the days that used to be,
The lovely river's crystal tide
Flows westward to the sea.

Oh, Magic River of the West,
Where Nature still holds sway,
My heart still throbs with love of you
Through each golden summer day.
—Weekly Calistogan.

"An elective despotism was not the government that we fought for; but one which should not only be founded on free principles, but in which the powers of government should be so divided and balanced among several bodies of their magistracy as that no one could transcend their legal limits without being effectually checked and restrained by the others. For this reason, that convention which passed the ordinance of government laid its foundation on this basis, that the legislative, executive and judiciary departments should be separate and distinct, so that no person should exercise the powers of more than one of them at the same time."
—Thomas Jefferson.

DAYS OF THE DONS, THE EARLY NAVigators and the vaqueros will be reenacted when San Pedro holds its Second Annual Fiesta, October 10, 11, 12 and 13. Spanish costumes, Spanish food, Spanish music will feature, in an effort to remind all of the early California life on Rancho San Pedro and Rancho Los Palos Verdes.

This year's Fiesta will be greatly aided by participation, on a large scale, of the United States Navy, Army and Coast Guard. Men and equipment from all three services will march and parade. Naval and military bands will play.

Actually, the program opens on October 4, when the Fiesta ball is held at the San Pedro American Legion Hall. This colorful event will be attended by civic leaders from many cities, and by a large representation from the services.

Thursday and Friday, October 10 and 11, will see San Pedro streets decked in flags, a Spanish Village in full swing, whiskered men parading the streets, women exhibiting their mantillas, and music troupes moving about, with street dances following.

On Saturday, October 12, comes Army and Navy Day, with a long parade of marching men, bands, floats, horsemen and guns. A dance follows in the evening.

The climax of the Fiesta will be on Sunday evening, when the most colorful and unusual features of the whole four-day event occur. An illuminated marine parade will move down the main channel of Los Angeles Harbor, from Wilmington to Cabrillo Beach near Point Firmin. With the termination of the parade, the landing of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo will be re-enacted on the beach named in his honor.

Divisions of the parade will include those for the Navy and Coast Guard, for the fishing fleet of San Pedro and Wilmington, for yachts and pleasure craft, and for specially designed floats.

The Navy and Coast Guard will have brightly illuminated boats, from various battleships and cruisers now on base at San Pedro. Considerable rivalry is developing, with each ship striving for the prizes offered by the San Pedro Fiesta Association. All classes of floats and craft in the parade will be awarded prizes.

The "landing of Cabrillo" will portray the first visit of a White man to the Bay of San Pedro. It was in October 1542 that the Spanish navigator, Cabrillo, discovered the roadstead and the anchorage which has since been developed into Los Angeles Harbor. Cabrillo came up the coast of California, from Mexico, less than fifty years after Columbus first landed in the New World. In addition to mainland points, he is also credited with the discovery of Santa Catalina and other islands in the Channel Island group off the southern coast of California.

In the pageant, Cabrillo will make his landing on Cabrillo Beach from the "San Salvador," which was the name of the navigator's original boat. The landing at the beach on Sunday evening will be followed by a Pageant of All Nations, on which a large committee of San Pedrans is now at work.

Over the entire Fiesta, a queen will rule. Civic organizations and fraternal orders are taking a leading part in the entire program. Cooperation from the services is being directed by the commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, the commander of the battle force, the commandant of Fort MacArthur, and the senior officer of the Coast Guard. The daily program follows:

October 10 and 11—From 8 to 11 p.m., entertainment at Spanish Village, Eighth street between Mesa and Center; kangaroo court at Elks' Club, Seventh and Palos Verdes; street dancing and whisker parade, with awarding of prizes for winners.

October 12—Army and Navy Day, featured with street parade starting at First street and Pacific avenue at 1:30 o'clock and ending at

FLAGS PRESENTED PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Wilmington — Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. observed Constitution Day, September 17, by presenting United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags to the Parent Teacher Association of the Carson-street public school. District Deputy Edward E. Baldwin presided, and introduced President Frank Bronson and the other officers of the Parlor and the speakers of the occasion.

Senator Henry E. Carter (Ramona Parlor No. 109) spoke on "The Flag and the Constitution of the United States of America," and the subject of Grand Second Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer's address was "The California Republic Flag and Admission Day." Grand Outside Sentinel Walter C. Richards expressed the willingness of Sepulveda Parlor to co-operate at all times with the Parent Teacher Association and to assist in all civic undertakings for the general good.

N.D. HAVE QUEEN CANDIDATE.

San Pedro—Vice-president Gloria Sorenson is the candidate of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. in the contest for queen of the Fiesta to be held during October. In the street parade, the Parlor will enter a covered wagon.

Organist Margaret Kreider has been selected as the musician for the ritual team of the Los Angeles County deputies. The first appearance of the team was at Compton, September 24. The Florencita thimble club of Rudecinda will hold its next meeting at the home of Marcella Sandoval, October 3.

"Abundant Credulity—We don't agree with a leading economist who insists that the people of this country need to have more faith. The majority of them seem only too willing to believe anything a political spellbinder can think of to broadcast through his hat."—Jacksonville, Florida, Journal.

The California Big Tree, or Sequoia Gigantea, in a nation-wide poll has been selected as America's national tree, according to an announcement of the National Park Service.

Fullerton, Orange County, has approved a $156,000 bond issue for rehabilitation and expansion of its elementary school system.

Postage stamps commemorating the completion of Boulder Dam have been issued by the Federal Postoffice Department.

Los Angeles City celebrated September 4 the one hundred and fifty-fourth anniversary of its beginning.

California Farms have increased in number from 135,676 in 1930 to 150,360 in 1935.

Pasadena, Los Angeles County, will have its Fall Flower Show, October 24-26.

Colusa City will have its first annual Rice Festival, October 4-6.

BONDS, BONDS, AND MORE BONDS! That's the demand of politicians throughout California. Federal Government "grants" are being held out as a tempting bait, in the hope that the citizenry will "fall" and approve the handing over of additional millions to the political machines. Regardless of all that is said, remember, propertyowners, that every dollar borrowed from the Federal Government is an additional lien on your holdings and will have to be repaid. Remember, also, that your property is right now encumbered by a bonded indebtedness in California of $1,400,000,000! And that stupendous sum does not include California-property liability for the Federal debt, approximately $1,615,000,000 additional.

And never forget, when a bond issue is submitted, that government authorities in California have made no attempt whatever to reduce the outrageously excessive cost of government, but are actually increasing the cost. So long as dollars, from bond issues or otherwheres, are poured into the political rathole, you can be assured there will be no reduction in government cost.

So, propertyowners, until such time as the cost of government IS materially reduced, swat any and every bond issue, regardless of the purpose for which proposed! Don't be swayed by propaganda appealing to your loyalty. The politicians will go to any extreme to gain dollars; they are not at all concerned about your welfare.

Much has been said about the Federal Congress' tax legislation to "soak the rich." As a matter of fact, the greater portion of the "New Deal's" overburdensome tax load has been shifted to the poor, who are always the "goats." President Franklin D. Roosevelt admitted as much in his September 2 letter, wherein he said:

"What is known as consumers' taxes, namely, the invisible taxes paid by people in every walk of life, fall relatively much more heavily upon the poor man than on the rich man. In 1929, consumers' taxes represented only 30 percent of the national revenue. Today they are 60 percent."

There's danger aplenty in that Italy-Ethiopia "powder keg." For, should hostilities actually start, a color war, involving the whole world, might possibly develop. That would be a calamity of unfathomable proportions!

The "strongholds of war," declared United States Senator William E. Borah of Idaho in a September 19 peace address, "are in those lands where the voice of the people has been silenced, constitutional government destroyed, and arbitrary power subdues a people's will. . . .

"Wherever the people are free, where the voice of the people is heard, where speech is untrammeled and liberty of action unchained, the cause of peace advances toward realization. In the larger sense, therefore, the cause of peace is the cause of free speech, of a free press, of human liberty, of constitutional government."

Lamenting that "Indigents are pouring into the State at the rate of 2,000 a week," the Los Angeles Times says "The situation is one which threatens to break the financial back of California; it is no particular consolation now to recall that the invitation of Upton Sinclair and the activities of Dr. Townsend are partly to blame."

It is to laugh, for the Times has a prominent place in the financial back breaking of California. It was in the forefront of the fear-preaching brigade that gave the state its present Governor, and he has gone Townsend and Sinclair to the nth degree. Also, the Times advocates the handing over of public monies to private promotion organizations for the purpose of inducing indigents to come to California.

In the course of a Constitution Day address at Boston, James M. Beck, former solicitor-general of the United States, said: "Unless this generation can realize, with Edmund Burke, that society is a sacred compact between the dead and living, and the unborn, and therefore accept as a sacred obligation the duty of transmitting the Constitution to the unborn, then it will slowly be destroyed in substance, if not in form.

"Let us remember today the wise saying of the sage, Benjamin Franklin, when he said: 'They who give up essential liberty to obtain a little safety deserve neither liberty nor safety.' We have especial need in this trying period of our history to remember this admonition. We are too content, in order to gain an immediate advantage for some section, class, or individual, to sacrifice a fundamental truth, quite unconscious of the fact that in so doing we are tearing down in a day a mighty edifice which required the sacrifice of many generations to build up."

True to its policy, Japan is not, apparently, carrying out its agreement to keep "picture brides" out of California. A press dispatch from Healdsburg, Sonoma County, reports that a "picture bride," Sudako Hirai, 19, in the United States less than two months and working in the harvest, was shot and killed by her Jap husband August 30.

Commenting on the killing of United States Senator Huey Long of Louisiana, United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California said: "The bullet which plowed into his body did more than kill him—it grievously wounded American freedom."

Mounting costs of relief were severely criticised at a Sacramento meeting of the State Supervisors Association. Such criticism, without action to curb the criticised situation, is but political propaganda. Had the supervisors the "guts," they would, in the interest of the propertyowners, drastically reduce all costs of government, including relief.

Fear, rather than courage, is, it would seem, guiding the course of government in this Nation. That's why the thrifty and energetic are being relieved, via numerous tax schemes, of their honestly acquired savings. The course is wrong, and should be righted without more mollycoddling.

The Stockton Record concluded an Admission Day, September 9, editorial with: "The physical development of California will not be enough. If this State is to be kept the same generous, broad-spirited land it has been since the gold days, political trends must be watched. Isms foreign to the traditions of California must be combated. The menace of undesirable elements from other parts of the country must be coped with. The challenge is to all good Californians, from north and south, natives and those whose children will be natives."

Dr. Charles F. Aked, a Los Angeles minister, recently returned from abroad and expressed the opinion that, if war between Italy and Ethiopia comes, America should "keep her nose out of it. We don't know anything about it, nor about the intrigues, the secret alliances of Europe. America has been fooled before, and she will be fooled again. . . . The League of Nations is a league for Europe. It was afraid to face Japan. But if the League does nothing, it will be the end of the League."

Congressman Bertrand H. Snell of New York expressed, in the course of an address, the belief that: "There never has been a period within the memory of any living being when there was greater confusion, doubt and fear in the minds of all classes of people, in all walks of life, or a greater threat of destruction of all that is worthwhile of our economic and political system, than exists today."

"When will members of Congress discover that there is such a thing as sound and unsound economics? When will they cease to think of themselves and their re-election campaigns as more important than the permanent welfare of their country?", queries David Lawrence in the United States News. When the people send to the Congress men capable of doing their own thinking, free of all special-favors alliances, and not susceptible to the siren wiles of the dollar. Then, and not until then!

"I believe it is the duty of Congress to arrange for the deportation of all alien Communists and to give their jobs to loyal American citizens," said Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., in an address before the Commonwealth Club of California at San Francisco. Every LOYAL American citizen is also of that belief, so, why does not the Congress act?

The national administration now plans, according to published reports, to balance the budget in 1939. So, prosperity must remain "just around the corner," during the "New Deal" as during the "Old Deal." What the nation needs, evidently, is a square deal from an entirely new deck.

The California State Prison Director who "lied like a gentleman" to a murderess sentenced to be hanged must be either a prophet or a hypnotist. For, the Governor, without making public reason for so doing, saved her life, and the "lie" became a truth.

The California Supreme Court, in a September 3 ruling in a case involving Butte County rice land, held that all parties—two Hindu men and an American woman—have flagrantly violated the Alien Land Law. The Court's decision empowers the district attorney of Butte County to begin proceedings to take over the property for the State of California.

If all district attorneys would perform their sworn duty, thousands of California's best acres, fraudulently obtained and illegally held by Japs, Hindus and other ineligible-to-citizenship aliens, could be recovered. The district attorneys should be forced to recover them or to retire.

Henry Ford, one of the nation's most-successful and best-thought-of businessmen, in a published interview said: "When people start to work at something their condition is bound to improve, and nothing but work will do it. Stop the dole and more work will begin. Most of the people hate a handout. They want to work."

John Francis Neylan, in a Constitution Day address at San Francisco, said: "It is true that the Constitution, the sailing chart of the American Republic, comes down from the 'horse and buggy days' . . . It also is true men, women and children love liberty, the right to worship God as they see fit, the right of free speech, and the right of protection from bureaucratic meddling and excessive taxation, as they did in the 'horse and buggy days' . . .

"In the 'horse and buggy days' even the great Washington, Jefferson, or the sainted Lincoln would have been called to account instantly. It would seem, however, that recently we have fallen upon the mush-and-messy days. Throughout history man's greed for power has never been confined to any particular land or generation, and one-man power always has meant slavery."

One of the little-advertised accomplishments of the Federal Congress was the creation of an estimated 16,000 new government jobs. With the Federal payroll at a new peace-time peak, Congress casually authorized the establishment of a half-dozen new government agencies which, being of a "permanent" rather than an "emergency" nature, will add millions to annual operating expenses.
